YUDENITCH BUT 25 MILES AWAY

Confirmation of Capture of Gatchina Near Petrograd

MORE GAINS AGAINST REDS

Esthonians Face Fortress of Kronstade—Advance in Centre by Anti-Bolshevik Force — Allies Concerned About German Influence if Soviet Government Falls

London, Oct. 18—The British war office today received confirmation of the news of the capture of Gatchina, twenty-five miles south of Petrograd, by the northwestern Russian army of General Yudenitch. The Bolshevik were driven from the town yesterday.

The Esthonians, operating in the coastal region, along the Gulf of Finland, the official advices state, are within a few miles of Krasaia Gorka and are facing the fortress of Kronstadt.

In the centre of the advancing line, official information is that the anti-Bolshevik forces on Thursday pushed forward to a point three or four miles below Luga, eighty miles south of Petrograd.

Further Successes.

London, Oct. 18—General Yudenitch has captured Krasnace Selo and Gatchina, south of Petrograd, where he met workingmen from the city, who asked that the northern Russian army refrain from shelling Petrograd, and pleaded if this promise was given to join the anti-Bolshevik, according to a Helsingfors despatch received here.

General Denekine appears to be advancing his left flank along the Dnieper Valley ,taking Chernigoff and moving northward toward Gomel, where his Cossacks may join Polish forces and present a compact front to the Soviet armies. If this junction is made, the anti-Bolshevik line from Petrograd to Orel, south of Moscow, would resemble a great horseshoe enclosing the Bolshevik. East of Orel and in the Don region the Bolshevik are reported to be retreating all along the front. It is said that Denekine troops have crossed the Don over a front 200 miles in length. German-Russian forces are said to be holding the left bank of the Lower Duna river at Riga. Farther up the stream indecisive fighting is reported.

Under Goltz.

Berlin, Oct. 17—(By the Associated Press)—The Vossische Zeitung's Koenigsberg, East Prussia correspondent, says that the German general von Der Goltz sent a message to the sixty German reserve corps now incorporated in the army of Col. Avaloff-Bermondt, thanking it for its 'heroic deeds before Riga," and promising to do his utmost to care for the men.

He also has written to Col. Avaloff-Bermondt, says the correspondent, congratulating him on the success of the recent fighting in which "for the first time in more than a century German and Russian troops fought side by side."

Finland Declines.

Helsingfors, Oct. 17—The Finnish Riksdag has decided to take no action with regard to the Bolshevist peace offer. The premier said the present conditions in Russia could not last ,that the collapse of the present regime was only a question of time and that Finland's welfare did not demand acceptance of the Bolshevik offer.

ALLIES WATCH VON DER GOLTZ.

Paris, Oct. 18—(By the Associated Press)—Reports of the capture of Kronstadt by the British, which have not been confirmed, and of further advances by General Yudenitch towards Petrograd, have intensified the peace conference's interest in the Russian situation and emphasized the fear of the Entente, especially of the French, that General von Der Goltz may entrench himself in northern Russia and give the Germans an important part in directing Russian affairs should the Bolshevik government fail.

One explanation of the reported capture of Kronstadt is that the British do not want the Bolshevik to have assistance from the remnants of the Russian Baltic fleet, as such support might make General Yudenitch's farther advance eastward difficult and give General von Der Goltz an excuse to support General Yudenitch and thus participate in the taking of Petrograd and establishment of a new government there.

The eagerness of the Entente to prevent Germany from having water communication with Bolshevik ports on the Baltic is explained by the fear that von Der Goltz might be supplied in that manner with munitions, enabling him to carry out plans he is known to have for getting a foothold in Russian territory.

The blockade against Bolshevik Russia has really existed since last July in definite form recognized by all the important powers except the United States. The only new feature of the recent notes to neutrals is that Germany also was asked to establish a blockade of Bolshevik Russia.

The unwillingness of Germany to comply with this request is explained in some quarters as meaning that she wanted to help General von Der Goltz and other German leaders who are keeping the Baltic states in turmoil.

Surrender of Kronstadt?

London, Oct. 18—The white flag was hoisted over the Bolshevik fortress of Kronstadt on Friday night, according to a Helsingfors despatch quoting a Finnish general staff report.

Rev. Josiah Webb Dead.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 18—Rev. Josiah Webb, Baptist minister at Springhill, Annapolis county, died today following an operation. He was seventy years of age and was a native of London, England.

