ELGIN.

SATURDAY, June 22.— Mr. John Delacy has lost a little girl, 11 years old, from the effects of whooping cough. He has the sympathy of the whole community.

Mr. J. Flemming is improving his premises with a drilled well. While blasting out a large rock for the convenience of people coming to his shop, he came upon a beautiful bed of granite. Specimens have been sent to Ottawa, Kingston, and Brockville to be polished. If it turns out as good as expected, there may be untold wealth in our vicinity. Who knows?

Mr. H. Laishley has a gang of men removing an old building which has been an eyesore to himself and his neighbors for years.

Another arrival in town. It is at M. Kirst's, and it is a boy.

Mr. H. C. Chisholm has been painting a number of signs for our business men. The artistic way in which they are done is a credit to him.

Miss Gertie McGhie has gone to Belleville to visit friends.

Misses Hattie and Flossie Pennock have gone to Lyn and Brockville on a visit.

LYN.

SATURDAY, June 22.—The fine weather of this week has brought on the strawberry crop very rapidly. The yield promises to be very heavy, and the appearance of the fruit is magnificent. The Indian pickers have come, and the next two weeks will be busy ones.

Mr. Wm. Bullock has been on a trip through the States of Pennsylvania and New York. He reports a pleasant time.

The License Commissioners have seen fit to grant in Lyn the only license in the township, in the face of the petition of 49 "fanatics" against it. As soon as the granting of the license became known the old stagers began to fall into line, and old time scenes, so common before the passage of the Scott Act, are again frequently witnessed. The idiotic stare, boisterous hilarity and reeling stupidity were all to be seen at one time yesterday. But it is all right and according to Act of Parliament. But will the sighs and tears of the wives, sisters and mothers be the less bitter? Let them weep—it is their privilege; but they must be careful not to do anything to stay the cause of their tears, or they will overstep the bounds of propriety and be accused of fanaticism! Strange it is that men will pray on Sunday, "Lead us not into temptation," and on Monday encourage the opening of a public bar to tempt the weak. Is such christianity real or burlesque?

WESTPORT.

SATURDAY, June 22.—Notwithstanding the recent heavy rains, which have partially destroyed grain on low lands, our crops are generally in splendid condition, and show every indication of a large yield.

The contractors of the new Methodist Church, Messrs. Taggart & Bilton, are pushing the work in a very methodical and workmanlike manner. The door and window frames have been placed in position, and the bricklaying is progressing well

Mr. D. R. DeWolfe's new brick house is fast nearing completion, and he expects to move into it early in July.

The number of new buildings going up, and the number of lots being sold, are the best proofs that Westport is a live village, and that in the near future it is destined to be a place of no small importance. Some of the reasons that may be given are that those who have lots and good building sites in their possession do not hold them at more than their value, that our citizens have the welfare of the place at heart, and that few places of the size of Westport have as many industries booming.

Manager Hervey, of the B. & W., with a party of pleasure seekers, spent a few days here last week, enjoying the scenery of our lakes.

The C. M. B. A. Society, of Westport, have chartered the steamer John Haggart for an excursion to Smith's Falls on the 25th.

We expect an excursion over the B. & W. on Dominion Day.

Mr. A. Vanderhoof, one of our oldest residents, who had known this district for half a century, died on Friday, the 21st.

BROCKVILLE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The Annual Spring Meeting a Big Success, although the attendance of farmers was small.

On Thursday afternoon last, the Farmers' Institute for the Brockville Electoral District met in the Court House, Brockville. Owing to the train on which Prof. Robertson was to arrive being late, it was nearly half past four before the meeting was called to order by President Neilson. The majority of those present were members of the Counties' Council; salesmen who were in town attending the Dairymen's Board of Trade, and a very small sprinkling of farmers, Greenbush and Lyn having the largest representation. As the hour of starting was late it was decided to dispense with all formalities and give the time to Prof. Robertson.

