ENTHUSIASM FOR McINNES AND JARDINE

Liberal Candidate in Vancouver Delivers a Telling Address.

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—Central Park was on Tuesday night the scene of a most successful Liberal meeting which was held in the joint interests of W. W. B. McInnes and Mr. Jardine. Dennis Murphy and Mr. McInnes were the speakers. Mr. Clelland presided, and opened with a speech that had the true catchy ring about it. Calmly and critically attentive at the outset, the audience passed easily, in course of the proceedings, from intelligent appreciation to ardent and enthusiastic accord, and the applause amid which Mr. McInnes resumed his seat had in it the sincerity of whole-hearted support.

Mr. McInnes, who had an excellent reception, opened with a reference to the progress which Canada had made during the past twelve years. Twelve years ago, he said, the whole country was threatened with disruption on the school question. That question was no longer active. Revenue had increased during those twelve years from $200,000,000 to $600,000,000. No other country on earth showed such railroad development. He was a foolish man, indeed, who would say, "Let us go back to the day of dullness, depression and discord." Without a record, without a platform and without a leader who would for a moment compare with the great Liberal imperial chieftain, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it was not surprising that the Conservatives were raising a great cloud of talk about scandals. There was practically nothing in this scandal talk. It was not necessary to go to the East for scandals, not necessary to read Hansard and the speeches of the Tories who were prominent in this campaign. We had it here. There was nothing more vital to the well-being of the community than that the judiciary should enjoy the fullest measure of confidence. We, as Britishers, were proud of our judiciary. It was the rarest thing in the world to find that an impeachment would lie against any of his majesty's judges. Yet the Vancouver Daily Province and the Western Party, led by Joseph Martin and consisting of Joseph Martin—(laughter)—had not hesitated to tell the people in this province that right here a man had to pay so much money before he could be promoted to a position on the judiciary. They said he had to commit a criminal act before he could administer justice. A greater calumny with regard to our judges was never uttered, and he had challenged it when it was uttered. He had declared that it was up to the newspaper and to the party, having alleged these things, to give names. The paper, in an editorial, mentioned the names of four prominent Liberal barristers. Mr. Howard Duncan, Mr. Wade, Mr. Senkler and Mr. Macdonell. It stated that all the four knew and two could give specific information. That was serious, and he went to these four gentlemen and asked them if there was any truth in that statement. One and all declared, without hesitation, that it was absolutely false. (Applause.)

The speaker read an affidavit, sworn to by the four gentlemen named, and, proceeding, said that if anything like the corruption and boodling which the Conservatives alleged really existed they would do what the Liberal party did previous to 1896, and with a similar result. There had been nothing in this campaign to show that the Conservatives would be weakly merciful if they found anything against a Liberal which they could hope to make stick in a court of justice. On the contrary, Liberals had been hunted with villainous slanders such as he would not even mention in a mixed audience such as this. One thing was clear, apart altogether from the heated imaginings engendered in the rush of conflict, either the Conservatives were secreant to their duty to the public, or they had not the facts to go upon. (Applause.)

After all, the best refutation of this slander talk was the efficiency of the government in all departments, he said. Briefly, he reviewed these, pausing to comment on the establishing of two stations in the rural mail delivery scheme, one station in the vicinity of Victoria, and another for the suburbs of New Westminster.

Turning to discuss his own campaign, he said the same body of electors which had returned the McBride government returned Mr. Macpherson to Ottawa. The constituency had always been Liberal in Dominion politics. Twice it had returned Mr. Maxwell, and twice Mr. Macpherson. Now that the Dominion had taken hold of British Columbia affairs as never before, it would return him as a Liberal again. Mr. Martin was at Ottawa for a session and a half and did nothing on the Asiatic question. If returned now—which nobody anticipated seriously—he would be alone and could accomplish nothing for the people he represented. In the province he had been premier, attorney-general and a prominent private member for five long sessions, and the statute book would be searched in vain for any anti-Asiatic legislation brought in by him. When the city of Vancouver wanted anything from the Ottawa government, it did not send Mr. Cowan to Ottawa, although he was the Conservative candidate. It sent a good Liberal, Mr. McEvoy, because the city knew that a friend could get more from a friend than an opponent. That was business, and on that showing it was business to send him to Ottawa to represent the constituency, and not Mr. Cowan. His opponents would be dismissed from this contest by everybody who felt a keen and intelligent interest in the future progress of the district. (Applause.)