COMMONS PROBABLY WILL PASS GRAND TRUNK BILL

Opposition in Senate Likely to be Stiffer

Senator Fowler Named Among Strong Opponents of the Measure—Cabinet Man's Prediction on Result of Ontario Elections

(Special to Times.)

Ottawa, Oct. 18—After an afternoon session yesterday the house adjourned until Monday. The debate on the second reading of the Grand Trunk bil failed to develop any more strenuous opposition than hitherto. Singularly enough, although there is a good deal of rumor abroad about a wide dislike to the principle of the bill, the drive against it in parliament so far has seemed to be lacking in force.

Mr. Meighen expressed the opinion privately that the debate would not last beyond Tuesday night, and there is no question that the bill will go through the house, as there have been no apparent defections on the part of the government supporters on the question. The members of the cross benches went with the government on the vote to proceed with the bill.

In the senate it is probable that more opposition will be encountered and it is known that Senator Fowler and some other Conservatives are very strongly opposed to it. The government has a majority of seventeen or eighteen in the upper chamber, but, as one frequently hears said, "there is never any telling what the senate will do."

Interest here centres very largely on the Ontario elections, although all guessers are confounded as to the result. The shrewdest judge of elections in the cabinet made an estimate on the result tonight in which the farmers' party is not given more than twenty in the next legislature. He says that the government will be returned but thinks that the opposition majority will be increased.

MEDICAL INSPECTION IN CITY SCHOOLS

Some Phases of The Situation Which Command Attention

It was announced at the Board of Health rooms today that the medical inspector of schools has been directed to furnish to the district medical health officer, who for this district is Dr. J. F. L. Brown, a list of pupils obviously suffering from remedial defect or handicap, where the parents have deliberately or negligently refused or neglected to have treatment rendered. Such cases are those for the most part where there is free treatment available in the free clinics in the General Public Hospital. In this clinic some of the best specialists in their line in the city are giving their valuable time free for the benefit of the growing generation.

Cases of those not taking advantage are looked up with a view to prosecution, as there is a heavy penalty.

The ear, throat and nose clinics are doing excellent work, but as yet no provision has been made for expert testing of eyes for glasses.

The children are looked after as early as possible so that their brains may do their work properly and the little one have every advantage of the free education. This stage is considered to be when a child is in grade two, as before that the various defects have not shown.

There are about 8,000 school children in the city to be visited by the medical inspector in 174 rooms in twenty schools. It is the hope of the medical inspector that each school will be visited about four times a year. At the beginning of the term a rapid survey of the school is made to exclude anything that should not be allowed. At the same time a memo is taken of the names of scholars suffering from any marked chronic condition of the throat. During the winter the medical inspector will also discriminate the ordinary backward or slow pupils from those actually mentally defective. This work will fit in with the efforts being made by the different children's societies to bring before the public the needs for provision for the feeble minded in the province.

There are about fifty pupils on the list of the medical inspector who need glasses at the present time. The parents pleaded that they were unable to bear the expense. There are found six or seven each week with defective sight, of whom four or five would require free testing.

WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT

London, Oct. 18—At today's session of the Congress of Tuberculosis Prevention, discussion revolved around employment of voluntary aid for tuberculosis sufferers, which proved so useful during the war. Sir Arthur Stanley, president of the congress, said:

"The sympathetic amateur is likely in many cases to do more good than the best state official. In a disease like this the human touch is much needed."

Lady Aberdeen suggested that the Red Cross institute a course of preliminary instruction to train women volunteers to aid in the work. Action will be taken on this suggestion next week.

Dr. Wheeler Hart opposed the use of amateurs because of the infectious nature of tuberculosis. He added that "too much dependence should not be placed on antitoxins."

SHIPPINGS LEADERS IN STREET THIS MORNING.

NINE DAYS AT SEA IN A SMALL BOAT

Loss of The Schooner George D. Edmonds on Voyage to Hillsboro

CREW TAKEN TO ROTTERDAM

Captain Bennett D. Coleman Just Home to Boston—Vessel Burned At Sea—Two of Crew Had to Jump Overboard

(Special to Times.)

Boston, Oct. 18—Capt. Bennett D. Coleman of the Boston three masted schooner George Edmands, which was burned at sea, is in this city today. In a report of the disaster he says that the Edmands went from New York to Norfolk and loaded a cargo of coal, which he delivered at Bermuda. On the passage from Bermuda to Hillsboro, N. B., disaster overtook the craft.

