Apologies were received from E. Eristol, M.P., Sam Charters, Phil. Bowyer, M.L.A., and J. H. Carnegie, M.L.A. Ald. Saunderson gave the eastern section a lively reputation and warned the meeting not to mini what they saw in the papers. They were reported to be all disrupted and broken up, but when election day came they would all be found shoulder to shoulder. The Conservative party was always loyal to principle. It never went back on its platform, and never did anything it had undertaken not to do. Subjects might be introduced about which they did not all agree, but on the main issied they would always be found true to principle.

Down in the east they were such a hive of Conservatives they had always given Dr. Pyne 1500 majort v from ward one, and he hoped they would make it 2000 or 2500. Any unpeasant-ness there had been was of a personal nature and had nothing to do with the

The Tailor Who Paid Too Much

By Herbert Kaufman.

I was buying a cigar last week when a man dropped into the shop and after making a purchase told the proprietor that he had started a clothes shop around the corner and quoted him prices, with the assurance of best garments and terms.

After he left the cigar man turned to me and said:

"Enterprising fellow, that, he'll get along." "But he won't," I replied, "and, furthermore, I'll wager you that he hasn't the sort of clothes shop that will enable him to." "What made you think that?" queried the man behind the coun-

"His ideas are wrong," I explained: "he's relying upon word of mouth publicity to build up his business and he can't interview enough individuals to compete with a merchant who has sense enough to say the same things he told you to a hundred thousand men while he is telling it to one.—Besides, his method of advertising is too expensive. Suppose he sees a hundred persons every day. First of all he is robbing his business of its necessary direction and besides he is spending too much to reach every man he solicits."

"What makes you say that?" "Well, as the proprietor of a clothes shop his own time is so valuable that I am very conservative in my estimate when I put the cost of his soliciting at five cents a head.

"Now, if he were really able and clever he would discover that he can talk to many thousands of people at less than a tenth of a cent per individual. There is not a newspaper in Toronto the advertising rate of which is $1.00 per thousand circulation, for a space big enough in which to display what he said to you."

"I never looked at it in that way." said the cigarman. It's only "the man who hasn't looked at it that way," who hesitates for an instant over the advisibility and profitableness of newspaper

Newspaper advertising is the cheapest channel of communication ever established by man. A thousand letters with one-cent stamps will easily cost fifteen dollars and not one envelope in ten will be opened because the very postage is an invitation to the wastebasket.

ON TRIAL AT MILTON

Manslaughter Charge is Dropped, But Charge of Criminal Negligence Proceeds to the Jury.

MILTON, April 14.—(Special.)—Richard Newton of Toronto Junction has been on trial all afternoon before Judge Anglin, charged with negligently causing the death of Charles Clinton Armstrong, a C.P.R. engineer, whose Armstrong, a C.F.R. engineer, whose train plunged into an open switch at all fought together. ments, we can have a good idea of what's being made," returned Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Pugsley, continuing, said that he had delayed extending those contracts as empowered by order-in-council, because he had in contemplation the deepening of harbors on the eastern shore of Lake Huron to a greater depth than the 21 foot draft now being worked upon. In order to allow lake vessels of the largest size to use the Canadian ports it might be necessary to dredge to a depth of 25 feet. That project was now under consideration. Mr. Haggart criticized the method of the new minister. Here, he said, were contracts obtained by collusion, being extended without further tender, and at prices which were fraudulent on the face of them. Thus was a new set of morals established by the minister from New Brunswick. True, this was but a venal offence compared with others of which the present government was guilty, yet it was a clear breach of the law nevertheless; made, to in defiance of recent finding or breach of the law nevertheless; made, too, in defiance of recent finding of the government's own royal commission, who recommended the adoption of the British system of open and free competition by tender.

It was the system now in vogue that led to contracts being given to favorites and relatives of members of parliament. It was such a charge that drove into private life the strongest man who ever occupied the "woolsack" in the British ministry. Better have whole commerce of the country sack" in the British ministry. Better have whole commerce of the country retarded, declared Mr. Haggart, than perpetrate this blot upon the honor and integrity of parliament.
