ANOTHER UPWARD SWING IN C. P. R. QUOTATIONS

Price Gets Within a Fraction of 175, But Stock Not Active in Local Market.

World Office,
Monday Evening, Sept. 18.

There was no speculative activity in local securities to-day. The tone was steady, but firmness in quotations was not general. Wall-street is proving too much of an attraction to permit of attention to home specialties, and any broad enquiry is not expected until the market at New York slows down. The only change of importance in quotations was again contributed by C.P.R. Saturday's sharp advance was continued to-day to the extent of two points. Broken lots in this stock contributed most of the business in the shares here, and it is thought that these sales represent small investment holdings, which gave been off the market for some years. No satisfactory explanation is forthcoming for the remarkable advance in these shares, but the pool are undoubtedly well supplies with funds and have the entire floating stock well in hand. The only other feature of attraction was a light activity in Crow's Nest Coal shares. This stock has not been so freely dealt in for years. The present concession in price is supposed to indicate a desire to secure a larger volume of shareholders. The declaration of the regular dividend on Sao Paulo had no particular influence on quotations for the stock, which, however, were slightly higher than at the latter part of last week. Investment shares were steadily firm, without much business.

The banks on Saturday gained $177,000 from the sub-treasury, but since Friday have lost $200,000, which compares with a loss of $1,750,000 in the previous week. The sub-treasury is debtor at the clearing house this morning in the sum of $1,532,008, and it is expected that the banks will gain from the treasury during the week.

Bullish operations in Canadian Pacific were a feature of the early trading, and the price was advanced to 174½, but subsequently reacted a little. All sorts of bull predictions regarding it are heard, but the movement is attributed to a bull pool. —Town Topics.

Joseph says: Prices may react, but stocks are a purchase on all declines, and issues like St. Paul and Pennsylvania should be bought for a long pull. Gould shares will reach a higher level. Buy Wabash debenture B's. Buy Atchison. All steel and iron shares will work higher.

London—Evening—Increased activity and strength characterized the business in Americans on the curb. Final prices were approximately at the top. Influential buying of Canadian Pacific advanced that stock to 179¾, equal to 174¾ in New York. The improvement extended to other departments, which closed a shade harder.

* * *

Closing was generally firm at the advance, with fair volume of business, which we regret to say is not well distributed in commission houses. The market is too manipulated to cheerfully recommend itself. Holders of stocks are content to hold on, shorts are nervous and cover readily and the professional bulls have the situation in hand without much public following.—Charles Head & Co.

Sentiment among uptown crowd is decidedly mixed. A peculiar situation is the fact that men actively engaged in railroad and industrial enterprises quite uniformly express themselves as optimistic on the future outlook for the market, basing opinion on the prosperity and increased earnings which must be reflected in higher prices for securities. These men, however, are the ones who take the long range view of the market movements. On the other hand some very shrewd operators, basing their views more on technical conditions, hold that the time is not yet ripe for a sustained upward movement. They lay stress on the monetary situation, altho they admit the development of a few days might entirely change their convictions. If additional import gold engagements are made this week on a substantial scale, they believe the money situation may be regarded as quite clear.—N.Y. News.

* * *

J. S. Bache & Co. say: For the immediate future, the crop moving period, it does not seem probable that prices will show any marked change. It is speculation that makes bull markets, and speculation, of course, depends upon the volume of surplus money. At the same time, with fundamental conditions as they are, purchases made at this level will in time prove profitable. For the immediate future we look for a traders' market and would advise purchases on recessions and profit-taking on sharp advances.

On Wall Street.

Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty (King Edward Hotel), at the close of the market to-day:

The market was really strong at times, and liberal advances were secured during the early trading in nearly all important directions. While the late trading showed some profit taking, the tone of the market was well preserved during the day's trading. The advance in Canadian Pacific was attributed to a demonstration against the American short interest and perhaps a related covering movement in other directions was responsible for much of the market's strength.

Perhaps the best thing that can be said about the market is that it was not one of specialties and its strength seemed to come from a better feeling, tho not pronounced enough to give grounds for belief in an important speculative movement.

The export movement of all cereals except wheat continues on a liberal scale and this is also true of cotton, with a consequent effect on sterling exchange.

We look to see this feature of the money market continue to work in a favorable way.

There is no evidence yet of that kind of support to the market which would indicate a return to entire confidence in financial conditions by what is called "the larger interests," and perhaps pending the adjustment of the money market on more stable lines, a conservative policy is advisable.

The market has responded since Friday to relieved feeling brought about by the character of the bank statement and from present indications we should expect no worse development than has already passed, and with this view of the situation, the market should at least preserve its present healthy tone.

In the absence of specially depressing influences either at hand or in the forecast, we are inclined, therefore, to look for strength in the security list with only such restrictions in its development as may result from the condition of the money market.

