N. H. A. Issues Warning To Exuberant Coaches

Lengthy Explanation Given Why Midland Loses Protest

Wiarton and Kingston Win O.H.A. Semi-Final Games

PENALTY SYSTEM NEEDS PATCHING

N. H. A. Holds Tame Session —World Series Discussed —Quinn is Upheld.

MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—The N. H. A., at its special meeting here today, sustained President Emmett Quinn in his ruling dismissing the Quebec club's protest following the game with Ottawa. He was also upheld in the appeal by the Ontarios against Ottawa.

The penalty question was brought up by the Wanderers' president, who considered that the penalties should be made more severe, so as to keep the players under better control. Mr. Lichtenhein would do away with all the minor penalties and rule a player off for three minutes for the first infringement of the rules and increase the time for each following offence. President Lichtenhein was also in favor of giving the president of the league more power, making his decisions final regarding fines and punishment of players. Under the present rules the penalties, in his opinion, are something of a joke.

Altho no direct charges were made against Alf. Smith for his conduct of last Saturday night, such behavior will be discontinued at future matches.

The rules for the matches for the world's series between the N.H.A. winners and the coast champions were discussed. The following is the off-side rule to be used during the games played under the western rules:

The rink shall be divided into three equal sections by drawing a colored line four inches or more in width across the ice and up the side fences, at right angles to the length of the ice.

In the middle section there shall be no offside, but the offside rule shall remain in force in the two end sections.

No player shall take the puck offside in the middle section it it has been played by one of his own side from the end section.

Further, when the puck strikes the side fences in the middle section when played by any player in the middle section, every player shall be onside, even if the puck goes over into either of the end sections.

It is permissible to loaf in the middle section, but any player loafing there must not cross opponents' line ahead of the play. In case of infringement the referee shall order a face on the line.

Those in attendance at the meeting were: Ottawa, Frank Shaughnessy; Torontos, Frank Robinson; Canadiens, Geo. Kennedy; Quebec, B. Kane and M. J. Quinn; Ontarios, Tom Wall; Wanderers, S. E. Lichtenhein, and President Quinn.

HOCKEY GOSSIP

Varsity juniors play their return third round game with Berlin at the Arena Saturday afternoon and it promises to be the junior tid-bit of the year. The student youngsters have a one-goal lead and must hold this to go into the semi-finals.

The game between East Toronto and Woodbines in the juvenile series of the Beaches League has been postponed until Monday or Tuesday, as the rink is not available until then.

Eurekas will play a very important game tonight at Dufferin Grove against the Weston club and every player is requested to be on hand at 8 as the game will start at 8.30.

The Coxwells meet at the Don Flats at 8.30 tonight for their game with Yorks.

Crescents failed to appear at Ketchum Park last night and Aura Lee juveniles won by default.

Junior Meds defeated Junior School, 4 to 1, in a group two Jennings cup hockey game yesterday. This leaves a three-cornered tie in the group, and Junior Meds and Junior Dents will meet Saturday morning to break it.

In one of the fastest games played at Broadview rink this season Broadviews defeated St. Anns in a junior Beaches League game last night by the score of 3 to 2. This game had a decided bearing for the honors of the district, and drew a crowd of 600 people.

The winners had the edge on the Saints, as they were playing on their own ice, but just had enough left to stand off the determined rush of the Saints in the dying moments of the game. It would be hard to pick any stars, as both teams played stellar hockey. Ferriman, the ex-Parkdale O.H.A. player, was the best man on the ice, but was too closely checked to tear off his stellar rushes as he did a week ago.

Both teams played hockey which would be a credit to O.H.A. The same teams will play an exhibition game at the Arena sometime next week, and they ought to furnish a splendid game and draw a big crowd. F. C. Waghorne, sr., refereed.

The teams:

St. Anns (2): Goal, Ryan; right defence, Coughlin; left defence, Spellman; rover, Finley; centre, Mogan; right wing, Gibson; left wing, O'Connor.

