May Set Minors Adrift In 1922

Their Annual Argument May Cook Up More or Less of a Stew.

When the major league magnates gather in New York for their annual argument they may cook up more or less a stew for the little fellows to swallow. This has been indicated by a statement from Ban Johnson, American League executive, who said there was a possibility of the big leagues terminating their present working agreement with the minors.

The major-minor agreement was put into effect when Judge K. M. Landis became baseball commissioner, but is separate and apart from the major contract which was adopted at the same time. The big fellows accepted the pact, although admitting it wasn't to their liking. Now, having operated under it for a year, there is agitation afoot to wipe it out and either draw up a new agreement, or let the small leagues swing along on their own hook.

Friction Over Draft.

All the dissatisfaction is due to the draft—a thorn in the side of organized ball for many season. Under the present code, five leagues refused to recognize the right of the majors to swoop down every fall and pick off what appeared to be excellent diamond timber. The five circuits are the American Association, International, Pacific Coast, Western and Three Eyes—the first three being the most fertile in the country for big league prospects.

The major viewpoint is that the absence of the draft not only prevents the clubs from improving, but works to the deriment of the players. Under the draft, a player is bound to advance if he shows sufficient playing skill. Without the draft, a minor league club can either hold him or sell him, but usually the price is so high that the majors refuse to buy for fear the athlete involved may turn out to be a "lemon."

Salvation is in "Trust."

Without a working agreement all kinds of things would be possible. The minors would have to sign their athletes to ironclad contracts to avoid the possibility of major league raids. Such a thing is not likely, however; for the simple reason that the majors have no dispute with the small circuits that recognize the draft. The only peaceful solution is for the majors to buy minor franchises and "farm out" players for development.

William Veeck, president of the Cubs, returns from California where he supervised the construction of a diamond and spring training quarters on Catalina Island.

Ermie Vick, Michigan's star centre, will report to the St. Louis Cardinals next spring. He was previously reported as a Tiger recruit.

Chas. Kilpatrick, Noted Runner, Dead

New York, Dec. 5—Charles H. Kilpatrick, a famous amateur middle-distance runner of twenty years ago, died suddenly today on a train bringing him from his home in Fordham to his New York office.

Kilpatrick established the amateur record of 1 minute 53 2-5 seconds for the half-mile run 1895, during the international track meet in this city between the New York A. C. and the London A. C.

WINTER FAIR

The eighteenth annual Maritime Winter Fair, opening in Amherst on Dec. 12, and continuing until the 15th, will be the banner fair since its inception in 1903. Over two hundred beef animals have been entered. Nearly two hundred cows are in the dairy classes—test and breeding; while two hundred and fifty sheep and one hundred and ten swine have been placed in competition. The seed exhibit is far and above the normal, while the Apiarist Division will prove to be extraordinary. The Poultry Division has taxed the capacity of the upper floor of the building. Seventeen hundred birds, including geese, ducks, turkeys, pigeons, and every variety of pullet, hen, cock and cockerel, are on the Fair books. To the poultry fancier, the Fair alone will prove an inducement.

This year the officials of the Fair have taken a new branch, inspired by the Amherst Board of Trade. Three special features are to be held each evening. Monday night, instead of having half a dozen speakers, the Fair will be formally opened with a huge masquerade ball. On the second night a vaudeville entertainment will be held in which the famous Fraser Quartette will take a leading part. On Wednesday night, George Vallance, brother-in-law to that great Scotch comedian, Harry Lauder, will stage an inimitable Scotch concert. An effort is being made to arrange a boxing tournament for the concluding evening.

These affairs are being held as an additional inducement to the people of the three provinces to visit Amherst, and thus become appreciative of the educational advantages of the Annual Maritime Winter Fair. The one admission fee governs all. Several speakers will be heard in the board rooms, in discussion upon scientific points in farming.

Dominion Boy Scout Organizer

W. V. Riddle of Ottawa Paid Surprise Visit to St. John Trinity Troop Last Night.

W. V. Riddle, Dominion Boy Scout organizing officer of Ottawa, was in the city yesterday and last night paid a surprise visit to No. 7 St. John Trinity Boy Scout troop. The boys and their Scout Master, C. H. Upham, and his assistant, Clinton Regan, were very glad to see the genial organizer. Under Mr. Riddle's supervision the boys went through an interesting programme of Boy Scout work and drill, and reflected great credit on their instructors. Mr. Riddle was able to show them several pointers that will prove of great assistance in their competitions with the other troops of the city.