On Aug. 16 the vessel caught fire and it quickly became apparent that the schooner was doomed. Captain Coleman ordered the men into a small boat, Benjamin V. Meuse of Watertown, the mate, and Everett Higgins, the cook, of Provincetown, were obliged to leap into the sea to escape the fire. They were hauled into the boat later.

The boat had hardly been pushed away from the blazing craft before there was a terrible explosion as the gasoline tank forward blew up. Within a few minutes the charred hulk sank.

On the ninth day the American steamer Pequot, bound from Savannah for Rotterdam, took the weary sailors from the small boat. They were conveyed to Rotterdam ,and when she unloaded cargo and started back for the United States they were still on board. The seven men were landed at Fernandina a few days ago, money being sent from Boston to pay them off. The vessel was valued at $32,000 and was insured for only $6,000.

BOUGHT A PROPERTY HE DID NOT WANT

Albert County Man Made a Mistake at Chubb's Corner Sale

An unusual mix-up occurred today at Chubb's corner, as a result of which an Albert county man who had come to the city to purchase some timber land leases found himself the owner of a dwelling house instead. The matter has not been straightened out yet, but, meanwhile, he has in his possession some St. John real estate for which he has no particular use.

The first sale at noon was that of leases of timber lands in Albert county, owned by the estate of the late Hon. William Wedderburn, which were promptly disposed of, after some brisk bidding, to Garfield White for $5,700.

F. L. Potts, who had sold the timber lands, then proceeded to offer the property of the late Canon Hoyt, consisting of a ten-room dwelling with five acres of land in the Loch Lomond road, just beyond the city limits. The bids had reached $5,000 when the Albert county lumber man came along. He did not know that more than one sale was to take place and supposed that it was the timber leases which were being offered. He cut into the bidding, and when he finally offered $5,500, the property was knocked down to him. He had paid his deposit of twenty per cent. and signed the bidding paper before he learned of his error from an acquaintance who stopped to ask if he was intending to live in the house he had bought.

ST. LUKE'S TO HAVE MEMORIAL HALL

Plans Approved Last Night — Bowling and Other Sports; Men's Girls' and Boys' Clubs

A fine new memorial hall, dedicated to the memory of the men of the parish who fell in the great war and to the use of the young people of the congregation, is to be erected by St. Luke's church next spring. The final decision was reached at a meeting of the memorial committee last evening and at which the architect's plans were adopted. A committee consisting of the rector, Rev. R. T. McKim, H. Usher Miller, G. A. Hilyard and Thomas A. Graham was appointed to wait on the common council with regard to an extension of the water main to serve the new hall.

The building will be located on the lot in the rear of the church and, owing to the sloping nature of the ground, the lowest storey will be partly underground. In this floor will be located bowling alleys, rifle range and shower baths.

The next floor will contain a good sized gymnasium, and also accommodation for basketball and for entertainments. The third floor will have separate rooms for boys', girls' and men's clubs and also will have a living room and bedroom for the curate of the church, who will act as director.

Work will be commenced in the spring and it is estimated that the building will cost $10,000, which will be met by subscriptions. Several amounts already have been received.

E. A. Saker, builder of the auxiliary schooner Dornfontein and Ranfontein, arrived in the city this morning from London.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "do you know where I would like to be this fine October morning?"

"Oh, I s'pose you're thinkin' about New York or London —or some o' them places," said Hiram.

"No, sir," said the reporter. "Do you remember the road through the woods in the backlands that we traversed to get to the blueberry barrens in August?"

"I do," said Hiram.

"And do you remember how we picked blackberries and raspberries from the bushes that hung over the road? And how we admired the foliage of the dogwood and moose-wood, the great ferns and the deep mosses under the trees? And the nanny-berries just turning purple?"

"I et a lot o' them sence," said Hiram.

"And do you remember the great pine log completely covered with moss—a relic of the pines of a century gone—and how you offered to bet me that if we sunk an axe deep enough into it we would find it still sound at the heart?"

"I proved it too offen not to know," said Hiram. "Them old fellers lasts a long time."

"Well," said the reporter, "I would like at this moment to be sitting on a log on that old wood-road, with a gun at my knee, waiting for you to fill your pipe before we plunged into the woods. Maybe as we sat there we would hear a partridge drumming on another log, or see a bluejay flashing past, or a rabbit racing away, or even the flying legs of a deer."

"Mister," said Hiram, "if we didn't see nothin' but a crow it 'ud be wuth the tramp to be out there a day like this."

