DRUGLESS MEN MAY PROTEST BOARD'S ORDER

Are Ordered Quarantined If They Attend Communicable Disease Cases.

CASTLE CARTER

Only Way To Stop Dr. Macfie Saving Life in Epidemic, He Says.

Local drugless healers of all kinds have been aroused by the latest order of the Provincial Board of Health by which they will be quarantined if they treat cases of communicable disease. Some form of official protest will be considered at a convention to be held here in September. In the meantime nothing is likely to be said about it unless an instance arises in which the order is applied. It is then possible that all drugless healers will take it up as a test case and will fight it to a finish.

Chiropractors and osteopaths interviewed by The Advertiser all declared that the order was unwarranted and that the precautions taken by drugless healers when treating communicable diseases were identical with and quite as thorough as those employed by the medical profession.

Little Difference.

Dr. A. W. MacFie, one of the best known local chiropractors, said that the order would make little difference to him personally. He did not seek a practice of diseases of that character, he stated, although he had treated them successfully and in each instance had reported them, as required, to the local health authorities. Lately he refused to treat two cases of diphtheria.

"The only thing I fear is that this may be the thin edge of the wedge," he stated. "The next step may be to forbid us to treat cases of influenza. If that is done I shall defy them. If there is another influenza epidemic, and I can do anything to save human life I certainly shall do it. The only way they can stop me is by putting me in Castle Carter."

Dr. MacFie added that while drugless physicians did not subscribe to the theory of anti-toxins and vaccines, they did accept the general theories in regard to germs. That being the case they observed every known precaution to prevent themselves becoming carriers of germs from one patient to another.

Busy Otherwise.

Dr. H. V. Caton, an osteopath, and president of the Drugless Physicians' Association of Canada, expressed the opinion that the order would cause little trouble as the drugless healers as a rule did not treat cases of communicable disease. "I have treated them successfully myself, but generally we are busy enough with other cases," he said.

Dr. E. S. Detwiler, an osteopath, said the order was only another evidence of the petty persecution to which the drugless physicians were being submitted. He did not know if it would affect them much, but believed that if the order was applied it would be contested for the purpose of establishing a precedent. From personal experience he believed the average drugless physician to be three times as careful in regard to measures for preventing the spreading of disease as were members of the medical profession.

Board's Order.

Instructions to quarantine osteopaths, chiropractors and other drugless healers who have been in attendance on cases of communicable disease, were received Saturday from the Provincial Board of Health by Dr. W. S. Downham, local medical officer of health.

The letter claims that these classes of doctors have been attending cases of a communicable nature, and asserts that the danger of the practice is apparent. "For example, every physician knows that the diphtheria mortality is directly in proportion to the delay in using diphtheria anti-toxin and other recognized plans of treatment, none of which are used by the persons referred to."

"Your are therefore advised," the order continues, "where you find unlicensed persons attending communicable diseases, to take steps to have these parties quarantined as contacts as laid down in the regulations."

None of the drugless healers in London have dealt with communicable diseases lately, but in the past a few have reported them to the Institute of Public Health, Dr. Downham stated.

Englishmen Hold Outing Despite Interference of J. Pluvius on Saturday

His Barrage of Rain Failed To Dislodge Them From Picnic Grounds—Baby Show Feature—Mysterious English Johnnie Sought, But Not Found.

Jupiter Pluvius was very unkind to over 800 member and friends of the St. George's Society, who had one of the largest outings in the history of the society Saturday afternoon at the city park. Until 4 o'clock the races and other sports of the society were being run off with the keenest interest and then Jupiter Pluvius made his appearance and spoiled the day for the picnickers. However, they went on with their sports till the rain fell so heavily that it was almost impossible to continue the sports. At the time the rain began to fall the baby show was only about half over and mothers, judges and all watchers retreated to the pavilion, where it was continued.

Throughout the afternoon, even when the rain was falling the heaviest, every person was looking for "The Mysterious English Johnnie." Only those over 18 years were eligible, but the children made it their business to see if they could find the man and win the $5 prize. Up to 5 o'clock he had not been found, but from the talk of three officers who knew him, he had some very narrow escapes.

