FURTHER CABINET CHANGES.

J. S. HALL SPOKEN OF AS MR. CURRAN'S SUCCESSOR.

Lieut.-Governor Chapleau Again Talked of for the Public Works Portfolio—Hugh John Macdonald's Name Again to the Front—A Glut of Cheese in England—Royal Military College Affairs.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—It is expected that the announcement of the appointment of the Hon. J. J. Curran as one of the Superior Court Judges of Montreal will be made in a few days. A prominent Montrealer who was in town to-day said he believed that the Hon. J. S. Hall, late Provincial Treasurer of Quebec, will be asked to take the Solicitor Generalship.

Despite the reports to the contrary, the rumor is again revived that Mr. Chapleau will shortly re-enter the Ministry. If he comes back to Ottawa it is said he will get the portfolio of Public Works, Mr. Ouimet taking that of Agriculture. Then Mr. Hugh John Macdonald's name crops up again with a persistency which leads to the belief that he may be induced to accept a Federal portfolio sooner than most people think.

Interesting to Cheesemen.

The Department of Agriculture has received information that the pressure of the importation of cheese in England is beginning to touch very closely the farming interests. The agricultural papers are full of discussion of the subject. At a recent sale of Cheshire cheese, at Whitchurch, the quantity disposed of was 100 tons, the month before the highest quotable price was 47s 6d, a hitherto unprecedented quotation; but at the September fair the highest figure reached was 47s, and that for one lot only. Other lots of the finest Cheshire made were sold at from 38s to 45s, the bulk of the sales ranging between 31s and 41s. "It is believed," says The Chester Chronicle, "that such a state of things can not exist much longer and that certain financial ruin stares many in the face, unless there is an improvement in the trade."

It was further stated that farmers were obliged to sell at the prices quoted, being unable to keep their cheese, it having reached the stage of ripeness. The Chronicle adds that during the afternoon cheese of very fair quality was retailed at 1d a pound.

Supreme Court.

Argument before the Supreme Court in Neelon v. City of Toronto was concluded to-day. Judgment reserved. Canada Atlantic Railway Company v. Hurdman was next heard. The action in this case was brought by the administrator of George Hurdman to recover damages for his death, caused, as alleged, by the negligence of servants of the company while loading lumber on cars of the company. Deceased was in a car that was being loaded and was crushed against the end of a car during shunting operations. A verdict was given against the company at the trial for $700. The appellants argued that there was no evidence of negligence to go to a jury and that they were entitled to a verdict even on the facts as found, one being that deceased voluntarily incurred risk. Arugment was not concluded when the Court rose. Chrysler, Q.C., and Nesbitt for appellant; McCarthy, Q.C., and Blanchet for respondent.

Royal Military College Cadetships

Hon. Mr. Dickey is about to make another innovation in connection with his department, which will commend itself to the annually increasing number of graduates of the Royal Military College at Kingston. The new Board of visitors, consisting of five members, three of whom must be chosen from the militia staff, will shortly be appointed and Mr. Dickey has decided to give representation on the Board to graduates of the institution. They will have one representative out of five, and possibly two. This decision on the part of the Minister will, doubtless, be appreciated by graduates, who, it is needless to remark, cherish fond recollections of their alma mater.

Complaints of Discrimination.

The Minister of Militia has received communications from the authorities of Trinity University, Toronto, Ottawa College, Bishop's College, Lennoxville and King's College, Windsor, N.S., all asking why they were discriminated against in the recent revised regulations, respecting entrance to cadetship in the Royal Military College. It will be remembered that an order was recently issued allowing matriculants of six Canadian universities to enter the Royal Military College as cadets without undergoing the usual headquarters' examination. Because six universities only were chosen complaint comes from the colleges named.

Hon. Mr. Dickey in his reply states that no privilege has been conferred on universities as such. The new regulation was simply a convenience for students wanting to enter the Royal Military College, as it offered them facilities for local examinations more readily than they had hitherto enjoyed. For this purpose he selected the six representative institutions which are centrally situated. If, however, no practical difficulties intervene the list will probably be largely extended. The arrangement is only a tentative one, simply to see how the scheme would work.

