During the past few years Capt. Chute has rescued from drowning no less than five lives, all of which would have been doomed had it not been for his bravery and marvellous presence of mind. Getting at once into the water without removing clothing, two of the five mentioned were sinking or the last time, and at this stage of drowning the subject is most difficult to handle. Mr. Chute managed to secure his men and with great effort swam with them a considerable distance and landed them alive. Mr. Chute's bravery should be recognized by the government.

HYMENEAL.

WHITNEY—CHARLTON.

The marriage took place at South Williamston, Annapolis, on Wednesday, of Miss Cora E. Charlton, of that place, and J. C. Whitney, of South Otselic, New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Balcom, of Clementsport, assisted by Rev. W. L. Archibald, of Lawrencetown, and solemnized at the residence of the bride's father, Phineas Charlton. Miss Edna Marshall assisted the bride and J. H. Perry was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney are spending a portion of their honeymoon in Halifax and are at the Carleton.

McCORMICK—ELDERKIN.

The residence of Mr. Chas. F. Elderkin, of this town, was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. Frederick McCormick, of Bridgetown, and Miss Bessie Johnson Elderkin, formerly of Wolfville but lately of the same town, were united in marriage. Rev. G. F. Johnson, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiated. The parlors were trimmed for the occasion and decorated with a profusion of cut flowers and potted plants. The bride was dressed in a travelling suit of blue cloth and was unattended. The presents were numerous and very pretty. The newly wedded couple embarked on the afternoon train for Halifax, en route for a trip through the eastern part of the province. On their return they will reside at Bridgetown. The Monitor tenders congratulations.

FOSTER—GARDNER.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Congregational Church, Brooklyn, Queens Co., on the evening of Wednesday, June 29th, at 8.30 o'clock, when Miss Lalla Gardner, daughter of Mr. Nathan Gardner, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Darrell Foster, conductor of the Caledonia Branch of the H. & S. W. Railway. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Collins, pastor of the Brooklyn Church. The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly attired in a lovely dress of white silk, with veil, and carried a beautiful bouquet of orange blossoms and maiden-hair ferns. She was attended by her friend, Miss Grace Grimm as maid of honor, who wore a pretty gown of corn-colored silk organdie, with hat to match. The bridesmaid was Miss Nettie Gardner, sister of the bride, who wore a becoming dress of crepe de chene with white hat. The groom was supported by Mr. Clayton Gardner, brother of the bride. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was beautifully rendered by Miss Genevieve McLeod, and the choir sang "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," as the bride entered the church.

Refreshments were served at the home of the bride, after the ceremony.

The popularity of the happy couple was shown by the many friends who were present and by the number of valuable and useful presents received by them. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome pearl necklace, and to the bridesmaids very dainty gold brooches.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster left by morning train for Sydney and other points of interest. We wish them a long and happy life.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ENOCH PARKER.

Died on Saturday evening, June 25, 1904, at the residence of her son, Deacon O. H. Parker, Brooklyn street, Mrs. Parker, widow of the late Enoch Parker who had died 20 years before. Mrs. Parker was born eighty-seven years ago in Church Street, Cornwallis, on the farm now owned by Mrs. William Young. When she was but a child the family removed to Brooklyn street, where she resided until her death. Her father was John Lyons, Esq. Mr. and Mrs. Parker raised a family of seven children, two sons and five daughters. The sons are Deacon O. H. Parker, Brooklyn street, and David A. Parker, Woodville. The daughters, Alice, wife of Deacon William C. Shaw, Berwick; Mary, widow of S. G. Congdon, Somerset; Margaret wife of Deacon William Craig, Bridgetown; Eunice, wife of Mr. Abijah Pearson, Union Square; and Ellen, who died a few years ago in Boston.

Mrs. Parker was a quiet, kind Christian woman, highly respected by all who knew her. In her family, where she shone brightest, she was loved and honored. The funeral was on Tuesday, and was largely attended. Services were conducted by Rev. C. K. Morse. The pall bearers were four grandsons, Ralph and Kenneth Parker, sons of O. H. Parker; Blake Pearson, son of Abijah Pearson, and Scott Parker, son of D. A. Parker. These four young men tenderly placed the remains of their honored grandmother beside the dust of their grandfather in the family lot at Cambridge.—Berwick Register.

—We regret to learn of the death of little Alice, the beloved four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Purdy, on June 17th, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Purdy is a son of J. H. Purdy, Esq., and his many friends in Nova Scotia will hear with sincere regret of this sad bereavement.

—On Thursday last occurred what might have been a very serious accident had many people been on the street at the time. Two yoke of oxen were pulling a load of lumber up Bridgeport hill, when the head yoke started at a more rapid gait than the second ones and took with them the end of the waggon tongue. The load then went off on a voyage of discovery, and at a rapid rate. It continued in the regular track down the hill and a team ahead thought it wise to hasten somewhat. Fortunately for the party concerned, the load turned to seek shelter under the oak, tearing up several planks on the sidewalk and splintering a length in the schoolhouse fence.

The Rifle Competition.

The first rifle competition between the Roundhill and Bridgetown teams took place last Friday afternoon on the Roundhill range, and resulted in a victory for the Roundhill team by 69 points. The day was not a favorable one for good scores as the light was very bad and by times rain fell so hard that the shooting had to be stopped awhile. A twelve to two o'clock wind prevailed all the afternoon, with more or less unsteadiness, which added to the difficulty of the shooting, especially for the visiting team. Col. LeCain coached for the Roundhill team, and Lieut. E. C. Schaffner for Bridgetown.

At the close of the competition there was a friendly match between the best six of the two civilian teams and six of the 69th military club, but as darkness was coming on the shooting was not very satisfactory. Only two ranges (500 and 600) were shot, and the civilians easily scored ahead of their competitors. Below are the scores of the two competitions.

After the sport was over the Round Hill club entertained the Bridgetown and Paradise teams at supper in the Roundhill hall, where W. C. Healy had spread a very sumptuous repast. Upwards of fifty sat down to supper, and after the meal was over, Capt. Smith, of the Roundhill team, proposed the health of the Bridgetown team in a pleasant speech, in which he explained the difficulties of understanding the tricks of the wind on the range. Capt. Milner responded and returned thanks for the Bridgetown team, and paid the Roundhill team a fine compliment for the general good feeling which existed between the teams and the magnificent way in which the visitors were treated and promised a better score for his team when next they met. Mr. B. W. Saunders spoke for the Paradise team, also expresssing appreciation of the good treatment which they had received. Speeches were also made by Col. LeCain and Jos. A. Bancroft, M. P. P., and others, and the meeting broke up with singing the National Anthem.