Babies Rulers.

As at most outings, the babies were the rulers. Between 50 and 75 were entered, and the judges, Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.P.P., Mrs. Millar and Mrs. Beswick, had the hardest job of the day picking the winners. Mrs. W. M. Bartlett of the Pipe Line road and her baby were proclaimed the best-looking.

The tug-of-war between St. George's Society, captained by Charles Hollins, and the Sons of England, with F. Newton at its head, was expected to be fast, but was not staged because rain fell before its turn came. However, these two teams are expected to pull against each other in the near future for the prize.

Eleven events, including the baby show, were the only ones on the program that were run off. When the officers saw that the rain was evidently going to continue for some time they deemed it wise to start the supper. This probably eased the children's minds, for they thought that the supper was to have been eaten on the grounds in front of the pavilion.

Dancing.

The dancing on the green, which was to have been held in the evening, was not held. The G. W. V. A. band rendered music throughout the whole afternoon, even while it was raining.

Following are the names of the officers who were in charge of outing:

Chairman, Charles Hollins; first vice-chairman, F. Newton; second vice-chairman, Mrs. Burt; secretary, Fred Chappell; treasurer, S. R. Manness.

Mrs. MacLean's twins of Byron have won several prizes at picnics this year and the judges have had no difficulty whatever in declaring them the winners.

GLOBE CASKET CO. HOLDS ITS OUTING

Run Off All Events Before Rain Comes—Baseball Played.

The employees of the Globe Casket Company to the number of about 300 held their annual outing at the west end of Springbank Park. A good sports program had been prepared by the committee in charge, and practically all the events had been contested before the rainstorm.

The baseball game between two picked teams captained by E. Backus and A. Housego was a well-contested one, resulting in a win for the nine under the leadership of Mr. Backus by a score of 9 to 8.

The sports:

The mystery man, Fred Roden, was located by Miss A. Elgie, while Mrs. Priddle was awarded the prize for the best guess at the number of beans in a pint jar. T. Heard was the lucky winner of the five-dollar gold piece in the drawing contest.

EITHER CHILDREN OF DARKNESS OR LIGHT

To Be Latter Must Be in Constant Communion With Christ.

"We are either the children of darkness o rthe children of light," said Rev. J. Edmunds at the evening service in St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday, when he took for his text "His Precious Blood Cleanseth Us." Mr. Edmunds quoted authors of various hymns in the Anglican Church hymnbooks, who had taken this theme.

"The blood of Christ means everything to the soul, and without his blood we are in the dark, and children of darkness cannot communicate with him while in the dark. Consequently, to be children of light we must be in constant communion with Christ and claim his blood for our salvation, said Mr. Edmunds.

If chapters relating to the Atonement, to the shedding of Christ's blood, were taken from the Bible, it would be without life. The number of sinners who have been saved within their dying hour by being told of Christ shedding His blood for them is countless. The story of the cross is one that is always new and one that refreshes the weary pilgrim and tells of salvation for the sinner.

MINISTER GIVES FACTS TO PUBLIC

Tells of Wonderful Change Tanlac Brought in His Wife's Condition.

Yet another minister of religion to give his unqualified indorsement to Tanlac as a medicine of remarkable merit, is the Rev. John Zaetschky, pastor of the Lutheran Church, Ohio Synod, Calgary, Alberta, who resides at 1920, 5½ street W., in a statement made at the Liggett-Findlay Drug Store recently.

"For nine years my wife suffered from dropsy," he said, "and for the past five years had been in a very bad state of health. Her appetite was very poor, and although she ate but very little she always had a full feeling after meals. She had a drowsy feeling all the time from which nothing could arouse her, and felt tired both mentally and physically. She often complained of acute pains across the back which were so bad, that she had to let her work go entirely and at night her sleep was very disturbed. Her nervous system became so shattered that the least thing would alarm her, and she was getting worse year by year. She tried all kinds of treatments and even went to the hospital on several occasions, but always failed to get more than temporary relief.

