HON. GEORGE E. FOSTER AFTER SIR RICHARD

SENATE FO

Ex-Minister of Finance Shows Up the Old Blue Ruin Knight Now in His Latest Role.

Figures Show That Baron Munchausen Has Appeared in Canada in A New Form—Great Conservative Rally in Massey Hall.

Liquid air cannot freeze hot soup or anything else more effectively than Mr. Foster last night froze up the arguments that were recently set forth by Sir Richard Cartwright to be digested by a big Toronto audience. Massey Hall was taxed to its full capacity to listen to Mr. Foster, ex-Minister of Finance, and Mr. Whitney, leader of the Ontario Opposition. The audience was a quiet thinking audience, that wanted to hear the truth of things. It heard and testified by vociferous applause its satisfaction.

Band on Deck.

Soon after 7 o'clock the body of the hall was comfortably filled and the band of the 48th Highlanders played a selection of popular airs, while the remainder of the building was sought by the late-comers. The platform was crowded, and many ladies in the boxes added grace to the occasion. There were hundreds of ladies with their escorts in the first gallery, and they showed their appreciation of the speaker's remarks by hearty applause as the occasion demanded.

The hall was filled all over by 8 o'clock, but those who had come earlier heartily enjoyed the Kilties' fine music and the patriotic vocal solos by Bandsman G. B. McClelland. One feature of the meeting was a campaign song, a parody on "Tim Toolan," which was sung by Mr. Thomas Gorman. The chorus, "We'll cheer loud and long for Macdonald," met particularly with the favor of the audience, and nearly everyone joined in.

Hon. George E. Foster.

Mrs. Foster listened to her distinguished husband's able speech from one of the boxes which she occupied in company with Mrs. Osler.

As the speakers of the evening entered the hall they were greeted with tumultuous cheering, which continued until they had taken their seats on the platform.

A Distinguished Gathering.

When the meeting got under way Mr. Foster was seated at the right of Chairman Macdonell and Mr. Whitney at the left. Immediately around them were Dr. Montague, M.P., E. F. Clarke, M.P., E. B. Osler, M.P., W. F. Maclean, M.P., Col. Tisdale, M.P., John Foy, Q.C., M.L.A., Dr. Pyne, M.L.A., Frank Turner, president Albany Club, G. F. Marter, M.L.A., Thomas Crawford, M.L.A., E. Dixon Craig, M.P., John Laxton, Edmund Bristol.

Many distinguished Conservatives occupied seats upon the platform, among them being H. Cargill, M.P., Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P., A. Broder, M.P., Major Beattie, M.P., Senator Casgrain, William Smith, ex-M.P., Sol White, ex-M.L.A., S. Barker, Hamilton; J. F. St. John, ex-M.L.A., O. A. Chairman Macdonell's Address.

Claude Macdonell, the nice-looking young man who is president of the Ward 6 Conservative Association, was cheered when he arose to open the meeting. He dwelt at some length on the patriotism that surrounds Conservatives, and was applauded when he announced that Mr. Whitney, as well as Mr. Foster, would speak. He emphasized that foremost in Dominion issues is the commemoration of the twenty-first birthday of the National Policy, and he announced that Mr. Foster would tear asunder what remains of the tattered garments of the brave knight who represented the Government on the same platform only a short time ago.

Mr. Macdonell said the gathering was a mass meeting of Canadians to consider what was best to be done after hearing the opinions of two very able statesmen. He then called upon Mr. Whitney, leader of the Ontario Opposition, who was received with deafening applause.

Mr. J. P. Whitney.

THE COMING PREMIER.

Col. J. P. Whitney Tells About How the Ontario Government Stole Office From the People.

Mr. Whitney said he knew full well the warmth with which he would be received as a Conservative by the ladies and gentlemen of Toronto and the surrounding country. He was not present to discuss Dominion politics. He was an adjunct—a happy adjunct—to the meeting and was glad to meet the ladies and the men who were Conservatives and, even if not strict Conservatives, were lovers of their country. He was particularly glad to come as one of the Conservative party to join in commemoration of the man who planted firmly those seeds of Imperialism which will unite the British Empire. He was glad to be here to commemorate the birth of the National Policy of Canada. The new advocates of that policy had been its bitterest enemies for eighteen years.

Marching in Sir John's Path.