Mr. Riddle is to leave today for St. Stephen where he will organize a Scout troop. Since his coming to the province last April, he has revived or organized troops in Sackville, Moncton, Woodstock, St. Andrews, St. George, Stanley, Hillsboro, and other centers. He reports the Scout movement to be in a strong and flourishing condition and daily gaining strength throughout the province. Moncton now has three troops and four Wolf patrols, and Fredericton, four troops and three Wolf Cub packs.

Bouchard Denied He Is A Professional

President of Canadian Hockey Assn. Will Suspend Player When Affidavits Received.

Montreal, Dec. 5—Following affidavits from Raoul Latreille, former backer of the Montrea Hockey League, to the effect that Edouard Bouchard, noted amateur hockey star, had been paid $50 a game for playing with the Hochelaga team last season, Bouchard is in line for loss of his amateur card.

"I cannot suspend Bouchard on the strength of the newspaper reports, but if I see the affidavit I will certainly do so," said W. R. Granger, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, here today.

Bouchard, over the long-distance telephone from Three Rivers, denied en bloc the charges and asked why other amateurs were not being charged.

Board of Trade Annual Meeting

Annual Report Presented—Suggestions for Future Work—Officers Elected.

At the annual meeting of the Board of Trade held last evening in the board rooms, Prince William street, officers and members of the council for the coming year were elected. The annual report was presented and a number of suggestions for future work were made by Mr. Burditt. A number of letters dealing with the unemployment situation were read, but no action was taken.

W. F. Burditt, president, called the meeting to order at eight o'clock and announced that the ballot box was open and would remain open for one hour, to allow those present to cast their votes for the members of the council, and appointed H. A. Porter and G Flewwelling to act as scrutineers. The president then reviewed some of the objectives which the new council would have before them for the coming year, and among others referred to the matter of harbor development and the necessity of concerted action on the part of all the citizens, if any assistance was to be obtained from the government in this respect. He spoke of the attempt made in 1878 to put the harbor in commission, which was defeated at that time by opposition on the part of the Board of Trade, although in 1860, the Board had gone on record as favoring some such scheme. He also referred to the latest attempt to place the harbor in commission, which was turned down by the electors when the plebiscite was taken. He made reference to the tri-partite agreement, which he contended did not meet the needs for a comprehensive development and unified control of the harbor, as it only referred to that portion lying between the C.P.R. elevator and the Negrotown breakwater.

He also drew attention to the need of developing a community spirit, co-operation with the civic authorities and to promoting better relations between the public utility corporations and the public; the need of extending the city boundaries; the widening of Charlotte and Union streets, and inducing immigrants to settle in the Maritime Provinces rather than all going to the west.

The secretary read a number of letters from members of the board in reference to the unemployment situation, containing suggestions for meeting the situation. Among others it was suggested that the city make a grant of $5,000 to be used for the providing of fuel and food for those in need of those necessities. A building campaign was also suggested.

The chairman called on J. Fraser Gregory to say something about the cost of building. Mr. Gregory claimed lumber was practically down to pre-war prices and could be purchased at from $22 to $25 per thousand, but labor had not come down one cent and this was responsible for the fact that no building was being carried on.

Mayor Schofield referred to what the city was doing to provide work. They were laying water mains and the county council had made provision for the removal of rock from behind the court house and registry office during the winter months.

The scrutineers at this juncture returned with their report as follows:—W. F. Burditt, president; G. E. Barbour, vice-president; M. E. Agar, W. S. Allison, J. F. Gregory, J. G. Harrison, D. W. Ledingham, H. W. Rising, H. C. Schofield, L. W. Simms, G. L. Warwick, A. H. Wetmore, members of the council. These will meet later and select six additional members of the council.

THE MAIN STREET B. Y. P. U. MEETING

The Main street B. Y. P. U. meeting last evening was well attended, and an interesting programme was carried out. A number of selections on a New Edison, loaned for the occasion by W. H. Thorne & Co., were much enjoyed by the gathering. The speaker of the evening was Rev. A. L. Tedford, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, who gave his lecture on the Baptist Missions of the Northwest. Fred. Cowan, president of the Union, presided, and Rev. Dr. Hutchinson gave a short address.

Ban Johnson To War On Drafting System

Chicago, Dec. 5.—War against the minor leagues in the form of an attack on the present system of drafting players is to be started by President Ban Johnson, of the American League, at the meeting of his organization December 14, in New York. He believes the draft is all wrong as it is now constituted, that it is a hindrance to the progress of the young athletes, and that it will have to be remedied in some way immediately to advance the present standard of baseball.