Hon. G. W. Ross' Thunder.

Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, has been outside the Federal political arena for some years, and evidently he is losing his grip on Dominion politics. In a speech the other day he thundered against the Dominion Government for the manner in which it administered the superannuation system. Mr. Ross took as his principal ground of complaint the action of the Government in superannuating Mr. Vankoughnet, the Deputy Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, and he alleged that the Government had not carried out its promise that there would be a saving in expenditure by Mr. Hayter Reed's transfer to Ottawa and combining in him the duties of Deputy Superintendent General and Indian Commissioner. Hon. Mr. Daly in the course of conversation, said that since Mr. Reed was appointed Deputy Superintendent-General he has combined with his duties those of Indian Commissioner. It is now contemplated to promote Mr. Forget, the Assistant Commissioner, to the commissionership without increase of salary. Mr. Reed received a salary of $3200, precisely the same as that which he received when Indian Commissioner; Mr. Forget, $2400, and when promoted will receive the same sum. The position of Assistant Commissioner will be abolished. As Mr. Forget has been performing the duties of Commissioner at Regina, it was thought anomalous that he should be styled "assistant." All that is proposed to do is to drop the title assistant.

Wrecks in the Gulf.

The Underwriters' Association have made representations to the Government that in view of wrecks which have unfortunately taken place in the Gulf during the season of navigation just closing, and the difficulty of communicating with Belle Isle owing to the remoteness of telegraphic communication, the Government telegraph lines should be extended to the Straits of Belle Isle. On the north shore the most easterly terminal point of the telegraphic service is at Point Esquimaux, and on Anticosti Island at East Point. From either of these places is a distance to Belle Isle light station of hundred miles. The late Mr. Glsbo, for many years superintendent of the Government telegraph's service, often urged that a cable be laid from East Point to Belle Isle, his estimate of the cost being $200,000. This may sem a large sum to expend, but in the interest of humanity, to say nothing of the benefit to the shipping interests, the expenditure is one which will have to be faced before long.

An Important Proposition.

The Separate School Board has made an important proposition to the Provincial Government. It is that the Model School for the training of French and English teachers, which is now at Plantagenet should be removed to this city. This would confer a great benefit upon the French population of Ottawa and also upon the cause of education, more especially as the boys attending the separate schools are now under the tuition of lay teachers. The Hon. Mr. Ross has promised to bring the matter before the Cabinet at once.

Ottawa's Growth.

The official report of the Assessment Commissioner was issued to-day. The assessment has gone up almost a million and a half and the anticipated increase of population, putting Ottawa ahead of Hamilton, is more than verified. Ottawa's population is now 49,674. Last year it was 47,774, an increase in the year of 1899. The assessment this year is $21,239,270; last year it was $19,799,095.

Dr. E. H. Stanley, veterinary surgeon, died in the Protestant Hospital to-day. He had been sick since the end of September.

Dr. B. F. Hurdman was married this afternoon to Miss Helen McNutt, daughter of Mr. C. H. McNutt, late of the Crown Timber Office. The Rev. Mr. Herridge performed the ceremony.

Sir A. P. Caron and the Hon. Mr. Ouimet left for Montreal this afternoon.

Orders in Council have been passed for the expropriation of certain lands required for the Trent canal.

A lengthened session of the Treasury Board was held to-day.

It is settled that nothing will be done by the Public Works Department this fall towards relaying sidewalks or roadways on Parliament Hill. The work will go over until spring, when the contractors will be able to make a far better job of it than is possible at this late period of the year.

A COME-DOWN AND A SLUR

Is What The London Chronicle Calls Lord Salisbury's Position Regarding Turkey.

