WHY ENGLISH OARSMEN WIN

Ned Hanlan Shows That the Chances Are Against the American Crews at Henley.

HOT AIR FOR PENNSYLVANIA.

Age, Strength and Experience Are on the Side of the Englishmen.

"Nothing but the most phenomenal luck can make an American college crew win at Henley," said Edward Hanlan yesterday. "I wish the University of Pennsylvania boys the best luck, but I shall be agreeably surprised if they win. Victory for them will be a triumph of tremendous pluck over many and difficult obstacles."

Hanlan, the most successful sculler the world ever saw, is coaching Columbia's crew now. He knows all about the art of getting the greatest possible amount of speed out of boats propelled with oars or sculls.

"But the Columbia College four came home victorious in 1878," said The World reporter, "and there is surely no reason why an Englishman can row faster than an American." Hanlan still shook his head.

"There are several reasons," he said, "why the American college crew is severely handicapped when it rows against the crews across the water, and I think those reasons are sufficiently strong to prevent any ordinary American college crew from winning. They would have to get a crew of eight physical phenomenons to do it, and it is sometimes possible, as Columbia showed in 1878, to get that such one, it is an entirely different proposition to get together an eight which will be unbeatable when they get to the other side of the water.

"And there comes in one of the greatest handicaps to an American crew. Their long voyage across the ocean makes the greatest change in the physical condition of the men, and in such a sport as rowing a man must be in the pink of condxion to stand a gruelling race. The climatic conditions, the air and water are different, and it is sheer luck in a great number of instances if the physical condition of the crew is not affected. Rowing men are more delicate than racehorses.

"But the climatic objection is one of the least important considerations to be dealt with. There is the greatest disparity in age between the crews representing the English and American universities. I was in my prime in rowing when I was 28 years of age. Looking back oer my rowing career, I can remember that at 20 I was skilful, but a mere boy. It is the same with the crews of all our American colleges. Most of the men in the crews of Pennsylvania, Yale, Columbia, Cornell, Georgetown, Wisconsin and Harvard are to-day mere boys in development. They have neither the weight nor the stamina of a man of 28 or 30, and have really only just begun to broaden out after attaining their full height.

"With the English crews it is different. I have rowed in England myself, and I am fairly acquainted with the conditions there. I won three successive races and the Sportsman's championship cup in England in 1880 and 1881, defeating William Elliott over the Tyne championship course; Edward Trickett of Australia, over the Thames course, and Elias Laycock, also of Australia, over the same course. From what I know of rowing in England I should judge that the age of the crews against which our American college boys are pitted must average nearer 30 than 20 years. They are university men. Our fellows are college boys.

"Naturally, then, in the Henley regatta an American crew weighs its grit and pluck against the age, strength and experience of the English oarsmen, and the result is seldom likely to be in doubt."—N. Y. World.

Entries Still Coming In.

There will be one wrestling event decided at the C.A.A.U. championships, which begin Thursday night at the Mutual-street Rink. The Argonaut Tournament Committee met last night and reached that decision. The weight will be 158 pounds, and the contestants will be Gauthier of Peterboro and Neilson of the West End Y.M.C.A. The other entries will have their money returned.

These additional entries were received yesterday by Secretary Doherty: 135-lb. class—Frank Hern, Parkdale Athletic Club; 4 C. Fisher, Parkdale Athletic Club; Arthur B. Loudon, Toronto. 145-lb. class—William Henderson, B Bicycle Club. The draw will not be announced until Thursday morning, so as not to bear out belated entries.

Word was received yesterday that the Ottawa and Montreal men would leave their happy homes to-night for Toronto. They will do light training here at Scholes' Gymnasium. V. Nichols, a 125-pounder, of Ottawa, will not come, owing to an injured hand.

Five additional medals for the five men home will also be given. Already six prominent clubs have intimated their intention of sending a team, and a great race for premier honors is anticipated.

The first battle was put on at 2.30. It lasted an hour and 25 minutes, and was the most fiercely contested of the main. The Rochester cock was unable to respond. Eleven battles were scheduled to be fought. The Buffalo gamesters won the first six and the main. The second battle lasted 30 minutes, the third 15 minutes, the fourth 14 minutes, the fifth 5 minutes, and the sixth 3 minutes. At least $3000 is said to have changed hands over the result.