In closing, Mr. McInnes declared that this constituency would return him as a candidate who had a strong record and a sound faith on the main issues in British Columbia, and who was a member of the party which had shown breadth of mind and width of vision in dealing with questions so germane to the prosperity of Canada as a whole as the All-Red Route and the transcontinental railway.

The meeting closed with cheers for McInnes and Laurier.

Deprived of food, the mole will starve to death in a day.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS CONFER

Annual Convention of Western British Columbia Association.

New Westminster, Oct. 22.—The ninth annual provincial convention of the Western British Columbia Sunday School Association opened Tuesday in this city, the convention being held in St. Andrew's church. Rev. J. A. Logan, Victoria, introduced the speakers at the opening session. Mayor Keary extended the civic welcome.

Rev. A. de B. Owen, president of the New Westminster Ministerial Association, gave the convention a hearty welcome, as fellow workers in the great work of evangelization of the world, and because the churches would be almost impossible without the Sunday school to-day.

C. S. Keith extended a welcome on behalf of the city Sunday schools, and in reply President Gibson wished to put into words his sense of the hospitality and kindness the convention had received. In answering the ministerial welcome, he would say that the Sunday school was the right arm of the church. The great danger of the West was too much prosperity, in which they were likely to lose sight of matters pertaining to spiritual life.

The general secretary, Stuart Muirhead, read an interesting report of his work, which in part follows:

"I have endeavored to complete the organization of the province into districts. At the last annual convention there were three in existence, viz., Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster. Two have been organized during the year, Cumberland and Chilliwack. Temporary organization have been effected in two others, Nanaimo and Kamloops. We hope soon to hold conventions in these two, and complete their organization, when this is done we shall have all the possible districts in the province organized. It may be necessary in the near future to subdivide both Vancouver and New Westminster, as each covers a very large territory.

"As the work is just begining in most of these districts, I cannot report much progress. I am pleased to state that Victoria is taking the lead, and that the officers are seeking to make the organization a real factor in building up Sunday school work in that city and vicinity."

TOOTHBRUSHES UNKNOWN IN B. C. REFORMATORY

Vancouver Grand Jury Has Some Recommendations for Provincial Government

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—The erection by the provincial government of a home for aged and indigent persons, the installation of fire escapes for the reformatory and the abandonment of the present police station as entirely inadequate, were the chief recommendations of the grand jury in its presentment to-day. The jurymen delicately hinted that boys in the reformatory had never known what toothbrushes were, and that prisoners at the police headquarters declared that place was overrun with vermin.

NEW WESTMINSTER MAYORALTY.

New Westminster, Oct. 22.—As the municipal election approaches, according to the Westminster charter, attention is drawn to the mayoralty. The election is due to take place six weeks from Tuesday, on December 8.

Mayor Keary authorizes the statement that he will again be a candidate, but that he will probably leave for England next week, on matters that will be conducive to the advancement of the city's interest, in which case he will leave his campaign in the management of his friends.

Ald. Johnston, like the mayor, has been approached by a number of citizens to stand, but has not yet given his decision.

As already stated, D. D. Bourke has been approached by a number of property owners. Friends of Ald. Gray would like him to stand, but he has definitely declined the honor for this year. It is rumored that a prominent member of the Conservative party is not unwilling to offer himself in opposition to Mayor Keary.

It is too early to state who will be in the field for aldermen, but at least two of the sitting aldermen, B. W. Shiles and E. J. Fader, are anxious to retire from the council this year.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—Sentence of death was pronounced to-night on John Pertella, the negro, who murdered Mrs. Jenkins last summer. He will be hanged on December 18th.