POOR PUBLIC ARE STUCK IN AGAIN

Owing to injuries to several of their players St. Michaels have been forced to call off their exhibition fixture with Varsity on Saturday afternoon. Toronto Rowing Club will fill the Saints' date and tackle the student boys. The Argonaut-T.R.C. game scheduled for tonight has been cancelled to allow the King street scullers to play Varsity.

The speculators will reap a bounteous harvest on Saturday, Torontos and Canadiens play the deciding game in the N.H.A. race here at the Arena tomorrow night and one hour after the seat sale opened yesterday morning every pasteboard was gone. The speculators had them in dozen lots yesterday afternoon and if you want to see what promises to be the best game of the season you must be prepared to pay just whatever Mr. Speculator asks you. Only some three hundred of the regular fans were lucky enough to get the much desired tickets and the rest of the hockey fans will have to pay up or read Monday morning papers.

It has been a long, hard road for the blue shirts to travel, but it now looks as if the locals will land the pennant and play Victoria, Coast League champions, for the world's championship at the local Arena. The Frenchmen and the Torontos are tied, with only four games to play.

The remaining games are:

Saturday, Feb. 21—Canadiens at Torontos

Wednesday, Feb. 25—Torontos at Ontarios, Canadiens at Ottawa.

Saturday, Feb. 28—Torontos at Quebec, Wanderers at Canadiens.

Wednesday, March 4—Wanderers at Torontos, Ontarios at Canadiens.

Looking over the schedule it will be seen that Toronto plays three games at home and one on the road, while Canadiens have only one fixture on their own ice.

Torontos have much the best of it and could score a victory here tomorrow night and easily down the Ontarios next Wednesday night. This should just about land the championship. Their hardest game looks to be the battle in the Ancient Capital, as the Quebecers are tough customers to beat on their own ice. The Wanderers are traveling at a great clip and will take some beating.

The Canadiens must travel to Ottawa after they get thru with the blue shirts here and the Bytown aggregation are just in the humor to give them a good trouncing. The Frenchies meet their Montreal rivals after the Ottawa game and it will be another hard contest. The Ontarios are their last opponents, and this should be an easy win for the Montreallers. Taking it all together everything favors the Torontos.

Billy Slee, Well-Known Sportsman, Passes Away

After a lingering illness that started five years ago William J. Slee died yesterday at his home, 494 Markham street. Everyone knew Billy Slee, one of the most popular of sportsmen and sporting writers in the country.

The late Mr. Slee was born in the Town of Markham, about 35 years ago, and learned the printing business, working as a journeyman with The Globe and The World. He also traveled many years for local commercial houses. In later years he worked successfully as a newspaper writer, starting about six years ago with The World and later with The Telegram, and was a careful, painstaking and conscientious worker in this scene of activities as he had been in others. He occupied the chief offices of the Ontario and Canadian Rugby Unions, a pastime he was devotedly fond of. He was also a lover of lacrosse, baseball and hockey. He leaves a wife and four small children, the youngest just past three.

The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 8.30 from his late home to St. Peter's R.C. Church, Bloor and Bathurst streets, where service will be held at 9 o'clock. The interment will be at St. Michael's Cemetery.

A host of Canadian sportsmen will mourn the loss of a genuine friend and good fellow, and sincerely sympathize with the relatives left behind.

BEACHES PLAYOFF.

Tonight at Ravina Rink the Beaches League will stage two of their cup playoffs and there promises to be two great games when the teams clash. In the first game Diamonds and Grand Trunks will clash for the three-cornered tie that exists in their section of the junior series, and as both teams have been traveling at a fast clip all season the outcome should be in doubt until the last minute. At ten o'clock Maitlands and Broadviews will clash in the final game of the intermediate, western section. Both teams won their home games and were tied up at the end of the playing schedule. This game should be a very lively affair as both teams rather delight in mixing it.

Stahl said he would take the management of the Brooklyn club if his terms were met.

CLUB THAT RUNS RACING IN FRANCE

Owns Great Tracks, Few and Noted Members Including King of England.

