THE BATHURST AND BURNSVILLE MILLS of the St. Lawrence Lumber Company have been sold to Messrs. Adams, the sale of the Bathurst mill to the Sumner Company falling of completion.

AN ELECTION RUMOR to the effect that Mr. John Morrissy is to head a ticket in opposition in the pending Assembly election lacks confirmation. Certain aspirants for political fame pretend to be members of the alleged ticket and are asking country people who come to town for the promise of votes, which, perhaps, does no harm to anyone, for, as they say, it's amusing to see how readily some people commit themselves in such matters.

AN ATTRACTION to buyers of family groceries, provisions, dry goods and general household supplies is offered by Mr. Roger Flanagan at his well known store on St. John Street, Chatham, in the form of silver knives and forks, silver spoons, silver cruet stands and boxes of tea. He issues tickets which are presented by customers every time they make purchases, and no matter how small the amount, it is punched off, and when the purchases aggregate either $15 or $30, as the case may be, one of the articles specified viz.—a cruet stand, or a dozen of silver knives or forks for a $30 ticket; or a 5 lb. box of tea, or 1 doz. silver spoons for a $15 ticket is given free.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT:—On Saturday last Harvey Ferguson son of Mr. Wm. Ferguson, of Derby, while out alone shooting, met with a fatal accident. His gun slipped from a rest on which he was leaning it, a small twig caught the trigger and the contents discharged into his bowels making a fearful wound. Lester Parker, who was out hunting for his cows near at hand, heard the shot and a call, and at once went to Ferguson's assistance. He did what he could to help him and then left him to go for aid to get him home. When leaving Ferguson bade him "good bye." Fortunately he did not go far before he met Mr. Duncan Parker and two others and a wagon was procured and the wounded man taken to his home, and Dr. W. Wilson summoned. The wound was a fearful one the bowels protruding from it. He died Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Ferguson was married about two years ago to a Miss Corbett, of Newcastle, and much sympathy is felt for her by the people around.—[Advocate.

Amateur Burglars.

When the ADVANCE office was opened on Tuesday morning it was discovered that it had been broken into during the night, entrance having been effected by way of one of the windows on the west side. The cash drawer in the editor's office was removed and left on a book stand near by, after being relieved of its contents, and some other evidences of search for plunder were manifest. Only some loose change was taken, so far as could be ascertained. The office safe was not in any way tampered with, showing that the thieves were of the petty class. They did not take the trouble to close the window after them.

A Marine Monster.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Robert Russell and others at the Russell Mill, saw an enormous fish in the river which showed a portion of its body above the surface. They describe it as nearly white in color and seeming to be as much as 30 or 40 feet, or perhaps more, in length. It was swimming up-stream at the time they first saw it and showed on the surface three times. On Saturday morning they saw it again, and in the same manner, going down river opposite the mill, its last appearance being nearly opposite the Black Brook mill wharf. It is also reported that the same or a similar fish was seen on Friday and Saturday in the river opposite the Scowhell and Lamont mills.

Marriage at Athol.

The marriage of Miss Maggie Russell of Athol, and John Johnston of New Brunswick took place at the Methodist church about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. Miss Annie Shank acted as bridesmaid, and the best man was a New Brunswick friend of the groom. The bride was becomingly attired in her travelling dress. The happy couple left Athol for Boston on the 6.20 train, where they will remain about a week. Rev. J. H. Mansfield was the officiating clergyman at the wedding. A party of friends gathered at the depot to see them off and give the customary parting salute of rice, etc. The bride has for some years past been an employee of W. Star Loe, and one of the prominent workers of the Methodist church.—[Athol, Mass. Transcript.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston are snugly located in their new home, "The Angel's Retreat," Loggieville, where they are receiving the congratulations of their numerous friends.

