GENE TIPPETTS FANS THIRTEEN VISITORS

Vets Lose Afternoon Game and Evening Encounter is Scoreless Tie.

In making a reputation as a strike-out artist, the main thing to do is to cause the batter to take three swings and miss. So says Gene Tippetts, the War Vets' hurler, who is fast making a name for himself as a champion in the fanning line, but the best Mr. Tippetts could do against Joe Fort's gang from Newburyport Saturday evening was to strike out 13 and allow a solitary hit in the fourth inning. That one hit that Miller, third sacker for the visitors, timed for a double, is about the biggest hit ever made on Tippetts for it prevented him from pitching a no-hit, no-run game in nine of the fastest innings played for some time on the East End grounds. As the Vets failed to connect opportunity with Bruns' offerings, the game wound up in a scoreless tie.

The Vets lost the afternoon game, 3 to 0. Shanahan, the newcomer, twirled good ball outside of the third inning when bunched hitting was responsible for all three of the visitors' tallies. The afternoon game was a nip and tuck struggle all the way.

JACK JOHNSON HERE.

A rather interesting visitor in sport circles passed through the city last week in the person of Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world. L. I. Arthur was across the bay for a jaunt and was accompanied by his wife. He looked decidedly fit and was a dapper as ever. He returned to the United States from here.

Miss Suhr of 'Frisco a Coming Star, and Her Partner is Better Than Average

San Francisco.—Another Helen Wills. That's what they are calling little Winifred Suhr of this city who recently won the singles championship of the Pacific northwest. She is barely 18, yet she has won over a number of the ranking players of this section. Her partner in doubles, Betty Thorne, is another young star of great promise. The two recently won the British Columbia doubles title.

PIRATES THREATEN TO CATCH GIANTS

Sensational Backing of Strong Pitching Staff Shows Results.

New York, Aug. 18.—(United Press).—The mid-season threat to the Giants' supremacy in the National League came from a not entirely unexpected quarter—Pittsburgh.

Bill McKeehan had been promising all season that if he could just get his boys out of a rut and start them hitting the whole Pirate machine would start to function co-ordinately and just raise all kinds of trouble around the older circuit.

Sure enough, once the Pittsburgh aggregation got over the hill they sailed along with scarcely a break, causing all kinds of trouble for the rest of the club and transplanting some of the creases in the Giants' pants to their brows.

McKeehan was justly proud of his infield. Grimm, Maranville, Traynor and Wright, in mid-August, looked equal, in point of mechanical perfection and quick thinking, to any set of infielders in the league.

When it came to batting, Traynor and Wright were outflitting Groh and Jackson of the Giants, although, of course, Kelly exceeds Grimm as a first-sacker and stickler, and Fritch can bat rings around the "Rabbit."

Perhaps, everything considered, the Giants' infield is strongest in the long run, but on mid-August form it had nothing on those hustling Pirates.

The Pittsburgh outfielders cannot hit with those of New York, but are faster. Muesel, Wilson and Young were hitting around .315, and .342 respectively, when Cuyler, Carey and Barnhart could not produce better than .315, .276, and .272.

Gooch and Earl Smith have been doing good backstop work for McKeehan, and hitting well over .200. Gooch and Snyder of the Giants are also pounding the ball.

With a bad start, the Pirates clattered up out of the second division and into the runner-up position in less than a month in mid-summer.

The Pittsburgh pitchers were consistent and this in a large degree was responsible for the success of the team. McKeehan has seven twirlers—Yde, the unionist southpaw; Krenetz, who has pitched well all season; the veteran Cooper, who was at his best in August another southpaw; "Spec" Meadows, who needs no introduction; Morrison, a curve-ball pitcher; Pfeffer, Card cast-off, and Stone, a rookie. The idea is to keep the first five rotating with the other two in reserve.

The Pirates have been doing some nifty base-running. McKeehan being one of those who believes that a little pilfering here and there, and a hit stretched now and then, may mean the difference of the winning or losing column before the scoreboard boy goes home.

The Buccaneers lead both leagues in stolen bases, with more than 100 to their credit. The Giants have stolen less than 50.