English papers made a lot of a card scandal at the Jockey Club in Paris, which caused a French writer to point out that the "French Jockey Club" is not an institution at all resembling the Jockey Club of England. It is entirely a social club, with its club house and card rooms. It is a very exclusive club, and the fees are heavy; but it has nothing whatever to do with the control of the turf. The institution in France which fulfils the same functions as the Jockey Club does in England is the "Societe d'Encouragement pour Amelioration des Races de Chevaux en France," founded by Lord Henry Seymour in 1833. This society owns the race courses at Longchamps and Chantilly, and all racing on the flat in France is under its direction.

At this year's annual meeting of the Societe d'Encouragement last month three new members were elected to take the places of the Count de Berteux, M. H. Ridgway and M. Henri Delamarre, who died last year. The new members are the Count de Talhouet-Roy, Baron Foy and M. A. Du Bos.

Among the honorary members of the society are the King of England, the Duke of Portland, Lord Durham and Mr Leopold de Rothschild.

The president is Prince Auguste d'Arenberg. There are only thirty-six members, all of them being prominent owners or breeders of race horses, and most of them undertake work on special committees. The stewards for the coming year are the Marquis de Ganay, the Count de Quincey, and Baron Gourgaud; deputy stewards being the Count le Marois, Baron A. de Schickler, and Count P. de Sainte-Phalle. There is a finance committee, a "program" committee, and special committees to frame the rules of racing and see they are carried out, to inspect and maintain the race courses, and to select and purchase the cups and objects d'art given as prizes. The benefit funds are under the control of another committee, and the English clergyman at Chantilly, the Rev. W. H. Armstrong, is especially nominated in connection with the institute for trainers, jockeys and stable lads at Chantilly. Among the changes introduced by the society this year is the converting of the ancient Prix du Cedre in to the Prix Henri Delamarre, the value being raised to £1600. This will be, in future, the last of the important three-year-old races on the year's program. The Prix de la Neva, which was founded in 1864, has also had its name changed. This will in future be known as the Prix Berteux, in memory of the Count de Berteux, and it will be open to foreign horses.

The Steeplechase Society of France has also issued its program this week. The distance of the Grand Prix de Printemps at Auteuil has been increased by a quarter of a mile, and the value of the race raised to £300. Nine fresh handicaps, some for horses which have won a certain amount, and others for horses that have never won, have been created. The Prix Juigne, which was formerly for four-year-olds only, has been thrown open to older horses, and the Prix du Viaduc will in future be reserved for four-year-olds. The conditions of several other races have been modified. A notification which will affect English and Irish owners is to the effect that engagements for all the international races at Auteuil can in future be made at Dublin.

Langford's Quick Win Didn't Please French

(Paris Correspondence of London Sporting Life.)

Oh, my! Would that I could be silent about last Saturday's affair between Sam Langford and P. O. Curran at Luna Park. An awful fiasco it was, as you have already been told. Seven seconds of actual boxing, and just one blow struck! That's all. Which sets up a record, so far as France is concerned. The spectators did not relish it at all, and the moment they realized that it was all over they showed their displeasure in a way unmistakable. Many of them had paid handsomely for the privilege of being present at the ringside; and, truth to tell, they saw nothing—nothing that was satisfying. Happily for the promoter of the match, the finals of the army championships had to be decided, and these served to calm the people down, and the worst was a lot of shouting.

Now, Parisians, and everybody else, must know that any boxing match is liable to be over in quicksticks; such an abrupt ending to that Langford-Curran business only goes to show the glorious uncertainty of the sport. But I would say this: That section of the French press which has an unwholesome weakness for "boosting," had most, if not all, to do with the disappointment occasioned at Luna Park. With a sublime disregard for fact, they made it appear that Curran had it in him to introduce to the Boston negro one of the stiffest battles of his career. A terrible fellow Curran was made out to be. And when the petty officer curled up straight away one could, upon reflections, forgive the spectators for their loud-mouthed grumblings.

The time has surely come when the curb must be put on the "boster," the child of the paid press, if boxing in this country is to be a clean and healthy sport.

TECHNICAL DOWN DENTS.

Technical High School defeated first year Dents 2 to 1 in an exhibition game yesterday afternoon at Varsity Stadium. The game was fast and clean throughout, and it was the good work of the Tech. defence that won the game for them. Chartrand of St. Michaels and Beans of P.C.C. juniors starred for the Dents.
