The Spark Plugs Tell the Tale of Motor Power

However good your motor, it cannot produce its highest power without efficient spark plugs.

The spark plug, in turn, depends on the insulator which must withstand the same hammering blows of gas explosions and the same rapid expansion as the steel cylinder in which it is placed. That is where 3,450 insulators in

Champion Dependable Spark Plugs prove their superiority. 3,450 separate experiments have produced in Champion insulators a material so much like steel in its ability to withstand the hardest punishment that it is practically indestructible.

There's a Champion Spark Plug that will make every engine, no matter what its purpose may be, produce its' highest power.

You'll find Champion Spark Plugs in our MOTOR CAR SUPPLY DEPARTMENT, FIRST FLOOR.

THE "DOWN AND OUTS."
The "down and out" fund was swelled this morning in the police court when the magistrate made an appeal to the spectators for a collection that would be used to help send some poor unfortunate person home when discharged from jail penniless. GIVEN A SURPRISE.
Last evening Clinton Wetmore invited Harry Coleman to spend the evening of his eighteenth birthday with him, at Gondola Point. On the way out the lady called at the home of Harry's aunt, Miss Ada Chamberlain, ostensibly to get water for the automobile. But to Harry's great surprise a host of friends and relatives had gathered there to celebrate his birthday. After supper, at which an appropriate birthday cake decorated the table, Rev. R. T. McKim, on behalf of all presented to Harry a well filled purse, and bestowed on him congratulations and wishes for his future success in the college course which he will commence in October. The young man made an appropriate reply, thanking his many friends for their kindness to him, after which the party sang "For He Is a Jolly Good Fellow," and each wished him success in his undertaking.

POLICEMAN KIERSTEAD TELLS OF THE TROUBLE

Has Been in Hospital Recovering From Injuries—Busy Session of Police Court

In the police court this morning three men charged with drunkenness pleaded guilty, and were remanded.

When asked by the court how much he paid for the liquor one said: "It cost me a good deal. Your Honor. When I got drunk last night in Main street I had $60 but when I awakened this morning I had only fifteen cents."

A case against William Sharkey, Collins and Tony Mavarkos, charged with assaulting Policeman Kierstead on the morning of July 23, was taken up. Policeman Kierstead gave evidence. He said that when he caught up to Sharkey they clinked and fell and Sharkey took him by the throat nearly breaking his neck. He said they were on the ground ten or fifteen minutes when three other men, one of whom was Mavarkos, arrived. He said the other two men were not in court, although he knew the name of one. The policeman said that Mavarkos when he saw what was going on used profane language. He told the policeman to be careful or he would kill Sharkey and added, "Come on boys, this is France, let's kill this fellow," meaning the policeman. The witness said Mavarkos then said to him "I will kill you" and he took an umbrella from one of the men and started at the policeman, but the owner of the umbrella stopped him. Policeman McFarlane came along and all the men escaped.

Policeman Kierstead has been in the hospital recovering from his injuries.

Policeman McFarlane gave evidence that he saw the crowd in the street, and they were singing, yelling and using profane and obscene language. He said he went up to them took Sharkey by the shoulder and told him to get home, which he said he would do, but on being released he went about fifty yards and used obscene language to him. The policeman said he then started after him, but Policeman Kierstead passed him and gave chase. Policeman McFarlane went back and went into the C. P. R. office and telephoned for help, and started in the direction the other policeman had taken. He said he met Mavarkos and told him to go home but he said "I can stay out all night if I like." The policeman then went to the scene and found Kierstead semi-conscious, and the assailants had just escaped. He said that Sergeant Journey, told him what had happened and they gave chase, and Sergeant Journey arrested Collins.

Sergeant Journey gave evidence to that effect.

The case was postponed until Tuesday morning at 10.30. E. S. Ritchie appeared for Mavarkos and Sharkey, and Thomas Sweeney for Collins.

Harry White, of Main street, who was charged some time ago with having a troublesome dog, was fined this morning, but the fine was allowed to stand.

A case against Paul Rantall, charged with assaulting Harold Guilfoyle, was resumed. The magistrate said: "How would it do if I fined you both? One married couple is as bad as the other." Rantall said he was willing to drop the case as he said both of them fought as hard as they could. Guilfoyle consented to this and the magistrate said: "Let the women keep out of it. Understand, I am putting the women under a hard penance, they are to hold their tongues." The case then went to a conclusion.

A case against George Rusonoff, charged with getting money under false pretences from Rosa Magdel, was set over until Monday afternoon at 2.30. M. B. Innes appeared for the complainant. Of two robes and a duster advertised as being found in King Square recently, it has been found that the articles were taken from a car. Sergeant Detective Power and Detective Biddiscombe have been on the case. Robert J. Finnegan was charged with stealing the two robes, valued at $20. He was remanded.

NORMAN N. GREGORY DIED THIS MORNING

Stricken at Summer Residence in Millidgeville

Prominent in Business Life of the City And Performed Valuable Work Here During the War

Norman N. Gregory of the firm of H. S. Gregory & Sons died at his summer home in Millidgeville early this morning after a brief illness. He took ill yesterday morning and while his condition was serious his relatives were confident that he would rally as he had on previous occasions. During the night, however, his condition became critical and it was evident that the end was near. At six o'clock this morning he passed away.

He was a son of the late Hugh S. Gregory and was born in St. Stephen in 1868. Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, Hugh C. Teller in the Provincial Bank, North End branch and Charles Grant, also four brothers, Alex and George, with whom he was associated in a contracting and stevedore business, Herbert W. of Grandforks, B. C., Hugh Roy, and Willard B., of this city, also one sister, Miss Alma P. Gregory of this city. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Gregory was one of the most prominent business men in the city and many expressions of regret were heard about the streets this morning when it was learned that he had passed away. His activities were confined chiefly to the harbor front due to his work as a stevedore and also owing to the fact that the firm owned tugs, lighters, etc. He became actively connected with the firm as a young man and after the death of his father the business was carried on by his brother and himself. During the great war, when business in the harbor was the heaviest in the history of the port, he labored indefatigably in order to keep required freights moving. His knowledge of stevedore work was above the ordinary and he was highly thought of by local steamship officials.

Mr. Gregory was a man known and respected by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. He was conversant in many subjects and well versed in happenings of the day. He never sought preferment in civic or federal politics, but devoted all of his time to his business and as a result of his efforts, while associated with his brother, kept up the good work entrusted to him by his father. The sympathy of a host of friends will go out to the bereaved family.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR TRADE WITH ARGENTINE

B. S. Webb, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Argentine, who has been sent to the maritime provinces by the Department of Trade and Commerce to assist manufacturers in the province to develop the trade opportunities which await them in the Argentine, left this morning for St. Stephen to confer with exporters in that town. Whether it has been a matter of transportation facilities or other causes, Mr. Webb said his Buenos Ayres office had received enquiries from two St. John manufacturers. With the increased facilities for shipment, which Mr. Webb has been instrumental in procuring, he is expected that Canadian manufacturers will make a stronger bid for business in the South American markets.

Mr. Webb visited upper Canadian cities before coming to the maritime provinces and in Hamilton alone he found sixty requests awaiting him for concessions with the manufacturers of that city. Mr. Webb will return to St. John on Saturday and will be at the disposal of St. John manufacturers, through the local Board of Trade office, all day Monday.
