DON'T FORGET the grand picnic at Moody's Point, Bartibog, next Tuesday.

THE "ADVOCATE" says it was invited to a festival. In what capacity could a newspaper go to a festival?

$20 REWARD is offered for the recovery of a number of articles stolen from a trunk that came to Chatham from Fredericton last week.—See advt.

ARM BROKEN:—While adjusting a belt on a revolving pully at the Pulp Mill on Monday, Mr. John Ross had an arm broken near the wrist.

FURNITURE, ETC:—Intending purchasers of furniture are interested in Mr. Fairey's advertisement, which appears in another column.

SERIOUS LOSS:—We regret to hear that Mr. Jas. Gillis' residence, Southesk, was burned last Sunday afternoon, and that he also lost the greater part of his furniture at the same time.

ACCIDENT:—Mrs. Betts, of Derby, met with a sad accident last week. In stepping from a chair to the floor she fell, breaking one of her thigh bones it is said in two places. She is under the care of Dr. W. A. Wilson. Advocate.

A "FREE WASH" announcement is thrown away in the Advocate because nobody knows who the advertiser is. The Advocate put a ball in a church festival the other day. What's the matter with the good little paper of late?

BARN BURNED:—Mr. Jas. Murdock's barn near Black Brook—together with a calf and some other property of considerable value—was burned on Monday morning. It is supposed that the pipe of a tramp who slept in the barn the night before cause'd the fire.

THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL REPORT, as published in two local papers, is not the report, as furnished to them by the council through its official reporter, both of the papers having abbreviated it, although the reporter sent it to the papers in as condensed a form as possible.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTING TRIP:—Henry Braithwaite, the veteran trapper, and his chum, Arthur Pringle, returned last week from a two months trapping cruise on the head waters of the Upsalquitch and Tobique rivers. They brought nearly a thousand dollars worth of furs to Fredericton, the larger number being bear skins.—Gleaner.

MR. J. C. BROWN the popular and efficient representative of Messrs. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, was in town last week looking after the interests of Burdock Blood Bitters, and Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, etc. Mr. Brown is one of the most experienced travelling men in his line and is so well known to newspaper men that their best side is always towards him.

THE TWELFTH:—"No Surrender" Orange Lodge, of Newcastle, marched on Sunday morning last from their hall through the streets of the town of St. James' Church, where Rev. Mr. Aitken preached a sermon suitable to the occasion. Over fifty members were in the march and the lodge made a most creditable turn out. List night the lodge with a number of guests spent a very pleasant evening at a strawberry festival.—Advocate.

BARTIBOGUE:—At a meeting of the Bartibogue Fishing Club held in Col. R. R. Call's office, Newcastle, on Friday, July 10th, Hon. J. J. Adams of New York was elected President; E. Hutchison, Vice-President and Lieut. Col. R. R. Call, Secretary-Treasurer. The Club decided that, owing to the promiscuous poaching practised by residents and others, it will have to prohibit any fishing whatever by outsiders. Mr. John Connell is guardian.

CAMP ADAMS' record since 16th June is sixty salmon, besides the usual quantities of trout. Hon. Judge Hanphill and Messrs. T. Marshall, Francis Jacobs and Capt. R. T. Cornwell of West Chester, Pa., are there now with Mr. R. H. Armstrong and Master Clay Adams. The place is gay with bunting and the party are enjoying themselves most thoroughly. There is no salmon resort in the country superior to Camp Adams and however many fish may be taken there are always a few more left for the next day.

PERSONAL:—Thos. Robertson, Esq., ex-M. P. for Shelburne, N. S., was in town on Tuesday.

Messrs. Thos. Peters, Amos Godsoe, John V. Ellis and J. H. Leonard of St. John are at Camp Tabusintac. The water is rather high for good fishing, but will, no doubt, get down to fisherman's level in a day or two.

Mrs. Fairey spent Sunday and Monday with her son, Mr. B. Fairey, Newcastle while on her way to Moncton from England.

