KNOCKER'S HAMMER BURNED AT DINNER LAST EVENING

Mayor Frink.

Mayor Frink was the next speaker. After paying a tribute to the board, he expressed the opinion that the men who had initiated the movement would carry it forward to success. He noted that the board expressed a desire for co-operation with the common council. During his civic experience there had been some antagonism between the common council and the board of trade. This was, he thought, because the council of the board of trade had sometimes set out to direct the common council. If this policy was continued, there would not be harmony between the common council and the board. Sometimes the members of the common council were in closer touch with public affairs than members of the board.

But there would be every opportunity for co-operation if the board approached the council in the right spirit; if it studied the facts of a situation, and setting such facts before the city council said: "That is our view of the situation, we commend it to your consideration."

St. John the Coming City.

His worship said that in recent visits to other parts of the province he had noted a change in the attitude to this city. Once it had been the habit for the small towns to poke fun at St. John, now it was recognized that we were the coming city, and that we were doing things.

Continuing, he spoke of the steps taken by the city to equip St. John with harbor facilities, and of the skepticism with which the attempt to attract the winter traffic here was regarded in some quarters, even by newspapers.

He referred to the excitement caused by the appearance of the first winter port steamer of 2,000 tons, and as illustrating our progress, remarked that it was now regarded as commonplace to see in port six or seven vessels ranging from 5,000 to 10,000 tons.

In conclusion his worship made an eloquent reference to the progress of Canada as a whole since 1867, and declared his conviction that with the continued growth of Canada, St. John as its winter vestibule would attain an increasing importance and prosperity.

At the conclusion of the mayor's speech there was still a good deal of the hammer in evidence, and as the mayor sat down amid loud applause, several prominent citizens with slow matches in hand tried to complete the holocaust of the hammer. "It's not an easy matter to get rid of the knocker," commented certain of the audience.

The president then called upon the publicity expert to explain the aims and objects of the revivified Board of Trade, and the methods by which the results contemplated might be achieved.

The Publicity Expert.

Mr. Chase said the dinner was the second largest in his experience of commercial organization work. The largest dinner was in New York. Considering this he thought St. John was going some. He felt it a great privilege to be in Canada, because its people respected the law.

At one time Boards of Trade were resolution passing clubs. They met, discussed questions, and passed resolutions largely for the purpose of knocking. This was due to the fact that the officers were left to run the boards and the officers usually had an axe to grind.

Today commercial organizations were powerful factors in the life of a community. They had one purpose, the development of their community and country. They saw the need of taking an interest in politics and all departments of commercial life. Boards of Trade grouped together the men who were at the helm of the business interests of a community.

Boards of Trade had several functions to perform. They should have an industrial department to study the needs of local industries and the conditions of attracting new industries. Such departments often organized a guarantee fund to loan credit to small industries with capacity for expansion. Many industries in the city only needed credit to expand. Their proprietors saw chances of expansion, but could not take advantage of them without credit. In most cities where the Boards of Trade had organized a guarantee fund for such industries there had never been a call upon the fund. It was not capital so much as credit that was needed. In no case that he knew of had industries so favored failed to make good. None of the subscribers to the guarantee fund had lost money. But for many cities the existence of this guarantee fund had meant a great development of industries, and a great increase in the number of workers on wages.

Increase the Pay Rolls.

Continuing Mr. Chase said: The increasing of pay rolls is the one thing essential to the general success. If you want to bring in more people you have got to bring in new industries for them to work in. More industries and more people will bring more money, not only to real estate men, but to the grocer, the minister, and the undertaker—all classes of business men.

A commercial organization, he said, should attempt to procure for its city the manufactures it was adapted to; it would not do to bring in industries for which you could not provide the kind of labor needed, or the raw material.

Attracting New Industries.

Continuing the speaker said that St. John by reason of its geographical location and transport facilities had exceptional advantages as a place for manufactures, and its people should put their shoulders to the wheel and endeavor to realize their great opportunities.

Among the ways to attract new industries was to advertise in trade journals, and send out industrial commissioners to interview manufacturers contemplating a change in site.

