YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

NORTH TORONTO.

Harvest thanksgiving services will be held at St. Clement's Church, Eglinton, to-morrow. The preachers for the day will be the Rev. A. K. Griffin of Dresden, and the rector, Rev. T. W. Powell. The anthem at the morning service will be Weldon's "O, Praise God in His Holiness." The evening service will be fully choral and Barnby's "O Lord, How Manifold Are Thy Works," will be sung.

Town Clerk Douglas and Assessor Brown selected 40 jurors from the lists on Thursday and got thru in time to see the Duke. Township Clerk W. A. Clarke and three of the assessors, who have a much larger job, started on Thursday and, after working some hours, adjourned to go to Toronto, and completed the selection yesterday.

Chief of Police Walmsley and County Constable Tomlinson were investigating a mystery reported to them yesterday. A woman stated that she saw a couple drive into the bush past the new water pumping station on Thursday evening at about 5 o'clock. The sound of a shot was heard and the man was seen to jump into the rig without the woman and drive hurriedly away. The matter was only reported yesterday morning and the constables went off immediately to see if there was anything in it. They found that a rig had been where stated lately, but no trace otherwise was found, and no idea of anything being wrong is entertained.

The Rev. A. K. Griffin, who is visiting the Rev. T. W. Powell, his brother-in-law, at St. Clement's Rectory, while on an Avenue-road car on Thursday morning, missed his pocketbook containing over $30 and his return railroad ticket. Mr. Griffin has heard nothing further of his loss.

AURORA.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norman have just returned home after a two months' trip to the Old Country.

Councillor Hatt, who has been seriously ill with typhoid, was reported yesterday to be slightly improved, and his recovery is hoped for.

Thomas Browning is moving into his new residence on Yonge-street.

Town Clerk Lundy was the only official present on Thursday to select jurors, the mayor and assessor being at the royal reception, and the meeting was adjourned until Monday.

The new shoe factory of Messrs. Underhill & Sisman, and Messrs. J. Fleury & Son's Agricultural Works, have made contracts for electric light from the town, and in consequence new machinery, including a 75 horse-power engine, will be added to the plant in the immediate future.

Mr. Charles Webster has just purchased the residence of Mrs. Robinson on Yonge street, and will remove there next month, when Mrs. Robinson and family will go to Toronto. Mr. Webster's house on Machell-avenue has been purchased by Mr. Wilkinson of the new shoe factory, and he will shortly take up his residence there.

Very little business was transacted in the town on Thursday and yesterday, many taking advantage of the cheap trips on the Metropolitan Railway, many of the cars being filled to their utmost capacity.

The Rev. G. L. Sprague, who has just commenced his ministerial work at the Baptist Church, will take as the subject of to-morrow evening's sermon, "The Wanderer Returned."

Mrs. A. C. Boyce of Rat Portage has returned home, after visiting her sister, Mrs. D. A. Radcliffe.

The searchlights on the City Hall, Toronto, were plainly visible at Aurora last night.

DEATH OF DAVID ELDER.

The many friends of Mr. David Elder of Elder's Mills, near Woodbridge, will regret to hear of his death, which occurred on Thursday morning. Deceased had been ailing from Bright's disease for some time and the end was not unexpected. Mr. Elder was born 64 years ago in Lower Canada and settled at Elder's Mills about the year 1860, where he learned the milling business with his cousin, the late James Ewart. For a time he managed the Stanley Mills and then purchased the mills which now carry his name, from Mr. William Taylor of Toronto, his uncle. Mr. Elder will be greatly missed, as he was well and favorably known in all parts of the county. Deceased leaves a widow, four daughters and two sons, Hosie, Jean, Mary and Kate, and William Elder of Roundthwaite, Man., and George Elder, who resides at home. The funeral takes place this morning at 11 o'clock to Knox Church Cemetery, con. 10, Vaughan.

MARKHAM.

A prominent C.P.R. official informed The Economist a day or two ago that the short loop line from Brown's Corners, via Markham to Claremont to connect with the main line at that point, would be an accomplished fact within the next year. This would constitute Markham one of the best shipping points in Western Ontario.

Mr. William Lount of Whitevale has nearly completed arrangements for the purchase of the Ramer property at Mount Joy. Mr. Lount will convert the planing mill into a brush handle factory, and will receive substantial encouragement from the business men of the town.

The infusion of new blood into the town is a most gratifying sign. Mr. H. B. Reesor is authority for the statement that a new shoe factory will shortly be formed to acquire the old Underhill & Sisman factory, to be in running operation within a month, and to employ between twenty and thirty hands. Manufacturing industries are the bone and sinew of any town, and therein is Markham pre-eminent.