OBITUARY:—The death of Mrs. Benson—wife of Dr. John S. Benson—removes a highly esteemed lady, whose bereaved husband and family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community. The interment took place on Tuesday afternoon in St. Andrew's burial ground, the funeral being very largely attended by friends from far and near. The burial service was conducted by Rev. Neil McKay, of St. John's church, assisted by Rev. Wm. Aitken, of St. James' church, Newcastle.

KINGSTON RACES:—At the races at Kingston, Kent, on Thursday last, two Newcastle horses were entered, Harry F., owned by John Ferguson, and Excelsior Chief, owned by Mr. John Russell. There were three entries, the above named and Gray Vance.

First heat was won by Harry F., in 2 46, Chief second.

Second heat was won by Chief by a length Harry F. second; time 2 46½.

Third heat was won by Harry F. in 2 46, Chief second.

Fourth heat was won by Harry F., by a length, Chief second.

We understand that Mr. Russell has sold Chief, the price being $300.—Advocate.

Confirmation Service in S. Mary's Chapel.

The apostolic rite of Confirmation was administered by His Lordship Bishop Kingdon in S. Mary's Chapel, on Wednesday evening last at half-past 7 o'clock. Notwithstanding the very unfavorable weather there was a large congregation present, and the Bishop was accompanied by the Rector and the following clergymen, viz.: The Revs. A. Prime of Brighton, Mass., U. S., S. B. Murray of Stanley, York Co., W. J. Wilkinson of Bay du Vin, and R. W. Hudgell of Derby. The Service began with the Processional Hymn "March, March Onwards, Soldiers True," &c., the candidates having previously taken their places in the front seats of the nave near the chancel. The Bishop addressed the candidates both before and after the laying on of hands, and His Lordship's instruction and counsel were attentively listened to throughout. Thirty-one persons were confirmed at the Service. Two were prevented from being present, one by illness and another by the storm, the former was confirmed privately on Thursday morning. The offerings at the Service were for the Incapacitated Clergy Fund, and the service closed with the Hymn "O Jesu, I have Promised," &c., as a Recessional, while the Bishop and clergy followed by the candidates left the church. The whole service was very interesting and solemn and will be well remembered. On Thursday morning the Bishop, accompanied by the Rector, visited St. Paul's (Parish) Church with the late improvements in which His Lordship expressed himself as highly pleased. In the afternoon the Bishop and his family proceeded to Dalhousie where His Lordship intends, we understand, to remain for one month.

Dedication of the Baptist Church at Lyttleton, South Esk.

To the Editor of the Advance.

DEAR SIR:—A little more than two years ago I spent a few days at Lyttleton, South Esk and, impressed with the great need of a place of worship for the community, I urged the people to make arrangements for building. They promptly acted upon my advice. A building committee was then appointed who have nobly accomplished the work entrusted to them. The building has been completed, and is centrally and pleasantly located on the south side of the river. It is 26 feet by 32, with 15 feet posts, capable of seating about 200 people—a neat comfortable and respectable structure, a credit to all concerned. The workmanship was chiefly done by Mr. W. H. Tozer, and has a chaste and substantial appearance. The dedication services took place last Lord's day, July 5. A large congregation, taxing the new building to its utmost capacity, came together at 10.30 a. m., when Rev. J. E. Hopper, D. D., preached an excellent sermon from 1 Chron. 16, 29, in which he showed most clearly and forcibly the true object and character of acceptable worship. At the close of the sermon the chairman of the building committee, Jas. Somers, Esq., was asked to make a statement of the financial condition of the building, and in responding informed the audience that the sum of $150 would remove the entire indebtedness. It was proposed to lift this incumbrance before offering the dedicating prayer and so offer the House to God and His service, free of debt. The audience heartily responded and in a few minutes the amount required, and more, was paid over, or pledged. The dedicatory prayer was then offered and the presence of the Most High seemed to fill the new Sanctuary.

