FEDERAL GOVT. IS TOO AUTOCRATIC, IROQUOIS THINKS

Lieutenant Loft, Six Nations, Speaker, Tells Social Service Council Province Should Handle Indian Affairs—General W. S. Hughes Would Abolish Capital Punishment.

"If you care to take a vote you will find that not many of the units here are in favor of dancing, and when you talk about experiments, we have experimented all we can in regard to this sort of recreation," said Rev. E. H. Bean of Milverton, addressing the chair to defeat a recommendation for social dancing at the afternoon session of the Dominion Social Service Council, held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium on Wednesday. The greater part of the morning session had been devoted to the discussion of recreation for young people, and no settlement had been made in the matter. Some of the units represented were in favor of dancing under supervision, with other recreation on the program; others were against any dancing whatever.

Amusement Crazy.

Rev. Mr. Bean was most emphatic in protesting against dancing. He said: "This age is amusement crazy and amusement mad, and, instead of putting on the brakes in an endeavor to save some of these men, we are sanctioning it. All we need to add to the proposed program is the 'bunny-hug,' and then it will be complete. I would like to know what the difference is between social dancing and commercialized dancing."

After the committee had removed everything in the recommendation that seemed to end dancing, the recommendation was accepted as follows:

"Not because it is the least important, but because we are still in the experimental stage, we mention dancing as the last type of recreation in which members of both sexes may unite. We think it is wise to classify folk or gymnastic dancing and social dancing in separate groups. In many communities the former will be permitted where there is strong opposition to the latter. Unquestionably there is need for wise experimentation along this line. We cannot hold ourselves aloof from this most important and vital problem. Group games, simple forms of group athletics, and some of the other social and recreational types of activity previously suggested, should be intermingled with the dancing. Before the first number is announced a skillful and enthusiastic leader may introduce a new game, with the suggestion that it be tried for a few minutes. Care should be taken to avoid playing the game too long, and thus defeat the very purpose in mind. One of the best ways in which to begin co-operation in physical activities is by leaders of men's and women's organizations coming together for discussion of problems and actual practice on the gymnasium floor in some type of activity which can be entered into with profit to both organizations and individuals."

J. O. McCarthy said that the council must not fall into a negative position regarding the matter, but must take some positive action.

Report on Indian Affairs.

J. W. L. Forster gave the report on Indian affairs, which was adopted as a whole. Following this report, Lieut. Loft, a distinguished Indian of the Six Nations tribe, appealed for greater consideration of the Indians in the different parts of the Dominion. He said: "The Indian seems to be forgotten when the rest of the people are in a mad race for the almighty dollar. We want just a little more consideration for the red man, who has done so much to build up Ontario. We claim just as much compensation for out part in the war as the Canadians."

He was of the opinion that the Indians would receive more consideration if Indian affairs were under the direction of the Provincial instead of Federal Government. "There is too much autocracy about the Government. It should not allow any part of the community to live in distress and jeopardy. Tuberculosis is very prevalent among the Indians. What has been done for them? As a whole, the Indians are underfed.

"And one thing I maintain is that there must be education and practical training for the Indian. We want education, and then the franchise. We do not want the franchise before education. What is the franchise without education? Why, a most remarkable commodity, I am sure! (Laughter.) Why separate the roads between the Indian and the white man? It is like they do down in the Southern States with the negro and the white man." Lieut. Loft spoke in very good English, and was loudly applauded.

Abolish Death Penalty.

The report on penology was given by John Kidman of Montreal and Charles Fyfe. General W. S. Hughes, Dominion inspector of penitentiaries, also spoke briefly on this subject. He favored doing away with capital punishment and substituting life sentence.

The Wednesday evening session of the Social Service Council was largely attended by the public. Mrs. O'Sullivan of the Mercer Reformatory and General E. S. Hughes, Dominion inspector of penitentiaries, were the speakers of the evening. John Bridge presided and extended the convention a welcome from the chamber of commerce. Magistrate H. M. Graydon, who was to have addressed the meeting on "Criminology," was called to Toronto and was unable to attend.

Tells! About Mercer.

Mrs. O'Sullivan said she much regretted not hearing Magistrate Graydon and thought that he must be a good magistrate, sending so few Londoners to the Mercer Reformatory. Mrs. O'Sullivan gave an insight into the Mercer Institution. Of the 81 inmates who were all very young, all except 10 were sex offenders. These cases predominated, the speaker said, and the number was steadily increasing. This was due, Mrs. O'Sullivan said, to young children growing up, not knowing any moral law, and living in unfavorable environment.

"After 19 years dealing with young women, I know that special courts should prevail without any thought of the cost. Young women have to tell all the sordid circumstances of their cases before a prying public and newspaper reporters, and gossip of their cases spread, is printed in the papers, and they are branded. A feeling of charity should be aroused towards these women," said the speaker.

