

GREATER ST. JOHN

(Continued.) To the Editor of The Times:— Sir:—As time passes and we are approaching May 1st, or the great day when hundreds of families, with children, will be transferred from their present quarters into the streets, we wonder whether there has been any effort put forth to take care of the homeless ones.

own the places to have the proper safeguard to the health and comfort of the families concerned. The time has long since come when the old order of things must pass out. The mill will never, never grind with the water that has passed. Let us get away from the old order of things with all its colossal blunders, and put in its place a higher standard of ideals. Men with courage who will slam the old door against those who stand in the way of better conditions are urgently needed. Open up the gates of a brighter and better place for young people to rear their families in decency. Such a change would be a great blessing to the whole community, and we would see healthy, happy children growing into strong and faithful citizens.

LANCASTER LOOKS FOR IMPROVEMENT

A meeting of the executive of the Lancaster Community League was held last evening in Firemen's hall, Fairville. Councillor Golding presided, while E. C. Tippett acted as secretary. Councillor O'Brien, who was the chairman of the committee which interviewed the N. B. Power Company in regard to extending its lines to the proposed baseball park and amusement grounds, reported that the company looked very favorably upon the project. An outline of the proposed bill, which will be laid before the legislative assembly at the present session for the raising of a fund for improvements, was submitted and was commented on favorably by those present.

USE OF MOTOR TRUCKS ON FARMS INCREASING. U. S. Government Statistics Prove the Mule Is Holding His Own Better Than the Horse. Horses reached their maximum number in the United States in 1918 and since then have been gradually decreasing, according to the department of agriculture. That this gradual decline is not due merely to the passenger automobile is indicated by the survey recently made by 86,000 crop reporters in all sections of the country. They reported that more than 46,000 farmers are using motor trucks on their farms. The comments of the field agents throw an interesting light on the decrease in the number of horses. An agent in Tennessee says: "The raising of horses and mules has declined to some extent in the past few years. The tractor is taking the place of the horse in many instances. With the mule the decline is not so marked, as he is the mainstay of the farm though a few mules are being replaced by the tractor." Speaking of the decline in certain sections of Washington, the local representative in that state says: "Where a notable reduction has occurred in any county, it seems due to replacement of horse power by motor power." An agent in South Dakota writes: "With the competition of the gas tractor, there has been a diminishing demand for horses of the class raised in this district." Know His Place. "Did you order ham and eggs?" ask the head waiter. "Certainly not. I humbly request them."

A boon to mothers because so easy to serve. Two of these little loaves of baked wheat with hot milk make a nourishing meal.

MAXWELL Has Won Its Following Through Its Quality. THE metals used in the Maxwell chassis compare favorably pound for pound with those in the best cars that the world has produced, according to metallurgists. There is a real reason for this quality in a Maxwell. The fundamental purpose of the Maxwell is to carry the same passenger load over the same roads and at the same speeds as larger and more expensive cars. But it must perform this mission in an extremely economical way. Therefore the Maxwell has to be light. But to make it strong as well as light only the very best of materials can be employed. Hence, the quality metals. And it is through the quality of its metals that Maxwell has developed its following. This is a following that began five years ago with a foundation of 5,000 and now reaches a mark of 100,000 new Maxwell enthusiasts in 1920. 300,000 Maxwells now on the highways of two continents are a daily endorsement of the merit of this great car.