In the afternoon another large audience assembled and another gracious service was enjoyed, in which the writer of this notice addressed the congregation from Rom. 12: 1. Subject, Personal Consecration. In this service, and also in the morning service, Rev. J. D. Murray, Presbyterian minister, was present and took a prominent part in the worship, and his presence and co-operation were highly appreciated. In the evening Mr. Crabbe, licentiate, preached on the great salvation, and in the social worship that followed several gave testimony of the Lord's power to save, and some requested prayer. The singing led by Mr. Wm. Somers, with Miss Addie Somers presiding at the organ, was spirited and good and contributed much to the interest of the services of the day—services that will long be remembered with peculiar interest by the people of this romantic and beautiful settlement, in the valley of the Little South West.

Marked progress has been made by this community since my visit of two years ago. Noticeable in this respect I may mention the new bridge across the L. S. W. river, which is a great boon to the neighborhood and a wise expenditure by the government of the province. This is a fine bridge, substantially built, and reflects much credit upon the contractor, Deacon Elisha Somers. Much credit is due James Somers, Esq., for the active interest he has taken in the material welfare of the community. The bridge is largely due to his influence and the place of worship above described would scarcely have been in existence but for his prudent and persevering efforts.

Yours respectfully,
ISA WALLACE.

That Band Stand.

To the Editor of the Advance:

DEAR SIR:—Some time ago a Mr. Armstrong gave an illustrated lecture, in the Masonic Hall, under the patronage of a committee of gentlemen of the town, in behalf of a band stand to be erected in the public square. Some thirty-five or forty dollars was, I believe, realized for the band stand but that is all we have heard of it since. Is it to be erected now or will the committee leave it till next winter? Yours truly,

INQUIRER.

[We are informed that the sum realised, and which has been placed at the disposal of the square committee is not sufficient to erect a suitable stand.]

Bathurst Notes.

July 6, 1891.

The present management (?) of the Courier (it would be misrepresentation of the most libellous kind to call it the Editor) is cross. So much of truth was stated in your correspondent's view of the escape of prisoners from gaol and evident neglect of the gaoler shown (added to its present connection with the gaoler sheriff) that it became necessary that the sheet should descend to personalities as unruthful as they are unworthy of any journal. Not much was expected from the paper after it had passed out of the hands of the former owners and editors, but it was at least thought that some of the adventurer's friends, more wily and better versed in schemes the most likely to secure patronage, might have held his sensational hand back until the new regime had got a fair start. Not so, however. It seems to have delighted the few and there it ends. The personalities are simply "chestnuts," not worth noticing, and peculiarly characteristic of the late compositor and his friends. There will probably be found one who will call it "a good piece in the Courier." The public must perceive however that the escape is not accounted for. Neither is it denied that "a good-natured grand jury" saw fit to say, not that the sheriff-gaoler did anything to prevent Beaubier's escape, but that the gaol was unsafe. Notwithstanding that they were not supposed to have in their possession, while in gaol, any tools or implements by which an escape could be secured, it is not sought to show that the gaoler ever knew whether they had or not. Nothing of importance is elicited from the journal (isn't it almost libel to call it such?) except it be the fact that two constables thought they had their men, but were mistaken. Where was the sheriff? Do his friends want to know? If so, I can tell them that he was where he has been for some years, viz: behind his store counter in town, out of which he has not moved to do an official duty (personally). I also know of cases where he was asked not to appoint a deputy but to go himself to execute papers, but he did not see fit to do so. The fact is that he is beginning to trade on the sympathy and good nature meted out to him in the past, and now he simply laughs at the idea of an escape from gaol. Perhaps I was wrong when I stated above that he had not moved to do an official act of late. I remember well at the last Dominion election, when his friend, N. A. Landry was pitted against our M. P., K. F. Burns, that he did move, and to good effect. Besides exhibiting a partisan spirit in the appointment of the officers, he took more trouble to attend and applaud at the nomination speeches than it has ever been my lot to witness. Imagine, Mr. Editor, the spectacle of the Sheriff of Northumberland (who will, I pray him, pardon me for such a stretch of fancy) clapping his hands in an absolute paroxysm of delight when a favorite candidate or speaker made a point to suit him, he being the returning officer at an election. If the Courier wants the Sheriff's faults well ventilated it has begun the right way and can be accommodated at any time. Personal upset and the barkings of the Courier cur will be passed over without comment, as they deserve, but he will probably find that he has awakened the wrong sentiment.

