Hon. William Pugsley and family arrived today, to spend the summer at Belle View.

Rothesay, June 18—There is only two weeks more before closing day in the public schools and already much preparation is going on to make the programme of exercises as interesting as possible. In Rothesay school the pupils have been encouraged to further effort by the offer of a prize from George Dobbins to be awarded to the pupil having the highest general average. Dr. McVey has also offered to give two prizes for different subjects in the school work.

The teacher and pupils in Gondola Point school propose to have a souvenir of the term in the shape of a group photograph and a city photographer made the trip for that purpose a few days ago.

Superintendent Gilliland was in the parish last week looking over the work that has been done upon the roads and small bridges that he sold some time ago. He says that the government appropriation for the parishes of Rothesay, Hampton and Upham was only $1,000 for the year and that makes but a small amount of work possible in any section. Next year all the taxes collected in Rothesay parish this year upon residents and non-residents will be in the hands of the county secretary and can be spent. In the meantime those who are growling about the lumpy, rutty and muddy stretches left in the wake of the road machine must grin and bear it.

A short time ago Captain Pitt asked instructions from the secretary of the municipal council which appointed him as ferryman as to what course he should pursue when the ferry signals, he was required by law to have on the shore, were destroyed. It was pointed out to him that the law provided a penalty of $8 and costs for each offence of this kind. The captain then replaced his signals and posted a notice to that effect but even since then the halyards of his flag pole have been cut twice. Now the captain is doing detective duty.

The steamer Marguerite, which was hauled up on the Rothesay yacht beach last fall and protected by the use of boards against the weather, was sold some time ago to John McGoldrick, St. John. The price was reasonable and it was understood that parties were thinking of getting the steamer for pleasure and picnic purposes. She was admirably fitted for such outings, having been thoroughly overhauled, and enlarged after she was taken from the shore at Captain Pitts the previous spring. Since the boat was hauled up at Rothesay the portable property in and surrounding her has been carried away by thieves. Lumber around her has disappeared and parts of the machinery have been removed. The brass fittings, steam valves, etc., were especially attractive. Now that Ald. McGoldrick has sold the boat for delivery in Halifax it is likely that some effort will be made to find out who has the light fingers. Reference to this sort of work has been made before and reflects somewhat upon the fair name of such a popular resort as Rothesay, but the truth is that fresh evidence of thieving is coming to light frequently. Only the other day Jack Pugsley's handsome little steam yacht Hiawatha was stripped of its cork seats and some other things necessary for the equipment of the boat. A yacht owner whose boat had been boarded when he was absent was very indignant Saturday and said it was not possible to leave anything around loose.

When mentioning the healthy octogenarians living upon the Gondola Point road a few days ago the name of the oldest of any of them was omitted, Mr. Starr, father-in-law of John Mitchell, is 88 years of age and is enjoying the pleasant days of this summer with all the keenness of a much younger man.

A crew of stone masons have begun work upon the cellar wall of Rupert Turnbull's house. The excavation is already made and the material excavated has been used filling hollows and making roads. The grove has been cleared of all trees except the white birches and now that the stumps have about disappeared some good idea can be had of the handsome site. The lumber and stone for the structure is accumulating rapidly and Mr. Henderson has all the men he can get at work. He is at the same time finishing the residence for Mr. Moore upon the college grounds. This, when completed, will be one of the handsomest and most inviting dwellings in Rothesay. The architect, G. Ernest Fairweather, designed with kindly consideration for comfort and convenience as well as beauty. The spacious veranda overlooks the extensive terrace