The Professor's remarks were directed principally to the cheese makers present although the farmers came in for a share of practical advice as to the proper management of a cow to ensure the production of good milk. The Professor contended that it was absolutely necessary, in order to make good cheese, that great care should be observed in getting the milk to the factory in proper condition. A large diagram of a cow's udder was placed in convenient position, from which the professor explained the manner in which the cow produced her milk. He urged the utmost care in handling a cow while milking, and showed how and why a cow held up her milk. He urged the importance of giving a cow pure water as the water came out in the milk in the same condition as taken into the cow's stomach. Advised farmers to feed bran and plenty of it; prefered dry to wet bran for feeding He would as soon feed a cow on whey as raw potatoes; anyway, one bushel of any kind of roots boiled was better for a cow than two raw. He urged cheese makers to see that the rennet was thoroughly mixed with the milk in the vat, and said that the vat should be placed where there would be no jarring while the milk was coagulating.

In reply to Thos. Kerr, Greenbush, the professor said that a cow should not be given water at once after dry bran.

Jas. Bissell, Algorquin, asked if shorts were not preferable to bran for feeding. The professor thought not.

Rich. G. Murphy, Elgin, asked if cows should be fed bran at any particular time in the day, morning, or evening. The professor thought it made no difference.

Mr. Bissell had had considerable experience in feeding bran and always got the best results from feeding it dry. He asked if green corn was a good food for cows in summer. The professor thought not. He prefered peas cut and fed green, to corn, but believed that five cents' worth of ensilage was worth twenty-five cents' worth of hay for making milk.

Mr. R. M. Brown, Athens, asked if it would be a good and safe plan to have a silo constructed with trap door underneath to let the ensilage down into the cow stable. The professor said it was better to have the feed hole door made in sections and to always feed from the top of silo.

The evening session was held in the Opera House, which at 8 o'clock was crowded by an interested audience. The portly and genial Mayor presided, with his usual tact. The sombre character of the bulk of the proceedings was relieved by a programme of music given by Brockville talent, which included, besides a fine orchestra, Miss Mary Smart, Miss Yates and Messrs Hutchison, Smart, Bryant and Wright, vocalists, and Master Archie McCaw, cornetist.

In his opening remarks the chairman said that $1,200,000 came into this district last year from the sale of cheese to British consumers.

Mr. M. K. Everitts spoke briefly, and quoted statistics showing that of the total Canadian exports last year of $97,000,000, the cheese shipments amounted to $10,000,000.

Mr. Jas. Cumming spoke of the advantages of dairy and mixed farming, and strongly advocated underdraining.

Mr. Wm. Neilson spoke a few congratulatory words, and was followed by the professor.

Prof. Robertson was accorded a very hearty reception. The speaker has been heard so many times by the the majority of our readers that it is not necessary to go into the details of his very instructive lecture. His remarks relative to the importance of returning plant food to the soil were full of good sense. He thought farmers should guard against keeping stock or growing crops which were not a source of profit. Selection of good breeds of animals was an absolute necessity, and the application of brains to every department of farm work was insisted upon as being necessary to the prosperity of tillers of the soil. The farmer's family received a share of the professor's attention. He thought the farmer's boy was perhaps the most neglected of all the farmer's possessions. Boys should be given a chance to think and to obtain general information, and not be slavishly kept at all the drudgery on the farm. With a chance to expand, they would develop into good farmers and good citizens.

Mr. Walter S. Johnson, of Pine Hill, has been awarded the contract to carry the mails three times a week between Athens and Oak Leaf, via Charleston. Mr. Johnson will commence his duties on July 1st.

The correspondent who reported the cheese markets for us last year with so much acceptance, will send us weekly reports during the balance of the season, beginning next week. We are sure that dairymen will be pleased to see this announcement.

INCREASE OF HIGH SCHOOLS.

The "Recorder's" Sensible Remarks on the Subject.

