Bound For a Generation.

Mr. S. H. Blake is the great advocate of secret sessions of the committees of council. The press of this city protested against secret sessions, and now that has occurred that was prophesied would occur. The Executive Committee held a meeting the other day from which the press was excluded. Mr. Blake issues from the committee room impressed with the idea that he is empowered to do a certain thing, namely, to prevent the running of street cars on Sunday in this city for the next 30 years. He proceeds to the Legislature and so informs the Private Bills Committee. He tells its members that the Executive authorized him not only to change the bill, but even to strike out clauses in the agreement. This he induced the committee to do, and if the bill as so amended passes the Legislature, for the next three decades no matter to what proportions the city may grow it will be impossible for its inhabitants to have convenient means of locomotion on Sunday. Now this is where the beauty of the secret session comes in. Although Mr. Blake considered himself fraught with these instructions when he left the committee-room not a member of the committee can be found who knows anything about those instructions. They were simply astonished when they read in the newspapers that at Mr. Blake's instance this great city was tied down to a certain course vitally affecting its expansion and prosperity for thirty years. It is true that the clerk's minutes of the secret meeting show that the amendments in question were authorized, but the authorization must have been given in so low a tone of voice that the committee seems to have been quite unaware of it. Had the representatives of the newspapers been present such a thing would have been impossible. The press stands for the people, and when its representatives are present at meetings the people's delegates act as if the eyes of their constituents were upon them. They are fully awake, and Mr. Blake would not have found them such plastic material on which to stamp his own likes or dislikes.

The World does not intend to get unduly excited over this incident. The people know their own interests. We gave them an opportunity of voicing their opinions. A considerable majority of them said that at present Sunday cars were not required. Does Mr. Blake think that the numbers would have been the same if the proposition had been that there should be no Sunday cars for thirty years? Our opinion is that Mr. Blake would have been with the minority had that been the proposition, yet this minority are endeavoring to thrust their standards on the rest of us for the next thirty years.

There is another aspect of it. Looking at it with a layman's mind it does appear that any alteration of the conditions of sale—the conditions on which the present company tendered for the lease of the franchise—is liable to lead to serious consequences. The company tendered for something of which this clause was part and parcel: "No car shall be run on the Lord's Day until a Sunday service has been approved of by the citizens by a vote taken on the question." There can be no doubt that there would be considerable profits to the company in a Sunday service. The existence of that clause in the conditions might well lead them to hope that the day was not far distant when a Sunday service might be authorized, and on that hope their tender would be partially based. If that hope is removed at the instance of the Executive Committee will not the company have a good ground for asking compensation? Interfering with agreements is usually a dangerous practice, and it may turn out so in this case.

At any rate, we think it our duty to sound the note of alarm before the city is bound hand and foot for a whole generation.

Funeral Reform.

It is a trite yet true saying that the most expensive incident in family life is a funeral. There is no reason why this should be so. Our funeral customs are to a great extent heathenish. There is an amount of ostentation and display which is totally unnecessary to show esteem. In England the movement for funeral reform has made great progress in the last few years. The ugly nodding plumes are being laid aside. Crape is not regarded as necessary to add to gloom. The encasing of bodies in two or three coffins is falling into disuse. Standing bareheaded at the side of the grave is a custom more honored in the breach than the observance. Many have thus caught their death chill. Feasting and entertainment are costly, and many a family incurs debts through obeying a mere fashion. All these aspects will probably be discussed at a meeting in St. James' school-house to-night. It only needs the wealthier classes to set the example of simplicity, and those who can barely afford funeral expense will be only too glad to follow suit. There is also a sanitary aspect in connection with interments. The sooner the remains return to Mother Earth the better for the health of the neighborhood. Hence one of the platforms of the association it is proposed to form to-night is, "To encourage timely interment in perishable coffins," not in vaults, but in earth suitable for the purpose. Some timid and conservative natures may see in these changes a step towards cremation. But this reform is a very far cry. It is, however, consolatory to know that there is no Scriptural truth involved in dust returning to dust in that speedy fashion. It is only a question of sentiment and does not affect the cheerful doctrine of the Resurrection.

Send Them Abroad for Light.