The chapels for bith Protestant and Catholic inmates, their training in domestic and factory work were all described.

"The girls rarely know how to work and their attempts at housework are absurd. I have always wanted the home to be in the country, where they could learn dairying and farm work, for I think this is the finest thing for them. It always has a good effect. I think that many girls go astray because they get into the wrong environment. Boarding houses are at a premium in Toronto, for I have tried to get them myself for girls. The lack of opportunity for employment for the girls is another problem. An employer does not always want to run the risk of taking a girl who has perhaps been committed for theft, or some other offence," the speaker said.

"We often find that girls after leaving the reformatory and who are trying to make good are often dragged down by other girls, whom they met in the reformatory. In the case of a London girl, we were obliged to ask the police to protect here from the efforts of others to lead her astray.

Mrs. O'Sullivan commented on the good work done by women policemen. She also lamented the lack of privacy from the outside world at the building on King street, Toronto.

General Hughes Speaks.

General Hughes, who has been connected with penitentiaries for the last 29 years, 22 of these in the Kingston institution, gave an interesting account of Kingston penitentiary from the time it was first built up to the present day.

"I daresay you have heard a great deal of criticism against the stone-pile work for prisoners, but we have been obliged to employ them at this work because of lack of other employment. Only when there is no other is this work given them. Tailoring, shoemaking, stone-cutting, pipe-fitting, engineering and the machinist trades are all taught at Kingston. The suit I have on is an advertisement of the tailoring done there," said the speaker. "Three quarters of the inmates—you will notice that we do not call them convicts—are graduates from reformatories. We seldom get first offenders there. The treatment, if they behave well, is of the best. They have good libraries, writing privileges, a wonderful hospital. Each man eats his meals in his own cell, and keeps his own dishes, knife and fork, and no man suffering from disease is allowed to drink from the same utensils as the other inmates."

Adenoids Cause Crime.

As a preventative for crime, General Hughes advocated that children should be periodically examined by a good physician and adenoids and tonsils removed when necessary. "We must find out the reason for a man's crime and make it worth while for him not to repeat it again.

"When an inmate leaves our institution, no matter who he is, he always has one friend. That friend is the Salvation Army." The speaker paid a great tribute to the Salvation Army for its work among this class. No matter at what hour of day or night you communicate with them to aid a prisoner's family, they get there and do the work, and then report. He cited several instances where the Salvation Army had saved human life by being on hand at the minute required. General Hughes gave the record of one man who had a mania for making love, and was known to have married 52 women. He proved to the convention that such an institution as the one at Kingston can be a success financially and also turn crooked, depraved men into good citizens.

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. NEW AGREEMENT WITH CITY WILL DATE FROM 1918

County Councillors Will Not Risk Any Further Litigation.

After hearing much advice and explanation on the part of J. C. Elliott, county solicitor, the Middlesex County Council last night decided that the award of the committee hearing the city-county dispute as to the maintenance of the jail and courthouse, should be for five years, dating from January 1, 1918. A bylaw to this effect will be passed. It was argued that if the award dated from this year, there would probably be a lawsuit over the amount which the county alleges the city has not paid from January 1, 1918, to the present date.

Inspector P. J. Thompson of Middlesex reported that in his inspectorate during 1920, a total of $162,526.51 was expended for educational purposes. This included repayment of loans and debentures. The average cost per pupil was $32.20. The average attendance was 3.4 per cent of every municipality. There were 4,110 pupils in East Middlesex.

A bill from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for $92 for removing poles on a road near Granton which had been widened was laid over. It was said that the county authorities did not order the removal, and therefore should not pay.

Referred to Committees.

A request of the Soldiers' Aid Commission for a grant of $1,500 was referred to the finance committee. Secretary Ed Lance, Ald. F. E. Harley, Mrs. A. T. Edwards, Rev. Harry Ashby, George Copeland and James Gray told of the great need for funds for the coming year. Last year the amount asked was $1,000. Councillor W. E. Grieves, representative to the commission, indorsed the request. The commission estimated that it would receive a total grant of $11,040 this year, itemized as follows: Provincial Government, $5,540; city, $4,000; county, $1,500.

Request for a grant of $12,000 for the expenses and salaries of four rural school nurses in the county this year was referred to the educational committee, on the motion of M. F. Clatworthy, seconded by W. J. McFalls. Advocates of the plan were of the opinion that if city children could have such care taken of them the county pupils should. Mrs. Peter McArthur of Ekfrid supported the plan.

E. Harrison of Parkhill, who is no longer a member of the council, was instructed to continue to serve on the special collegiate committee. County Clerk John Stuart said that while in Toronto recently he interviewed the minister of education, and was told that the situation here was a provincial-wide one.

