THE CHOLERA.

Cairo, May 22.—There were no new cases of cholera reported in Cairo yesterday, but the deaths among those previously attacked numbered 40. In Alexandria Thursday seventeen deaths from cholera occurred. No fresh cases were discovered.

IRISH NATIONAL CONVENTION.

London, May 22.—The anti-Parnellite members of Parliament have passed a resolution for a national convention of the Irish throughout the world, according to the suggestion of the Archbishop of Toronto, to be summoned to Dublin in September. The American delegates will be chosen from the National Federation of America, from the Hibernians, and from the Board of Erin Hibernians. The Canadians will be chosen from Irish organizations in Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, St. John and Halifax.

THE BOERS COMPLAIN.

Cape Town, May 22.—The Transvaal Government, it is learned, again complained a few days ago to Sir Hercules Robinson, British High Commissioner in South Africa, regarding the reported assembling of 2,500 British troops and 40 cannon between Mafeking and Ramutsa, near the Transvaal frontier. Sir Hercules, in his reply, gave the details of the small force which had been sent to Mafeking in accordance to previous notification sent to the Transvaal authorities, which force was intended to be used in quelling the Matabele revolt. Sir Hercules also suggested that the Transvaal Government should prosecute the person who gave it the false information on which its complaint was based.

THE SENTENCES TOO SEVERE.

London, May 22.—A Pretoria dispatch says: The sentence of fifteen years' imprisonment imposed upon the leaders or the Johannesburg Reform Committee is regarded with disfavor by the public here, and has created a great revulsion of feeling among the Afrikanders. It is felt that the Government, in not liberating the prisoners, have lost their chance of uniting the opposing sections of the population in the Transvaal, and that the evil consequences will be incalculable. It is credibly stated that President Kruger three days persistently urged the Executive Council to substitute fines for imprisonment in the case of all the prisoners, but that he was overborne by a majority of the council. The Times prints a long dispatch from Pretoria detailing the excitement arising from the heavy sentences imposed upon the members of the Reform Committee. The dispatch says that the wildest kind of talk is indulged in, and that the situation is critical.

THE DUTCH AND THE ENGLISH.

London, May 22.—The annual gathering of prominent men interested in South Africa took place last night at the Hotel Metropole, where the usual banquet was given. Joseph Chamberlain presided, and made a speech, in the course of which he said he regretted that little progress had been made in the attempts to reconcile the Dutch and English in South Africa. He confessed that he was disappointed by the decision of the Transvaal Government regarding the sentences of the leaders of the Reform Committee, especially because he had always trusted in President Kruger's magnanimity, believing that he was never animated by vindictive feeling against the men who, whatever their errors, had by the energy and enterprise created the Transvaal's prosperity. Mr. Chamberlain declared that he could not discuss the matter further, but the policy of the Government had already been declared, and would not be changed.

At a meeting of the sanitary board held at Buluwayo yesterday a resolution was adopted declaring against a revocation of the charter of the British South Africa Company. The board represents the town.

THE CZAR'S MARCH.

Bewildering Scenes in the City of Moscow—The Imperial Procession.

Moscow, May 22.—The Czar, on his entry into Moscow, rode a pure white horse. The imperial procession was headed by a squad of mounted gendarmes, led by a master of police. After the police came a portion of the Czar's bodyguard and a squadron of Cossacks of the Guard. His Majesty the Czar was followed by Ministers of the State, aides-de-camp. Then came the Russian grand dukes and all the important foreign princes, all on horseback. Her Majesty the Czarina rode in the imperial carriage, surmounted by the imperial crown, the vehicle being drawn by eight horses. The imperial carriage was preceded by an officer of the imperial stables on horseback. Two pages walked on each side of the box, four Cossacks marched on each side of the vehicle, and it was followed by six pages of the chamber and two equerries of the court stables, all on horseback.

Her Majesty the Empress Alexandria Feodorovna, rode in a state carriage, drawn by eight horses, each led by an equerry, and with equerries riding and walking on both sides of it, preceded by an officer of the imperial stables on horseback, having pages right and left of the box and guarded by four Cossacks in state uniform. The vehicle was followed by six pages of the chamber and two equerries of the court, all on horseback. Then came the Queen of Greece, the Grand Duchess Anastania Mikhilovna, the Grand Duchess of Mickhlemburg-Schwerin, the Grand Duchess Maria Alexdrovna, Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, and Grand Duchess Marc Pavlovna, in a state carriage drawn by six horses. The Grand Duchess Elizabeth Feodorovna, the Grand Duchess Alexandra Josophovna, the Grand Duchess Elizabeth Mavrikievna and the Grand Duchess Militsa Nicolaievna, in a state carriage, drawn by six horses. The Grand Duchess Xenia Alexandrovna, the Grand Duchess Helena Vladimirovna and the Grand Duchess Vera Constantinovna and Duchess of Wurtemburg rode in a state carriage drawn by six horses. The Princess Anastria Nicolaivena Romanovsky, Duchess of Leuchtemberg and the Princess Eugenie Maximilianovna of Oldenburg, in a state carriage, escorted like those of the other highnesses. More troops followed, and then came ladies of the court in carriages, drawn by six horses and followed by troops.