Chatham Men's Enterprise in Montreal.

(Montreal Herald July 4.)

"During the past few years the City of Montreal has been developing large interests in manufactures of various descriptions. Prominent amongst these is that of the manufacture of cigars. To smokers, this is an important item, and the competition between the prominent cigar manufacturers of this city has been productive of especial benefit to the consumer. In this connection may be mentioned the firm of I. Harris & Son, who have recently gone into larger premises, No. 502 St. Paul street (owing to their increasing business), and are now manufacturing cigars on a large scale. Their celebrated brands, "Ottello" and "Old Boy" are known from one end of the Dominion to the other, and know nas first class goods. A visit to the manufactory of Messrs. I. Harris & Son shows plainly that there is a reason for the excellence of these favorite brands of cigars. The factory is an extensive one, giving employment to 60 or 70 hands, mostly journeymen, not apprentices, is well lighted and every facility afforded the hands to turn out good work. It is under the immediate supervision of Mr. R. Cohen who has served a life-long apprenticeship as a cigar manufacturer and is thoroughly acquainted with the business in its every detail. The stock used by the Messrs. Harris & Son is selected with the utmost care in the Havana market, well bought, and treated in the factory in every respect as it is in the best factories in Cuba. Consequently, as was justly remarked by one of the proprietors "having the best Havana tobacco, and making cigars as they are made in Cuba, why should our goods not equal Havana goods in every respect?" There is no reason why they should not and the universal opinion of the merchants of this Dominion seems to prove that Messrs. Harris & Son's cigars are fully equal to any imported goods. Their whole aim is to give quality and they do it. The senior partner is well known as a quiet, genial enterprising man, who has built up his own fortune and he is ably assisted by his sons, who divide the different branches of the business between them and whether as financier or commercial traveller, are deservedly popular. The success of the firm of I. Harris & Son is assured, especially as they intend to carry out the principle of giving the best possible value in their cigars.

Young Men's Christian Association of Chatham.

Meetings held every week in their rooms up-stairs, Barry's Building, as follows:—

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, for Prayer and Praise.

Monday evening at 8 o'clock, for Bible Study.

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, for Training Class.

All young men are most cordially invited to any or all of these meetings.

Hon. Messrs. Tweedie and Pugsley at Ottawa.

An Ottawa despatch says: The dining-room of the Ottawa club presented a festive scene last Friday evening. The occasion was a dinner given by Hon. Mr. Costigan, Minister of Inland Revenue, and M. P. for Victoria, N. B., in honor of two of the honorable members of the New Brunswick Government at present in the city, Messrs. Tweedie and Pugsley, surveyor-general and solicitor-general respectively for that province. At the head of the table was seated Hon. Mr. Costigan, having on his right the Hon. Mr. Pugsley, Hon. Senator Howlan and Dr. Bergin, M. P., and on his left Sir John Thompson and Messrs. Wood and Skinner, M. P.'s. The vice-chair was occupied by the Hon. Premier Abbott, having on his right the Hon. Mr. Tweedie and on his left the Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Finance. The other gentlemen present were: Messrs. Mackintosh, Wilmot, Hazen, McLeod, Weldon, McAllister, Adams, Leger, Temple, M. P.'s; Hon. Senators Poirier and Walsh. Mr. Burns, M. P., sent an apology, as urgent business obliged him to leave the city. After the cloth had been drawn Hon. Mr. Costigan proposed the health of her majesty the Queen, which was drunk with all the honors, the company joining in singing God save the Queen. Mr. Costigan again called for full bumpers, and in a few well-chosen words, in which he referred to his own long connection with the representation of New Brunswick and his pleasurable acquaintance with them, proposed the health of the two distinguished guests of the evening.

Messrs. Pugsley and Tweedie replied, and the course of their remarks gave expression to the pleasure with which they on all occasions came into contact with the representative men of the more western portions of the Dominion, and of their adherence to the Conservative party and to the principles which actuate more and more and govern that party in the administration of the public affairs of the country.