Inspector H. D. Johnston of West Middlesex reported that during 1920 the sum of $125,100.84 was spent for educational purposes in his inspectorate, an increase over 1919 of $24,410.84. The total receipts were $156,246.11. The increase expenditure was accounted for chiefly by increases in salary and in the price of fuel. The average increased cost per room was $1,000. At present three teachers holding first-class certificates and 105 holding second-class certificates were employed. Eight were males and the rest females.

Trustees Appointed.

It was decided that bylaws be passed appointing the following trustees of high schools in the various places mentioned for a period of three years: James Sadlier, Strathroy; John Bilton, Wardsville; J. Thomson, Glencoe; Calvin A. Elson, Parkhill.

A motion that an examination centre be established at the Coldstream continuation school and that Elsie Kibbler be the examiner carried.

It was decided to send a copy of a resolution that the Dominion Government keep open the immigration office here in charge of John Riggs, as it had been such a benefit to the farmers, to the Government.

A request of the Navy League for a grant of $5,000 was referred to the finance committee.

A. Holman, reeve of Wardsville, was the runner up of the wardenship instead of the other councillor who was mentioned as being second in the running. He polled thirteen votes in the final ballot, and his opponent the, the new warden, Alton Ryckman, secured seventeen. One nominee did not enter the contest and two others dropped out before the final ballot was taken.

SAYS LONDON PAID LESS THAN ESTIMATE

Hydro Engineer Says $1,234,000 Not Fair Cost Estimate of L. & P. S. R.

TORONTO, Jan. 26.—W. J. Hewson, engineer of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, testifying again today before the royal commission in the investigation of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission's projected radial railway lines, would not admit suggestions made by R. S. Robertson, counsel for anti-radial railway municipalities that the hydro commission's estimates as to the earning capacity of some of the lines were too sanguine. He denied a statement made by Mr. Robertson that the original estimates on the London and Port Stanley Railway line for the electrification thereof had been far below the actual cost.

Mr. Hewson said he had helped with the electrification of the London and Port Stanley line. He knew that the bylaw on which the vote was taken had called for an outlay of $700,000. After the electrification was complete he had made a comparison between the actual cost and the estimates, and had found the estimates well within the cost, he said.

Mr. Robertson had it figured out that the cost had been $1,234,000, instead of the $700,000 voted upon, but Mr. Hewson could not see that this was quite fair, as the additional outlay took in the purchase of extra equipment, which had been necessitated by the growth of traffic. Such a condition, he admitted, would be certain to take place on any railway, but the hydro had made provision for that. There was a further fact that when traffic forced the extension of equipment there would be revenue above the estimates.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Grey, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this oldtime recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the grey hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

THE IDEAL WOMAN

The great Napoleon once said: "My ideal woman is not the beautiful-featured society belle, whose physician tries in vain to keep her in repair, but the matron who reaches middle age in complete preservation,—that woman is rendered beautiful by perfect health."

To attain such health in middle life a woman must guard against those ills which drag her down and produce nervousness, headache, backaches, sleeplessness, and "the blues." The standard remedy for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for forty-five years has been restoring women to health and strength. b

ASSISTANT PASTOR AND SECRETARY FOR ST. ANDREW'S

Full Power To Make Appointments Given To Church Session.

Full power to appoint an assistant minister and also a congregational secretary was given to the session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church by a congregational meeting last night. The original report of the board of management only recommended the appointment of a man to interest himself in work among the young people of the church. David Ross suggested that the appointment of an assistant for all the church work would be advisable, and also recommended the appointment of the secretary who could relieve the minister and assistant of all clerical duties. This latter appointment will not overlap the work already being done by R. J. Donaghy as clerk of the board of management.

Eight new members of that body were elected. Usually only six are chosen, the membership of twelve being made up by six members elected the previous year. Recently two of the members took up other work in connection with the church, and their services were no longer available on the board, leaving eight vacancies. A. E. Silverwood, J. S. Brown, G. M. Anderson, R. K. McIntosh, A. Robinson and J. A. Cairncross were elected last night for a two-year term. Robert Anderson and Frank Ashplant were elected for one year. The other members are J. H. Laughton, A. Gillean, Dr. E. P. Smith and J. Birnie Smith.

Splendid Liberality.

John S. Brown presided and presented the report of the board, congratulating the congregation on their splendid liberality during the year. In addition to making it possible to carry on the ordinary work of the church they enabled the board to make extensive repairs to church property. They subscribed $30,000 to the Forward Movement, half of which has been paid.

The budget of $18,000 approved last autumn has practically been underwritten. The treasurer's report for the past year showed a surplus of $960.14.

Rev. D. C. McGregor expressed his thanks for the support given him throughout the year. The appreciation of the congregation for the services of the minister was expressed through T. H. Purdom, K.C.