Conservatives and Reformers of the Dominion were now marching in that path laid out by Sir John Macdonald. [Cheers.]

Mr. Whitney referred to Sir Charles Tupper having risen voluntarily in the House to say that the loyal Opposition was shoulder to shoulder with the Government to protect Canada's interests in the Alaska boundary question. Then the speaker started out to deal with provincial affairs.

A Nasty Subject.

Ontario politics, he said, was a very nasty subject. [Cheers.] From the knowledge he had of them to-day it was a "dirty" subject. [Applause.] There was no reason advocated why it should be so, but it is so. Dealing with the provincial political situation, he remarked that before the general election of 1898 our friends in the Park had felt assured the people would endorse the 9 by a large majority, but he and others felt they would not carry the country. "They did not carry it—they stole it"—[applause]—stole it in the broad light of day and were not ashamed of their thievery. The first twenty-four hours after the result of the election was known it was felt at the buildings that their end had come.

A Different Story Now.

"Last year there were seven or eight bye-elections and the Government carried them and there was great banging of drums. What has occurred since. Revelations in the election courts have shown that the Government of Ontario does not possess the confidence of the people." (Prolonged applause.)

When the deafening shouts of approval had subsided Mr. Whitney continued: "Only the fringe of the corrupt practice has yet come to the light of day. We have the West Elgin horror, which has but dimly shown what the conduct has been of the men employed by the Government."

The Same Old Gang.

At the trial in South Ontario Sam Blake admitted that Macdonald, Hewitt and others were brought into Ontario to bribe for the Liberal party. After an interval, McNish declares the same thing and a good many other things which were the indictment of himself and his friends. In one polling place, where 82 men swore they voted Conservative, only 42 Conservative ballots were found in the box. McNish's declaration is a proof that it was one and the same machine that worked in Ontario, Elgin and other places. In a very unwise speech McNish had declared that the document he signed had been submitted to him by friends of Mr. MacDiarmid and that Mr.

The Choice of the Best at Dineens'.

More men are wearing better hats—is the only explanation which can be thought of to account for the wonderful increase in hat sales at Dineens'. The cheap hats, at cheap prices, at the cheap stores, have educated hundreds by experience, that there must be something better than mere cheapness in a hat in order to hold its store-shape and its fresh color through every-day wear. At Dineens' the reputation of a life-time is back of the trade in men's hats, and the man who appreciates quality never has reason to complain of the price at Dineen's. And where would you go to get the choice of so many leading styles as are shown at Dineens'?

TERRIBLY DEAF.

Although The Country has been calling to Mr. Hardy through the press megaphone for nearly three months the latter has only just now heard him.

DUNCAN BOLE IS A SLICK CUSTOMER

Constable Graham of West Elgin Went to the Soo to Arrest Him.

BOLE SHOWED HIM AROUND

And the Constable Took His Word That He Would Go With Him in a Day or Two

AND THEN BOLE SLIPPED AWAY.

It is Supposed He Skipped Across the River and Wired to Toronto for Instructions.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—Constable Graham from West Elgin arrived here again on Friday, armed with a warrant for the re-arrest of Duncan Bole. As the warrant was issued before Premier Hardy took time to consider his action on the Shedden petition, it became evident that the new proceedings were initiated at St. Thomas, and Bole, appreciating the fact, asked the constable for time to make his arrangements, pledging the constable that he would accompany him in a day or two. The constable took his word, and it is said he did not execute the warrant, which had been duly endorsed by a proper authority here, but accompanied Bole over town, visiting the pulp mill, the ship canal and other sights.

Gave the Constable the Slip.

It is believed that Bole took advantage of the opportunity afforded him and communicated from across the river by wire with Toronto, with the result that he was told to give the constable the slip and locate for the present in Uncle Sam's territory, which he did, leaving a letter for Graham to meet him in two days' time in Detroit.

It is believed in town that Hardy is at the back of the whole business, and that he is immensely tickled at the idea that no prosecution of Bole can be had before the issue of the West Elgin bye-election, and that he has escaped taking action on the Shedden petition, sent to him over a month ago, but which he only discovered a day or two ago, after reading The World on his return from a fishing tour.

"Cap" Sullivan There Also.