Amongst the toasts proposed was that of the Premier, and in doing so, Senator Howlan said he but voiced the feelings of the Conservative party when he declared that the choice made by his excellency met with the united approval of the party.

Brilliancy, wit, humor and, above all, a spirit of Canadian patriotism—"Canada for the Canadians"—moved each speaker and a keenly defined Canadian sentiment and a more than even party determination to stand by the strong principles created by the hand of the leader seen no more amongst them in the body.

The toast of the respected host, Mr. Costigan, gave the social party an opportunity of measuring the complete richness of that gentleman's character, and which was voiced by the appreciative words of Mr. Mackintosh, speaking for Ontario, and the appreciation of the representatives of that province and the guests of the evening. Senator Poirier made a stirring speech in French, in which he vouched for the strong position held by Mr. Costigan in New Brunswick.

The toast of the Privy Council brought Hon. Mr. Foster to his feet in an able address. Speeches were also delivered by Messrs. Skinner, Hazen, Adams, McLeod and Kribs.

Funeral of the late Rev. D. R. Harnett.

On Friday morning, the 10th inst., in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Kingston, Kent, there was a solemn high mass, for the repose of the soul of Rev. D. R. Harnett, who died at St. Anne on Wednesday morning of last week. Father Harnett was a young priest of much ability and promise, and during his years as parish priest of St. Anne, Kingston and the dependent missions of South Richibucto River he accomplished much good and made many notable improvements, among the foremost of which is the lasting monument to his memory which points its stately spire to the Most High—the beautiful and elaborate church of St. Anne. His years were few in the exercise of the sacred priesthood, but, though few he effected much in a short time. He was for some years an assistant to the Rev. Father Michaud at Buctouche, in which place he is well remembered for his indefatigable zeal in the prosecution of his sacred duties as well by night as by day—in storm, cloud and sunshine. He was a young man with a large heart, of jovial disposition, with a bright smile for all, and charitable in the extreme to those in need, and your correspondent may say that the love of the mighty dollar did not bind him to this world. He was beloved by all denominations, for who is the man who could frown on a generous, selfsacrificing, virtuous soul? The large concourse of brother priests of this and the neighboring diocese, and the immense congregation who filled the church and followed all that was earthly of him to his last resting in the Kingston cemetery, speak out loudly the high esteem in which he was held by all denominations. Deceased was a young man of a clear brain and quick conception—even the agonies of death did not cloud it. The much respected and venerable priest, the Rev. Father Pelletier, who poured the regenerating waters of baptism on his infant brow, was among the assistants who chanted his requiem mass and funeral dirge.

Father "Dave," as he has been familiarly styled, had been in failing health for some time, though the courageous spirit which always animated his whole being made him "die in the harness," among the good, poor people of St. Anne. The Sunday previous to his death he went to the church to celebrate mass for the last time, but was unable to do so; he finally sat in a chair and with much difficulty said a few parting words to his people. He told them he was going to die soon and bade them a sad farewell. Kind and sympatnetic people, viewing such a scene as this, made human nature give vent to its feelings of love and affection and wet many a hitherto dry cheek with tears of lasting remembrance. Father Harnett was in the eighth year of his priesthood and the 34th of his young life.

The mass was sung by Rev. Father Richard of Rogersville, Rev. Father Meahan acting as deacon, and Rev. Father Langlais of Holy Cross College, Memramcook, as subdeacon, the Rev. Father Michaud being master of ceremonies. Rev. Father Meahan preached a very affecting and pathetic instruction which seemed to console much those whom near relationship bid to weep, so find relief. In the sanctuary were the Rev. Fathers Pelletier, Bannon, Cormier, Hudon, Legere, Jos. Ouellette, Honori Ouellette, and Father McAulay (uncle to the deceased) of Portland, Maine.—Telegraph.

Correspondence Between the Vatican and the Court of Great Britain.

(London Times, June 25.)