Wedding at Barnaby River

A Barnaby River correspondent writes:—On Wednesday the 25th, Mr James Kain of Barnaby River was united in wedlock to one of the Semiwagan Ridge's fairest daughters, Miss Agnes Esson, daughter of John and grand daughter of Squire Esson. The bridesmaid was Miss Leonora Esson, sister of the bride, and the best man Joseph McGrath, cousin of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. C. P. Campbel in the church, where there was a numerous lot of friends assembled to witness the ceremony, after which the Reverend Father invited the bridal party to his house, where a sumptous breakfast was prepared. When after partaking of his Reverences hospitality amid a shower of rice and well wishes, they drove to the bride's father's home, to again pass through a shower of congratulations from a numerous lot of invited friends and guests, where a splendid dinner was prepared, when after songs and music, they prepared to relieve the tables from some of the weight of the good things that they groaned under. The time was beguiled from dinner-time until tea by songs and music and eating the rosy apples, the produce of the native soil. A splendid tea was then served, after which the guests left for home, after spending an enjoyable and pleasant day. Squire Esson enlivened the occasion by his fun-provoking Scotch comic songs. The presents to the bride were numerous and pretty; amongst them was a money present from the Squire, and a splendid floral offering from Mr. Thomas Vye. The bride looked charming and left for her new home that evening accompanied by the groom and a host of well-wishes.

The "Gleaner" and Chatham.

That extraordinary little paper, the Fredericton Gleaner appears to labor very zealously to make people believe that Chatham is no good, anyhow. In its issue of 24th it said:—

The work of construction on the Masters pulp mill at Chatham is progressing rapidly, and it is now expected that the mill will be operating by the first of next year. Since the work on the mill was started the wages have averaged $3,000 per month.

Mr. F. Schilde who, at the request of leading citizens, has been examining Richibucto for pulp making purposes, reports that town to be a better place for a pulp factory than Chatham. There is an ample supply of fine water there, of which necessity there is a sad lack in Chatham. There are also no booms at which to tax spruce logs. Mr. Schilde says that good spruce pulp wood can be delivered at Richibucto for $1.75 per cord.

As a matter of fact, the new pulp mill across the river has a most excellent water supply—a supply that was quite sufficient to drive one of the best saw mills on the Miramichi. Mr. F. Schilde, as well as the Gleaner, must have only a superficial idea of how to promote pulp mill enterprises in New Brunswick if they think they can make any real progress by decrying any particular locality. There is ample room and work for many more pulp mills on the North Shore than we have. We have one here in successful operation and another in course of erection, the work on which is being pushed forward with a vigor that reflects the greatest credit on its promoters, and especially on Mr. Thos. Allison, its chief promoter. If Richibucto is to have one or two such mills we shall be glad of it. Neither the Gleaner nor its Mr. F. Schilde, however, can assist Richibucto in the matter by decrying Chatham.

A & R. Loggie's. Canned Goods.

Montreal Gazette.

The central figure and most noticeable exhibit at this year's fair is undoubtedly that of A. & R. Loggie, of Loggieville, N. B. This display, in the form of a great lighthouse, occupies the centre of the main transept of the Main building. The dimensions of this mammoth tower are 55 feet in height by 60 feet in circumference at the bottom, tapering off to 27 feet at the top. It is built entirely of small tins of canned smelts, and the labor and care necessary to be exercised in its construction can hardly be imagined. Only one (like the writer) who daily saw its progress can properly realize the magnitude and difficulties of the undertaking. On top of this huge lighthouse is the lantern, which, in place of glass, is arranged with tunting panels, on which are handsomely painted the advertisements of the firm. Seen from a distance, the tower looks as though covered with corrugated silver, inlaid with bronze, and the effect is extremely pleasing. The top of the lantern is surmounted by a flagstaff which floats the British ensign and from each corner of the octagon projects horizontal staffs from which stream various other flags. Mr. Loggie intimates that he intends having a guessing competition as to the number of cans used in the construction of his tower, and the person who wins the prize will be as clever as he is lucky. The exhibit as a whole is so perfectly unique also centrally placed, that no visitor can miss, it even if they wished to.