"I've half a notion," said the reporter, "to clear out and spend the afternoon around Frying Pan Lake, beyond the artificial lakes in Rockwood Park."

"It 'ud do you a lot more good than holdin' up the corner at the head o' King street," said Hiram. "You fellers in town don't know you're livin' half the time—By Hen!"

FITCHBURG OPENS DOORS TO PAT

Moran of The Reds Given Great Welcome Home — Plans to Build Up Boston Sox Team

(Special to Times.)

Boston, Oct. 18—Patrick J. Moran, manager of the world's champion Cincinnati baseball team, arrived in Fitchburg, his home town, last night. He reached Worcester in the forenoon and was met there by Mayor Frank H. Foss, Col. George R. Wallace and others. Moran lost no time in getting to West Fitchburg, where he was born and the place where he started his diamond career on the sand lots. From his arrival until late tonight Moran was kept busy greeting his acquaintances and receiving congratulations.

With the arrival of Manager Moran, plans went forward for big times arranged in his honor. West Fitchburg will have an open-air demonstration for him on Tuesday night and Thursday night will come a banquet arranged by fans.

He declared despite reports to the contrary that he intended to remain a citizen of Fitchburg. He said also that the plan for the best five in nine games for world series he believed had been tried for the first and last time because of the strain on the players.

The bad showing of the Red Sox has compelled Manager Frazee to decide on rebuilding the team for 1920. It has been lamentably weak in the field since the departure of Speaker and Lewis, while the keystone sack has been a joke and third a farce. The twirlers, too, have gone back at crucial periods, this being especially true of its "ace."

LLOYD HARRIS WANTS TO GIVE UP PUBLIC LIFE

Head of Canadian Trade Mission Entertained in London on Eve of Return

London, Oct. 18—(Canadian Associated Press)—Several farewell functions in honor of Lloyd Harris, head of the Canadian Trade Mission, who will return to Canada next week, are being held. The city of London Livery Club gave a luncheon in his honor yesterday, whilst his own staff entertained him to dinner last night and the Canadian Association will dine him on Monday.

Speaking at the Livery Club lunch, Mr. Harris said he had no ambitions and was not cut out for public life. He simply came across the water in response to Premier Borden's invitation to assist the premier at the peace conference and also to advise and assist the Canadian government in re-establishing Canadian trade relations broken down through the war. He hoped now to be allowed to return to private life and look after his own business interests. He would return to Canada preaching the doctrine that Canada's greatest destiny lay in remaining a part of the British Empire.

"Governments today," continued Mr. Harris, "were not run by elected representatives, but by permanent officials who had no more real conception of the empire than any dog in the street. We have got to get out of this rut and reach the true heart of things." He looked to the establishment of the empire trade council outside the influence of any government departments. He said that when he came here the Canadian government gave him a free hand without any political influence whatever.

PERHAPS OPEN SEASON IN 1920 FOR PARTRIDGE

They're Very Plentiful, Say Reports to Fredericton—Charges of Spearing Salmon at Grand Falls

(Special to Times.)

Fredericton, March 18—Reports received by the provincial game authorities are that partridges are very numerous in all parts of the province, due to the close season which began with 1918 and also to conditions favorable to natural increase of the birds. If next winter is favorable partridge will be in swarms and it would not be surprising to see a movement to have 1920 an open season. Under existing regulations 1921 will be the first open season.

A daily express service is to be extended to the St. John-Centreville section of the C. N. R. by the Canadian Express Company beginning on Monday.

Fisheries Inspector H. E. Harrison has returned to Fredericton after being in the vicinity of Grand Falls since Monday. Seven prosecutions for spearing salmon are to be begun before Magistrate J. P. Kelly at Grand Falls. Some gear was seized.

LEAVES SETTLEMENT OF FIUME QUESTION TO ITALY AND JUGO-SLAVIA

Paris, Oct. 18—(Havas)—Decision to leave the settlement of the Fiume question to direct negotiations between Italy and Jugo-Slavia has been reached by the peace conference, according to the Excelsior.

Allied nations have agreed to make their nominations of ambassadors to Berlin dependent upon the manner in which the clauses of the treaty of peace are carried out by Germany, according to the Echo de Paris, which quotes a "prominent diplomat" as its source of information. Consuls will be named soon for German cities, and these officials will look after interests of their nations until ambassadors are chosen.