London, Oct. 16.—The Chronicle prints the following despatch from Constantinople, under date of the 14th instant:

Sir Philip Currie, M. Cambon and M. Nelidoff, the British, French and Russian Ambassadors, met yesterday and drew up a final scheme. This they submitted to Said Pasha, the Foreign Minister, who went instantly to the Sultan. The scheme contains provisions of which no alterations will be made. A favorable answer was expected to-day, but at 4 o'clock no reply had been received. This was regarded as a bad sign, indicating a fresh attempt of the Sultan to gain time, but the Ambassadors are resolved not to permit a further indefinite discussion; therefore the proposals will be quickly followed by an ultimatum. The Ambassadors hold identical views, but their Governments are not so unanimous, hence the hesitation to use force. The key to the situation is Russia's unwillingness to see Armenia organized with autonomy. It is a very serious fact that yesterday's proposals revert, with slight alterations, to the scheme of May 11. The demand for a Christian High Commissioner to be appointed by the powers is dropped.

The Chronicle, commenting on the foregoing despatch will describe the result as a come down and slur on the British name. It will say: "We have been out-bluffed and have had a slap in the face that a high spirited people ought not to tolerate. We have to thank the weak-kneed champion of Toryism. We must never trust Lord Salisbury again."

The Chronicle's anger seems to arise from the terms of the proposition being no stronger than were Lord Rosebery's on May 11.

The French, Russian and Austrian Lloyds Companies have each sent a large steamer to Trebizond to serve as refuge for residents in case of need. A steamer which arrived from there Monday reports that 2000 Christians are taking refuge in the Russian postal steamer. Two other steamers are also full of refugees.

WARLIKE DOINGS.

Much Activity in the Fortresses on the Hellespont.

London, Oct. 16.—There is much activity in the forts on the Hellespont and much excitement in the town. The garrison has ben increased by 2000, and 10,000 more have been ordered to join. New batteries are being raised in Dardanelles, Nemazieh and Medjidieh. They will be armed with heavy guns. All the flannel in the city has been bought for the purpose of making cartridges. All the while smiths are busy making lanterns and canteens.

The Proposals Accepted.

Constantinople, Oct. 16.—The proposals submitted by the representatives of Russia, France and England for the reform of the Turkish administration in Armenia have been accepted by Said Pasha, and are now awaiting the approval and signature of the Sultan, before whom they have been laid. The Sultan's reply has not yet been made known.

GRAND TRUNK CHANGES.

Manager Hays' Hobby is Fast Trains—Said to be a Martinet.

Mr. Charles M. Hays, the new manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, will not relinquish his present post under the Wabash Railway Company until Dec. 1. In the interval between that day and Jan. 1, when he takes charge of the Grand Trunk, he will make a complete tour of the system so as to familiarize himself with its working. It is probable that the new manager will introduce many of his friends into the service of the company, but it is not yet known what offices are likely to change hands. On the Wabash road Mr. Hays has earned the reputation of being a martinet. He insists upon the observance of the strictest punctuality in the running of trains, and one of his hobbies is the making of fast time between important points. It is thought that under his regime the time occupied in the journey between Toronto and Montreal will be decreased two hours. Rumor is busy with the names of many officials who, it, is said, will be cashiered or transferred, but nothing whatever of the new manager's intentions is known.

MR. LAURIER AT DELTA.

CHEERS AND ADDRESSES RECEIVED ON THE JOURNEY.

A Great Gathering at the Delta Agricultural Hall—An Interesting Incident Arising Out of a Telegram From the Minister of Justice—A Bantering Reply Sent by the Liberal Leader.

Brockville, Oct. 16.—The Hon. Mr. Laurier and party arrived here from Smith's Falls last night and this morning, accompanied by John McMillan, M. P. for South Huron; George W. Dawson, M.P. for Addington; Thomas Bain, M.P. for North Wentworth; James Cumming, Liberal candidate for Brockville; W. H. Fredenburg, candidate for South Leeds; Alex. Smith, Secretary of the Ontario Liberal Association, and a number of leading local Liberals left for Delta by special train on the Brockville & Westport Railway.