Markham's electric light service is by no means perfect, and a general shaking up of the system is now in order.

The directors of the Markham Fair report the gate receipts as being $1632, somewhat less than last year. The entries were some 700 more in number than any other year.

UNIONVILLE.

The funeral of the late Homer Pingle on Monday last was largely attended. The remains were interred in St. Philip's Church Cemetery.

Miss Mabel Pingle, who has taught in the Public school at Dixon's Hill for the past five years, has resigned her position and will take a well-earned rest.

EXPLOSION IN A MINE.

Fairmont, W. Va., Oct. 11.—An explosion occurred at the New England mine of the Fairmont Mining Company near here to-day. Three dead have already been taken out, and six more are believed to be still in the mine, which is on fire. At the time of the explosion, twenty-five men were at work, but all but nine escaped. The explosion was caused by a broken lamp of one of the miners igniting the gas.

United States' Population.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 11.—The final census report on the population of the United States by sex, nativity and color was issued to-day. It shows that the males number 39,059,242, or 51.2 per cent. of the total population in 1900. The increase of 13,233,631 in total population since 1890 is made up of 6,744,179 males and 6,489,452 females, an increase of 20.9 of males and 21 of females. The foreign born element have increased only 12.4 per cent. and the native born population 22.5 per cent. since 1890. As to color and race, the population in 1900 comprises 66,990,802 white persons, and 9,312,585 colored persons, the latter comprising 8,840,785 persons of negro descent. The colored element as a whole shows an increase of 17.8 per cent. since 1890.

CURES PILES IN 5 DAYS

Dr. Agnew's Ointment might have a thousand testifying to its merits as an absolute cure for Piles only, but it cures permanently all manner of skin diseases too.

Adam Brydon, of Deleware Ave., Chatham, Ont., is a well known man in the west, and what he says of Dr. Agnew's Ointment can easily be verified. "I was troubled for a long time with piles. On the recommendation of our leading druggist I tried a box of this remarkable ointment, and after applying for four or five nights, it completely cured me of this troublesome ailment, and I heartily recommend it to all like sufferers." 35 cts. 79

CROWD KNEW NOT THE DUKE

They Saw Him in His Admiral's Uniform and the Great Busby Perplexed Them.

THEN HE APPEARED IN A "TOP"

But the Enthusiasm Was Splendid When He Was Recognized—Noisy Demonstrations.

Ever memorable as will be the historic events of yesterday, the innumerable street oddities and amusing incidents commingling in the day's and night's doings gave zest and spice to the enjoyment of the surging throngs who participated in and witnessed them. They were characteristic of and begun with the day. "Where's the Duke?" and cries of "There he is!" "There's the Duke!" were shouted by the excited, delighted, and many of them mystified, spectators, when His Royal Highness first set out in all the magnificence of martial grandeur for the review. The throng on Simcoe-street, which, after snatching a hasty breakfast, had taken up early position to view the start for the review, was not expecting that the admiral of the preceding gloriously eventful afternoon would ride forth on a white charger; that, in virtue of his exalted position, the Heir Apparent was, according to time and place, either a soldier or a sailor, a general or an admiral. The change from an admiral's hat to a gigantic "busby" added to the contrast, and delayed the public's recognition of the Duke. Hence, those spectators who first recognized him hurrahed and shouted "There's the Duke!" while those who innocently mistook him for one of his own advanced guard emphatically inquired "Where is he?" "Where's the Duke?" Then he was discovered. Then the Simcoe-street spectators rose equal to the occasion, and, with radiant faces, they cheered their Prince, and voiced their loyalty.

In the afternoon, a similar incident was almost a duplicate. The Duke had appeared as an admiral, had ridden forth as a general, and, in almost all his portraits, was pictured in the splendor of uniform. "Plug" hats might "go" on royal grooms, and "blinkers" on ridden steeds, but a prince of the blood royal in a silk tile and attired a la Aid. Cox was another matter. Hence, when returning with the weight of the new 'Varsity honor upon already well bettiled shoulders, His Highness was again the victim of another little mistake. This time, it was on the Avenue, at its junction with Queen-street. The first state carriage drove past, with members of the entourage in their shiny "toppers" and black cloth. They were not regarded as entitled to the cheers which were right on tap for Their Highnesses, but the opportunity was almost lost, as, forgetful that the 'Varsity function was not one for military or naval uniform, the spectators had the Duke and Duchess whirled past them before fully realizing that the modest gentleman, who graciously was raising his silk hat to them, was their destined future ruler, to whom the heartiest of cheers were but their slightest offering.

