Indeed, a number have asked: "What! Have you gone into the departmental store business?" Yes, we have, in a manner. We realize that a great many people will only deal from the stores they are in the habit of purchasing, but with such outstanding values we will draw a considerable amount of this trade. The values are here. More than that there is a plenteous supply of all advertised lines. Quick, prompt and courteous service you will receive—at Thomas'. You will, no doubt, be impressed with these articles as Christmas presents.

You'll Agree Writing Paper Makes An Excellent Christmas Present

Especially when you can purchase it on an average of half-price—At Thomas'.

25c TABLE—
Holds one box that is particularly interesting to the young mind—small envelopes and paper in a nice blue shade, possession of which will delight the tot learning to correspond. Two other boxes in different sizes fairly teem with the Christmas spirit, as the manufacturer has gone so far as to cover the box entirely with holly and Christmas bells. Choice of any.

$1.25 TABLE—
Here the manufacturer has outdone himself for a tasty box of papeteries—mauve, buff, pink, blue—all in one box, each shade encircled with delicate ribbon of the same hue. Choice of a high or flat box.

95c TABLE—
Now, we come to those delightful high boxes, in which the envelopes stand on end. Again the long, flat boxes, offering a choice of white, pink or buff paper and envelopes. All Christmassy—depending entirely upon the tastes of the recipient.

45c TABLE—
This second table is very attractive, with its series of six different boxes—all different shapes and sizes, any one of which is quite acceptable. Large boxes with the Christmas spirit all over the outside. In direct contrast those boxes offering a quiet display of refinement and elegance.

$1.50 TABLE—
Naturally, the bonton table bears the most exquisite—those boxings have three little drawers or compartments holding neat piles of delicately-hued envelopes—even to little gold pulls are there. Then again you will see the high boxes with blue, pink and buff—even grey paper.

65c TABLE—
Delicate pink—do you like pink?—done up in a real neat box. Perhaps you have a failing for blue. All right: the 65c-table is brimming over with six different lines of various shapes and sizes.

All These Are Just About Half Price.