To give an idea of the immense business carried on by this firm we may say that they have now in operation twenty-three different factories and that their output for the year ending March 31, 1895, was as follows:

	Lbs.
Smelts, frozen and fresh	1,250,000
Smelts, packed in tins	250,000
Salmon, frozen and fresh	365 000
Mackerel	300,000
Haddock, tomcods, bass, eels, halibut, etc., fresh and frozen	600,000
	Tins.
Canned lobsters	120,000
895 tons blueberries, filling	1,080,000

The quality of all these goods is of the very finest and the canned smelts used in the construction of the lighthouse are put up in very best quality of oil, are ready for immediate use and make the most desirable lunch that one could wish for.

Ladies admire Ayer's Hair Vigor, for the rich lustre it gives the hair. It restores original color.

Municipal Elections.

The municipal elections in the several parishes in which there were contests, took place on Tuesday.

The candidates in Chatham were councillors D. G. Smith and Jas. F. Connors, ex-councillor Wm. Kerr and Mr. Nicholas Cunningham. The friends of Messrs. Kerr and Cunningham worked hard all day at the polls, while those of Messrs. Smith and Connors appeared to have assumed that little or no effort was required on their part. It was the first time in Chatham in which leading temperance and Anti-Scott Act men combined to effect a change in the representation of the parish, and it is not a matter of wonder that they were successful and now have the satisfaction of having selected Messrs. Kerr and Cunningham as their municipal councillors for the next two years. About one half of the total vote of the parish was cast. The result was as follows:—

Candidates	Chatham	Loggieville	Totals.
Wm Kerr	231	32	263
N. Cunningham	234	5	239
D. G. Smith	193	13	206
Jas. F. Connors	150	16	166

It will be seen that Mr. Cunningham led in Chatham town, while Mr. Kerr's Napan vote at Loggieville, however, gave him a good lead for the whole parish. An analysis of the ballots shows that 550 ratepayers—about one half of the total on the lists—voted. Of these the ballots of eight were rejected, as being illegally cast.

The following list shows how each ballot was marked:—

Cunningham–Kerr,	70
Smith–Connors,	131
Smith–Kerr,	45
Smith–Cunningham,	9
Connors–Kerr,	9
Connors–Cunningham,	8
Cunningham,	153
Kerr,	107
Smith,	8
Connors,	2
Spoiled,	8
Total,	550

Mr. Alexander Robinson was chairman of the meeting. On his announcing the number of votes cast for each candidate and declaring Messrs. Kerr and Cunnibgham elected, each of the candidates addressed the ratepayers, who were present in the hall in good force.

Mr. Kerr said that when he said he felt proud he realised that the word was hardly strong enough to express his feelings. His success was unexpected to him and he was almost overcome with the sense of the responsibility it carried with it. It had been said he was a temperance candidate, but it was not true. He was a friend of temperance himself, but its opponents would get fair play from him. No man who knew him would believe he could be induced to do wrong. He was a proud man to be at the head of the poll, after all the influences and canvasses that were against him. In his last election he had gone away from the hall a defeated man, and he was not the man to accept an election by acclamation, for he felt the electors had made a mistake and he wanted to test them again to see what they thought of Kerr, the country boy from Napan, and he was satisfied with the result.

Mr. Cunningham said he could not express himself this afternoon as he would like to for he had not expected to be elected. He had come, a stranger in Chatham not long ago, and was proud of the confidence the people had in him. "There's some people who the people don't know where they are." He was willing to do all he could for all. When he went to the Council he intended to try and get two councillors for the town of Chatham. I thank you all expressly—those who voted for me as well as those who did not.