There are still some members of the Board of Works who are influenced by the cry that the trolley wires constitute a most unsightly appearance in the streets. The objection would be very readily removed were these gentlemen to inspect the system as it is in operation in a city like Pittsburg, for instance, where the streets are narrow and where the alleged unsightliness would be most palpable and striking. Indeed, we strongly advise the council to send a delegation of its members to some those of cities where electric street railway cars are in operation. And as a starter we would recommend that they visit the city of Ottawa, where, if they do not blush for their own city, it will be because the council has chosen men who have no blushes left. Of course it would be useless to send men whose minds are positively made up on the subject, and whom no amount of evidence would change. On the other hand it would be well to send members of the council who, although not convinced that the trolley is the only practicable system, are yet open to examine with free minds the results that have been obtained in other cities. The itinerary could be carefully arranged, so that as much as possible could be seen in the briefest possible time. The matter should be speedily arranged, for we regard with disfavor anything that threatens to delay the starting of the work of conversion.

A 6-CLUB AMATEUR LEAGUE

THE LOCAL BASEBALL ORGANIZATION PERFECTED.

Excerpts From the Constitution—The Lacrosse Situation at Ottawa—Local Notes About the National Game—The Argonauts Will Not Purchase an Eight-oared Shell This Season—General Sport.

There was a big meeting of local amateur baseballists at the Rossin House last night, President Frank Nelson of last season's league in the chair. Six clubs had delegates present. Besides the four admitted at the first meeting the Dauntless by T. Friend, G. Stubbins and H. Smith and the Parkdales by W. Dickie, C. Kelly and S. Sykes were represented.

These two organizations were formally admitted, making the composition of League as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Dukes. | Excelsiors. |
| Nationals. | Dauntless. |
| Park Nine. | Parkdales. |

The institution was christened "The Toronto Baseball League."

The players must be properly uniformed. No man who has ever played under contract will be admitted. Each club may sign not more than 13 players, the names of whom must be with the secretary 30 days before the opening of the season. Two games will be played each Saturday. The guarantee must be deposited by April 20.

A Schedule Committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Finn, Thompson, Manley, Embury, McTiernan and Kelly, being the managers of each of the clubs. Messrs. Thompson and Manley were appointed a committee on grounds. The baseball park will be secured if possible.

The meeting adjourned until Wednesday, April 13, when the special committees will report and the officers will be elected. A. G. Spalding & Bros.' trophy, which has not yet left New York, will be handed over to the Beavers, last season's champions, who will give a bond for its safe-keeping. Special conditions will be named and must be complied with before the big cup becomes the property of any club.

NO EIGHT THIS YEAR.

The Argonauts Cannot House the Big Shell and Have Postponed.

A committee meeting of the Argonaut Rowing Club was held yesterday afternoon to receive the report of the special committee appointed to determine on the advisability of purchasing an eight-oared shell.

The club house was carefully measured, and on hearing the report it was decided to postpone the purchase until the building is altered and enlarged.

The Argonauts expect that the C.P.R. will force them out farther into the bay in a short time. Then the changes will be made and two eights secured.

Yachting in Hamilton.

Now that the weather is getting warm and pleasant and the ice in the bay is disappearing yachtsmen are thawing out. While other sports may be dull yachting will be as lively as ever. It is disappointing that no large yachts have been added to the Hamilton fleet, White Wings, Psyche, Verve and Vera being the only boats above the 35-foot class. The rigging of Dinah will be altered and the latter will contest with Psyche for the 40-foot honors. But in the smaller classes the rivalry will be keener than ever and the new yachts will make the contests uncertain. In a few weeks the Sailing Committee will meet and arrange the program for the club regattas, the first of which is usually held on May 24. Several Hamilton yachts will compete for the Queen's Cup at Toronto on July 1. Nancy will be able to hold her own.—Hamilton Spectator.

LACROSSE AT OTTAWA.

The Two Capital Clubs Will Unite and Form a Strong Organization.

OTTAWA, March 30.—The lacrosse situation has changed considerably in the last three weeks. It was mentioned that if possible some agreement would be aimed at before the meeting of the four club league, by virtue of which a new league would be formed.

The matter is pretty well settled now, and the approaching meeting will not be a lengthy one from all indications. There is a very strong feeling that should the Capitals be left out an amicable arrangement may be come to and an amalgamation of the two clubs, Ottawas and Capital, upon a sound basis be effected.

The Capital team this season would be a strong one, as the following shows: Goal, Walsh; point, Patterson; cover point, McGibbney; defence field, Dionne, Kehoe and Merrill; centre, James; home field, Carleton, Barry and Given; outside home, Murphy; inside home, Ketchum.