On the route the Emperor stopped at three points, which mark the three circles bounding the different quarters of Moscow. Here he received addresses from the nobles and deputions. The first point was near the Smolensky station, at the entrance of what is known as the Zemlianoi Gorod, or earthly city, and lastly at the entrance of Kitai Gorod. On arriving at the Iberian chapel, at the entrance of the Chinese town, the Emperor alighted from his horse, and, with the Empress, ascended the steps to the shrine, where he was received by the priest with the cross and holy water. As the Emperor passed through the red square, the choirs stationed in the tribunes along the Kremlin wall sang hymns of praise. The appearance of the Czar was the signal for the firing of cannon, the ringing of bells and the cheers of the people.

As the cortege entered the capital a salvo of 71 great guns was fired in obedience to a signal from the top of the Arc de Triomphs, and was immediately repeated upon a signal from the top of the belfry of Tver and the steeple of the town of Ivan Velliki. The Emperor upon entering the capital was received by the Governor-General of Moscow, mounted and escorted by officers and aides. The Governor-General was joined by the Emperor's suite, and upon entering the Zemlainoi the Emperor was received by the mayor and council of the city of Moscow, delegates of the Chamber of Commerce, a committee of artisans, representatives of different companies with distinctive signs, representatives of the Bourse, all formed into a committee of reception.

When the imperial party entered the Iberian chapel the venerates, the sacred image contained therein, and all throughout the route of the procession, the clergy stood at the entrances to all of the churches bearing crosses and holy images. In the hall of St. Vladimir the Emperor and Empress received the benediment of the archpriest of the Cathedral of the Annunciation, and afterwards the imperial party traversed the halls of St. George and St. Alexander and the throne hall, where most of the party remained, to the hall of St. Catharine, which none but those immediately connected with the imperial household were permitted to enter.

At the moment of entry of the imperial party into the Kremlin a salvo of 101 guns was fired at a signal given by the commandant of Moscow. The bells of all the churches in the capital city were kept ringing throughout the day.

FIVE MEMBERS "NAMED."

Exciting Scenes in the British House of Commons.

London, May 22.—The House of Commons, in committee of the whole, sat all night discussing the Agricultural Rating Bill. After the debate had lasted until 3:15 this morning closure was adopted.

Mr. Chaplin, president of the Local Government Board, and introducer of the measure, moved that a certain clause of the bill be put to vote. This was done, and the vote was challenged, whereupon a division was ordered. Several members of the Opposition refused to withdraw for the division, and the chairman, Jas. W. Lowther, then summoned Mr. Gully, the Speaker of the House. The latter attempted to induce the recalcitrant members to take part in the division, but they persisted in remaining in their seats as a protest against the measure, which they declared they regarded as a legalized robbery.

Mr. Gully then "named" Messrs. David Lloyd-George, member for the Carnarvon district; John H. Lewis, Flint district; John Dillon, East Mayo, leader of the anti-Parnellites; Dr. Charles Tanner, middle division of Cork, and Donal Sullivan, south division of Westmeath.

After they had been "named," Right Hon. Arthur Balfour moved that they be suspended for a week.

Prior to a vote on Mr. Balfour's motion it was ordered that the House be cleared. All the members withdrew with the exception of Messrs. Michael Davitt and Daniel MacAleese, members respectively for South Mayo and North Monaghan, who retained their seats. The Speaker requested them to withdraw, but they refused to do so. Mr. Gully then directed the sergeant-at-arms to remove them. This, a mere formality, was effected without resistance.

Then the House reassembled, and Mr. Balfour's motion was adopted by a vote of 209 to 58.

Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt moved to report progress on the bill, and Mr. Balfour moved closure.

James O'Connor, member for the west division of Wicklow, then imitated Messrs. Davitt and MacAleese, and was also removed from the House by the sergeant-at-arms.

The closure motion was carried, and Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt's motion was defeated by a vote of 200 to 70.

Hungry Commoners.

Unique All-Night Scene in the British House.

One Thousand Eggs Consumed by M. P.s —The Agricultural Bill Passed.

London, May 22.—After the scene in the House early this morning, Mr. Balfour said the Government proposed to continue sitting until the Agricultural Rates Bill was completed. The Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain; Mr. Balfour; the Under Secretary of the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, and the Secretary of State for India, Lord George Hamilton, occupied the Treasury benches all night long, in the evening dress they had worn on the night previous. Throughout the night suppers were in progress in the coffee room, and from the fact that 1,000 eggs alone were consumed, it may be judged that the appetites of the members were sharpened considerably by their stay in the House.