Mr. Smith said while the result of the election was adverse to Mr. Connors and himself, and it was not agreeable to be defeated, yet he could not say it was a matter of regret to him personally. As one of Chatham's councillors for the past two years, he had, with Mr. Connors, endeavored to perform the duties of the office creditably and intelligently, but it seemed that Mr. Connors and he had failed to satisfy the ratepayers and they had voted for a change. He had no complaint to make, for having gone into the election in behalf of friends, it was a duty to accept the verdict of the ratepayers cheerfully. Mr. Kerr had complained of unfair canvasses, and if he (Mr S.) was personally moved by that kind of thing he might say a good deal on the subject, but had no desire to do so. The fact was that Mr. Connors and he had two influential classes united against them—the friends and opponents of the Scott Act, and between two such forces it was not a matter of wonder that they were crushed. He congratulated Messrs Kerr and Cunningham on their victory and their temperance and other friends on their success in electing them, and hoped those gentlemen would succeed in accomplishing what Mr. Connors and himself had evidently failed to do—viz pleasing the ratepayers of Chatham in the discharge of their duties as their councillors. He warned them however that they would find it difficult to accomplish all that they had promised, but he had no doubt that they would faithfully try to do so, and he sincerely hoped they would succeed better than he and his colleague appeared to have done.

Mr. Connors said this was the first opportunity he had to thank the ratepayers of Chatham for the honor they had done him two years ago, when he had been returned unpledged and unopposed. He had, since, endeavored to do his duty faithfully and fairly as a councillor, as Mr. Smith had said, and no one, so far as he could learn, claimed otherwise. When the combination was formed against Mr. Smith and himself and it was evident that unfair canvasses had been encouraged for the purpose of securing Messrs. Kerr and Cunningham's return, they had thought it might be well to retire, and, on the day when nominations were to be made, Mr. Smith had suggested that they retire and let those gentlemen be the only ones nominated, but their friends advised otherwise and they had consented to run. They had done so, and were defeated, but he felt they could retire honorably, feeling that they had endeavored to discharge their duties honestly and fairly. He accepted the decision of the ratepayers without complaint and hoped they would have reason to be satisfied with the gentlemen of their choice. He asked Mr. Robinson to leave the chair and the Town Clerk to take it and moved a vote of thanks to the chairman for the efficient and impartial manner in which he had discharged his duties.

Mr. Kerr seconded this and the vote of thanks, being put by Town Clerk W. T. Connors, was unanimously carried. Mr. Connors having expressed the thanks of the meeting accordingly—

Chairman Robinson, in acknowledgment said he had very reluctantly accepted the position, fearing he might not be able to perform the duties of a position that was so new to him, but he had done so impartially and appreciated the manner in which the fact had been recognised.

In Newcastle the result was as follows:—

	Newcastle	Douglastown	Le Newcastle	Total
Lyons,	167	30	70	267
Morrison,	173	63	24	260
Russell,	184	39	27	250
Doyle,	126	86	36	248

The candidates in Blackville were councillors D. G. Scofield and D. P. Sullivan and Mr. G. D. Stewart. The polling was as follows:—

Scofield, 141; Sullivan 124; Stewart, 65.

Sullivan and Williston are elected in Hardwicke.

Anderson and Robertson in Alnwick.

Susie Harrison,	Robina Noble,
M E Keating,	L B McIntosh,
F M Flood,	Alice Dickson,
M J Flood,	Mary Gordon,
L J Murphy,	Maggie Carter,
J J Murray,	Isabella Galloway,

After enrolment D. L. Mitchell, B. A. delivered his address on "Patriotism," emphasising the fact that if children are taught to be true and honorable in all things, they will be patriotic, for a man cannot be untrue to his country without being untrue to himself and, consequently, the foundation of national sentiment is a sense of personal obligation.

Messrs. Yoraton, McKenna and McIntosh followed with an animated discussion in which ways and methods of teaching Patriotism were pointed out, and teachers warned not to introduce party politics into the school work.

During the afternoon session Messrs. Yoraton and McKenna read interesting papers. Mr. Yoraton's subject was:—"What are the most effective methods of holding attention?" The only true method, Mr. Yoraton said, was to study the children and find cut their bent and capabilities.

Mr. Mitchell said that the power of attention was the most potent agency in the child's life, that genius was simply power of attention, and that the child who acquired this to the greatest degree was most able to cope with the difficulties of life.