The junior lacrosse clubs of the city have formed a league and appointed a committee to frame a schedule of matches. There are eight clubs in the league and there will be two series of matches, the winner of each to play off at the end. The Gladstones, Dufferin, Oskoshs, Y.M.C.A., Ontarios, Young Ottawas, Stars and Electrics are the clubs in the league. The following officers have been elected by the Ontario Lacrosse Club: Hon. president, J. Devlin; hon. vice, J. E. Parker; president, C. Keenan; secretary, F. Harris; treasurer, A. Leyhan; captain, E. Hinchey; committee of management, E. Hinchey, F. Harris, C. Keenan, J. Leyhan, A. Davidson, F. Morse and J. Thompson. The club is in first-class standing.

Lacrosse Points

The annual meeting of the National Amateur Lacrosse Association will be held in Ottawa on Friday, April 8.

Members and all others interested in lacrosse are requested to bear in mind the meeting of the Athletics this evening at the Rossin House.

The annual meeting of the Toronto Lacrosse Club will be held early next month.

The Toronto Lacrosse Club, not being a member, will not send a delegate to the N.A.L.A. meeting at Ottawa.

President Suckling said last night that Toronto would likely join with Cornwall and the two Montréal clubs and probably Ottawa in an Eastern league.

At a meeting of members of the second twelve of the Toronto club it was decided to send a delegate to the meeting of the Junior Lacrosse League.

A meeting of the committee and players of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club was held in Montreal to elect a captain for the ensuing year. Mr. M. J. Polan, who is universally popular in lacrosse circles, was unanimously re-elected captain of the team.

STUMPS AND WICKETS.

The American Cricket Annual is Out—The Clubs Are Organizing.

The American Cricket Annual for 1892, compiled and published by Jerome Flannery, is a useful work of reference for all who take an interest in the game upon which it has become a standard authority. A review of the past season, an interesting article on the tour of Lord Hawke's team, and statistics of the leading clubs in the United States and Canada, and a compendium of the Laws of Cricket, as revised by the Marylebone Club, are among the valuable contents of the Annual. J. H. Bowbanks, 27 Walton-street, is the Toronto agent.

Brampton's Cricket Club.

The Brampton Cricket Club held a rousing meeting last Monday evening for the purpose of reorganizing for the ensuing year. The following officers were elected: Patron, W. A. McCulla, ex-M.P.; finan. sec.-treas., T. Thauburn; hon. president, W. A. Bellhouse; cor. secretary, F. F. Loosemore; president, W. W. Nation; captain, John Pexton; vice-president, G. R. ### No Speculation.

The recent sad experience of Toronto grain dealers over the drop of wheat is a striking lesson to people on the subject of investing in anything of which they are not sure. On the strength of this the attention of cyclists is drawn to the fact that Rudge cycles have been used in this country for nine years and are known to possess the requisite qualities, to which is added the recommendation of the Canadian agents, Messrs. H. P. Davies & Co., 81 Yonge-street, whose establishment is well known for quality and sterling value. 246

Veterinary Surgeons Puzzled.

BUTTE, Mont., March 30.—It is estimated that Marcus Daly's losses of colts at the Bitter Root Stock Farm this season will aggregate $100,000, five-sixths of the colts foaled have died immediately after birth.

The best veterinary surgeons are unable to ascertain the cause, but consider it to be epidemic.

Mr. Daly has over half a million dollars invested in his breeding establishment.

They Won.

Guttenburg: Benedictine, Arthur Davis, Noonday, G. W. Cook, Turk, Firefly.

Gloucester: Laleigh, Eddie M., Baby, Gloster, Annie E., Fitzroy.

The Second Wanderers.

A very successful meeting of the Wanderers Bicycle Club 2nd division was held last evening.

Officers were elected and plans for the year brought forward. The list of officers is completely revised, everything is under new management and the club is to be run on entirely new principles.

The prospects are that the most successful of all this clubs successful seasons is yet to come. The secretary is J. Lalor, 169 Bleecker-street.

General Sporting News.

Hamilton will have an amateur baseball league this season composed of four or more clubs.

Some Hamilton people think that Jerry Donohue should be reinstated by the C.A.A.O.

Neat invitation cards are out for the opening of the new Athenæum Clubhouse next Monday at 8 o'clock.

Arthur Lumley asked Bob Fitzsimmons if he would meet "Brooklyn" Jimmy Carroll in the fistic arena in a 10-round bout for a purse of $5000. On behalf of the Coney Island Athletic Club Mr. Lumley formally offered a purse of $5000 for these two big middleweights. Fitz will give an answer some time during this week.

They Conflict.

