TAXES.

RATEPAYERS OF THE CITY OF London are requested to take notice that for 1894 they may, if desired, pay their taxes in two installments, the first of which must be paid during the first 30 days of August, and the second during the first 30 days of October. Ratepayers paying the installments as they become due according to the above dates, will not be charged interest, nor will discount be allowed. If either of the said installments is not paid during the time above specified, a 5 per cent charge will be immediately added thereto. Any ratepayer paying the whole of his taxes during the first 30 days of August will be allowed a discount of 3 per cent off the second installment, the payment of which might have deferred till October. Rates amounting to less than $6 are not subdivided. The collectors are not authorized to receive the second installment until the first installment, with all charges thereon has been paid. Special attention is directed to the fact that in order to enable the council to satisfactorily close its own financial year, the collectors have been directed by bylaw to return the rolls for 1894 to the city treasurer by the 15th day of December next, so that if the installments are not paid as above specified they must be collected previous to December 15th, with the 5 per cent added. When paying your taxes, bring marked check or exact change. Do not wait to pay your taxes till the 30 days have nearly expired; by so doing you will run the risk of being crowded out in consequence of the inability of the collectors to receive same. Pay as early in the month as you can. The 5 per cent charge must be added after the expiration of the 30 days without considering the cause of or reason for non-payment. By order

Unclaimed Money Deposited by Londoners

In Various Banks—Sums from One Cent to Many Dollars—Look Over the List—Some Deposits Date Away Back.

In these days of financial stringency very few people are apt to leave cash lying around idle if they know it; nevertheless many have it slumbering in bank vaults, and they do not know it. Now that the summer holidays are on, quite a few Londoners may not be sorry to see that they are entitled to unexpected pocket money. A book has just been issued by the Finance Department of the Dominion Government which gives the amounts of dividends unpaid and the unclaimed balances in the banks for five years and upwards prior to Dec. 31 of last year. According to the statement the total unpaid dividends in the principal banks are as follows:

Bank.	Unpaid dividends.	Unclaimed balances.
British North America	$ 467 17	$ 38,309 57
Hamilton	106 96	2,383 37
Montreal	1,688 69	113,509 22
Toronto	....	7,946 57
Commerce	104 79	6,636 88
Dominion Bank	....	25,494 29
Imperial	52 25	8,052 35
Merchants' of Canada	....	17,558 12
Molsons	....	7,097 86

ADVERTISER readers will be curious to see what Londoners have left their money on deposit so long. No doubt many are dead, some are in Uncle Sam's domains, and some are nobody knows where. A number of these sums were placed in security as far back as 1864. The amounts vary. One cent is the fortune awaiting some, and hundreds of dollars are in the names of others. Here is the list:

OBJECTS OF CHARITY.

Parishioners of St. John the Evangelist in Distress.

Sent Out by an English Society—A Child Dies for Lack of Proper Nourishment of Its Mother—A Widow's Uphill Struggle and Another Woman's Charitableness.

A short time ago Rev. W. T. Hill, rector of St. John the Evangelist Church, wrote to the city papers mentioning the large amount of distress existing in the parish and suggesting that the philanthropic public aid the sufferers in some way. In conversation with Mr. Hill last night an ADVERTISER reporter learned that the distress still existed and that the newspaper appeals had brought forth but two replies. In the parish of St. John the Evangelist, which consists of about 240 families, there are at least ten who are in absolute need. Two men had secured transient employment in the harvest field since Mr. Hill wrote to the press, but their work is only temporary. The greatest amount of poverty exists in the homes of families who have been sent out to this country by a London, England, emigration society.

"I found out the address of the society," said Mr. Hill, "and wrote to a director telling him of the condition of affairs here, and asking him to stop sending out emigrants. I also made an appeal for funds, and if it bears fruit they will be divided among the families of the parish who were sent out here by this society."

Mr. Hill thought the agents of the society were to a certain extent responsible in not laying the plain facts before the home offices. Families struggling for a bare existence, but managing to live in England, were induced to come to Canada by exaggerated stories of the abundance of work, and once here they became a burden on their different parishes or the municipality.

One case mentioned was that of a woman who was so impoverished and weak from lack of proper nourishment that her child died from her inability to succor it. In another family the father had struggled against fate and sickness for a number of years. He was an honest fellow and worked when he could, and often when he should not. Then he died, and left the burden of the support of a family of four young children to a sick wife, who can only get two half-days' work a week. Another Englishman of the parish has a large family to support, but is unable to work on account of a nervous trouble. Doctors say he is a fit subject for the Home for Incurables, yet he and his wife manage to eke out a living, in the summer time at least, by selling what few vegetables they can raise. There are several families the heads of which are able-bodied tradesmen who have not had two months' work in two years. Some actually came to the rector and plainly asked for bread. One woman was proferred assistance, and although she needed it badly she asked that it be given to Mrs. C——, on William street, whose husband had recently died. In one family the husband was out of work and the family was greatly excited because the landlord threatened to evict them for back rent. They went to their pastor for assistance. "But what can I do?" asked Mr. Hill. "I can't pay rent."

Mr. Hill advocates the forming of a central relief or charity committee to combat with what will no doubt be a serious condition of affairs next winter. In the summer time there is a chance of a few days work now and again, and the condition of affairs is nothing to what it will be. The parish of St. John the Evangelist does not stand alone.

How Can I Get Rid of my tormenting corns; get rid of them without pain; get rid of them quickly and effectually without possibility of return? The answer is, use Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Cure, the great corn cure. Always sure, safe and painless. Putnam's Extractor. Use it and no other. Frauds are in the market. Don't run the risk of ruining your feet with such caustic applications.

Hills—Who is that awkward-looking clown over there against the wall? Hull—That's Griggs, the author of "The Art of Entertaining."

The great lung healer is found in the excellent medicine sold as Pickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.