Mr. McIntosh thought the paper gave no instruction with regard to cases of inattention.

J. J. Clarke again failing to be present, his paper, had to be omitted and, Mr. McKenna read his paper on "Indolent pupils," giving, in detail, the causes of indolence and suggesting modes of remedy. The two chief causes were carelessness of teachers and indifference of parents. When all other remedies failed the judicious use of the rod was advocated.

In the debate which followed Mr. Benn thought pupils should be led to take pleasure in their work; then alone will they be attentive.

Inspector Mersereau thought corporal punishment necessary in some cases. It was the duty of teachers to find out if scholars knew how to study. They should give them the best methods before giving home lessons.

Mr. P. Hennessay, Secretary of Trustees, spoke briefly and the discussion was continued by Rev. Father Dixon, with many valuable suggestions and wise cautions. Text books should be corrected when necessary. The meritorious pupils should receive rewards. Father Dixon took the matter up in detail and showed himself to be thoroughly familiar with the teacher's art.

FRIDAY MORNING SESSION.

After roll-call Miss Falconer gave a practical lesson on minerals to a class of little girls. This lesson was very interesting. The specimen examined was marble, the teacher showing her method of developing ideas of hardness, color, streak, lustre, structure, &c. Each pupil had a piece of marble and performed the various experiments themselves by which the different results were reached. When the experiments were over these results were combined into a carefully written composition.

Mr. Benn said lack of a regular school collection of minerals was no excuse for not teaching minerals.

Mr. Yoraton commended the lesson very highly, observing that Miss Falconer had followed quite closely the method of Mr. Britain as laid down in his new text book, which is now being printed.

Mr. Mitchell thought practical lessons much more helpful than papers on theory, and suggested that, in future Institutes, model lessons be prepared in place of papers.

Inspector Mersereau questioned Miss Falconer and brought out many valuable ideas as to her method of leading the children step by step in the analysis of minerals. He said there was not a school district in the province where teachers themselves cannot make collections of minerals with the aid of pupils.

Miss Blanche Reid gave some valuable cautions.—a single lesson should not attempt too much, teacher should not suggest anything the pupil may obtain by observation.

Misses Mowatt and Leighton continued the discussion.

Rev. Father Dixon regretted the change from reading to lesson on minerals. He made a most interesting address on the value of good reading and correct pronunciation, strongly urging upon teachers and trustees to provide a reliable dictionary. He thought the new "Standard" dictionary a most complete and valuable book. He pointed out faults in the textbooks and suggested many improvements.

His Honor Judge Wilkinson, being called upon, made a lengthy address, which was listened to with marked attention. He emphasized what the Rev. gentleman had said, and added much that was new and instructive. He regarded the art of teaching as a progressive science, and compared the standing of the profession to-day with that of fifty years ago. He took up many lines of school work, and showed the teachers how they should proceed to develop different ideas. The Judge spoke with much spirit and feeling and his address had a marked effect on the Institute.

Rev. Father Dixon rose and advocated the starting of something like a University Extension Course, which he would support financially. He thought it would be much prized and be of great benefit to the community.

FOURTH SESSION.

After roll call Inspector Mersereau read his paper on "Supplementary Reading." It is prescribed for children in grades in advance of grade III in graded schools. It would be very beneficial in ungraded schools. Parents should be consulted, so that they could co-operate with teachers. The Inspector suggested a number of books. Reading must be suited to the age of the child. Stories of real life are always interesting to young children. In grade IV Black Beauty and Beautiful Joe; in grade V, Lamb's Tales from Shakespeare. Child's History of England; grade VI, Tennyson's Crossing the Bar, Longfellow's Children; grade VII Prescott's History of Mexico, and, for an introduction, the Fair God, Ivanhoe and the "Prairie." How should these books be used? For short stories one pupil might read to the others. Miss McLaughlan asked how much time ought to be given to this subject? It would take three years to read the history of Mexico.