At night the vicinity of Government House was besieged with eager and enthusiastic citizens, who hoped for another, or it might be, in many cases, their first, view of Sir Oliver's royal guests. The glinting helmets of the mounted Body Guards shone with electric sheen from the illuminations of the famous old state domicile. The scene was picturesque. The multitude, in their eagerness, climbed upon and clung to the palings, so intent were many of the spectators on the passing show within. When the start for the function at the Parliament Buildings was made, the throng left the palings, and faced to the roadway, and, thru two living walls of loyal subjects, the Duke and Duchess passed onward, cheered by the people, who envied not society its privilege of proclaiming its loyalty with bowings at the full-dress reception, they The People having, at equally close range, had their no less dearly cherished privilege of attesting the depth of their loyalty by the heartiness of their British cheers.

While the brilliant state dinner and reception occupied the hundreds within the Parliament Buildings last night, legions of sightseers roamed the realm of enchantment afforded by the decorations and brilliant illuminations of the streets. Jollity and good humor prevailed everywhere. The strap-holder in the suffocating car was as contented as the multi-bondholder in the automobile cab. Here and there a jostle, a hustle, and, now and then, a slightly pugnacious scuffle marked the movements of the crowds, but the gentlemen in blue, with their "special" colleagues of the garter-striped wristlets, had almost a sinecure, all things considered. The practical joker was much in evidence. The gang of gamins, who had, the night before, paraded with horn and tinpot band, and his Satanic Majesty as leader, made their second appearance, with an indescribable rig, drawn by juveniles, the occupants of the rig impersonating, with measurable success, the bowing of certain very highly exalted and everywhere respected personages. The students, who paraded in a hay wagon as hayseeds, were a glorious success. There were scores of others, and two hundred thousand participants will, for years, delight to tell "there was a sound of revelry by night."

SAME CROWD, SAME NOISE.

Last Night's Demonstration Quite as Big as the First.

Last night witnessed a recurrence of Thursday's scenes on the streets. It was more pleasant celebrating and the enthusiasm was even more pronounced. Every street down town, where illuminations were to be seen was crowded with merry people, shouting thru megaphones and tooting horns. They were the same people who tramped the slushy streets Thursday night, evidencing the fact that too much cannot be had of a good thing.

It is remarkable that such crowds could move about without accident. Yet no one was hurt. Car drivers had to exercise an extraordinary amount of caution to prevent running down excited and enthusiastic citizens. Drivers of vehicles, also, are to be complimented for their consideration of the welfare of pedestrians. Fractious horses might have brought disaster to many, but the said horses were not there. They were the tamest lot of steeds that ever drew a bit.

To-night the city will be ablaze for the last time on such a scale, perhaps, in the lives of many. Then the city will settle down to business and to the more profitable business of attending strictly to business.

The Royal Visit.

The Royal Visit number of The Sunday World, out to-night at 8 o'clock, will contain two hair-tone pictures of the lacrosse match at Ottawa, played before the royal party, in which a splendid picture of the Duke and Duchess appears.

No Increase in Price.

The Royal Visit number of The Sunday World will be sold to-night at the regular price, 5 cents per copy.

A NEW CURE FOR THE DEAF.

Under this heading we published last week an article referring to a new treatment for the cure of these complaints. As a great many letters have been sent us by readers requiring additional information, we would remind them that they should apply directly to the Secretary of the Drouet Institute, 72 Regent's Park-road, London, England, who will be most pleased to advise them as to the best means of availing themselves of the advantages of the new discovery.

Sun Shone at the Finish.

By the time the last man of the South African heroes had received his medal the sun was making a rather successful effort to break thru the mist, and before many of the regiments had passed in review it succeeded. The Body Guards and Mounted Rifles, of course, as local regiments, captured a generous share of the applause. The march past of the artillery was enlivened by the antics of several fractious horses with the guns, and for a time it looked as if some of the drivers would be thrown. But everything got straightened out, and no mishap occurred. The marching of the various regiments in the infantry brigades was exceptionally good. Many of the companies, however, were merely skeleton companies, and this rather spoiled the appearance of some of the regiments. The 22nd Oxford Rifles had a Maxim gun with them. The Highlanders were most popular, and next in order to receive generous applause were the Indians of the Brantford regiment, who made a good showing.

Veterans of '66 and '85.

The veterans of 1866 and 1885 turned out in force. Over 100 members of the Northwest Field Force, or the veterans of '85, gathered at Stanley Park at 9.30, and proceeded to the Exhibition grounds, where they took up a position to the right of the saluting point. Col. Smith, Major Harston, Major Campbell of Collingwood and Capt. Cassels were in charge of the detachment.

The veterans of '66 also met at Stanley Park, and marched to the grounds, where they took up a position to the left of the saluting point. They numbered 280 men, and were under command of Major Dixon, Acting Senior Major Capt. Musson, Acting Junior Major Capt. A. W. Porte and Capt. Fahey adjutant.

