ROMEO AND JULIET.

Mme. Sybil Sanderson was indisposed and Miss Camille Seygar was the substitute in the performance of Gounod's celebrated opera, "Romeo and Juliet," at Massey Hall Saturday afternoon. Mr. Gilbert was the Romeo, and Mr. Flon conducted. Of Miss Seygar's impersonation of the leading role no words but those of praise can be said. The young lady's personality is attractive, her voice is one of the purest sopranos that could be imagined, correct in every note of its wide range, beautiful in its easy-flowing melody and under perfect control. Her acting, too, is very fine, and altogether it may be doubted whether even Miss Sanderson could give a better portrayal of Juliet. Miss Seygar secured a triumph in every way, and was recalled after each climax. The balcony scene was notably correct in detail so far as "Juliet" was concerned, and "Romeo," Mr. Gibert, was effective in acting, but a tendency to flatness in singing marred the duo to some extent. In the valse song Miss Seygar displayed really superb executive ability, and in the later potion scene was also as perfect as could be desired. Miss Carrie Bridewell made an excellent Stephano, her fresh and brilliant voice captivating the audience completely, and there were many regrets that the opera did not bring her out more prominently. Miss Banermeister, well-known in opera circles, was a capital Gertrude. Of the gentlemen in the cast. Mr. Gibert acted well, but, as before said, was frequently off pitch. Mr. Perello was a good Friar, and Mr. Gillbert as Capulet was triumphant more because of his majestic stature and personality than for his singing. Mr. Dufriche as the Duke was perhaps the most effective tenor in the cast, altho Declery and Viviani did effective work. The duel scene was a thrilling spectacle, with the chorus grouped on the stage and giving an excellent account of themselves vocally. Certainly the chorus was grand at all times, and the whole, backed by the magnificent orchestra, gave a presentation which was nothing short of brilliant. The tragic finale was well enacted, but one does not feel like cheering such a scene.

Calve in Carmen.

Bizet's "Carmen," with Calve in the title role, concluded the grand series. Calve is the ideal Carmen, and Salignac could hardly be improved upon as Don Jose, while Mr. Journet's splendid baritone was an attractive presentation. Miss Bauermeister and Miss Van Cauteren did the little allotted to them faultlessly, while Miss Fritzi Scheff, who made such a favorable impression at the royal concert, was a most agreeable Micaela. The support all thru was capable, and again the orchestra and chorus were excellent. Mr. Seppilli conducted "Carmen."

Mr. Grau has got together a strong aggregation, but most of his male soloists are addicted to the abominable vibrato to such an extent that the effect of their singing is much marred. The continued tremolo may have become fashionable in France and Italy, but one sighs for a Campanari or a DeReszke or a Pringle to interpret a part in smooth tones.

It is to be regretted that Manager Houston's efforts were not better requited after the great trouble and expense incurred in bringing on the best artists in America, but the visit of royalty engrossed attention to such an extent that large audiences were not secured after the royal concert.

Duke Was Pleased.

That Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York enjoyed the state concert at Massey Hall was further evidenced by the fact that the Duke, prior to his departure, personally informed the manager, Mr. Stewart Houston, of their appreciation, and desired him to convey their thanks to the artists for the great pleasure they had given.

Local Favorites Return.

An especial interest will be attached to the appearance at the Princess Theatre to-night of Miss Hattie Chase Bernard and Miss May Anderson in two of the leading female roles of "The Deemster." During her frequent visits here as a member of the Frohman companies Miss Chase has made many friends in Toronto, and her appearance as "Mona," the ward of "The Deemster," to-night, will be eagerly awaited. Since her connection with the first stock company, which appeared in Toronto, Miss Anderson has held a considerable following in Toronto, and she will have a good reception when she appears on the stage of the Princess to-night. The production to-night will be the second appearance of "The Deemster" in Toronto, and if all that is said of it be even approximately true, a rich treat is in store for all who admire what is good and wholesome in the drama. A writer like Caine should be welcomed to the theatre, for there is a tendency in some quarters to divest dramatic writing of all English, quaintness and wit, and to substitute for them rubbishy dialog and forced situations that appeal only to the unlettered and ignorant class of the population. As a drama "The Deemster" is said to be fully equal to the best of its talented author in other departments of literary effort.

Lewis Morrison in "Faust."

Lewis Morrison himself will appear as Mephisto in "Faust" at the Grand Opera House this evening, and a production is promised that will excel anything ever given in this city. The special prices at the Grand this season have resulted in placing the theatre in the foremost rank in the theatrical business of Toronto, and patrons appreciate the efforts of the management in providing first-class attractions. The production of "Faust" will bear comparison with that of Irving for scenic beauty, and in one respect surpasses that famous production—the electrical effects. The usual matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and the management announces that at these performances there are over 1000 reserved seats at twenty-five cents. Already the advance sale indicates a profitable week, and patrons are advised to secure their seats as early as possible.