At Lyn, the home of Mr. Cumming, Mr. Laurier was accorded an enthusiastic reception.

Here Mr. Laurier was presented with an address read by Henry McDonald, the oldest Liberal in the village. Mr. Laurier replied in a ten minutes' address, delivered in his usual happy manner.

At Athens, where a large crowd was in waiting, Mr. Laurier was called on for an address, and spoke for about 15 minutes.

Arrival at Delta.

On arriving at Delta, there was an immense crowd at the station, who gave a most enthusiastic reception to Mr. Laurier and his friends.

A procession was then formed and to the music of the Athens and Lansdowne brass bands proceeded down town. The visitors were entertained at a semi-private dinner at Brown's Hotel.

Dinner over, the procession re-formed and marched to the Agricultural Hall. The building was seated for 1200 people, but this was not sufficient.

The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, portraits of Mr. Laurier and Mr. Fredenburg, etc. The streets of the town were also liberally decorated with flags and bunting.

W. J. Webster of Westport, vice-president of South Leeds Liberal Association presided. He made a brief address, after which short speeches were made by Mr. Fredenburg, George P. Graham, editor of the Brockville Recorder, and John McMillan, M.P.

Then followed an address presented to Mr. Laurier from the South Leeds Liberal Association, which was read by W. P. Dalley of Rockport.

At this juncture Mr. Laurier was presented with an elegant bouquet by a little boy named Robert Stephens. Mr. Laurier then replied to the address, in a speech which lasted over an hour. His remarks were largely on the lines taken in his previous speeches. The meeting was, however, given special interest by the reading of the following telegram, received by Mr. Laurier after his arrival in Delta, from Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper, Minister of Justice:

Ottawa, Oct. 16.

To Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, Delta, Ont.:

You are reported in The Mail and Empire of the 15th inst. to have stated at Merrickville as follows: "There were convicts in the jails of Montreal and Toronto, he said, speaking of the liberation of Messrs. McGreevy and Connolly, who had just as good a reason to regain their freedom. The Government would not interfere in the interests of the former, however, because they had not sinned on behalf of the Conservative Administration. I need not remind you as a counsel of long standing, and a Privy Councellor as well, that this statement directly concerns the office of Minister of Justice. I beg of you, therefore, in justice to my department, to favor me promptly with the names of the prisoners to whom you refer. Not a single case of the kind has been reported to me, or brought under my notice.

(Signed) CHARLES HIBBERT TUPPER.

To the above Mr. Laurier wired a reply as follows:

If no case has been reported to you, I advise you, as a philanthropist, to enquire into the matter, and you will find that the overcoat in question is affected by confinement, and that they are all entitled to the same tender mercies extended by the Government to Messrs. McGreevy and Connolly.

(Signed) WILFRID LAURIER.

Mr. Laurier said his remarks had evidently not suited Sir Charles, who, on this occasion had not displayed his usual acumen.

"If he wants the names," said Mr. Laurier, "I say to him they are legion."

THE SACKVILLE PAMPHLET.

Its Author Cannot Understand How It Became Public.

London, Oct. 16.—The Daily Telegraph prints a letter from Lord Sackville in which he says that only a few copies of the pamphlet relating to Mr. Bayard were printed. These were meant for distribution privately among friends and the writer never intended the pamphlet to be published. He is at a loss to understand how it became public.

An Unnecessary Storm.

Truth says: "Lord Sackville's pamphlet has raised an altogether unnecessary storm in the United States. Its secret history may be told in a few words. It was published on the 3rd of the present month, although one or two advance copies were distributed among very intimate friends a few weeks ago. At the time it raised the storm in New York only a dozen or two copies had been printed by Lord Sackville for old friends in the diplomatic service. The pamphlet only relates to actual facts connected with the now historical Sackville-Bayard incident. Anybody at all acquainted with the diplomatic service would be mightily surprised to hear that even a combination of all the members of the service could affect in the slightest the position of a foreign ambassador in London. Not even the best friends of Lord Sackville will deny that he was betrayed into an unfortunate indiscretion. It cannot, either, be denied that Mr. Bayard availed himself thereof to excite an anti-English agitation for the purpose of assisting the candidacy of Mr. Cleveland. It reflects great honor, therefore, on the English people that their Government has been so dignified and magnanimous as to welcome Mr. Bayard as it has."