The notorious Cap Sullivan turned up here also on Saturday, in company with a man named McGillivray, from Port Colborne. It is supposed that they have gone on mining business to Michipicoton, but there is an air of mystery about their movements. Some of the local Grits seem to look upon Sullivan as a hero to be honored, and treated him royally, but others with better taste held aloof.

WAR REGARDED AS CERTAIN

Universal Flatness in the London Stock Markets Owing to Transvaal News.

WILL FREE STATE JOIN KRUGER ?

In Such an Event Matters Will Be Much More Serious—Frontier Towns Greatly Alarmed.

London, Sept. 18.—There was universal flatness in the markets here to-day, especially in the first hour, and they closed weak, with small recovery. The Transvaal was is now regarded as certain, the only question being, will the Orange Free State join in it? Consols fell 7-16. Americans opened ½ under parity and weakened all day, closing at the worst on monetary apprehensions.

WHAT ABOUT THE FREE STATE?

If President Steyn Joins Kruger It Will Make the Work of Britain Much More Serious.

London, Sept. 19.—The Daily Telegraph publishes a communication from a military correspondent, who, discussing the effect of the Free State throwing in its lot with the Transvaal says: "In the event of war, this will greatly increase our difficulties, and will lengthen the duration of the campaign, but the work will be accomplished, and the Union Jack will float over Consolidated South Africa, between the Zambis and the Cape."

The principal danger which besets the British position is a sudden outbreak of hostilities, enabling the Boers to secure a few minor successes, which would bring down upon us every Dutchman in South Africa; and, probably the statement that the Boers are sending compressed forage to the border, seems to signify that they will not wait for new grass, but are preparing for an immediate advance.

Cape Frontier Defenceless.

For this we certainly are not yet prepared. It is doubtful if the few troops and volunteers now in Natal could even maintain the defensive. The Cape frontier from Mafeking to Kimberley, including the diamond fields, is practically defenceless, and a combined attack by the Orange Free State and the Transvaal might result in disaster, and the retreat of our forces toward Durban, leaving the border towns in the hands of the enemy. Small wonder is it that these towns are alarmed. The movement of British troops into Natal has not begun a moment too soon.

Steam v. Electricity.

A good deal of the decline in the price of War Eagle stock, so a prominent broker told The World yesterday, is due to the fact that the War Eagle management had been unable to get their new plant, driven by electricity, in good running order. Out of loyalty to the idea of buying their machinery in Canada, they had placed their orders with Canadian makers, who had delayed them in delivery, and who had disappointed them somewhat in the effectiveness of the machinery. The result of this is, so The World was told, that Centre Star's new plant will be a steam one, and that contracts have already been made with the Crow's Nest Coal Company for a supply of coal for the purpose of generating steam to drive the compressor plant.

Centre Star at the present time has five seven-drill air compressors. The new plant will comprise a 50-drill steam compressor. While this may be a change from electricity to steam, the machinery, it is expected, for the steam plant will be made in Canada.

NOW, NEW CITY HALL OPEN FOR BUSINESS

A Golden Key, Bejewelled With Pearls, Unlocked the Doors to the Public.

Thousands of Citizens Flocked to the Ceremonies in the Afternoon and at Night—The Mayor's Historical Review.

A golden key, surmounted by a crown and studded with pearls, opened the doors of the new City Hall yesterday afternoon. A magnificent work of art itself, it served to turn the lock in Toronto's newest, most massive and most costly edifice. At the twist of Mayor Shaw's wrist, it caused the main doors to swing upon their hinges, and ushered in a new epoch in the city's municipal annals.

The opening ceremonies began at noon, when the Governor-General's Body Guards band took up a position on the platform on the front lawn, and discoursed national and patriotic airs. When this band had done its allotted share it was followed in turn by the 48th Highlanders, the Royal Grenadiers and the Queen's Own. This was all preliminary, and served to awaken interest in the hearts of the thousands of citizens who attended the opening.

At 2.15 o'clock the Mayor and members of the City Council congregated and marched to the main entrance. There they were joined by the ex-members of the Council. Photographs were taken. The auspicious moment was at hand. The Mayor advanced, produced the golden key, unlocked the door, entered the building and the City Hall was formally opened to the public as the fountain-head for the transaction of all civic business for the future.

Rostrum in Position.