Many of the magnates of both major leagues were opposed to the present agreement, but to pacify certain individuals of the minors, who protested against the alleged efforts to dominate them, agreed to the plan. They regret it now because only a dozen players were drafted this fall, and those bought were purchased at exorbitant prices.

It is possible after the meeting of the American League it will insist that the present major-minor agreement be amended, especially the clause pertaining to the draft, which reads that only one man may be selected from clubs in the Class AA and Class A leagues. For this privilege the majors have to pay $5,000 to the AA organizations and $4,000 to the lower classification. There is not restriction in the Class B, C or D leagues.

"These prices are more than fair," said President Johnson. "Therefore, for the advancement of the players there should be no restriction on the higher minor leagues. The Class AA magnates asked 7,500 for the unrestricted privilege of drafting, but that is far too much; it is unreasonable for players who are uncertain products. Besides, it is unfair to the players. There should be greater latitude in advancing the players, and the only way it can be done is by modifying the present system of drafting.

"The standard of baseball is not as good at present as it was four or five years ago, and I believe it is due to the efforts of the minors to prevent the young athletes from coming up by the draft. The minors did not make money last summer. This is more than apparent from the desire of many to unload for exorbitant prices."

Schooner "Motor" Held By Customs

Reported Vessel Arrived on Friday from Gloucester, Mass., But Came Without Clearance Papers.

Officials of the Customs Department here detained the schooner "Motor" yesterday, which mysteriously arrived in this port on Friday last. The vessel, with a crew of seven men, was in command of Captain Lawson, who declared that he came to St. John direct from Gloucester, Mass. A representative of The Standard was reliably informed, however, that she came here without any clearance papers.

When the schooner first appeared in port on Friday, she docked at No. 7 berth, but subsequently moved to Long wharf. She came to St. John with an American license for trading in fish and did not report to the Customs Department on her arrival, in accordance with the customary procedure as laid down by the law. Advice was immediately sent to Captain Lawson for the usual report, but this was not made until Saturday. A few other incidents of an unusual character occurred, and the whole matter was taken up with the department at Ottawa, who instructed the local officials to detain the vessel for the present.

Action was accordingly taken yesterday and the schooner is now in the temporary possession of the Customs Department. The vessel had been returned to No. 7 berth, and Captain Lawson was informed that he would be permitted to remain on board. The members of the crew, however, will remain on shore for the present, at least.

No information in regard to the probable future action of the department was available last night, but it was stated that the local officials will await further instructions in the matter from Ottawa before further proceedings are taken.

Excitement In Hebrew School

Moving Picture Film Caught on Fire — No Damage to Building.

The fire department was called out last evening to respond to an alarm rung in from box 58. The fire was discovered to be in the Hebrew School on Carleton St., and was caused by the film in a moving-picture machine becoming ignited and falling to the floor. It was quickly extinguished however, and no damage resulted.

Considerable excitement ensued as there was an entertainment going on in the school at the time. To add to the excitement, some small boys are said to have pulled the hook after the first alarm had been rung in. At any rate, the second alarm caused a number of people to hasten to the scene of the fire, only to find that things were not nearly so serious as they had been led to suspect.

Judge Landis Gives Decision

Babe Ruth Forfeits Share of World's Series Money and is Suspended Till May 20.

Chicago, Dec. 5—Babe Ruth's share of the world's series profits in 1921 were declared forfeited and Ruth himself suspended until May 20, 1922, by Commissioner Landis, in a decision today, fixing punishment for the New York Yankee ball player for participating in a post-season barnstorming tour.

Ruth's share in the 1921 world's series amounted to $3,362, which he will lose by the Landis decision. Meusel's share was the same, while Piercy $100 less than his team mates. The text of the decision says:

These players were members of the New York American League team, a contestant for the world's championship in 1921. Immediately after that series, willfully and defiantly, they violated the rule forbidding their participation in exhibition games during the year in which that world's championship was decided."

What Ruth Thinks.

Washington, Dec. 5—"Well, just let it go at that for the present," Babe Ruth declared today when informed of the decision in Chicago of Judge Landis, depriving him of his share of the world's series money and suspending him until May 20, 1922.

The ball player was informed of Judge Landis' decision in his dressing room at a local theatre while preparing for his turn on the stage. He said he could not make a statement until he had received the formal statement of Judge Landis' action. However, he advanced the belief that he could not be kept out of his share of the world's series money.

'Ball players earn that," he said.

Ruth did not indicate whether he would apply for reinstatement, but maintained that he would wait word from the commissioner before determining his course of action.