Editor World: I was much pleased to read in your issue of yesterday that a number of prominent ladies had interested themselves in organizing an entertainment for the benefit of the Orphans' Home, but the date I observe, unfortunately clashes with Mr. Grand's horse show, which will surely decrease the receipts for this charitable object.

I would suggest, therefore, if possible the dates should be changed to a few days sooner or later, feeling sure it would amply repay any extra trouble incurred.

EMMA COLEMAN.

At the Civil Assizes.

The jury in the Harris case found that the city was not negligent as to the crossing. Judge Galt, therefore dismissed the case with costs.

Mrs. Sarah Fleming sued Mr. William McFarren to recover $1000 damages for slander. Mrs. Fleming went to the store of Mr. McFarren on Sept. 7 last to buy groceries for William S. Alloy. McFarren said that she was procuring goods under false pretences and he would put her where she would not trouble him for six months; hence the suit. Last night the jury returned a sealed verdict, the contents of which will not be known until the court resumes this morning.

The case of Elizabeth Carson v. George Goulding and Fred A. Thayer, as churchwardens of All Saints' Church, for breach of covenant and trespass will be continued at to-day's sitting of the court.

THE FIRST DIVISION TAKEN.

CLOSE OF THE DEBATE ON FARMERS' SONS' EDUCATION.

Some Warm Passages—Politics and the Farmers' Institutes—Sol White and Annexation—Mr. Awrey's Defence—The Experimental Farm—A Long Day's Work.

At the House yesterday afternoon the Attorney-General introduced a bill respecting the sittings of the High Court in certain cases, and also a bill relating to the duty of sheriffs on arresting persons under civil process.

Mr. E. F. Clarke's bill to incorporate the Hospital for Sick Children was considered in committee of the whole, when some minor amendments were introduced, and it was left over for its third reading.

Mr. Awrey Called Down.

The House then resumed the adjourned debate on the motion by Mr. McLenaghan re better education of farmers' sons. During the discussion Mr. Hudson attacked most vigorously the action of Mr. Awrey, the president of the Central Farmers' Institute, for making a political address at the Institute's annual meeting. The institute had been established and aided by the Government to educate the farmers as to the best modes of agriculture and not for the discussion of political questions.

Mr. McKechnie upheld the establishing of the Farmers' Institutes. He was a merchant and manufacturer, and had attended many of the local meetings of the institute, and was sure that they were very successful and showed that the hopes of the founders had been realized. The farmers' sons of the province were leaving the farm not because they felt that there was a lack of educational privileges, but because they wished to reach the highest positions they were capable of. He reminded the House that more than one of the honorable Ministers were educated on the farm.

Make the College More Efficient.

Mr. Magwood said that there was a feeling in rural municipalities that they were not receiving the educational advantages that they justly deserved. He was not desirous of opposing the Agri cultural College but he had to say that it was not as efficient as it ought to be. The Central Farmers' Institute was of no use to the agricultural interests of the province. The local institutes had been successful, but the Government had no right to take to itself all the glory. The municipalities had to contribute half the expenses incurred.

Mr. Sprague said the Government was certainly moving in the direction the resolution takes. The farmers had the same privileges as any other trade or calling in the province and they asked or coveted no more.

The Discussion Waxed Warm.

On the debate on Mr. McLenaghan's motion, re better education for farmers' sons' being resumed after supper, Mr. Miscampbell rose and quoted from the report of a committee of the Central Farmers' Institute to show that farmers were calling for technical education for their sons. He also quoted from the words of the Minister of Agriculture used before the Central Farmers' Institute to show that he had expressed himself in favor of the principle of the bill. He showed that children should not be required at the age of 12 or 14 to leave the influences of home and parents to go to a strange town for education that could better be given them at home. There should be a "model" farm which would demonstrate the manner in which a farm could be managed so as to avoid the deficit of $18,000 now standing against the Agricultural College.

Mr. Meredith said the Opposition were not hostile to the college, but they were displeased with its management. For instance one-sixth of the students attending last year were from foreign countries and other provinces than Ontario. There was one from India, one from Poland and one from Spain. Surely the farmers of this province did not wish the money of the state to be used to educate the young men of foreign countries. Surely something was wrong in the management of this institution, for the attendance of the college was not as great as it had been years ago.

Mr. Awrey on His Mettle.