The centre of the main lobby at the foot of the main staircase had been roped off and seats provided. The Mayor accompanied by Rev. Principal Caven and Rev. Prof. Clark ascended to the first landing. Below were grouped the aldermen, the invited guests and other citizens. Among the invited were the following ex-members of the Council: William Adamson, Hon. G W Allan, Thomas Allen, John Bailey, G W Barton, Robert Bell, John Blevins, G S Booth, A R Boswell, James B Boustead, James Brandon, William Carlyle (St. Thomas), Wm Carlyle (St. Andrew's), E F Clarke, M.P., P G Close, E Coatsworth, sr., James Crecker, D M Defoe, C L Denison, G T Denison, John Dill, E King Dodds, P H Drayton, J R Dunn, T W Elliott, George Evans, W W Farley, R J Fleming, G F Frankland, P E Galbraith, E Galley, W H Gibbs, Henry Godson, Hon J H Hagarty, William Hall, John Harvie, Thomas Hunter, P Hynes, T A Hastings, W J Hill, H L Hierne, John Irwin, Collis Johnston, John Jones, W Kennedy, J N Lake, I Lennox, W Millichamp, J R Leslie, G G Lindsey, E A Macdonald, G S Macdonald, Peter Macdonald, W F McKenzie, John Mallon, Alex Manning, John Maughan, Frank Moses, Hon Sir Oliver Mowat, John McMillan, Thomas McMillan, W B McMurrich, John Donoghue, James Pape, J E Pell, H L Piper, D B Read, William Roaf, Elias Rogers, Hugh MacMath, W J Atkinson, C E Romaine, Peter Ryan, John Small, G B Smith, W J Smith, G J St. Leger, J C Swalt, Joseph Tait, John Taylor, Thomas Taylor, Samuel Trees, Kivas Tully, F W Unitt, George Verral, John E Verral, Myles Vokes, D Walker, S B Wickets, John Winchester, J J Withrow, M J Woods, James Sykes, Thomas Thompson, James Kerr, Thomas Foster, George McMurrich, William M Hall, R J Stanley, J O Orr, John Maloney, F W Phillips, W W Park, E Farquhar, David Carlyle, Thomas Crawford, J E Thompson, Andrew Bates, John Oliver, James Scott, George G Rowe, William L Beale, W T R Preston, W F Rutter, F H Richardson, Thomas Bryce and W W Caldwell.

The Rev. Principal Caven read the Scripture and the Rev. Prof. Clark offered a brief prayer, invoking the Divine blessing upon the city for the future. The Mayor then read a review of the city's history, relating step by step the intricate financial dealings resulting in the building of the City Hall.

The Mayor's Oration.

The Mayor said in part: The old City Hall, on Front-street, built in 1845, served its purpose for more than 50 years. During that time it had been patched up, added to, and altered till at length further alterations and additions could no longer be made with advantage, nor was the site any longer considered the best. A similar condition of things prevailed with regard to the Court House on Adelaide-street, built in 1853. The accommodations were insufficient, the Court House unsanitary, and the city was threatened with an indictment in consequence. Under these circumstances new buildings were inevitable. The first idea was to build a Court House only, and a bylaw was passed for $300,0000 to purchase a site and erect a suitable building. Plans were prepared, and the design of Mr. E. J. Lennox, being approved by experts, was accepted. But more than $200,000 had been spent on the site alone, leaving very little for a building.

The People's Wish.

The next idea, and that which prevailed, was to erect a large imposing structure that would furnish accommodation for the law courts and offices connected with them, and also provide apartments for all the purposes of municipal government. This was

THE GOLDEN KEY.

Donated to the City Council by Messrs Ryrie Bros.

The above is an actual-sized representation of the golden key donated to the City Council by Messrs. Ryrie Bros. on the occasion of the opening of the new municipal buildings.

The key is of sterling silver and gold. Upon the "bow" or handle the city coat of arms appears in blue enamel, surmounted by the Royal crown, whilst three rows of pearls are gracefully entwined around the shank.

The key is a work of art and reflects great credit upon the donors, who, unnecessary to say, are also the manufacturers.

Seeing the City's Sights.

Originality is a main feature in quick success. In business life the creative genius attracts immediate attention. G. W. Muller has made his smoking parlor one of the sights of the city. He not only originated the idea of such a useful annex to his cigar store but he equipped it in a style that is truly remarkable. It appeals to the innate love of the unique and artistic. Mr. Muller desires all to bring their friends to see the smoking parlor.