The question of additional high schools in two or three parts of the counties is likely to be discussed at the present session of the counties council, and the matter is one that should be carefully enquired into by the members before granting permission for additional schools of this grade. It is no doubt quite natural that enterprising villages would like to have a high school in their midst, but can such schools be properly supported without weakening the ones already in existence? That is a question that should be first considered and should have greater weight with the members than individual sentiment, or local ambition. One thoroughly efficient school is worth half a dozen second or third rate ones, and a multiplication of schools of this class is pretty certain to impair the standard of efficiency of those now in existence.

In the matter of high school accommodation Leeds and Grenville is already fairly well provided. There are high schools in Gananoque, Farmersville, Prescott, Kemptville and Brockville, all of which are considered very efficient, and seem to fill the wants of the counties. In the case of the Brockville school it takes rank, after the midsummer holidays, as a collegiate institute, and will vie with the best in the province. Of course additional high schools in the rural villages would not affect Brockville to any appreciable extent, but they would unquestionably prejudicially affect the other schools named. For instance if a high school were established at Merrickville, while it might prove a convenience to the few living in the village and its immediate vicinity, who can afford to send their children to a high school, it would flourish at the expense of the Kemptville school, and instead of having one good school in that section there would probably be two poor ones, and the same would prove true, we think of other sections. We have no desire to do or say anything which will prevent the establishment of a high school at any point where it can be shown to be an urgent necessity, but we do object, and the public have a right to protest against the opening of schools of this class simply to gratify local ambition.

On Saturday last, Dr. S. S. Cornell removed a large tumor from the hip of Thos. Ross, of this village. The operation was a very difficult one, as from its peculiar position the utmost care had to be exercised in its removal. But the doctor's skill proved equal to the emergency, and the tumor was successfully removed, and the patient is now doing as well as could be expected.

County Council Notes.

Leeds and Grenville legislators made the usual grant of $300 to each of the high schools of the counties. Mr. Moulton's amendment to increase the grants to $350 was voted down.

The suit between Brockville and the county was carried to the High Court of Appeal. This suit arose out of the town's claim for $750 of Scott Act fines collected in Brockville, but which were paid into the county treasury. The claim of the town was sustained by Mr. Justice Robinson, whose judgment was afterwards reaffirmed by the full court in Toronto.

A deputation, consisting of the Rev. Wm. Wright, Dr. Preston, M. P. P., Mr. J. R. Dargavel and Mr. J. T. Gallagher, waited upon the council and urged the establishment of a high school at Newboro. They pointed out that large numbers in the western part of Leeds had passed the entrance but were unable to attend any of the existing high schools, owing to their distance. Newboro was centrally situated and should be selected as the site of another high school. The matter was referred to committee and it was finally decided to take no action.

We quote the following figures from the report of the committee in charge of the court house improvements:—Contract price, $20,950; extras, $641.35; balance due contractors, $323.35; realized from debentures, $27,287.31; amount to be expended in furniture and fittings, $1,859.24; balance which will remain to credit of committee, $3,836.72.

Bastard and Burgess.

On Saturday last, Judge McDonald gave his decision in the case of the by-law of Bastard and Burgess granting a bonus the K. and S. F. railway. His honor decided that all the ballot papers objected to, excepting one, were good, and he declared the final count to be 249 for the by-law and 235 against it; total number of persons admitted by both sides to be legally entitled to vote, 589; to which add 30, whose right to vote was questioned, making a total of 619. As the by-law received 249 votes, the judge declared it carried by one majority over the necessary two-fifths vote. With regard to the 30 who, although not on the voters' list, had been allowed to vote because of transfers of property to them just before polling, the judge decided that he had no authority to enter into the merits of the question, as his enquiry was by law limited to a scrutiny of the votes. To determine this point, it would be necessary to carry the case to a higher court. In conversation with the appellant, we were informed that the case would be sent to Osgoode Hall, where, if only a few of the votes in dispute could be thrown out, the by-law would be declared defeated, as there is good reason to suppose that the 30 votes in question were nearly all polled in the affirmative. The opponents of the by-law feel certain that they will carry their point.
