COMMUNICATIONS.

To the Editor of the Chronicle.

Sir,—Having, with great disgust, perused, not only a one-sided, but a glaringly jesuitical representation of the transactions between the Hon. R. D. Wilmot and the Corporation of this City, I will be obliged by your allowing me to publish, in your columns, a few brief thoughts occurring to my mind while reading these observations of the Freeman newspaper.

We see here a small knot of Roman Catholics sitting in judgment on matters, settled, in the first place, by a most respectable body of Arbitrators, and in the next, by a special Jury in an open Court of Law, and the awards of both brought into question and condemned, as not coming up to their sublime sense of justice. And who compose this junta of men so exalted as to set at nought the judgments of our Arbitrators and Courts of Law, and to set up their own opinions as superior to both, and from which there is no appeal? Forsooth, some half dozen broken down priests, lawyers without clients, and doctors without patients, &c., all of whom discontented citizens and disaffected subjects. Risum teneatis amici. Every twist that jesuitism can suggest, every falsehood that ingenuity can render plausible, are pressed into the service of this junta conducting the Freeman, to destroy the character of a man to whom they bear the strongest antipathy, because he has dared to speak his mind on the character of Roman Catholicism. His political bias is only the apparent not the real cause of their hostility against him.

And have we not a right, from this self-constituted tribunal of so-called Catholics, to expect at least some small spark of christian charity, some trifling tinge of christian forgiveness, some twinge of christian fears of the guilt of calumny and detraction? But, I ask, where is to be found in all these personal attacks on Mr. Wilmot or Mr. Gray, any trace of those virtues that so distinguish the true from the false professor, the true from the false follower of the Son of God? Alas! alas! are these the men to lead the Provincial mind into correct modes of thinking and acting? Nay, are they not busily leading it into every false and evil way? It may be said that these are the usual arts of political partizanship. With every inclination to give scope to political disputations, which seldom keep within the bounds of moderation, I contend that the strictures in the Freeman, on what it affects to call its political opponents, exceed all just bounds, and are characterized by a malice, hatred, and revenge, palpable to every well-constituted mind, and which causes great wonder in my mind how that paper can get support among a christian people.

The feelings of partizanship can carry men far enough without their being conjoined to the hateful vices of hatred and revenge. I well recollect, at the late trial in Mr. Wilmot's case with the Trustees of the Corporation estate, Mr. Ritchie triumphantly stating to the Jury, that he would prove distinctly Mr. Wilmot, when Mayor, receiving many considerable sums of money from individuals, for which no credit had been given in his accounts; but lo and behold, after putting some two dozen persons into the witness-box, not one sixpence did he find wrong returned; and I shall never forget the blank visage Mr. Ritchie displayed, and the altered tone of his observations in consequence. He was completely nonplussed in short.

In Mr. Wilmot's retaining the balance of two hundred and odd pounds in his hands accruing from his receipts at the Mayor's office, he did just what every man of business does in parallel circumstances. He was bound, it is most true, to pay up his balances, just as every merchant is bound to pay his, but if the merchant has a counter claim, he retains the apparent balance till the counter claim is adjusted; and Mr. Wilmot in his case had an additional motive, as he well knew, if he had paid his balance and got a verdict for his losses against the Corporation, he would be paid by placing his name on the list of City creditors, and receiving five per cent. interest on his verdict.

Sir, your obedient servant,
Amicus Veritatis.

POPISH PROHIBITIONS.

Mr. Editor,—It is sometimes very desirable that young or illiterate Protestants should know what Books it would be well for them to read, in order that Popery might be viewed in its true and most hideous aspect.

As the Pope has condemned several excellent Works within the past few years, and prohibited them from being read by "the faithful," it must naturally be presumed that these productions tread upon the toes of his holiness, and have caused him great uneasiness and a vast amount of solicitude for the safety of popery, which he knows full well cannot bear the light of truth or argument. The works condemned of late as "heretical" by Pio Nono, consist of Macaulay's History of England, Pilgrim's Progress, Maria Monk, Gavazzi's Lectures, Kirwan's Letters, (as published in your paper,) Uncle Tom's Cabin, and last, but not least, the Protestant Bible!

Now, I will strongly recommend the reading of the Bible first, and at all times, and under any circumstances. The books above named, by human hands, can be perused with pleasure and profit, particularly that by "honest John Bunyan" and the history by Macaulay. All of these can be obtained at the bookstores of this city, and the Bible—best of all by far—at the Depository of the Bible Society, at a merely nominal price.

As papists profess to believe, and also pretend that they read the Douay Bible, I would respectfully ask, why papists have no Bible Society?

SENEX.

[The suggestions of our correspondent are valuable. With regard to his query, we have often heard it stated that even if the Roman Catholic Bible were read without notes, and believed, the system of popery would soon meet, what it merits, a death blow; but mixed up as it is, with popish and partisan annotations, and "the traditions of men," the work upon the whole is well calculated to uphold a corrupt and fallen worship.]

☞ Those of our subscribers who have not received their papers in proper season will please excuse. Some of our carriers are unfortunately down sick, and it is impossible to supply their places at once.

The Market has been well supplied during the week, and produce commanded high prices.

☞ The communication of "Ship Owner" came too late for insertion.

The Horse "Black Active," imported for the St. John Agricultural Society, was sold at auction on Tuesday last, for £78, subject to certain conditions. Dr. Peters was the purchaser.

In reply to the complaints from Flowers' Cove, Grand Lake, that the Chronicle is irregular in its arrival, we have to state that the papers for that section of the country are tied together, each under envelope, and sent regularly to the Gagetown Office. Will the postmaster at that place please look into the matter.

Mechanics, Inventors & Manufacturers.
$450 In Splendid Prizes.
VOLUME IX of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN commences on the 17th of September. It is chiefly devoted to the advancement of the interests of Mechanics, Inventors, Manufacturers, and Farmers, by the diffusion of useful knowledge upon these important branches. It is edited by men practically skilled in the arts and sciences, and is widely regarded as a sound and able journal. Nearly all the Valuable Patents which issue weekly from the PATENT OFFICE are ILLUSTRATED with ENGRAVINGS, and the CLAIMS of all PATENTS are published in its columns; thus making the paper a perfect SCIENTIFIC AND MECHANICAL ENCYCLOPEDIA for future as well as present reference. The SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is very extensively circulated—its circulation in the last Volume exceeding 18,000 copies per week. It is in form for binding; each volume contains Several Hundred Engravings and over FOUR HUNDRED PAGES of Reading Matter, with an index. The practical receipts alone are worth to any family much more than the subscription price.
The Publishers offer the following valuable prizes for the largest list of subscribers sent in by the 1st January next:—$100 will be given for the the largest list; $75 for the second; $50 for the third; $45 for the fourth; $40 for the 5th; $35 for the 6th; $30 for the 7th; $25 for the 8th; $20 for the 9th; $15 for the 10th; $10 for the 11th; and $5 for the 12th.