New Drama at the Toronto.

Hal Reid's new play, "At Cripple Creek," will be presented for the first time in this city at the Toronto Opera House this afternoon. "At Cripple Creek" is a drama to be admired by all lovers of the good and pure in things theatrical. The scenes are laid among the mountains of Colorado, and the story, while simple and unaffected, is yet sturdy and of absorbing human interest. Wholesome comedy abounds, and there are many scenes of beauty and tender pathos. The company has been selected with the utmost care, and each member is peculiarly fitted for his or her part. A matinee will be given every day at the Toronto except Wednesday, and the new scale of popular prices should attract capacity houses at every performance.

To-Day at Shea's.

The head liners of the bill at Shea's Theatre this week will be "Les Dumonds," which is conceded to be the best musical act ever seen in vaudeville. The violinist of the trio is a wonderful musician, and there are few who can equal his work on that instrument. Clayton White, Marie Stuart & Co. will be seen in a new skit, which is a sequel to "Dickey," the act in which they made such a success last season. Cushman, Holcombe and Curtis have a roaring comedy turn, which is entirely new to Toronto. Blockson & Burns, the eccentric black faced acrobats; Rialta, the fire dancer; Hal Merritt, in a "New Poster Ideal"; Ada Arnoldson, the Swedish singer, and Marks and Smith, marvelous athletes, complete a very strong list of attractions.

STONED THE STREET CARS.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 13.—Another riot occurred to-day in connection with the street car strike, but again, fortunately, there was no very serious trouble. A big crowd assembled at the lower end of the south side line during the afternoon and began piling obstructions upon the track. As cars came along and halted they were greeted with a fusilade of stones. A passenger, Mrs. Samuel Jones, and an Italian trackman employed by the company were cut by flying glass. The arrivals of a squad of police put the mob to flight.

UNDER ICE TO THE POLE.

Paris, Oct. 13.—M. Anschutz of Monaco is building in France a submarine boat in which to reach the North Pole. It will be larger than any existing submarine boat, and so powerfully constructed as to burst its way thru fairly thick ice to the surface in case, like M. Jules Verne's Nautilus, it falls to find crevasses.

SOCIETY'S NEW FAD.

Paris, Oct. 13.—The largest society fad is called "Corinthianism," or the art of doing everything yourself or of making your guests do it. A party invited to a chateau find the servants gone, so have to clean the boots, sweep the rooms and cook. Society women have decided this winter to wear dresses and hats of their own make.

Arch for Exhibition Park.

In all probability the Foresters' arch, which has adorned the corner of Bay and Richmond-streets for the last few days, will be removed to the Exhibition grounds. The directors of the Industrial Exhibition have been approached in regard to its removal there, and if their permission is given the arch will be erected there. Neither the arch nor the Temple Building will be illuminated again.

Died at the Jail.

Henry Hering, who had made his home at the jail for some months past, died there on Saturday night. Coroner Duncan will hold an inquest at 9 o'clock this morning.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT EGLINTON

Former Mail Carrier Relieved of $45 By a Pickpocket Friday Night.

RICHMOND HILL.

Reeve Savage and Messrs. Crosby, W. Sanderson, J. Elliott, A. Moodie, T. F. McMahon, W. H. Pugsley and others drove to Woodbridge on Saturday and attended the funeral of Hon. N. Clarke Wallace. Mr. M. Teefy, the village clerk, treasurer, etc., was unable to accompany the others, owing to an attack of lumbago.

Richmond Hill, Thornhill and Newtonbrook Endeavorers will join in the Epworth League rally in Toronto on Monday. They will be brought home by a special car.

The funeral of the late Patrick Kelly, for over 30 years a resident at Headford, 3rd concession of Markham, took place at the Thornhill Roman Catholic Cemetery on Saturday last. Rev. Father McMahon officiated, and there was a large attendance. The deceased was in his 80th year, and was much respected by all.

George Schell, who was with "C" Battery in the second contingent, was a proud man about the village on Friday evening, showing the medal presented to him at the review by the Duke.

Quite a large number of townspeople went to Woodbridge on Saturday to attend the funeral of Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, and the Town Hall and school flags were lowered to half-mast as a token of respect.

NORTH TORONTO.

The first instalment of the town's taxes must be paid by to-morrow night to get the 5 per cent. discount. Collector Whaley will attend at the Town Hall during the day.