Another team that demands attention coming up out of the ruck, is the St. Louis Browns. Out in St. Louis, a month or so ago, George Sisler drew raucous razzberries when he warned the wise ones to watch his men work; and there was trouble galore for any club that went up against the Browns.

The American League race has developed one of the best in years. The Red Sox made their threat, and looked like world-beaters; over in Boston they glided up the sacred cod-fish and elected Lee Fohl mayor, but the joy was short-lived and the beans grew cold as father wails nowadays for a Boston victory. Then came the Senators with a rush, and, for a time, they upset tradition by making the pace. Detroit took up the white man's burden for a bit, everybody figuring on some way to beat the Yanks, but after that, thanks almost certainly to Babe Ruth's magnificent example, cleft climbing back up to top. Now the Red Sox are gone, and the Browns are come as a late season threat.

CORWIN HAL DEAD.

Truro, N.S., Aug. 17.—Corwin Hal, owned by Frank J. Cavanaugh, veterinary surgeon of Truro, dropped dead 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning just as he was finishing a late workout. This horse was a beautiful black stallion, admired by all P. E. Islanders and Maritime horsemen. There is no track of any importance in the three provinces on which Corwin Hal has not raced.

TRAIN OSTRICHES TO RACE HORSES

Will be Hitched to Light Sulkeys—Have Work-outs Daily.

Berlin, Aug. 18.—Ten racing ostriches which are to vie with horses for speed honors at a race course in August have arrived in Berlin and been placed in quarters in stables, which appear to be very distasteful to the big birds.

For racing the ostriches are hitched to light-weight sulkeys and have their work-outs every day when in training, which follows the lines generally applied to trotting or pacing horses.

The birds are guided by reins attached to leather caps which fit over the heads of the ostriches, which take the place of bits as used for horses.

"Tony," one of the racers here which came from Italy, and "Frank," owned in Vienna, are "natural born" racers, according to the ostrich racing touts, and appear to love the sport as much as their drivers, but the other fellows, they assert, are sort of mechanical in their racing, merely following directions of their drivers, and they are, they know what it is all about. But "Frank" and "Tony," say the drivers, know more about racing than any horse which ever got away at the post.

BLACK GOLD HELD IN HIGH ESTEEM

Fear Too Much Popularity May Affect His Turf Career.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 18.—(Associated Press).—Too much popularity may affect the turf career of Black Gold, as it finally ruined famous Old Rosebud, ten years ago, in the opinion of Kentucky turf experts who are the public clamor for horse-flesh are showing their affections on this black son of Black Tony and the little Indian pony.

Old Rosebud, after winning the Derby in 1914, was sent East and broke down during a race at Belmont. His owners sent him to Texas and three years later he came back and beat Roamer and other leaders. He was so popular he was "raced to death" and was destroyed two years ago.

For several years no horse received the admiration that was accorded Black Gold, as it finally ruined famous Old Rosebud, ten years ago, in the opinion of Kentucky turf experts who are the public clamor for horse-flesh are showing their affections on this black son of Black Tony and the little Indian pony.

He went on to Cleveland and annexed his third derby, the Ohio event. His first reversal came in the Lattin Derby a short time later, when Childe and Giblin romped home ahead of him. Like the only race man O'War ever lost, turf enthusiasts still are trying to explain how it happened. Black Gold obtained revenge by beating Giblin by six lengths in the Chicago Derby. He thus equaled the record made in 1919 by Claude, the only other horse that ever won four derbies in a year.

A chance to win five derbies in a single season slipped by at Ashland, Ky., when Bob Tall and Altawood beat Black Gold, the favorite, by a nose. Turf experts began to wonder if Black Gold was not being raced too often to satisfy the demands of the public.

Unlike famous thoroughbreds of old, Black Gold was not bred in Kentucky. There is some doubt as to his mother's blue blood. Ussett belonged to an Indian, Al Hoots. When Hoots died his wife carried out her husband's wish and mated Ussett with Black Tony, E. R. Bradley's colt. Black Gold has won more than $100,000.

There is a little brother of Black Gold now at Ussett's side at the Idle Hour farm.