This storm which the Opposition raised about the head of the member for South Wentworth—Mr. Awrey—at length brought him to his feet. He went into a lengthy and detailed explanation of his address before the Central Farmers' Institute. Party politics, he said, were never thought of in the institute. The vice-president, the secretary and four of the seven members of the executive were strong and staunch Conservatives. The farmers were deriving more benefit from the high schools and collegiates than all the other callings in the province. Last year 681 students left the high schools and 314 the collegiates to return to the farm to use their broadened minds in the calling which their fathers had followed. If foreigners came to our college it was a tribute paid to its efficiency. There were farmers' boys who held professorships from the college; Prof. Deane was a Welland boy and a farmer's son. One farmer's son had gone from that college to teach them in Scotland the principles of agriculture. Throughout the States there were many of the farmers' sons of this province who held the position of manager of experimental farms.

Dr. Willoughby, in reply, said that only 1 in 20 of the children of farmers went back from the high school to the farm, and he was sorry that no similar record had been kept for the college, for, in his belief, it would show that not 1 in 25 went back to the farm.

In Mr. Awrey's speech to defend his position as president of the Central Farmers' Institute, he made the assertion that Mr. Sol White, one of the members of the Opposition, who had attacked him, was allowed to retain his seat in the House by the Government simply as a mark of courtesy. In view of the position taken by the honorable member regarding annexation with the States, the Government had the power, which they might use at will, to expel the disloyal member from his House.

Mr. Sol White made a lengthy defence of his position. He had entertained or expressed no views disloyal to the Government or to the House. He had, he held, a right to have an opinion as to what the final destiny of the country was.

Mr. Rayside said the Opposition had spoken for four days, but they had suggested nothing to carry out their sole contention that the farmers were ignorant and ought to be educated. The Farmers' Institutes had done all that was necessary for the farmers.

The Division.

When the motion was put the first division of the House occurred, resulting in favor of the Government by a majority of 47 to 30. The vote stood as follows:

The Liberals absent were C. Mackenzie, Evanturel, H. McKenzie, Fraser (paired with Clarke), Loughrin, Biggar and Porter.

A number of bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. John McCarthy, Toronto, writes: "I can unhesitatingly say that Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is the best medicine in the world. It cured me of Heartburn that troubled me for over thirty years. During that time I tried a great many different medicines, but this wonderful medicine was the only one that took hold and rooted out the disease."

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

Miss Rosina Vokes and her London Comedy Company, supported by Mr. Felix Morris and Mr. Courtney Thorpe, will commence their engagement at the Grand Opera House this evening, presenting "A Game of Cards," "Barbara" and "A Pantomime Rehearsal."

At the Grand Next Week.

"Mr. Wilkinson's Widows," a comedy from the prolific pen of William Gillette, is the attraction which comes to the Grand Opera House next week. Charles Frohman's distinguished company will present it, and if reports which come from New York and all the leading cities are true it will prove a comedy event in this city. In New York, where the play was presented for 200 nights, it proved the sensation of the dramatic season. The comedy is admittedly construed and developed on the basis of Alexander Besson's "Le Fen Tonpinel," and brings to light the life of a retired wine merchant, Joseph Wilkinson, who, although of mature age, evidently was of a very gay nature. The play is said to be one huge boisterous laugh.

Pete Baker Next Week.

At Jacobs & Sparrow's Opera House next week this old favorite will appear. The Rochester Times says of Pete: A more jovial, good-hearted person does not exist than Pete, and last night he was certainly at his best. He was encored and applauded until he had to beg to be excused from exhaustion. His new version of "The Emigrant" is full of funny and startling situations and contains a bright sprinkling of sparkling musical gems and original songs, which are sung in Mr. Baker's own inimitable style. "The Teasing Child," "Tobogganing," "Sweet Christena" and "Number One, Two and Three," are very pretty and won deservedly a hearty encore. His support is very good.

Operatic Musical Union.

The first annual concert of the Operatic Musical Union was held last night in Victoria Hall. There was a large attendance. Amongst those who distinguished themselves were: Miss Gimbert, Mr. H. N. Reid, Miss E. G. May and Miss Evelyn Severs. Madame Stuttaford conducted the instrumental portion of the entertainment, acting as accompanist for the several singers.

"The Fast Mail"

At Jacobs & Sparrow's theatre is pleasing all that have witnessed this wonderful production. The scenery and mechanical effects have never been surpassed in Toronto. There will be a matinee to-day.

The Great Northwest.