Mr. Yoraton emphasized the importance of supplementary reading as a factor in forming the literary taste of pupils.

Mr. Mitchell thought it a good plan to give pupils in advanced grades short extracts of poems to be committed to memory. In this way a taste might be cultivated for the beautiful and pure in literature. These extracts should be accompanied by a short lecture on the author and on the benefit derived from pure and classic English.

Miss Harrison said she often had a good boy who had finished his work read a short story and afterwards repeat it to the class.

Several ladies having entered the room during the discussion the president asked them to address the Institute. They proved to be delegates from the three W. C. T. U's of Northumberland Co. and Mrs. Reid of Newcastle, and Miss Shirreff representing the County Union read addresses dealing with temperance in schools, and assuring the teachers that they appreciated their earnest efforts in teaching the subject.

Miss Brown, M. D., on being called upon, said she came up to see Dr. Cox and felt much disappointed at not meeting him. She also said she would like to have spoken on the question of the Pansy books, which Mr. Yoraton had condemned, but she saw that courtesy was not to be extended to her.

The president assured her that the Institute would be pleased to hear anything she had to say. She then spoke warmly in favor of the Pansy books, saying they placed before the child perfect models.

Mr. Yoraton, very logically, replied that he knew of but one perfect model to set before the child. He clearly proved that the Pansy books contained very false ideals. There characters were often impossible ones, and, in so far as they were untrue to nature, they must be pernicious and could only have a bad effect on the child's mind.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the visiting delegates and eloquently replied to by Miss Shirreff.

Mr. Hennessy, on being called upon, spoke briefly concerning the duties of trustees and teachers.

Votes of thanks were then tendered to the trustees for the use of the building; also to the teachers of Newcastle for their kindness in entertaining the members of the Institute.

It being moved by Mr. McIntosh that the next meeting of the Institute be held in the Grammar School building, Chatham, Mr. McKenna moved, in amendment, that it be held in the Convent building there. After some discussion the amendment was withdrawn, the original motion carried and the Institute meeting closed.

Don't You Remember Long Ago!

As the years roll on we more and more recall the events of the past. School days with their tasks and chores come back again to us in memory, but with the glamour and enchantment of distant views. The old school and church, the boys and girls we romped with, father's voice, mother's smile, the joy of the holiday—no pleasures of the present can compare with those enjoyed in the days now locked up in the eternity of the past. In a similiar way we recall the old time tested friend of the past—Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—that never failed us then and is just as sure to serve us now. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is sure, safe, and painless. Use no other.

THE YACHT RACE AT ST. JOHN!

TO THE "MIRAMICHI ADVANCE."

ST. JOHN, Oct. 2.

The race was started this forenoon.

Learig crossed the line at 10.16.15; Maple Leaf 4 seconds later. Marjorie did not start. The course was triangular, six miles, to be sailed over twice—12 miles in all.

It blew almost a gale from southwest. The sea was heavy outside.

Maple Leaf allowed Learig 23.86 seconds per knot.

Orders were to leave all bearings to starboard. Maple Leaf finished first round ahead 11.04 36, but turned the stake boat wrong, leaving it to port.

At 11.08.30 Learig turned a schooner anchored near, instead of the stake boat. When informed of the mistake Learig left the race. Maple Leaf went over the rest of the course alone.

Pilot H. Spears, on Learig, said one of the committee had told him the schooner was the turning point. A meeting of the officials is called for this afternoon to decide the race.

Currie, of Learig, says he would willingly race again.

A Caution! A warning!

If, on blowing the nose in the morning, lumps and flakes are discharged colored with blood, especially on one side, lose no time in applying a remedy. Use Chase's Catarrh Cure.

To all New Brunswick Sunday School Workers.