Two parliamentary papers were published yesterday containing the correspondence that passed between the Vatican and the Court of Great Britain with regard to Monsigner Ruffo Scilla's mission on the occasion of the Queen's Jubilee and the Duke of Norfolk's special mission to the Pope to express the Queen's sense of His Holiness' courtesy, and also to congratulate the Pope on the 50th anniversary of his entering on the sacerdotal office. The following personal correspondence occurred with regard to Her Majesty's Jubilee:

POPE LEO XIII. TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN,

The Vatican, June 10, 1887.

Your Majesty—It is now 50 years since your Majesty, raised to the Throne of England, has known, how, by a glorious and beneficent reign, to conquer the love of the subjects of your immense Empire, and the universal admiration of all nations. To-day your malesty receives a precious fruit of the high qualities and maternal cares with which you have surrounded your people in the extraordinary demonstrations of affection which they shower upon you on this joyful anniversary, and in the testimony of respectful congratulations which, on their side, the sovereigns and governments of all countries offer to you. For our part, as chief of the Catholic Church, which counts so many faithful among the subjects of your Majesty, and knowing the full and entire liberty which, in your clear-seeing justice, you assure to the exercise of our religion, we are unable to abstain from being represented at these rejoicings, and from renewing to your majesty the testimony of the sentiments of gratitude and high esteem which, at the time of our Nunciature at Brussels, we had the opportunity of personally expressing to you. We have therefore chosen Prince Ruffo Scilla, future Apostolic Nuncio at the Court of Bavaria, to place this letter in your Majesty's hands, in which we offer to you our most sincere congratulations, while at the same time we earnestly pray the Lord that He may deign to prolong to the furthest limit your Majesty's days, for the great good of your people and for the joy and consolation of all the Royal Family. To this prayer we add the most sincere wishes that it may please God to draw nearer and nearer together the relations of mutual good will which unite the Holy See and the powerful and glorious British Empire, and which will ever be a fruitful source of the greatest and most precious advantages to both Powers.

LEO. P. P. XIII.

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN TO POPE LEO XIII.

Most Eminent Sir,—I have received from the hands of the Prince Ruffo Scilla, your Holiness's Special Envoy Extraordinary, the letter which your Holiness addressed to me on the 10th ult., and in which you convey to me your congratulations on the celebration of the 50th anniversary of my accession to the throne. I request your Holiness to accept my best wishes for the friendly sentiments and felicitations conveyed in your letter, which have caused me the most sincere gratification. I have also derived additional pleasure from the choice which your Holiness made of so distinguished a prelate to be the bearer of your congratulations. I thank you at the same time for the beautiful specimen of artistic manufacture which your Holiness has been pleased to present to me on this occasion; and I am happy in having this opportunity of assuring your Holiness of my sincere friendship, and of the unfeigned respect and esteem which I entertain for your person and character.

Given at our Court at Windsor Castle, the 18th day of July, 1887.

VICTORIA R. I.

On December 17, 1887, the Pope received the Duke of Norfolk, who presented the autograph letter of Queen Victoria and the credentials. The following letter was sent by the Pope to Queen Victoria a few days afterwards:—

To the Most Serene and Most Powerful Victoria, Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and other regions, Illustrious Empress of India.

LEO. P. P. XIII.

Most Serene and Most Powerful Queen and Empress, greeting! The most noble act of courtesy with which your Royal and Imperial Majesty has honored us at the close of the 50th year of our ministry in the priesthood possesses all the qualities which should render it to us most gratifying.

For the distinguished kindness and regard of your Majesty towards us are most signally displayed in the letter, full of courtesy, which we have received; they are displayed in the choice of the noble person of our beloved son, the illustrious and honorable Duke of Norfolk, to discharge the office of your envoy to us; they are displayed also in the magnificent gift which you have presented to us, and which will remain in our palace as a lasting memento of your kindness.

For all these reasons we rejoice to assure Your Majesty in this our letter of our most lively sense of gratitude, which the illustrious envoy of Your Majesty will more fully declare to you. For we have earnestly charged him to be the messenger and interpreter in his own words, and in your presence, of our esteem and mutual regard for Your Majesty.

The cordial good will which Your Majesty has expressed in you letter to us is valued by us most highly, and we assure you that to us it is, and ever will be, most gratifying.