Army and Navy Veterans.

It was a grand day for H. M. Army and Navy Veterans. Nearly a hundred old and grizzled warriors who have done battle for the Empire on many a foreign strand assembled at Occident Hall early in the morning, and marched via Queen-street and Strachan-avenue to the reviewing ground. When the Duke rode down the line the old soldiers cheered him to the echo. Each veteran wore on his breast a medal specially gotten up to commemorate the occasion, while Corp. Edward Lee, late Royal Irish Lancers, carried a large brand new Union Jack. The handsome flag presented to the association in 1897 was carried by Col.-Sergt. Frank Niblett, 30th Regt.

Among the veterans on parade were President Wm. Gibbs, Vice-President Henry Flight, Chaplain John Nunn, Secretary A. Bennett, Col. Villers, Capt. H. B. Drayton, Capt. John Ridout, Rev. Mr. Brookman, late chaplain the Hon. East India Co.'s navy, Corp. Ammond Graeme, Pte. Michael Brophy, 62nd Regiment, who wears the medal of the French Legion of Honor; Pte. John McCluskey, the Buffs; Hugh Fegan, R.H.A.; Chas. Hills, Jas. Loads, 29th Regiment; James Little, 72nd Regiment; Wm. Ghent, 69th Regiment; W. R. Simmons, R.N.; G. A. M. Mace, Queen's Own; Luke Dillon, T.F.B.; M. Sullivan, R.H.A.; J. Sullivan, the Buffs; W. H. Britt, 31st Regiment; Q.M.S. J. Brown, R.E.; Sergt.-Major Marshall, 21st Regiment; Sergt. Cresswell, 20th Regiment; George Pearce, R. H. A.; Sergt. Cerey, 39th Regiment; T. W. Blake, R.A.; E. P. O'Reilly, 47th Regiment; Chas. Ellingsworth, 93rd; Ed. Harris, S. Staffordshire; Major Graham, 35th; Sergt.-Major Fisher, Scots Greys; William Taylor, 47th; W. J. Kemish, R.N.; Sergt.-Major Wm. Cantlan, 62nd Regiment, who wears a medal for the battle of Sobraon, 1846; William J. Hobson, R.N.; Jacob Church, R.H.A.; William Honeycombe, Royal Jersey Militia; Henry Powers, R.A.; Col.-Sergt. John Murphy, 14th; George Goddard and J. J. Porter, Prince Consort's Own; David Haines, military train; Bom. William Hall, R.H.A.; Edward Huntley, T.F.R.; Charles Wilson, 42nd; William K. McGuihn, R.M.L.I.; Corp. J. Wingfield, 9th; Capt. Vennels, 12th Batt, York Rangers; Gr. Henry Crane, Gr. William Hall, Gr. George Dawes, R.A.; George Tinsley, 30th; James Bain, 6th; Col.-Sergt. John Bilfon, 6th Foot, the oldest veteran on parade, having enlisted in 1839, and served under the Duke of Wellington and other Peninsula war heroes; T. Richardson, 90th; Henry Gloster, 24th; Adam Bunch, 42nd; J. Smeaton of Inglewood, 42nd; Thomas McBrien, Royal Dublin Fusiliers; Captain Wallace of Lindsay, 45th; four Verral brothers, Robert, William, John and Charles, who served in the Fenian raid. Edward Tyler was marshal of the parade.

Policemen Decorated.

Two policemen, who were not in the line of veterans when the Duke presented the South African medals, were afterwards decorated by General O'Grady-Haly. They were Officers McCall and Ironside.

Infantry on Route March.

A route march was taken by the infantry brigades after the review. They passed out of the Dufferin-street gate, and proceeded to Queen-street, thence along Bathurst-street to King-street, and back to the Exhibition grounds. The 13th Regiment of Hamilton, however, remained on the grounds, and went thru the beautiful ceremony of trooping the colors.

THROWN FROM HIS HORSE.

Major Thompson of the Twelfth Has a Narrow Escape.

Major Thompson of the 12th York Rangers had a narrow escape from serious injury while riding at the head of his corps into the Exhibition Grounds. His horse stumbled at the entrance, and rolled over, throwing the Major head first on to the soft ground. His sword blade was buried in the soil, and the hand which held it dug into several inches of soggy ground. He would undoubtedly have been injured had the ground been hard.

STEAMER IN TOW.

St. John's, N. F., Oct. 11.—The Cape Race Signal Station reports that a steamer is approaching with another steamer in tow. They are making for St. John's, and will arrive here during the night. No details are obtainable at present.
