Bellmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bellmore of Fredericton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. J. McArthur, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of both families. The house decorations were very lovely. The spacious drawing room where the ceremony was performed had been transformed into a bower of flowers, the mantle and fireplace being banked with evergreen, and pink and white carnations were used in profusion. In the corner where the bridal party stood was hung a curtain of evergreen entwined with smilax and pink and white roses. The living room was artistically decorated with yellow daffodils and evergreen, while the decorations in the dining room were carried out in pink and white roses, with streamers of smilax and roses extending from electrolier to corners of table. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father looked pretty and attractive in a smart tailored costume of navy serge, with trimmings of green broadcloth and black soutache braid. Her small blue straw hat was trimmed with pink roses, a bouquet of pink roses, melon shaped persian lamb muff and black spots completed a very stylish costume. The bride was unattended. Mrs. A. A. Bellmore, mother of the groom was handsomely gowned in black brocaded satin with cut jet trimming, and pink roses. Miss Jen Bellmore (groom's sister) wore a very pretty gown of grey silk crepe de chene over silk with pink trimmings and carried pink carnations. Miss Helen Stables, sister of the bride, looked winesome in blue brocaded satin with pearl trimmings, Mrs. McAllister, grandmother of the bride, was becomingly gowned in black silk with touches of white. Miss McAllister wore a pretty gown of black satin; Mrs. Allen J. Ferguson, who played the wedding march, was attractively gowned in black satin-brocade with underwaist of black georgette crepe over white satin. Mr. and Mrs. Bellmore left by the midnight train for Montreal and Toronto and on their return will reside in Fredericton, where the groom is in business with his father.