Desirable Information.

At this season of the year there is certain inquiries as to what style of overcoat is going to be worn, and for the benefit of our readers a representative of this paper called on one of our leading tailors and received the following information: The most popular overcoat will be the single-breasted fly front coat, made of a Scotch cheviot cloth, black, grey, or brown being the popular shade. They should have a 3-in. velvet collar, but no outside breast pocket, and the length should be slightly shorter than that of last year. Meltons and beavers are still very fashionable, although not as much so as the cheviot. Double-breasted coats should be made with good square shoulders and heavy welt seams, and an outside breast pocket. The proper lining is a satin body lining with a worsted lining for the skirt. As the information required to satisfy an intending purchaser requires too lengthy an article, we would recommend them to call on Mr. R. C. Waterson, 126 Yonge-street, who has a very complete stock of all the newest goods, and will cheerfully furnish you with prices and any information you may require.

BURNED BECAUSE SCARED OF A RAT

Flora Crawford Dropped a Lamp at Sight of a Rat and is Seriously Burned.

The noise of a rat moving about in a cellar is responsible for the condition of Miss Flora Crawford, who is lying at Grace Hospital suffering from a number of intensely painful burns about the arms and legs. Miss Crawford was employed as a domestic with Mrs. Wyatt, 258 Simcoe-street. Shortly after dinner last evening she had occasion to go into the cellar. She carried a kerosene lamp in one hand and a dish in the other.

When she reached the foot of the stairs, the noisy movements of a rat startled her, and the lamp fell from her hands. The oil communicated with the flame and in an instant Miss Crawford's clothes were in a blaze. Presence of mind for a moment would have extinguished the flames and averted any serious results. Instead of this Miss Crawford rushed screaming upstairs, the first intimation the members of the family had of her dangerous predicament being when she rushed into the drawing-room completely enveloped in fire. Mr. Wyatt seized a rug from the floor and with the assistance of others who secured water succeeded in extinguishing the blaze.

The unfortunate girl's legs and arms were severely burned. Dr. Allen Baines was called and ordered her removal to the hospital.

Berlin Men Badly Hurt.

Berlin, Oct. 16.—Three men, Frank Seibert, Josiah Rudy and John Reist, were moving a quantity of lumber from the cellar upstairs on the elevator at Simpson's furniture factory, at which work they had been engaged all afternoon. During one of the trips up just as they reached the second floor the cable broke, and down went the whole arrangement with a rush. Reist was badly hurt about the head, besides having bitten his lower lip through when he fell. Rudy fared the worst, as it is believed he is internally injured.

Two Jurymen's Death.

Halifax, Oct. 16.—John McDonald, one of the Supreme Court Grand Jurors, who sat at Sydney last week, was drowned the same day the court rose. Another of the same jury, John P. McNeil, of Ammagadas Pond, while driving home fell out of his wagon, receiving internal injuries, from which he died.

An Arm Crushed.

Stratford, Ont., Oct. 16.—While coupling cars at Parkhill yesterday afternoon George Toole of this city, had his right arm very badly crushed under a car wheel.

Fatal Collision of Trains.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 16.—The water famine in this city was the cause of a bad wreck, the loss of two, and probably three lives and the serious injury of several trainmen and passengers. The wreck occurred on the Hollidaysburg branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Allegheny Furnace, at the southern end of the city, this morning, when a train of tank cars collided with the Henrietta passenger train. The two engines were completely telescoped. The shock was a terrific one and all the passengers were thrown about in the most violent manner, scarcely any escaping without some injury, but none of the passengers sustained fatal injury.