Major Baseball Leagues To Meet

Chicago, Dec. 5—At the request of of President John A. Heydler, of the National League, Commissioner K. M. Landis today issued a call for a joint meeting of the two major baseball leagues at New York on Dec. 15.

COSTS DEMPSEY TO GET OUT OF PRISON

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 5.—Jack Dempsey visited the Kings County stockade here and paid $35 to get out. The prisoners celebrated with a kangaroo court, and found Dempsey guilty of being the world's champion. Twenty-five dollars went to the prisoner fund, and ten to the local community charity chest.

ST. DAVID'S Y. P. A. REGULAR MEETING

At the regular meeting of the St. David's Y.P.A., held last evening the life and works of Dr. Henry Van Dyke formed the basis for the programme. A short sketch of his life was given and several selections from his poems and essays. Solos were rendered by Miss Brown and Mrs. William MacGowan.

Gordon Willet, president of the association, was in the chair and Miss Jessie Milligan's class was in charge of the programme. Refreshment were served at the close.

Yanks' Executive To Hold Meetings

Plans for Next Season Will be Discussed—Yankees' New Park Next Fall.

New York, Dec. 5.—Plans for the 1922 campaign of the New York American League Baseball Club will be considered at a series of conferences in this city during this week. The presence of Manager Miller Huggins here at this time completes the executive circle and a thorough canvass of the prospects of the junior league pennant winners for next season will be undertaken.

Manager Huggins states that efforts would be made to strengthen, particularly in the pitching department and that one or more high class twirlers would be acquired before the beginning of the next pennant race.

No trades or purchases are in the making at the present time, according to Huggins, and nothing will be attempted until after the minor league conference in Buffalo. At that meeting Huggins expects to ascertain just what trading material he will have available. Officers of the club said they had not the slightest intimation of the probable action of Baseball Commissioner Judge Landis in the "Babe" Ruth case and were eagerly awaiting the decision of the commissioner. They also took occasion to deny rumors that the famous home run hitter had been promised a fabulous salary next season.

Chief interest at present among the officials of the club centres about the Yankees' new park which it is hoped to complete late next fall. A force of draughtsmen are working daily on the plans for the huge stands and the complete engineering details are expected to be placed in the hands of the contractors within the next month or two. Sounding of the soil which will support the mammoth concrete and steel stadium has been under way for several weeks and active work of erection will be started as soon as frost is out of the ground next spring. When completed the immense horseshoe-shaped stadium will seat between 50,000 and 60,000 spectators.

Objected to Any Methodist Having Say Over His Working Money.

Toronto, Dec. 5—William Thomas Ramsey, former superintendent of agencies for the Canada Life Assurance Company, who died at Gibraltar in March last, left an estate valued at $138,000.

A feature of the will of Mr. Ramsey is the following clause:

"My executors are to invest all or part of my estate or the proceeds thereof in such sound securities as they shall in their discretion see fit, but I desire that my executors refrain from investing any part of my estate in any company or corporation of which the president is a Methodist, or a majority of the directors thereof belonging to that creed."

$37,999.60; engineering and contingencies, $134,000; residences, $6,300; administration, commission, etc., $15,000; land damage, $75,000; additional storage dams, $135,000; interest during construction, $70,000, making a total of $1,997,217.14.

Basis of Annual Charge

The basis of the proposed annual charge by the commission is as follows:

Capital investment, $2,000,000.

Interest 6.5 per cent; sinking fund 1.5 per cent; operation and maintenance, 2 per cent; replacement and renewals, 2 per cent—total 12 per cent or $240,000.

To this amount is added $2 a horse power rental to the government, $15,000, bringing the total annual charge to $255,000. This, however, is based on 21,000,000 k. w. h., therefore the city's proportion of the annual charge is fixed at $182,150 approximately.

On the suggestion of Commissioner Bullock, the mayor agreed that it would be advisable to have the expert referred to here before the conference took place.

Commissioner Thornton asked why the rental charge of $2 a horsepower.

The mayor replied that this was one of the matters which would be taken up at the conference.

The mayor was of the opinion that the real saving in the cost of current would result in ten years, or after the cost of construction by the government had been taken care of. He said that what the people did not understand was that a great part of the difference between the price now paid by consumers—15 cents a k. w. h.—and the cost of hydro at the switchboard—1.2 cents a k. w. h.—was taken up in the cost of distribution.

He thought that in consideration of the fact that the cost of cement was down twenty-five per cent; labor could be had at a reduction of say twenty per cent, and machinery had dropped approximately twenty-five per cent, from the prices paid when the work was contracted for, the cost on which charges were based should be reduced to $1,500,000, the amount of the original estimate.