We confidently expect to finally change for the better.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell, McKinnon Building:

Buying and bidding up of such stocks as Reading, Canadian Pacific, L. & N., Illinois Central and the Gould shares caused a substantial advance in the general market, and the closing prices were not far from the best of the day. The equipment shares were strong, the basis for the movement being the large orders recently placed with these companies. The report of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Ste. Marie for the fiscal year ending June 30, showed that over 11 per cent. was earned on the common stock and it is now predicted that it will sell as high as Canadian Pacific. The advance in this stock has caused the public to look with favor on the shares of the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic. The preferred stock under 40 is almost where "Soo" common was selling within two years ago, where "Soo" was when it started on its pronounced rise of a hundred points. The earnings of the Duluth S.S. & A. are beginning to show substantial increases. Fundamental conditions are strong and point to ultimately higher prices for the entire list.

Cotton Gossip.

Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, King Edward Hotel, at the close of the market to-day:

The Liverpool market showed rather more than expected trength to-day and our option list required support in order to be held in line by what are now called the controlling interests.

Southern spot were not in full support of the market's steadiness and the receipts were very heavy, much more so than expected.

The market, however, gave no special evidence of weakness and as before stated, there were enough buying orders to hold values at a fair level, somewhat higher than Saturday's close.

The weather news of the day showed light rains and favorable conditions, and the forecast is also on the same lines for to-night and to-morrow. Bureau report should not be unfavorable to-morrow.

While comparisons with last year's movement from this time forward should be favorable to the market, and indicate a much smaller crop, there is a distinctly conservative attitude noticeable for the part of spinners, which should be reflected later on in the export demand. Meantime, speculation continues to hold the market against a serious break and with good generalship this may be continued well into the future, tho we do not expect a pronounced and sustained advance.

DOMINION BANK
FOREIGN EXCHANGE
draws bills upon France, Germany and Italy, payable respectively in francs, marks and lire.

100 LOADS AT UNION YARDS TRADE DULL, PRICES LOW

Drop of 15c to 25c Hundredweight From a Week Ago on the Market Yesterday.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 100 carloads, consisting of 2087 cattle, 217 sheep and lambs, 1 hog and 11 calves.

The quality of about 40 per cent. of the fat cattle was fair to good, the balance being common to medium, that should have been kept on the grass for some time to come.

Trade was slow, with prices 15c to 25c per cwt. lower.

Exporters.

Prices ranged at from $4.50 to $4.80 per cwt. for the best, only one or two loads bringing the latter figure, and fair to good at $4 to $4.50, with the bulk of exporters at $4.25 to $4.50; export bulls sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt.

Butchers.

The class of cattle offered as butchers was not generally good, the best loads being mixed with cows.

There were scarcely any straight loads of heifers.

The best loads of butchers sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt.; too many cows were offered; fair to good, mixed, $3.40 to $3.65; common at $3 to $3.25; canners at $1.50 to $2.25 per cwt.

Gave Library to Salt Lake.

John Q. Packard, a pioneer miner of Utah is the donor of Salt Lake City's new public library. He first gave $75,000 and subsequently increased his gift to $125,000. Taking note of Andrew Carnegie's library giving, Mr. Packard said: "I think Salt Lake is entitled to a public library, and it won't have to be under any obligation to Mr. Carnegie for it, either—I'll just build one myself." The building is now ready for use, thoroly equipped after the modern way, and the city is to supply the books. Mr. Packard now lives in California.

Bicycles and Priests.

Dr. Adolf Fritzen, Bishop of Strasburg, has again issued an edict, forbidding priests within his diocese to use bicycles. He is sharply criticised therefor by the newspapers, which call attention to the fact that bicycling ceased long ago to be a mere secular sport, and that priests often find the wheel most useful, especially those who have to visit members of their congregation in remote country places.

May Quarrel Over Nobel Fund.

A Parisian journal wonders what Nobel would do were he still living. He was a Swede, but he put the assignment of the Nobel prizes in the hands of the Norwegian storthing, for the express purpose of bringing "these two hostile brothers" into friendlier relations. The question arises whether the Swedish parliament will not now disregard Nobel's directions, and itself assume charge of the funds.

Baroness Rosen Popular.

Baroness Rosen, wife of the new Russian ambassador, is likely to become a leading factor in the social life at Washington, where she is already well known and much liked, her gracious and kindly hospitality when her husband was entrusted with the direction of the Muscovite legation there some 12 years ago having won for her much popularity.

Has Surplus of Grandmothers.

Lloyd Ashurst, a 1-year-old autocrat of Kilbourne, Ill., is a great-great-grandchild, the eldest of the "greats" being Mrs. Lucinda Watkins of Atterbury, Ill., born April 7, 1809. He and his four grandmothers were all photographed recently, and the interesting group picture has been distributed among a vast crowd of relatives.

His Second Childhood.

Dennis Druley of Richmond, Ind., who will soon be 90 years old, is suffering an attack of whooping cough.