The city was bound to grow, but concerted effort would make it grow better. A city should have good schools, efficient philanthropic institutions and strong industries. It is not desirable to bring in industries that employ labor at cheap wages; they brought in an undesirable class of people. It does not pay to advertise that you have hell within your city limits. Money invested in Boards of Trade was wisely spent; investigation by the United States Chamber of Commerce showed this.

Continuing the speaker gave some examples of the success in commercial organization work undertaken elsewhere. One city of 13,000 raised a large fund, and in eight months the city secured a big gas plant, costing $750,000, and having a big pay roll. In St. Paul, Minnesota, the Board of Trade in three days secured 1,500 members at $50 a year. All modern organizations asked their members to make a sufficient investment to enlist personal interest. In the large cities most commercial organizations needed membership dues of $50, and high dues were even more necessary in smaller cities.

Edmonton had recently raised a large sum and had set out to double its population and triple its taxable property in three years.

The Membership Campaign.

The speaker then outlined the plans for the membership campaign, saying that the committees to be organized were expected to devote 2 1-2 hours a day for 3 days to the work of seeking new members. One hundred and fifty new members were wanted. The council of the Board of Trade wanted at least 1,500 members to subscribe $25 a year.

"Help one another is the proper plan," said a B. of T. booster to a St. John man. "No town was ever by individual effort stirred."

This movement has not been started merely for the development of business and trade, but to promote the interest of the men of the city, because men are the real basis of a city's prosperity.

At the conclusion of Mr. Chase's address a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade and the citizens' committee was held, at which the following committee to boost the membership were appointed:

You Should Enjoy Your Meals

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? The answer is in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 3,000 grains of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach?

You Can Eat With the Appetite of a Lusty Youngster, if You Help Your Stomach.

Science nowadays can digest food without having it enter the stomach at all. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and digest thoroughly and well, anything and everything you eat.

The burning question to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is in any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work, and you suffer from eructations, bloat, brash, fermentation, billousness, sour stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat all you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye, and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

Get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store.

MEXICAN GUN RUNNER CAUGHT RED HANDED BY NEW YORK POLICE

New York, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Miguel Garza Aldape, a civil engineer of Chihuahua, Mexico, said to be a prominent Mexican revolutionist, was arrested here late today by an agent of the department of justice on the charge of violating the neutrality laws by shipping arms into Mexico over the Texas border. Aldape was indicted with others in San Antonio, Texas on Jan. 9.

All the alleged conspirators in a plot to aid the revolution against the Madero government, were arrested at San Antonio excepting Aldape, who was believed to have come east to obtain funds and assemble more military stores for the insurgents. As information was received that the fugitive would come to this city, a search was instituted. Aldape's boarding place was found, and when he entered the general post office he was arrested.

Aldape was arraigned before Judge Mayer of the federal district court, who directed that he be locked up for the night in a police station. He will be arraigned tomorrow before U. S. commissioner Shields for examination in proceedings for removal to Texas.

Hurrah, No More Lame Backs!

This Case Proves that the Best and Strongest Liniment Ever Made is Nerviline.

When it comes to determining the real merit of a medicine, no weight of evidence is more convincing than the straightforward statement of some reliable and well-known person who has been cured. For this reason we print the verbatim statement of Juan E. Powell, written from his home in Carleton. "I am a strong powerful man, six feet tall, and weigh nearly two hundred. I have been accustomed all my life to lift great weights, but one day I overdid it, and wrenched my back badly. Every tendon and muscle was sore. To stoop or bend was agony. I had a whole bottle of Nerviline rubbed on in one day, and by night I was well again. I know of no liniment possessing one-half the penetration and painsubduing properties of Nerviline. I urge its use strongly as an invaluable liniment and household cure for all minor ailments, such as strains, sprains, swellings, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, and muscular pains."

No better medicine for curing pain was ever put in a bottle than Nerviline—rub it on and rub it in—that rubs out all aches pains, and soreness. Large family size, 50c., trial size, 25c. all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co. Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.
