ostentatious preparation for placing the country in a proper state of defence in the event of any unfortunate difference with America, and of these preparations the mercantile interest seems generally very much to approve, even though doubting whether any serious misunderstanding will arise. The rum contract taken a few days since was at a much higher figure than the last, and the price of supplies for other articles, no doubt, will advance likewise, if government continues its efforts to place every branch in a state of efficiency. Many think that to unite the people of this country, would alone be sufficient to induce our government to make concessions on the Corn laws; and, certainly if the army and navy are to be augmented, there will be more food consumed.-Globe.

'There seems, by the advices within the last day or two, to be a temporary lull in trade abroad as usual just before the close of the year. We believe, however, that stocks are everywhere low; and that soon after Christmas, provided the American political accounts are satisfactory, there will be a revival of business, and nearly as much activity as in the spring of this year. With respect to the home trade, seeing the ample employment for labour which railroads must give, there are the best prospects, and the money market at present offers no obstacle to legitimate operations.—Ib.

IRELAND.—Sixteen Roman Catholic dioceses have now 'pronounced' against the Ministerial scheme of education, that of Killaloe being the latest of the malcontents.

It is said that the Government have determined on giving employment under the Drainage Bill, which is at present in force, in every district where it shall be shown, to their satisfaction, that there is want of employment; and that the necessary surveys will be made, without requiring any deposit for that purpose.

FRANCE.—The Paris paper of the 3d Dec. contains neither intelligence nor comment of an interesting character.—Upon the subject of the joint intervention of England and France in the River Plate, the Journal des Debats has an article, in which it exonerates the French Government from any blame in the course it has pursued. An article from the Debats upon the Oregon furnishes the National with a subject for an attack upon M. Guizot, who has, it contends, by the publication of such opinions in his semi-official organ, rendered it impossible that King Louis Philippe can now be selected to arbitrate between England and the United States.

The National also accuses the French Government of a desire to fight the battles of England in every part of the world, even at a risk of a rupture with the national allies of France. In another article the National fiercely assails M. Bugeaud for his policy as a governor and his tactics as a general in Algeria.

England and the Church of Rome.—The Univers publishes a letter, addressed to Dr. Wiseman, bishop of Melipotamus, to all the prelates of France, demanding their prayers for the reconversion of Great Britain to the Catholic faith, and adds—

'We learn, with the liveliest satisfaction, that several bishops have already expressed to Mr. Wiseman the warm interest they took in his proceedings, and are preparing to comply with his wishes. The Bishop of Nantz published on the subject a pastoral letter, which was read from the pulpit at high mass, on Sunday. The venerable prelate directs that a neuvena be performed throughout his diocese, and that prayers be offered to Heaven for the conversion of England.'

The British and American Navies.—We give below the number of vessels of all sizes belonging to the United States Navy, according to recent returns, by which the comparative naval force of the two nations will be clearly seen. The steam vessels of war are not given, but the Americans possess only two—the Mississippi and the Princeton—while England has forty-five afloat and twenty six building. The returns of the United States Navy place the force as follows:—

	In commission.	In ordinary.	building.	total.
Ships of the Line,	4	2	5	11
Frigates,	7	4	3	14
Sloops of War,	15	6	2	23
Brigs,	5	1		6
Schooners,	5	1		6
Steamers,	6	3	2	11
Store ships,	4	razee 1		5
	46	18	12	76

In the British Navy, there are stated to be in commission and building, of vessels from six guns up to line of battle ships, at the present time, as follows:

Vessels of all classes,	436
Deduct vessels building	60
	376
Of this number there must be taken for convict ships, hospital do, coal do, yachts, tenders, coast survey, church, quarantine, and guard ships	162

THE TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.—The annual meeting of the Toronto (Canada) Board of Trade was held on the 5th inst., at that City. The Report touches upon several subjects of interest to the Province, and concludes with the following expressions:—

'The Council cannot close their Report, without taking the opportunity of recording their convictions of the absolute necessity, on the part of our Legislature, to abstain from all disturbance of the free and natural course of our domestic and foreign trade. To attempt the establishment, in a colony of the Empire, of that restrictive system of commercial policy which has been so thoroughly abandoned by the mother country, would be a retrogression in the science of government, ill becoming a people who claim distinction because of their fraternal connection with that nation, whose improvements in every department of knowledge are with avidity adopted by the civilized world; and whose institutions have served as a model to every government that has sought to improve the condition of its subjects.

'That the production of revenue, with the least possible injury to industry and property, is the only legitimate purpose which fiscal imposts should subserve, is an administrative axiom now no longer questioned by enlightened statesmen. The idea of advancing the general interests of a community by means of commercial restrictions, protections, or prohibitions has been given up as an illusion, by every disinterested and intelligent individual.

'The advantages which we posses, in having, at the outset of our career, the results of a long series of fatal experiments made by older countries, placed before us as beacons to guard us from those shoals, over which they have dragged a chequered voyage, should not be lightly regarded by us. Let us not toss into the sea the charts, and the compass which have been placed by the builders on board our young vessel!'

The Steamer Belle Zane.—The New Orleans papers contain a card published by the passengers on board the Belle Zane, a statement which is confirmed by a letter received in this city by the Rev. Dr. Maclay, in which they express the opinion that about sixty-five persons perished by the sinking of that boat. There were one hundred and twenty-five persons on board at the time of the accident, and of that number sixty-four reached the shore, four of whom were frozen to death.—New York True Sun.

Horrible case of Lynching in Florida.—A noted negro thief, Yeoman, having been arrested near Albany, Baker county, Georgia, and subsequently discharged on a writ of habeas corpus, was immediately re-arrested, and conveyed at once to Florida. He confessed that he was one of an organized gang of negro thieves and murderers, who, during the Florida war, had stolen negroes to the value of over $10,000. On his arrival in Jefferson county, Florida, the citizens assembled to the number of ninety, and after an investigation of the facts, hung him!

☞ The Boston Mercantile Journal publishes a statistical table of the manufacturing establishments of that city, from which it appears that the capital invested in manufacturing is $3,957,140, giving employment to 851 females, and 5,106 males. The gross value of manufactures for the last year amounts to $9,703,041.