Fiume, Oct. 18—(By the Associated Press)—Gabriel D'Annunzio has issued a manifesto to the Serbians, expressing the need of recognition, by the Serbs, of a community of interest between Italy and the Serbs. It says:

"Serbs: There exist no obstacles to a harmonious peace. Fiume wishes to be Italian. Freedom of commerce in the Adriatic will not be prohibited to you, but will be enlarged for your benefit. The only obstacle now is political intrigut and foreign gold. Now they seek war against Italy by collecting forces in the neighborhood of Fiume to occupy the city, the citizens of which, with volunteers, will defend it unto death and destruction."

TRADE IN OPIUM AND COCAINE

Parliamentry Bill to License Imports and Exports

SMUGGLING INTO STATES

Importation into Canada for That Purpose—Legislation to Provide for Full Weight of Lobster in The Tin

Ottawa, Oct. 18—Following the adoption of a resolution, Mr. Rowell introduced in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon a bill to license imports and exports of cocaine, opium and their preparations. The bill continues in effect orders-in-council passed in last May under the war measures act. In recent years, Mr. Rowell said, quantities of opium and cocaine imported into Canada had shown a marked increase. In view of that situation, and in order to exercise greater control, the orders-in-council were passed. The increase in importation, however, did not necessarily mean an increase in consumption in Canada. The object of importation into Canada had been largely to get the drugs smuggled across the international border into the United States.

Mr. Rowell gave a series of figures showing the effect of the orders-in-council. During the year ended March 31, 1919, there were 12,333 ounces of cocaine imported into Canada. During the three months of 1919, under license, July, August and September, cocaine imported amounted to 1,544 ounces.

Morphine amounted during the year ended March 31, 1919, to 30,067 ounces. During the three months under license, importations were 2,695 ounces, approximately 10,000 ounces a year, instead of 30,000.

Crude opium during the year ended March 31, 1919, was imported to the extent of 34,263 pounds. During the three months under license, importations were 1,110 pounds, or 4,400 pounds a year, as compared with 34,000 pounds before licensing was put into effect.

Mr. Sinclair (Guysboro)—"Is it true that the use of these drugs has alrgely increased in Ontario during the last year?"

Mr. Rowell—"There is no evidence to that effect. My advice from the officers of the health department is that there is no ground for the conclusion that the increased importation is due to any laws recently enacted in the province of Ontario."

The bill was read a first time.

Canned Lobster.

Hon. A. K. MacLean then introduced a resolution providing for an amendment to the meat and canned foods act in its application to the canning of fish. He explained that the amendment had been introduced into the house at the last session and considered by a special committee which had not reported before prorogation. The statute at present provided that a pound tin of lobsters should contain fourteen ounces of meat. This provision tended to give the impression to the public that it was being deceived because a pound tin contained only fourteen ounces of meat. Therefore, it was considered advisable to introduce this amendment, which provided that lobsters should be packed in tins of three, six, nine, twelve and sixteen ounces, and that their labels should indicate the net minimum weight of the meat in the cans.

Hon. W. S. Fielding remarked that the important thing appeared to be to provide for cans being stamped with the weight of meat contained in them. He thought the amendment was in the right direction.

J. H. Sinclair asked the minister what was the legal weight of salmon in tins.

Mr. MacLean replied that he would endeavor to have that figure on the second reading of the bill. The proposed amendments did not affect any fish except lobster. Mr. Cahill asked if the can containing only twelve ounces of lobster meat would be the same size as the can which formerly contained sixteen ounces.

Mr. MacLean replied that the true weight of contents must be stamped on the cans.

The resolution carried, and a bill based on it was given first reading and will come before the house at its next session for second reading.

NEED THIS LOAN MORE THAN THOSE RAISED IN CANADA DURNING WAR

Toronto, Oct. 18—Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, addressed the Canadian Bakers' Association here last night on the Victory loan.

"You are commencing this month on this loan," he said, "and we hope we shall have a tremendous victory on Nov. 15. We will then have re-established our financial position, and proved beyond all question Canada's power financially, as well as in all other directions."

Sir Edmund Walker declared that Canada's debt could be carried only by increased production, which would mean the extension of foreign markets. The needs of the coming loan were greater, he said, than those raised during the war.

"This loan is necessary," he said, "if we expect to finish with credit the job we entered upon."

AUSTRIAN CABINET OUT, BUT SOON IN AGAIN

Vienna, Oct. 18—(By the Associated Press)—The Austrian cabinet, headed by Dr. Karl Renner, resigned yesterday, but was reconstructed immediately under Dr. Renner as premier, with few important changes.