THE TORONTOS AT PRACTICE

Regulars Beat Louis Bruce's Phenoms at Paterson, N.J., by Eight Runs to Three.

ALL EXCEPT CARR REPORTED.

Rochester and Syracuse Exhibitions Off and Phenoms Challenge for 3 More Games.

Paterson, N.J., April 8.—The Toronto players got their first real practice of the season to-day, in spite of threatening weather. They took a couple of hours of warming-up practice during the forenoon, and this afternoon the Phenoms, with several local players added, and captained by Louie Bruce, played the Regulars a match game, which resulted in victory for the Regulars by a score of 8 to 3. Some brilliant fielding was indulged in by the Regulars' infield. The star of the Phenoms was Captain Bruce, whose batting and fielding at third base were features.

The pitchers did not let themselves out on account of the cold wind blowing, but enough of their work could be seen to show that the staff is as good as any in the Eastern League. Cooper, McFall and Aitrock all show up well.

The catching department is in good hands. Bemis is bigger and stronger than ever, and bids fair to carry off the league honors for the position. Hargrove was not able to practise, as he has had a slight attack of the grip, and the doctor ordered him to keep indoors for a couple of days.

The games with Rochester and Syracuse have been called off by mutual consent of all concerned, and will be played next week possibly. The Phenoms are not satisfied with to-day's result, and have challenged for a series of three more games, and by the time these are played the team will be in fair shape to tackle the Philadelphia Club Friday and Saturday. Olson Not Disheartened.

Harry Gilmore and Ole Olson returned from Toronto yesterday morning. The local featherweight bore no traces of his bout with Jack McClelland of Pittsburg in the city last Friday night, the latter of whom he was defeated in 16 rounds.

Altho Olson lost the decision, he made such a good showing that he has been promoted to a return match with the conqueror before the same club. According to Gilmore's account of the contest, Olson held his man even all the way until the 16th, and, as it proved, final round, when the Pittsburg man managed to whip a right across to the jaw that sent Olson down for the count. McClelland had been trying to get this punch home from the first call of time, and finally succeeded.

The matchmaker of the Crescent Athletic Club of Toronto has promised Gilmore a match for his lightweight protege, Martin Duffy, with Spike Sullivan, in the near future. Caffery in Racing Trim.

Hamilton, April 8.—All the Hamilton runners who are going to compete in the Marathon race at Boston on April 19 went around the bay yesterday. Jack Caffery went 25 miles last week, and, as he is about ready, he took his time, going over the course in about two hours and a quarter. He will leave for Boston on Wednesday, as he wants to go over the course several times before the race. The Americans will have to step some to beat Caffery. Hughson and Sherring did satisfactory work. Davis, the Indian, showed up well in The Herald race on Thanksgiving Day, but his style of running doesn't please the experts.

HORSES AT WOODBINE PARK

Ice and Snow All Cleared Away and a Few Days Will See the Track Fit for Galloping.

ROBERT DAVIE'S LIKELY LOT.

Joseph Duggan's String Look Well, and Allie Gates Has Several Good Thorobreds.

Things are beginning to look like spring around Woodbine Park. The snow and ice have all disappeared, and the track is ahead of last year by a good margin, and, providing that dry weather continues for a few days, the outside edge will be fit for galloping. There are a number of thorobreds stabled at and around Woodbine, and the different trainers work out their charges on the roads each day. Men are at work with the harrows and around the paddock cleaning-up for spring.

Mr. Davies' Thorobreds.

The horses of Mr. R. Davies are stabled at the Woodbine, and the lot never looked better this early in the season than they do this year. There are six good ones in the string that is being trained by Ben Pope. The lot include a couple of good-looking 2-year-olds. The pride of the stable is Opuntia, the Plate candidate, a fine-looking gelding, well filled-out, and almost ready for hard work. Opuntia showed some bursts of speed last season, and therefore is a tried horse. For looks, the best one in the bunch is a 2-year-old out of Kilrona, by Farthing. The string consists of:

Opuntia, ch.c., 4, by Parisian—Thistle.

Parisian Lady, b.f., 3, by Parisian—Andante.

Trustee, b.g., 4, by Mikado—Fidelia.

Farthingale, b.f., 2, by Farthing—Kilrona.

