The Man In The Street

Every citizen welcomes the 22nd Battalion to St. John.

And we try to believe that is not because they do not like our looks that they are so anxious to get to the front.

St. John people are even quite willing to extend as hearty a welcome to another battalion if the powers that be want to take advantage of the accommodations that are lying idle here.

Have you noticed the peculiar sequence of the battalion numbers—the 29th, the 22nd, the 104th—each double the preceding one. Looks like a safe bet that the next battalion will be the 208th.

Service and the Street Cars.

Thanks for restoring the car service to Indiantown!

People who were on the first car to run through on Monday felt just as joyful as if they were kids at a Sunday school picnic.

But they haven't forgotten the inconveniences they suffered so long unnecessarily, and furthermore they're not likely to for some time.

And it might be just as well, now that winter is approaching, to place a few extra cars on the road during the rush hours.

A workman going home at noon or between 5 and 6 p. m., usually has to stand after paying his nickel, but it's like rubbing it in for him almost to have to fight his way on for the privilege of doing so.

Too much crowd and too few cars may mean business for the public, but certainly not comfort for the public.

The common council objects to erecting more school buildings. Perhaps, in these straining times, they think the proper place to "teach the young idea how to shoot" is on the rifle-range.

City commissioner says the city is paying twice for school expenditures because the council has to meet some debates when they come due. Must have the same idea of finance as Mickey, who would sign a promissory note with a sigh of relief as he murmured "Thank Heaven, there's another bill paid."

The Ride To Berlin.

Sir Sam says he wants to lead the Canadians to Berlin. As a souvenir from the home-land he might ride a Nova Scotia remount to know how any horse from that province can stand the strain of war—one which had gone through the Boer campaign period.

Auto-Police.

Judging by the efforts being exercised from central stations at present to put an end to gambling about the city, we may perhaps expect soon to see an automobile or two on King street east for evidence. Some owners of cars may not know that their machines have become gambling devices, even without their knowledge, such is the case. If you see a crowd of young fellows on a street corner with license numbers "auto-police," the winner is he who has the highest number, thus—one boy takes as his first car to happen along, if the number say is 87, he is beaten by the other boy who has taken the second car to come, with the license number 98, for he can show a "pair," and so on. The owners of cars may have wondered why a certain "auto-police" run out after their machines, but the insanity of youth has devised a way to practice a game of chance without the risk of being "caught with the goods."

I. O. G. T. ANNIVERSARY.

The city lodges of the I. O. G. T. were well represented last night at a celebration of the second anniversary of Dominion Lodge. The grand officers, consisting of E. N. Stockford, Miss B. Campbell, C. Fisher, L. deWolfe and Harry Coleman, visited the lodge officially. A fitting programme was carried out, consisting of addresses by C. T. W. Spencer, L. deWolfe, D. C. Fisher and E. N. Stockford. Solos were given by Miss Vincent, Miss Campbell and Harry Coleman. A trio consisting of Miss Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Kirkpatrick rendered a very pleasing selection. Dr. W. F. Roberts addressed the meeting in a congratulatory vein and also read a very interesting and instructive paper on medical inspection in public schools. This was followed with close attention and from comment made it was seen that those present were in hearty sympathy with the object of the paper. The thanks of the meeting were expressed to Dr. Roberts.

Matters That Should Bring Even More St. John Men to the Colors—Incidents of the Battlefields

The following are interesting extracts of letters received from sons of W. F. Noble. They may serve to influence some hesitating former companion to do his part in the great war.

Chas. A. Noble of the Divisional Ammunition Column writes from France under date of Oct. 24th—

Dear Mother:

Received a letter from you two days ago and one from Eva yesterday. Willard was up to our camp yesterday and spent the morning and afternoon with us. He has had the misfortune to break two of the metacarpal bones in his right hand and is relieved from all duties for about six weeks.

Was down to the trenches a few days ago; sat up all night and saw several of the boys from home in the battalion that came over in the boat with us. One of them told me I had better stay awhile and hear some of the music. (I was within 400 yards of the German lines then and a few bullets were whistling around.) It was curious to see the boys "duck" when one came close. I don't know what we ducked for, because when they are heard they are past, but we ducked just the same.

