Agricultural Society Fair at Marsh Bridge.

The grounds of the St. John Agricultural Society, near the Marsh Bridge, presented a lively appearance this morning. It was Fair Day, and the farmers from different parts of the country were arriving with stock and produce to enter for the prizes offered by the Society. By 11 o'clock the entries were completed and the grounds were opened to visitors.

There was a good display of live stock, and most of the animals entered looked well. In cattle of all kinds there were about one hundred entries, and a few of the thorough breeds were very fine animals. There were also a number of horses entered, and others were on the ground, though not entered in the competition for prizes. Of other live stock, there were grunting and squealing pigs, bleating lambs and sheep, and quackling ducks. The specimens of porkers were especially fine, and some ewes also were excellent specimens of well cared for stock.

The building in the centre of the grounds contained products of the farm, dairy and household. There were some very fine roots, consisting of turnips, carrots, parsnips, beets, mangle wortzels and potatoes. Some specimens of white turnips measured about nine inches in diameter, and there were some of the Swede variety that were not much smaller. Pumpkins and squashes, with cabbages helped to make up the show. The specimens exhibited were all good, but it is a pity there was not a much larger display as there is no doubt there might have been, from the various model farms in the country. In the products of the dairy the show was very small indeed, though that exhibited looked well.

Under the head of Domestic Manufactures there was quite a display in quilts, mats and blankets. The first named article was well represented, there being a number of exhibitors. Hanging round the building the quilts looked very well. The most artistic, certainly, were those made by the late Mrs. Jane Ward, and displayed by her husband. There were three quilts made of diamond shaped pieces of cloth about an inch in diameter. These were of all colors—yellow, white, blue, scarlet, &c.—and very artistically arranged. One of these quilts was divided into 320 blocks of 42 squares each, the whole quilt containing 13,440 little squares, which had been sewn together by Mrs. Ward's nimble fingers when she was ver sixty years of age. Another of her quilts was made of scarlet cloth, with flowers and leaves of black sewn on. The lady exhibitors were very attentive, and took pleasure in showing the work of their hands. There was the usual supply of rag-mats, and the beauties of each were pointed out to the spectators by the owners. In fancy work, there were but a few articles displayed. The exhibition as a whole was not calculated to give the stranger an adequately high idea of the industry or resources of St. John county, and there is no doubt if a little more money had been spent by the society, in making it thoroughly known, the display would have been much larger.

Portland Civil Court.

The pork case was tried yesterday afternoon and resulted in a verdict for Robert Wales, the plaintiff, who purchased the pork. Mr. Larkin will have to refund the money paid for the pork, and it might be well for the Board of Health to enquire into this rotten meat trade.

Attempted Suicide.

Catherine Jenkins was, last night, arrested for being drunk and disorderly in Dock street, and taken to the Police Station. She had evidently been drinking hard, and the officers in charge late in the evening found her attempting to strangle herself with a piece of string. Twice during the night they heard her trying to take her life. The Chief, before leaving the station for the night, made a round of the cells, looking after the prisoners, and she affectionately bade him good bye, saying that she would be dead before morning. She was prevented, however, by the watchfulness of the officers in charge, from committing any such rash act, and this morning she felt much better. She was sent to the Penitentiary for two months.

THE DAILY TRIBUNE claims the largest city circulation of any daily published in St. John.

City Police Court.

There were seven culprits in the dock this morning of whom two were females.

Thomas Young, arrested drunk on Brittain street, plead guilty and was fined $4.

William F. Cormack, found in the same condition in St. James street, was also fined $4.

Edward Sheiden denied the charge of fighting in Prince Wm. street, but the policeman swore he saw him knock a man down who offended him by some remark, which was considered quite enough evidence of his pugilistic intentions, and he was fined $10.

James McMinn, a fortnight ago, when found drunk, plead to be sent to the Alms House, and his prayer was granted. He did not like the place, however, and left, came to the city and got drunk. The Magistrate sent him for two months to the Penitentiary, which he will find it more difficult to get away from.

Catherine Jenkins, arrested drunk and disorderly in Dock street, was fined $6 or two months in the same institution. She will go across.

Eliza Donnelly again appeared, charged with being drunk and going into William Cormack's house in Waterloo street. She admitted the charge and was also sent to the Penitentiary.

Wm. Flannigan was not sure whether he should confess being drunk or not, but at length concluded to do so, and the usual penalty was imposed.

AT CALHOUN'S MILLS, on Sunday, 28th ult., as Ella May, four years of age, daughter of Mr. Chalmers Kierstead, was playing in her father's yard, she uncovered an old well, fell in and was drowned.

It is said that a considerable proportion of funds of the Methodist Conference in the Lower Provinces is invested in Northern Pacific Railway bonds. We do not credit the report that the Endowment Fund of the Sackville Institutions has been jeopardized in the same way.