A BRITISH ULTIMATUM.

The King of Ashantee Accused of Violating Treaty Obligations.

London, Oct. 16.—Great Britain has sent an ultimatum to the King of Ashantee, who is accused of violating his treaty obligations, regarding the Ashantee States under British protection with a resident commissioner. The ultimatum expires Oct. 31.

POSITIVELY DENIED.

The Greenway Government Flatly Contradicts Rev. J. E. Starr.

Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—The Kingston despatch, stating, on the authority of Rev. J. E. Starr, that Premier Greenway had made advances to Archbishop Langevin, with the object of discovering what concessions in the matter of schools on the part of the Greenway Government would be acceptable to the hierarchy, is positively denied at the Provincial Government offices and archbishop's palace.

COSTLY GENUINE FURS.

The Boa Ton of Toronto Society Buy at Dineens'.

Experts agree that total extinction of the Alaska fur bearing seal is only a matter of a few years. The latest reports from the sealing grounds say that the rookeries or breeding grounds which are usually crowded with the animals at this season are entirely deserted. This may in part account for the unprecedented business done in expensive seal garments this fall by Messrs. W. & D. Dineen. When it is considered, however, that the rush has been equally great in costly mink, sable, electric seal and grey lamb skin garments, it would rather indicate that Dineen has attained to that standard of excellence upon which is set the exclusive approving stamp of fashion. The sealskin jackets are made with enormous sleeves from the latest patterns and the long mink or sable capes with wide sweep. These long mink and sable capes are suitable for elderly ladies. For the younger folks nice short capes are made from 22 to 27 inches in length, very stylish and made up in all furs. Persian lamb with glossy bright collars cost from $85 to $125. The seal are $185 up to $225. Silver grey Persian lamb at from $50 to $60. Electric seal that cannot be told from genuine seal with sable collar and trimmings, $150. Greenland seal, 22 inches, $15; 27 inches, $25. Furlined robes, 34 to 36 inches long, with double capes, $25 single, without the capes but with fur trimmings and collar, at $16.50 and $20. There are also to be seen the best in fur collars, gauntlets, men's coats, lap robes, caps and so on at Dineens, King and Yonge.

FARMERS LOSE EVERYTHING.

Continued Ravages of Prairie Fires in Manitoba—Grain Men Dissatisfied Over Inspection Fees.

Winnipeg, Oct. 16.—Prairie fires continue to do extensive damage in different parts of the province. In scores of cases farmers lose everything and it is estimated that the total losses in the province and adjoining territories on the Assiniboine will be fully a quarter of a million dollars. In very few cases has the responsibility for the fire been located, but it is noticeable that in the great majority of cases the fires started close to railway lines.

Grain Men Dissatisfied.

The Grain Exchange at a meeting this afternoon passed a resolution deploring the Government's action in fixing the wheat inspection fee at Fort William at 60 cents per carload, in face of the fact that this exchange requested that the fee be 40 cents, and urging the Government to at once reduce the fee as formerly requested.

General Notes.

The fact that coal is being sold in Brandon at $8 as against $8.50 in Winnipeg, while it costs $1 per ton more to deliver it in the western town, has caused an agitation to spring up here against the apparent imposition by dealers.

UNINTENTIONAL BIGAMY.

Hugh Shaw's Romantic Story of His Double Marriage.

A romantic story was brought to light yesterday when Hugh Shaw was charged before Judge McDougall with bigamy, being remanded upon bail until this morning. About 12 years ago when Shaw was 18 he went to Winnipeg as a traveler and there became acquainted with a Miss Hall whom he married under compulsion.

Within 24 hours he deserted his wife and returned to Ottawa where he conducted business on Sparks-street. Six years ago, having been informed of his wife's death, he married at Toronto Miss McDermott of Pontiac county, Rev. James Broughall performing the ceremony.

Shaw resided at Ottawa, until his failure two years ago compelled him to leave. He drifted back again, however, and two weeks ago, was amazed to find that his first wife was alive.

