BUFFALO AND LAKE HURON RAILWAY.

HALF-YEARLY GENERAL MEETING.

(From the London Times, Oct. 22.)

The half yearling general meeting of this company was held yesterday at the London Tavern, Mr. P. Ramsen in the chair. The report, an abstract of which has already appeared, was taken and read.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, said that the net profits arising to the company, under the agreement, were still considerably below the amount requisite to pay the total obligations of the company, still the net receipts showed considerable progress, and there appeared to be a balance on the half-year beyond the amount payable for interest on debentures, which was so far satisfactory. He was afraid the holders of preference shares would suffer considerable disappointment from not receiving anything for their outlay. They had, however, for the first time, arrived at a point that any further progress must leave something for the preference shares, and afford them some return. In reference to the payment of interest on the several classes of bonds for the past half year there was a small surplus which might, if available, be applied towards arrears on the preference shares, but for the year ending the 30th of June last it would be found the average profits fell short of the amount required to pay the interest on the bonds; they were only £37,000, while the amount required to pay the interest on those bonds was about £39,000, so that, taking the year, there was no surplus to deal with, but a small debt to provide for after paying the interest on the several mortgages and coupon bonds The fixed burdens of the company before anything could go to the ordinary shareholders amounted to £68,400, a year, or £34,200 for the half-year. The first, second, and third bonds would require £40,000 per annum, in addition to which the capitalized coupons for two years' arrears of interest would require £4,250 per annum. The interest on the first preference share would amount to £10,500, and on the second preference shares to £14 650, making £68,400 per annum in round numbers, but to that sum the interest on the arrears (£80,000) due on preference shares which the directors proposed to capitalize would add £4,200, making the full amount of interest and preference charges £73,600, per annum, or £34,300 per half year, before the ordinary shares could get anything. The present net income of the company averaged about £40,000 a year, and looking to the progress they had already made, he thought they might look forward to a time when they should be able to meet the whole of those preference charges, and have a surplus. The traffic on the Grand Trunk of Canada had increased year after year, and as the Buffalo company participated in a certain percentage of the net receipts of the joint concern, there would be something for the ordinary stock of the company sooner or later. The abrogation of the reciprocity treaty with the United States had disturbed the course of trade in Canada; they had been shut out of certain American markets and they would have to find new outlets for their traffic to compensate them for the loss of the American markets. It was believed that an intercolonial traffic would arise, and that the confederation of the British provinces would be accelerated by the cessation of that treaty. Owing to the continuances of wet weather in July and during the harvest time in Canada, the crops were in such a condition that the railway traffic might suffer to some extent, but it was supposed that the loss of traffic in some places would be fully compensated by new traffic to other places. The long negociation with the Grand Trunk of Canada company for the settlement and apportionment of certain charges was nearly concluded, so that in future the accountants would be enabled to make up the accounts in proper form as between the two companies. He concluded by moving the adoption of the report and statement of accounts, subject to the statement of accounts with the Grand Trunk company.

Mr. C. Halland seconded the motion, which, after some observations by Mr. Moxon and Mr. Hartridge, was carried unanimously, and the retiring directions were reelected.

A special meeting was then held, and an act of the Canadian legislature for confirming the agreement of the 7th of July, 1864, between the Buffalo and Lake Huron and Grand Trunk railway companies was accepted and approved. It authorized the reduction of the number of directors to three. Another act was also accepted and approved for enabling the company to capitalize the arrears of interest due on the preference shares. It was stated that the arrears would be capitalized up to the 29th of September last; and the proceedings concluded with a vote of thanks to the chairman and directors.

A Good Use of Wit.

While Phineas Rice, an early Methodist preacher, was stationed in one of the New York churches, he found that many of the young people of both sexes, were accustomed to leave the church before the close of the evening service. It annoyed him, and he determined to stop it. The next Sabbath evening, before he commenced his sermon, he said:

Some of my brethern have been greatly afflicted that so many young women leave the church before the service is through. But I tell them they ought not to feel so, for doubtless most of those that go out are young women who live at service, and their mistresses desire them to be home at that time, they will either lose their places or offend their mistresses, and they dont want to do either. They must either go out in time to get home at nine o'clock or stay at home altogether. This would be very hard for them; and servant girls have beaux as well as other girls, and the young men have to go out and wait upon them home; and so, hereafter, when these young women leave the church before the service is over, you will understand who they are, and not feel badly about it.

MEAN.—A claim has been preferred by the contractors of the Quebec and Levis ferry, upon the military authorities for payment of four hundred fares for the crossing of the detachments from the camp at Levis, on Sunday to render assistance at the fire. The Officer to whom it was presented refused to liquidate it. Legally, if insisted upon, it must be paid and in that case, it will be the duty of the Corporation to settle it.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The following is by the Cable, dated Rio Janeiro, Oct. 10th via London Nov. 5:—Another battle took place at Fort Curapaily on the 22nd September.—The gunboats engaged the Fort from the river, while the allied storming columns attacked the Paraguayan lines, in the midst of a shower of grape and musketery, and nobly captured the first parallels. They failed however to take the second, and were compelled to retire, after having sustained a loss of 5,000 men, and having several gunboats disabled. Great excitement prevails. Further operations are suspended.

☞ Referring to the reported scarcity of seamen for the navy, the Morning Post says:—"So far from this being the case, we find from returns, that the seamen, marines, and boys in the fleet are practically in excess of the number that were voted in the last sessions of Parliament."

TWO GEESE IN A CHURCH.—An English Journal vouches for the truth of the following:—"A few Sabbaths ago, while a minister was conducting public worship in one of the West Mainland churches, the service was interrupted by the entrance of a goose. The psalm had just been given out, and the congregation were beginning to sing, when the circumstance attracted the attention of the precentor, who so far forgot himself that he lost the tune. During the silence which consequently intervened the minister whispered to one of the office-bearers to put out the goose. The office-bearer, being ignorant of the presence of a bona fide animal of the species, thought it was the precentor that was referred to, and laid hold of him with the intention of executing his instructions, which he would have done, our correspondent adds, had the precentor not made a powerful resistance."