If you could see the trenches at night without knowing that there was a scrap on, one would think they were celebrating some holiday or something. Both sides shoot up star shells (something like a sky-rocket only more powerful) and the other night they were using searchlights, searching the sky for aeroplanes, and all this coupled with the rattle of machine-gun and rifle fire would beat any fourth of July celebration all to pieces.

We have built another shack to sleep in, larger than the other and have built the frame-work over and around the old shack so we did not have to shift our quarters.

I think this war will be longer than we expected. Personally I do not think it will be over before 1918. Our work is hard, but is not so dangerous as infantry work is, and so far we have had but one casualty, one of our boys being shot in the leg by a sniper and is now in an hospital in England.

We call these machine-guns "the suicide squad" and it is a very appropriate name for them.

There is an epitaph on a grave of a Canadian near here that reads:

Poor Old Bill, he left his place With smoking gun and smiling face, But Bill won't mind if some good chap Will come along and fill the gap.

That little epitaph seems very crude when you first read it, but as we see it, it is very impressive.

I wish some of the boys at home who have not called could come over here and visit the firing line. Perhaps then they would regret the seriousness of life, and get up nerve enough to do their "bit."

I saw some of the graves of the boys from home who were killed recently. I can't describe what a felt like, but it brings it close to home when boys like Jim Stevens, Reg. Peacock and Cotter are killed. Art Meyers was seriously wounded in the hand. All the boys that were in that encounter had "sand," as it was voluntary, not compulsory.

Oct. 24, 15—We have completed our new shack, "The Chateau de Flop," and it is great. We have only one fault to find with it and that is that the stove we built of bricks, mud and biscuit tin, throws out too much heat. The shack is very roomy for three, being eight feet high at the peak and five and a half at the sides, besides 12 x 16 in size. We have constructed a double bed, a single bed, table, three chairs, wash-stand and several shelves, and have lots of room to move around.

If I ever get this letter finished without going crazy I shall be lucky, as Doc. Peckers and Ken Christie are in the shack singing "Oh Love Sublime, Sweet Evening Star," from Thannhouser and it's rotten. I told them so and they are at it harder than ever.

Donald is well and he comes up to see me quite often.

Received your parcel and papers O. K., but don't you put too many stamps on the papers. Misses come from England postage free, and they do the same from Canada. I hope to hear from you soon and will write again in a few days.

Your loving son,
DONALD.

Note—The Donald and Millard mentioned are brothers. The former is in the same unit, Divisional Ammunition Column, 2nd Can. Contingent, Millard of No. 1 Can. Field Ambulance, first contingent. They met in France.

Driver Donald M. Noble writes:—

Things are fairly quiet here and we have not much to do. We took some bombs up to the trenches the other night. Had to go to a village near the trenches and wait for some one to take over the load. About twenty yards ahead of us was a street corner, open to a clear view of the trenches—the boys call it Suicide corner for it is peppered pretty regularly. While we were waiting one bullet struck a few feet from our leading driver and we could hear others hit the walls farther up the street. Finally we went to the communication trench with our load—my Regent street, as the boys call it. That is the closest I have been to the line, but I hope soon to be able to write something worth while.

I can certainly sympathize with the infantry, for they have a hard time, but I have seen them coming along the road at night after a day in the trenches looking tired and muddy, but all singing and clearing or whistling a tune to march by and it makes a chap think that it is no wonder they are hard to beat.

DONALD.

SOLDIERS AT SUSSEX

Sussex, N. B., Nov. 10, 1915.

Editor Times-Star:

Sir,—I read in last night's "Times" an inspired letter by a member of the 104th, in which he deprecates the lack of amusements in Sussex and wants to get into St. John. Now, sir, as a fact, the only amusements which St. John possesses and Sussex lacks are the bar-rooms, and, no doubt, it is to these that he refers, as everything else is fully equal.

What he says about lack of accommodation is utter rot, and if he expects to spend the winter hugging his kitchen stove, he is a mighty poor man for the 104th or any other regiment.

Will you be good enough to publish this in fair play.