He at once came to Toronto and surrendered to the police while his wife returned to her parents, residing about 18 miles from Ottawa. The bigamist is a son of the late George Shaw, formerly a grocer in Bloor-street, who died at Brampton.

A STRANGER TO HIMSELF.

AN AMUSING INTERVIEW WITH THE DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH.

"They've Told So Many Lies About Me That I Hardly Know Myself Any More." Was His First Remark to a Reporter—What the Young Duke Had to Say of the Wedding.

New York, Oct. 16.—The Duke of Marlborough has been very much annoyed over stories printed about him in New York papers, and yesterday requested that a reporter call on him. This request was complied with, and a reporter was ushered into the Duke's room. The young man was as good-natured as could be and nothing seemed to worry him half so much as the great curiosity of the American people about his movements.

"They've told so many lies about me," he went on, "that really I hardly know myself any more. I've become a sort of a stranger to myself, don't you know?"

The Duke had just finished writing a dozen letters which he now began to seal, imprinting the Marlborough arms upon the back of each with one of the seals that dangle from his watch chain. He looked up from his work and said with a smile:

"You Americans seem to like to amuse yourselves at the expense of the English. Isn't that so? I don't mind any of the humorous things they've written about me. Upon my word, I don't, although not one of them is true. But it hurts one's feelings to read lies about one's character. Don't you think so?"

There was a boyish frankness in his face as he said this that was very pleasing. He spoke as though he had really felt a great deal of annoyance over some of the things that had been said about him. Then, with a laugh, he said: "I assure you I haven't had a single humorous or tragic experience since I've been in this country."

As to the Wedding.

"Now, about the wedding. I haven't much time to spare. I've got so many things to do. Is there anything that you would like to know?"

There were a number of things the reporter was curious to know, but his grace had a woful memory.

"Do you know," he said, "I've forgotten the name of the church, and I really can't tell you about the ushers. But, let me see; perhaps these things may interest you: There will be 4000 invitations sent out, and I expect the church will be filled. None of the family jewels will be brought over, but that has already been published, hasn't it? There's no use, you see, in bringing them over and paying duty on them only to take them back again. I expect a few of my friends will come over from the other side, but not very many. It's a bad time of the year, you see.

"About our plans. Well, after the wedding we shall probably go on the Continent and travel for two or three months before we go to London.

"Now tell me," the Duke said, "why you people are so fond of interviews with Englishmen. I suppose your American women never get interviewed?"

"On the contrary," the reporter explained, "they're very fond of being interviewed, as a rule."

"No, really?" was the incredulous reply. "They can't be such flats. Is it really true? Well, well, I wonder why it is?"

"Vanity, perhaps," suggested the reporter.

"That's so, but it's very strange. I've seen nearly every newspaper man who has come to me, but I did it merely out of vanity. I really did not like to see my name in the papers so frequently."

The Duke said he had enjoyed his trip through the country very much. The Duke produced a newspaper clipping in which it was said he was hollow-chested, speaks in a whisper. Rising from his chair, he drew himself to his full height and asked, laughingly: "Am I hollow-chested?"

He could pass the physical examination for admission to West Point. Then, in a merry voice, he went on: "Do I whisper? Another thing, I do not wear red ties. One of the papers accused me of that."

The Duke said he was gong to give a bachelor supper in a couple of weeks, and might be able to tell something about it later, and then bade the reporter good night.

PA AND MA ALSO.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt to be Married Again.

Brooklyn, Oct. 16.—It has become almost an accepted rumor among the members of the "four hundred" of New York, and particularly among those who compose the Meadowbrook Hunt Club, of Long Island, that a reconciliation is probable between Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, and that immediately following the marriage of their daughter, Consuelo, with the Duke of Marlborough, a second ceremony will unite the parents a second time in matrimony.

In the settlement of the marriage contract the Duke of Marlborough is understood to have received $3,000,000, and an additional $10,000,000 was settled on Miss Consuelo.