It only remains for us to implore the King of Kings to grant to your Majesty who, with the assistance of most able and distinguished men, wields the sceptre of a mighty kingdom and empire, all those gifts which may cause the lasting glory of your name to grow greater day by day.

And while this is our fervent prayer, we also earnestly entreat the Divine Mercy to prosper and bless your Royal and imperial Majesty and all you august house, and to unite you with us in perfect charity.

Given at St. Peter's, Rome, the 3rd day of January, 1888, in the tenth year of our Pontificate. LEO P. P. XIII.

Canada's International Exhibition.

The promoters of the Exhibition at St. John send us the following:—"Our readers should remember the date of the second "World's Fair" which will be opened at St. John, N. B., on Sept. 23rd and continued until Oct. 3rd. All applications for space should be made at once. The competition is open to the world. Space and power are furnished free.

"The attendance last year was the largest that ever visited an exhibition in the Maritime Provinces, but is likely to be much larger this year owing to the special features to be introduced. As an evidence of the unstinted praise given to the management of the exhibition of 1890, we quote the following from the Toronto Daily Globe:—

"The exhibition in this city has been a grand success and the association is now on a sound footing. The St. John Exhibition will be hereafter looked forward to, not with anxiety as in the case of the present one, but with that confidence which assures success from the start. The management is simply hilarious over the result, and the future prosperity of the association. The officers are deserving of much praise from the citizens of St. John for their untiring zeal in their behalf. Every officer seems to have done his duty and to have brought some experience with him towards the success of the exhibition. Ira Cornwall was a commissioner of this Province to the Colonial Exhibition held at Loudon, Eng., and his experience there has been given here towards the success of this exhibition. Mr. J. C. Robertson, chairman of the Machinery Hall Committee, was the right man in the right place. He being at the head of one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the Lower Provinces, brought practical experience with him that ensured success, and Machinery Hall proved to be one of the most important departments in the exhibition, none being better patronised. Throughout the ten days Messrs. Everett, Cornwall and Burdett worked incessantly day and night in their endeavors to make it a success, and even as late as Friday and Saturday of the first week delinquent city exhibitors were brought to the front and made to fill spaces allotted to them. It must be confessed, however, that these same exhibitors entered into the object of the exhibition with warmth and made up for their sloth on the start. The Ontario exhibitors were warm in their praise of the interest taken in their exhibits by the visitors and of the management for courtesies shown in every desire expressed by them, and every exhibitor will leave St. John, feeling that it was good for them to be there. In this connection we give the words of Mr. James Clark, that exhibitors and visitors alike never received more genuine attention and civility and better accommodation at any exhibition ever held in this country or any other. Mr. Clark was at the Colonial Exhibition, London, Eng., as superintendent of mechanical exhibits under Sir Charles Tupper, and has had charge of exhibits at the Toronto Exhibition for the last twelve years, all of which should make him a good authority."

The brusque and fussy impulse of these days of false impression would rate down all as worthless because one is unworthy. As if there are no motes in sunbeams! Or comets among stars! Or cataracts among peaceful rivers! Because one remedy professes to do what it never was adapted to do, are all remedies worthless? Because one doctor lets his patient die, are all humbugs? It requires a fine eye and a finer brain to discriminate—to draw the differential line.

"They say" that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription have cured thousands.

"They say" for a weak system there's nothing like the "Discovery" and that the "Favorite Prescription" is the hope of debilitated, feeble women who need a restorative tonic and bracing nervine. And here's the proof.——

Try one or both. If they don't help you tell the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., and you get your money back again.

A clergyman of the Church of England, a resident of Warwickshire, England, the Rev. O. Mordsaunt, has kept a public house for fourteen years. He pays the managers and allows them profits on what food they sell. They are not allowed to press the sale of drinks, and he gives them no profit on what they do sell. The only drink sold is ale, wine and spirits being eschewed; but the ale is unadulterated. The result is said to be a profit to the clergyman, which he spends on sinking wells in the village, and an almost entire disappearance of drunkenness from the village.—Methodist.
