Business Troubles.

The following business embarrassments are reported: Wm. Ong, cooper, Burlington, assigned; S. Yanwyck, blacksmith, Meaford, assigned; J. G. Allerty, sadler, Toronto, assigned.

Commercial Miscellany.

The railroads are charging all the ills from which they suffer to the Inter-State Commerce law, and if the charge is just there can be no assurance of future earnings until the law is repealed.—Wall Street News.

Business was exceedingly dull last week in iron, and like other departments of trade it felt the depressing influences of the election. The steel rails trade is not encouraging, and transactions have been reported at $27.50 and $28 per ton at the mills.

Mr. Jay Gould remarked Tuesday night: "I am perfectly satisfied with the outcome. I foresaw that the elections could result only as they have done. Matters suppose ever I look for a more active and better market."

The pretended theory of some at the advocates of lower prices of stocks, that the corn crop has been already discounted, says The Wall Street News, will hardly hold water. As a matter of fact, it is simply impossible to discount such a crop, as we have never had anything like it before.

You are in no danger of being forced to buy when you go to the Army & Navy stores. No worrying customers into buying what they do not want at the Army & Navy. England, Germany, Scotland and Canada have all contributed to the ready-made clothing stock at the Army & Navy, and if you want these goods at the lowest prices you can get them, you must be hard to suit.

How to Build a Subway.

Editor World: Having noticed your subway at Parkdale at the time of the Exhibition, I came to the conclusion that it was a mistake to build subways that way. It will always be full of mud, slush and other inconveniences. Let an iron bridge engineer lay out a plan of trestle and spans to cross the street by, that is the railroad running across above. Next let his plan have the sidewalks run under the railroad, say 7½ feet below them. The incline the people would have to go would be imperceptible, and it would be perfectly safe even for children. All wheeled conveyances would have to go to the bottom and up again, but the people would be going through something like a suspension bridge. The mason work should not be more than two feet out of the ground for iron spans to rest upon them. The subway would be filled with sun and light, dampness and darkness would disappear, and a thing of beauty and strength would take the place of dead walls.

Michell, Nov. 6. E. J. R.

The human face even when beautiful has often little defects but not so with those boys' overcoats at the Army & Navy stores. Have you seen those dear little nap overcoats at one dollar, one fifty, two dollars all with capes on? It is a matter to astound how the Army & Navy can sell such fine clothing at such low prices—it is in the enormous trade at the Army & Navy stores that keeps the prices so low.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING
EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.
