THE RAILWAYS AND THE BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSION-ERS FOR CANADA.

Thirty-second Article. When the railways expropriated the Esplanade property on the plea that it was required for the purpose of erecting a terminal sta-tion, they deliberately deceived the board of railway commissioners and the City of Toronto. They knew perfectly well that it was a physical impossibility to build a terminal station starting at Front-street and working south. If an ordinary train of ten passenger coaches was lined up, starting at Front-street and heading south the locomotive would pretty near land in Toronto Bay, and it is only necessary to use this simple illustration on the property expropriated. The railway companies must go farther north if they intend to erect a terminal station, but they required the Esplanade property for other purposes, and simply secured if under faise pretences. The same game is being played in connection with the proposi-tion now advanced by the Grand Trunk Railway for a change in the route of their main line east of Toronto. Using the argument that the change is required in the public interest, in order to enable them to make better time and reduce the cost of transportation, they are attempting to secure control of the lake shore, the most valuable sec-tion of water front left for the use of the people. It is false reasoning The route in question is not required for the purpose indicated, and it is imperative that the railway prove it to be impossible for them to use the present route to advantage before comeant is given to make the present route to advantage before comeant is given to make the the real to the atter and mean the property for the most valuable sec-tion of water front left for the use of the people. It is false reasoning the route in question is not required for the purpose indicated, and it is imperative that the railway prove it to be impossible for them to use the present route to advantage before comeant is given to make the streation. It would he are near mean the real way to a streated be the streation.

use the present route to advantage before consent is given to make the alteration. It would be an easy matter for the railway to make a material reduction in the grade on Scarboro Heights if they felt dis-posed to do so, but they prefer to spend an enormous amount of money on an entirely new route, knowing that, if they succeed in securing it, they will be in a position to exercise control over the whole of our water front, and will be compensated a thousand times over for the outlay. Fortunately, the people are at present intensely interested in any question pertaining to transportation, and the proposition has raised a storm of protest that cannot be ignored by the

The Grank Trunk Railway has used the route via Scarboro for a great many years. It will not impose any hardship upon them to continue its use for some time to come, consequently there is no necessity for speed in dealing with the matter, altho the railway company hoped to have it rushed thru before the people realized the value of the property at stake. Fortunately, they have failed in their attempt, and in this particular case the government should make haste slowly. The City of Toronto has nothing to fear from the railways, but they have everything to fear from the selfishness of some of their own citizens. For purely selfish reasons and in the hope of advancing their own personal interests, it is always possible for the rail ways to secure the active support of prominent business men, who should be ashamed to allow themselves to be made use of to further the schemes of the carrying companies. We can fight, the railroads in the open, when it is necessary to oppose any proposition advanced by them, but if is difficult to deal effectively with the men who are untrue to themselves and to their fellow-citizens. The officials of the railways cannot be blamed for trying to secure advantages that will improve their position. That is what they are paid for, and they would be false to their employers if they failed to do their duty in that respect. But there is absolutely no excuse for men whose duty lies in an entirely different direction, taking up the cudgels in behalf of the carrying companies, in order to secure for themselves some mean petty advantage over their rivals in business. more especially when. by doing so they are gaining their own selfish ends at the expense of their fellow-citizens. Such men are a disgrace to any community. The railroads are quite capable of protecting their own interests without assistance from the outside. They have the very best legal talent on the market, and the services of the best men available on their own staff, consequently there is no necessity for any one else taking up arms in their behalf.

The railway act gives the railways the right to expropriate any land necessary for purposes of transportation, but the railway act is not the final court of appeal in this matter. The railway act was prepared by the representatives of the people, and it is within the power of the people, at any time, to demand a change in that act if it is working a hardship upon them. This should not be lost sight of in liscussing the question at issue. The railway act must be changed if it is necessary in the interests of the people. It would be an absurd position to take to say that the railway act which our representatives made effective, overrides the wishes of the people. The interests people of this country are the first consideration, and, railway