The 11th annual New Brunswick Provincial Sunday School Convention will open at Chatham on the evening of Oct. 15th and continue through the 16th and 17th. Mr. Wm. Reynolds the well known International Field Supt. and Mrs. W. F. Crafts President of the International Primary Union, are expected. Each S. S. is privileged to send two delegates and each county convention has elected five. It is desired that this shall be a convention of representative Sunday School workers—such as will take back to county, parish and school, its lessons for practice. County and parish officers, supts. and primary teachers will note this. The programme will contain conferences for benefit of these and their work.

Superintendents, elect your delegates without delay and send their names by postcard to D. P. McLachlan, Chatham. Do not neglect this. The committee at Chatham engage to do their best for delegates, but they ask that names reach them not later than Oct. 8th. While the local committee cannot guarantee homes to other than delegates, it would be profitable to any Christian workers to attend all these sessions.

REDUCED FARES.

At I. C. R. Stations, delegates and visitors will ask for convention certificate with first class single fare ticket. This certificate being signed by secretary in convention will ensure a free return.

On Canada Eastern Railway ask for ticket to convention. A certificate will be given you in convention which you will present to ticket agent on returning.

Albert and Central R'ys will give return for single to those going to convention.

Shore Line will issue their usual excursion tickets to delegates for Convention.

C. P. R. conditions are too complicted for us to offer anything but their ordinary return ticket.

St. John and Miramichi River boats, it is believed, will give return for single fare, but their reply is delayed.

All pastors are members without election. It is expected many of these will attend. Will they kindly forward their names also, to D. P. McLachlan so that homes may be provided.

All trains on roads will be met and delegates conducted to St Andrew's Presb. School Room for registration and direction to homes.

It is desired that all come with earnest prayerful purpose in this great work.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMITTEE.

The local committee at Chatham very naturally desire that the North Shore County Sunday School workers be well represented in the convention on 15th-17th.

Blackville Notes.

BLACKVILLE, Sept. 24th

Quite a number are taking advantage of the cheap excursion rates offered by C. E. Ry, to attend the St. John Exhibition.

The pulpit of St. Andrew's church was filled Sunday morning and evening by Mr. McNair, the student in charge of Doaktown and Boiestown Mission field. Rev Mr. Johnstone, the pastor, holding communion service in Doaktown.

Mr. Beverley Underhill of Blackville, and Miss Nellie Cripps of Chatham, were married in Holy Trinity Church, on Wednesday evening last, Rev. O'Dell Bailey officiating. The ceremony was a very quiet one, only a few friends being present Both the contracting parties are well and favorably know, and the ADVANCE correspondent joins with a host of their friends, in wishing them prosperity and happiness through life.

Oct. 1st 1895.

Mr. Albert Crawford is seriously ill with lung fever.

Mr. James H. Dale is confined to the house, through a badly cut foot.

On Wednesday evening, last, Blackville Division S. of T. elected the following officers for ensuing quarter:—

W. P. Bro John Corvey,
W. A. Sister Rebecca Astle.
R. S. Sister Sadie Steel.
A. R. S. Bro Jas McDonald.
F. S. Sister Mabel Steel.
Treas. Bro, James Bean.
Chap. Bro, M. Mersereau.
Con. Sister Clara Harris.
A. Con. Sister Esther Bean.
I. S. Sister M. McRae.
O. S. Bro, Jas McDougall.
P. W. P. Bro, Dale.
Organist Sister Sims.

Rev. O'Dell Bailey conducted a special harvest thanksgiving service, in Holy Trinity Church, on Sunday last. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion, with grains, flowers, etc., and presented a handsome appearance.

Master Edgar Wetmore, son of Mr. Jas. Wetmore, manager of Gibson & Co's store here, had a narrow escape from death one day last week. While attempting to board a moving train at the station, he missed his footing and fell between the platform and the cars. Luckily, he fell clear of the rails and escaped with nothing more serious than a bad fright.

There is very little interest manifested in the Assembly elections. People seem to take it for granted that there should be an election just about this time, and it is generally conceded that an opposition ticket would have very little support in this and upper parishes. The mass of the electors appear to be very well satisfied with the present government and do not care to risk a change.