At 5 o'clock this morning the manager of the coffee room made a sortie, and succeeded in purchasing the entire contents of a fish store located in the neighborhood of the House. He loaded these provisions into a cab, and conveyed them to the House. He then started on another foraging expedition, and eventually returned with two cabs full of fresh bread, butter, milk, coffee, tea, rolls, sausages, bacon, ham, etc., and the prospects for starvation for the members soon vanished. Everybody enjoyed a good breakfast, sooner or later, and this seems to have been sufficient to restore good humor among the Commoners, for they began to look at the Agricultural Bill in a more favorable light, and an amicable discussion was resumed.

Finally, at 1:30 p.m., just as the members were getting hungry again, and longing for luncheon, with the manager of the coffee room preparing for another reconnoitering expedition, all the clauses of the bill were agreed to, and with many sighs of relief, the House adjourned until June 1, and the members hurried away to their clubs or homes.

"Up" All Night.

Funny Experience of English People "in High Life."

The Imitation Ferris Wheel Stuck—Passengers Imprisoned and Hungry.

London, May 22.—As a curious coincidence, while the members of the House of Commons were practically confined in that so-called most comfortable of all clubs, a number of people, men, women and children, were undergoing somewhat similar experiences at Earl's Court. Quite a party had entered the great wheel there, known as the "gigantic wheel and recreation tower." This structure is an imitation of the famous Ferris wheel of the Chicago World's Fair, but it is larger, the highest point of the London wheel being 300 feet from the ground, while the top of the Ferris wheel was only 264 feet high. Shortly before 8:15 p.m. yesterday, the wheel started with quite a number of people on board, and everything went merrily until 8:20, when the structure stopped revolving. At first little or no attention was paid to the matter, but as time passed and the wheel would not budge, those who were about to do so left the cars, and steps were taken to rescue those who were imprisoned higher up. Ladders were procured, and, later, fire escapes were used. But, in spite of all these efforts, quite a number of people were compelled to remain aloft. About midnight they got hungry, and every means was devised to feed them and make them comfortable for the night. Eventually they went to sleep, but woke this morning early, and very hungry. By means of ropes, cans of coffee and baskets of bread and other provisions were hauled up to them, and the work of trying to revolve the wheel was resumed. But it was not until noon today that the prisoners were finally released amid much cheering from crowds who had assembled to witness the rescue.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to public confidence.

Address an Open Letter to Hon. Wilfrid Laurier.

Why the Manufacturers Are Ready to Trust Him.

A Business Policy, Which Will Restore Confidence and Prosperity and Settle the Northwest, Needed.

To the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier:

Dear Sir,—Much is again being urged by those opposed to you in politics as to the disastrous effects on the manufacturing interests of the country which they claim and profess to believe would follow your accession to power at the approaching elections.

Your manly independence during the last session of Parliament under the most trying circumstances that could have been imposed upon you shows us that no hasty or illadvised action would be likely to be taken by you on any important question.

Speaking for ourselves as manufacturers in one of the leading industries of Canada (the manufacture of furniture), we take this opportunity of assuring you that we believe you are so imbued with the spirit of justice and fair play that manufacturers in any branch of industry need have no fear that they will be treated unfairly in any readjustment of the tariff which may be made by any Government of which you are the head.

We realize that the necessity for a large revenue to meet our heavy annual obligations demands such a rate of taxation as must afford to manufacturers a very reasonable protection for an indefinite time.

VITAL QUESTIONS.

Were all other things equal, and this the only matter requiring the attention of the electors, it could make but little difference to manufacturers as such whether yourself or Sir Charles Tupper should have control in the next Parliament; but we believe there are other matters of vital importance to the welfare of the Dominion which should receive consideration at the hands of the electors at the present time, and in considering them we are bound to keep in view the character and records of those asking our suffrages.

As business men we believe that the government of the country should be conducted on strictly business principles, and that those intrusted with it should be not only capable but free from any taint of scandal. The general trade of the country was never in a worse condition than it is at the present time, whatever politicians may say to the contrary. We therefore take the liberty of placing before you a few things which we believe as business men would assist in restoring confidence and prosperity in the country. We would like to see:

THE COUNTRY'S NEEDS.

1. A more rigid and economical administration of public affairs.
2. An honest Administration, guarding the public funds, and rendering impossible the scandals which have disgraced Canadian politics in recent years.
3. An active immigration policy for the peopling of our great Northwest and the consequent extension of the home market for our manufactures.
4. The development of our mineral resources.
5. A policy that will weld together rather than sow the seeds of dissension among the different creeds and nationalities that compose our population.

These are a few matters which suggest themselves to our minds, and it is because we have the highest regard for you as a statesman and an honorable politician that we feel that under your guidance the affairs of our country would be carried on in the best interests of the whole Dominion. We are, etc., etc.,