The energetic Mr. Moore of Muse fame, not content with the wonderful success he has already achieved by his efforts in catering to the amusement-loving people of Toronto, has and is adding new popularity to his cosy resort by the inauguration of a ladies' souvenir day on Friday afternoon of each week. On the Friday of this week each lady and little girl purchasing an admission ticket will be presented with a beautiful oil painting made by Captain Carl, the scout, who is now on exhibition at the Muse. The captain has contracted with Manager Moore to furnish 1000 pictures (principally views of the far Northwest), to be given away as souvenirs on the day mentioned above. Beautify your home with one of these handsome little paintings. Sol Stone, the lightning calculator; Prof. Wallace, the California silk king, will continue on exhibition throughout the week, as well as a pleasing bill in the theatre.

An Evening With the Japs.

An interesting lecture, illustrated by over 100 superb limelight views upon Japan and the Japanese, will be given on Thursday evening, March 31, at 8, in the school room of the Sherbourne-street Methodist Church, by the Rev. Charles T. Cocking. The scenery, people, customs, manners and religions of this wonderful country will be graphically portrayed. Some startling views of the devastation, resulting from the recent terrible earthquake, will be shown. The Japanese temple service will be illustrated in costume of a Buddhist priest during the evening.

Notes.

Mattie Vickers in "The Circus Queen" is drawing large houses at the Academy this week. The fun, the singing and the dancing afford two hours' good amusement.

H. R. Jacobs was in town yesterday. He would talk nothing except his great amphitheatre, which he is going to control during the World's Fair in Chicago. He found time to say that his new theatre in Cleveland is one of the prettiest and best-eqqipped houses in the country.

Sinless Christians.

The second day's session of the Canadian Holiness Association was held yesterday in the lecture room of the Y.M.C.A., the president, Rev. N. Burns, in the chair. There was a large attendance. Rev. Thomas Colling addressed the meeting in the morning, saying that the individual who walks in the Spirit would do a power of good in the community in which he lives and will accomplish all the work of God. The afternoon meeting was addressed by the Rev. Mr. Rusa and Mrs. Drewrie on the Spirit's power for holiness. The evening meeting was addressed by Rev. Mr. Linscott, who stated that the members of the association were followers of Jesus Christ literally according to His teachings. The convention resumes to-day.

A Wonderful Increase.

Stenographers may form some idea of the present wonderful growth of the typewriter business from the fact that the business of the Remington Typewriter for the months of January and February, 1892, exceeded the business of the corresponding two months of 1891 by $160,000.

The further fact that the Remington business has more than doubled in the last three years shows emphatically the growing popularity of that machine. The Remington factory at Ilion, N.Y., gives employment to 700 workmen, and the sales-agents, Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict, dispose of a finished Remington Typewriter every five minutes.—Phisographic World, April, '92.

On the Island in Winter.

Capt. Goodwin, the Island freighter, called on The World yesterday to put in his advt. that he was ready to move lumber and furniture across the bay. He expects clear water in a few days. There was a good deal of sickness among the few Islanders who passed the winter over there. Mr. Durnan of the lighthouse had a bad time of it.

Mr. E. Samuel of the firm of Samuel, Benjamin & Co. received a cablegram announcing the death of his father, Mark Samuel of London, Eng. The deceased gentleman was born in Hull, Eng., 69 years ago. He came to Canada in 1849 and in the following year was married in Montreal to Miss Berlin, niece of the late Isaac Valentine. He was the founder of the firm of M. & L. Samuel, which was established in Montreal in 1855 and subsequently moved to Toronto. Mr. Samuel afterwards returned to England and opened a branch office in Liverpool. When he retired from the business in 1880 the name of the firm was changed to Samuel, Benjamin & Co. His family consisted of two sons, of whom one, Jacob Samuel, is now manager of the branch in Liverpool, while the other, E. Samuel, resides in Toronto. He was instrumental in forming the Toronto branch of the Anglo-Jewish Association and took a deep interest in the question of Jewish immigration, being the author of a pamphlet, on the colonization of the Northwest by Russian Jews.

A CLOSE CALL.

Andrew Freemantle says:

DEAR DR. REAR,—I think it only right that I should bear testimony to your treatment of my case. I have had La Grippe three times. The second attack (March, '91,) left a cough, followed by catarrh, bronchitis and asthma. It laid me up several weeks. I again tried to work, took more cold, which settled on my lungs. The asthma returned in a severe form. Last Christmas La Grippe seized me the third time. In four weeks I failed so fast that I felt that my end was very near. The catarrh, bronchitis and asthma, all bad, faintness, palpitation of the heart, loss of appetite, tongue badly coated, breath offensive. Two weeks unable to lie down. Was wrapped in blankets in a rocking chair,