Harvest Thanksgiving services were held in St. Clement's, Church, Eglinton, yesterday. The handsome little church had been beautifully decorated with plants, grain, fruits and flowers, and never looked prettier. The services during the day were of a hearty, devotional character, the choir acquitting themselves very creditably. The evening service was fully choral, Barnby's anthem, "O Lord, How Manifold," being well sung. The preachers for the day were the Rev. A. K. Griffin of Dresden and the rector. The offertories were devoted to the Widows' and Orphans' Fund, and were very satisfactory.

Harvest thanksgiving services were continued at the Leaside Anglican Mission Church, the missioner, Mr. G. I. V. Johnson, taking the services, which were very bright.

The Metropolitan Railway carried large numbers during the royal visit to Toronto, and received considerable praise for their service during the pressure of traffic.

EAST TORONTO.

Rev. Mr. Brownlee occupied the pulpit at Hope Methodist Church yesterday, in place of Rev. Mr. Wilson, who has been granted two weeks leave of absence.

Thomas Gibson (lately the mail carrier for this district) whilst in the city on Friday night viewing the illuminations, had his pocket picked of his purse, containing $45, a bank book and some valuable papers of use only to the owner.

The Village Council meets this evening at 8 o'clock.

The choir of Hope Methodist Church intend giving a musical festival at the church on Oct. 29.

Dr. Webster has recovered from his recent accident, and his friends will be glad to learn he is himself again.

NORWAY.

Building operations are still active in this vicinity. Mr. Handy, marble mason, is erecting a new house at the corner of Woodbine and Kingston-road, and Mr. Robert Tew, accountant, is erecting a large residence on Berkeley-avenue, at the side of Small's Pond.

The attention of the Medical Health Department has been called to the filthy state of the building at the corner of Queen-street and the Kingston-road, and immediately opposite the waiting room of the Toronto & Scarboro Electric Railway Company.

SCARBORO.

Mr. David Beldam, our well-known auctioneer, has received instructions from Messrs. R. and E. Pugsley, cattle buyers, to sell by auction at Sullivan's Hotel, town line of York and Scarboro, to-day, at 1 o'clock, 150 head of cattle, comprising fresh calved cows, springers and feeders.

TODMORDEN.

On Saturday last a coon hunt was held in the Don valley, and eleven raccoons were taken out of a very large hollow oak tree. One coon, an extraordinary large female, was so ferocious that it stood off four large dogs for a long time before turning up its claws.

The recent frosty nights have caused the foliage on the maples, oaks, sumachs and other trees to acquire its annual autumn tints. The scenery at present in the Don valley is very beautiful. A magnificent blending of reds, crimsons, pale green and gold presents a glorious sight.

Mrs. John Thompson fell into a newly made ditch in front of her premises on Don Mills-road and dislocated her ankle a few days ago. She is laid up and unable to perform her household duties, and her case is such that she will enter an action against the Township Council for some recompense for her injury.

The whole of Todmorden's contingent of the city corps has been under arms more or less during the late visit of royalty, except Bugler Smith, who is still in the General Hospital recovering from his injuries in the recent elevator accident on Front-street. Everyone of the sixteen Todmordenites had his hair closely cut in case he might come in contact with Lieut.-Col. Peters of hair-cut fame.

DONCASTER.

The service at St. Barnabas' Church last night was very largely attended. Mr. Fred Tyner, lay reader and divinity student, officiated. The choir has been thoroly reorganized under the new organist. The annual harvest home service will be held at 8 o'clock next Thursday evening. The church will be suitably decorated for the service.

Typhoid Fever Proved Fatal.

The death occurred in Sherbrooke, Que., on Saturday of Mrs. Gertrude Ellen Boswell, daughter of Rev. Canon Osler of the Eglinton Church of England, and wife of J. E. Boswell, manager of a large woollen manufactory in Sherbrooke. Mrs. Boswell was taken ill with typhoid fever a short time ago and passed away rather suddenly. Deceased was about 30 years of age, and besides a husband leaves five children. She had been a resident of Sherbrooke for the past five years, and prior to that lived for some time at Cobourg. Ex-Mayor A. R. Boswell, K.C., of this city, is an uncle of J. E. Boswell.

Arch Was Illuminated.

The Manufacturers' Arch at the head of University-avenue was illuminated for the last time last night, and was admired by a large number of people. This arch has been a great source of attraction during the past few days, and has been viewed by many thousands of people. It will be allowed to stand for about two weeks, and will then be torn down. It is guarded by a watchman at night to prevent destruction by vandals who have already commenced their depredations.

STEAMER KINGSTON IS GORGEOUS

Veritable Floating Palace for Their Royal Highnesses.