Faith, b.f., 2, by Mikado—Fidelia.

Quarter Penny, ch.g., 2, by Farthing—Fair Flora.

Joe Duggan's String.

Mr. Joseph Duggan of Woodbine will have eight thorobreds in training for the spring meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club. They will be trained by Johnny Graver, who has the lot already at light work, and they look well for so early in the season. There are two Platers in the bunch—Moral and Foam Crest. There is one absentee from the Duggan string, altho not in training for the past two years, Foam, who was disposed of this spring. The eight in training for the spring meeting include the 40-to-1 shot Violent. She looks well, and is as frisky as a 2-year-old. There are two racy-looking 2-year-olds, Red Car and Crestfallen, sired by Foam. The lot consists of:

Beguile, b.g., 6, by Jullien—Miss Deceiver.

Dr. Stewart, ch., 96 ——.

Violent, b.f., 5, by Jack of Diamonds—Noisy.

Joss, b.m., 6, by Royal Hampton—Joyzan.

Foam Crest, b.f., 3, by Foam—Pall Malla.

Crestfallen, b.f., 3, by Foam—Noisy.

Red Car, ch.g., 3, by Meddler—Mint Bloom.

Allie Gates' Thorobreds.

Trainer Allie Gates has a bunch of thorobreds stabled at the red barn across from the track. This lot look well, and get work on the roads each day. In the string are:

Orontas, br.c., by Azra—Starlight.

Benckart, ch.h., 3, by Galon d'Or—Marie Shaklin.

Devil's Own, ch.c., 4, by Bel Demonio—Polydora.

And the Platers Paardeberg and War Sprite.

THE PLATT AMENDMENT.

Cubans Will Neither Accept Nor Reject the Measure—Coming Municipal Elections.

Havana, April 8.—The Cuban constitutional convention did not meet to-day owing to the absence of Senor Capote, its president. La Lucha, referring to the delay, says:

"The convention is unwilling to accept or reject the Platt amendment. Three propositions, on lines practically the same as the amendment, have been rejected, but the convention refuses to discuss the majority report of the committee on relations, which is diametrically opposed."

It is intimated by La Lucha that the delegates are afraid of public opinion such as would be likely to result from decisive action on the amendment.

Coming Municipal Elections.

An effort is being made to bring out the Conservative element at the coming municipal elections. With this end in view several changes have been made in the election law. A new registration will be held thruout the island, beginning April 19, and ending May 12. It is provided that representatives of the three parties shall compose the registration boards, and there will be three municipal boards of canvassers of nine members, three chosen from each party. The minority will have a representation of one-third in the ayuntamientos. The correctional judges will not be elected as formerly, but will be appointed by the military governor. All appeals and appeals in election cases will be decided by the audiencia instead of by a commission.

Blowholes in the Iron of the Centre Truss Let the Trolley Fall.

Syracuse, N.Y., April 8.—The State engineers who have been investigating the James-street Canal bridge disaster in this city Saturday evening, have about come to the conclusion that the accident was caused by blowholes in the iron of the centre truss. Some further investigation will be made before a formal report is rendered. Work on a temporary structure for the traffic of the street will commence to-morrow morning. Of the forty victims of the accident all but three are out of danger.

THE DANGER IS PAST.

But a Good Deal of Damage Has Been Done in New Brunswick.

St. John, N.B., April 8.—The danger from wash-outs is over, but at Fredericton a serious state of affairs exists. The ice has started in the river, and it went today at the rate of seven miles an hour smashing the railroad bridge so badly that the trains cannot cross. Several warehouses on the river front were also carried away. Trains on the short line can only run to St. George, on account of the wash-outs.

ONTARIO NICKEL ORE AND MATTE.

An Ottawa Correspondent Takes a Whack at Ontario Government for Protective Measures.

Chicago, April 8.—The Record-Herald has the following special from Ottawa:

Another effort to provoke a spirit of commercial hostility in this country against the United States was put forth during the past week, but was promptly nipped in the bud. The movement this time was made in the local Parliament of Ontario, and was aimed to destroy a very important American industry. That it is the settled policy of the Liberals in Canada, however, to place no obstacles in the way of securing better trade relations between this country and the United States is again evidenced by the action of the Ontario Government