"We had read much about the merits of Tanlac and finally I bought a bottle. It seemed to do my wife good, and so I continued with it. She has now taken three bottles in all, and a decided change for the better has been the result. She now sleeps the whole night through and has lost that tired, drowsy feeling. She is so much improved that she can now do her housework with perfect ease, and the pains in her back have disappeared entirely. I would not go so far as to say that she is entirely relieved of the dropsy, but it does not bother her half so much as it did, and she has not been so well for many years past. Tanlac has helped her wonderfully and we wouldn't be without it on any account. It is certainly a splendid medicine, and I take pleasure in recommending it."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

TYPOS MAKE BRAVE ATTEMPT TO CARRY OUT THEIR PROGRAM

Dispersed by Rain—Some of Rainbow Division Eat After Storm.

Members of the London Typographical Union journeyed to Springbank with their wives and families at 2:30 p.m. Saturday to hold the annual picnic. A record number was in attendance, but like all other picnic parties at Springbank on Saturday, the rain dispersed the crowd in a much quicker manner than that in which they arrived.

The program of races, which was an unusually large one, was just starting when the storm came and a grand scramble was made for the pavilion, street cars or any other place of shelter obtainable. In the scramble all sorts of good things were left behind on the picnic tables, which were later collected by a few remaining members of the party, who held a late tea in the pavilion. However, the rain did not spoil the fun. A baseball game was held, in which the London Free Press typos caried off the laurels, winning by a score of 5 to 3. Fred Chambers proved himself an expert batman for The Advertiser team.

Sports.

The race results were as follows:

Boys, 6 and under—Jack Bradford, Jack Quick, Ray Elliott.

Girls, 7 to 10—Myrtle McFarlane, Anna Cahill, Georgina Effner and Louise Fagan (tie).

Boys, 7 to 10—Edward Campbell, Almond Cahill, Kenneth Wanless.

Apprentices' race—Mel Parkinson, Harold Smith.

Girls, 10 to 14—Arlie Cook, Laura Purcell.

Boys 10 to 14—Leonard Maynard, Kenneth Wanless.

Single ladies—Edith Purcell, Dorothy Cahill and Mildred Wonnacott tie.

Married ladies—Mrs. F. Tuttle, Mrs. Holloway.

Girls throwing ball—Miss Dorothy Cahill.

CHRISTIAN LIFE IS LIVED ON HILLSIDE

Only After Ceaseless Conflict Is Good Character Won, Says Minister.

"The Struggle Upward," was the subject of Rev. D. C. MacGregor's sermon at St. Andrew's Church Sunday evening. The text was taken from Psalms 24:1, "Who Shall Ascend the Hill of the Lord."

"The 24th Psalm was probably sung as the Ark of the Covenant was being brought to Mount Zion, Jerusalem," he said. "The ark was the symbol of God's presence with his people. To ascend the hill of the Lord meant to go up with the presence of Jehovah.

"Centuries later Jesus taught that God might be worshipped anywhere. 'Neither in this mountain nor yet at Jerusalem shall men worship the Father.' God is present everywhere.

"While this is true it is also true that men cannot reach God without a ceaseless struggle upward. The Christian life is not lived on a level plain, but on a hillside. Character depends on the direction in which one is traveling, whether he is going upward toward what is noble and pure and good, or downward toward shame and contempt.

"A good character is only won through a ceaseless conflict with the fires of evil which drag downward. Even what appears to be the most trival slip must be guarded against, for once started downward it is difficult to stop, and utter ruin may result. When Dante begins to make the real ascent to Paradise he has to mount three steps at the beginning of the journey.

"There is the first step of white marble. This is the symbol of purity. The pilgrim must be clean. He must be cleansed of unworthy desire, of defiling affections, of an unclean conscience. Only God can purify us. Our prayers should be: 'Create in me a clean heart O God.'

"The second step is rough and broken. It is a broken and contrite heart. This is penitence. Only after our cleaning do we understand the real nature of our sin. Only then are we truly penitent.

"The third step is one of flaming red porphyry. That is the glow of love in the heart.

"We love him because he first loved us. Only those who thus began and who overcame every obstacle can hope to ascend the hill of the Lord and attain real nobility of character."