Messrs. Stewart and Scofield, two of the candidates for municipal honors, addressed a meeting of the electors in the Hall, on Saturday evening last. Mr. Sullivan, the third candidate was not present. The meeting was a very orderly one, and party feeling did not seem to run very high. The candidates indulged quite freely in personalties, and one or two of the audience came in for a share of sarcasm. The principal object of the meeting seemed to be, to decide whether Mr. Stewart had ever gone to Councillor Scofield and asked him if there could not be a law passed that no one except himself (Stewart) should peddle meat in the parish. Mr. Stewart declared he was willing to take oath before any J. P. that he had never done so. Mr. Scofield, on the other hand, was equally willing to take oath that he had. The matter is still unsettled, although Mr. Stewart finally acknowledged that he might have said such a thing in joke.

Following is the result of the polling to-day:

D. G. Scofield	141
D. P. Sullivan	124
G. D. Stewart	65

Stewart made a plucky fight but got "snowed under."

Doaktown Notes.

Sept. 24, 1895.

The weather is all that could be wished for securing crops. Most farmers are through harvesting. Grain is a good turnout, and all crops are good but hay, which is about a third short.

The hornfly has reduced the output of milk. Consequently, all diary productions show a falling off.

Quite a number of farmers are raising fodder corn and every year increases the quantity. It gives good satisfaction and takes the place of turnips, being less costly to raise.

Mr. McGruar from St. John purchased and shipped a carload of cattle from this place to that city.

The weather has been too dry for most all purposes.

The river is full of logs, which cannot be moved until a rise of water takes place, the largest and finest logs being always behind. It is a pity they are where they are, as they are wanted at the mill. The last effort to drive them moved them about twenty miles and everything that men and horses could do was done, but the river fell again and they had to be left until next rise of the water. The rear of the drive is four miles above Doaktown. Another drive above the limits of the corporation will likely not come this fall unless an unusual quantity of rain comes.

Some parties are going in the woods already for Messrs. Robinson, Lynch, Richards and others.

Messrs. Freese, Swim and Doak get a good many orders for house building materials. Mr. Freese has just sent a car load of pine to Nova Scotia, chiefly for sashes and doors.

William Johnston and Miss Jocabina Story were married on Sunday last by Rev T. G. Johnstone.

Mr. Alexander Nelson was married to widdow Wilson of Ludlow last week.

Mr Benjaman Slipp has been visiting here from Houlton Me. He reports potatoes in that part of Maine a failure on account of rot, and cuyers are afraid to touch them now.

W. T. Harris Still to the Front

He again offers the piano or $150 in cash, on the 10th of next March; terms same as before. Buy your goods at his stores—one ticket with each dollar purchase. Come one, come all, come every time. You always get the worth of your money, and some one will get the piano or $150 free. Who will it be?

CARD TO ELECTORS.

To the Electors of the County of Northumberland:

Gentlemen:

The dissolution of the House of Assembly of this Province imposes upon you the duty of choosing your representatives to that body and we again offer ourselves as candidates for your suffrages.

During the last two terms of the legislature, in which we have had the honor of representing you, we have endeavored to perform our duties in that capacity to the best of our ability. In matters of useful and important legislation, and in the development and extension of necessary railway service, as well as by careful attention to the roads and bridges of the County, you will, we feel sure, acknowledge that we have been very mindful of the best interests of the people of the County of Northumberland.

It is not necessary to point out the particular matters, for the benefit of the County, in which we have interested ourselves. Doubtless we will have an opportunity of discussing them before polling day.

Our record is before you. It is for you to judge whether or not our course in the past will justify you in again committing your interests to our care. We cannot but feel that it will and, if so, we can only say that in the future, as in the past, we will use our best endeavors to promote the prosperity and well-being of the Province in general and of the County of Northumberland in particular.

Soliciting your support, we remain gentlemen,

Your obedient servants,

L. J. TWEEDIE,
JOHN P. BURCHILL,
JOHN O'BRIEN,
JAMES ROBINSON.