The steamer Kingston of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company, which will carry Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York thru the Thousand Islands, has been converted into a veritable floating palace. The exterior has been repainted and festooned with the royal colors, while the interior, with its wealth of rich draperies, hangings and flowers, presents an appearance that is gorgeous in the extreme. The steamer has been in the hands of the decorators for the past three weeks, and now everything is in readiness for the embarkation of the royal visitors.

The boat will clear from the Bertram ship yards this morning, and will go to Kingston. There the Duke and Duchess will embark at 1 p.m. to-morrow and go as far as Brockville, where they will be met by the royal train.

The royal party will enter the steamer from the starboard side. The gang plank has been draped with red, white and blue bunting and the top covered with a rich rug. They will pass thru to the stairway, and ascending this go to the stern of the vessel, which has been handsomely draped with royal ensigns and shields. The Duke and Duchess will occupy parlors "C" and "D" on the port side, while Lord and Lady Minto will be in parlors "A" and "B" on the starboard side. Four other parlors have been set aside for the royal suite.

It is in the diningroom that the decorations are particularly elaborate. There a luncheon will be served to the royal party. The Duke and Duchess with sit at round tables decorated with Canadian belle roses. Steward Fred Hepburn and Mrs. Hepburn have arranged the menu, which is of the very best, as follows:

A Choice Repast.

Malapeques on Half Shell.
Consommé a la Royale.
Mayonnaise of Salmon.
Lamb Cutlets. Breaded Pol de Pattis.
Breaded Fillet of Beef a la Champagne.
Boned Turkey. Cranberry Jelly.
Roast Quail.
Jellied Tongue. Chicken Salad.
Lobster Salad.
Richelieu Punch.
Charlotte Russe. Champagne Jelly.
Wine Jelly.
Assorted Ice Cream and Cakes.
Cheese. Water Biscuit. Oak Cake.
Coffee.

The service to be used is the choicest and daintiest to be obtained. The cups, saucers and plates for the Duke and Duchess are of Minton's English china, hand painted in gold and purple. There are also cups and bowls of light gold hue, all hand painted. The finger bowls are of cut glass. The flowers for the occasion have been provided by Dunlop. They are Canadian belle roses, Princess of Wales violets, Lady Dorothea roses, Princess lily of the valley, palms and orchids.

When the royal party boards the steamer Miss Annie Hepburn will play "Rule Britannia" on the piano. She will also play "Dawn of the Century," "Standard March," and "The Maple Leaf."

Capt. Henry Esford will be in command. The other officers will be: Purser, John B. Tinning; steward, Fred Hepburn, and chief engineer, Mr. Black.

FEES FOR M'KINLEY'S PHYSICIANS.

They Will Be Voted $100,000 By Congress—More Than Garfield's.

Washington, Oct. 13.—One hundred thousand dollars will be asked of Congress to pay the physicians who cared for William McKinley in his last illness.

This is nearly twice the sum paid for medical attendance upon Garfield twenty years ago, during a period ten times as long, the bill being $57,000.

No statement of the account has yet been presented by the physicians, and it is possible that they will leave the matter entirely to Congress.

Mrs. McKinley will doubtless be given a year's salary, $50,000, if the precedent of Garfield and Lincoln cases is followed, and in addition to this, will be voted an annual pension of $5000. Much of this legislation will be introduced by Senator Foraker, early in the next session. It will meet with speedy action.

BISHOP OF SLIGO SAILS.

London, Oct. 13.—The Right Rev. John Clancy, Roman Catholic Bishop of Elphin and Sligo, sailed on the Cunard Liner Etruria from Queenstown to-day for a short vacation in the United States.

Dog Causes Accident.

Two brothers, named Hathaway, living on Carlton-street, were kicked by a horse they were driving on Saturday afternoon and severely injured. One of the boys had his right leg broken, while the other sustained an injury to his ankle.

The lads had just taken their places on the wagon seat after delivering some articles near the corner of Parliament and Winchester, when a dog bit the horse on the hind leg, causing the steed to rear up and become unmanageable. A policeman stopped the runaway and assisted both boys to their home. Dr. Hastings attended to the lads' injuries.

Too Much for the Deputy.

Passengers on a Belt Line car going up Sherbourne-street about 11 o'clock on Saturday night did everything but eject William Stowe, a bartender at 70 Yonge-street, from the rear platform. Stowe, the police assert, used language on the car that, if anything, reflected on the honesty and integrity of the Duke of Cornwall and York. This was too much for Deputy Chief Stuart, a passenger on the car, and Stowe was locked up on a charge of being disorderly.

Crowd Returns Home.

The Union Station was a busy place yesterday. A large number of the visitors to the city left for their homes, and in order to accommodate the rush extra coaches had to be placed on several of the out-going trains.
