TRIED SUICIDE; WILL RECOVER

The condition of Otto Graudal, the third engineer of the steamer Porsanger, who slashed his throat while temporarily insane and was taken to the General Public Hospital yesterday morning, was reported good at noon today, and a full recovery is expected.

The injured man was not discovered until yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. When he did not report for duty the chief engineer called at the room and found Graudal in his bunk with a shirt wrapped about his neck. The shirt was covered with blood.

Detective Bidcombe made an investigation and learned from the officers on board that Otto Graudal was considered of unsound mind, as he had been acting strangely for some time past, but they did not expect that he would wound himself.

Hugh McLean, Jr., vice-consul for Norway, was notified of the case so arrangements could be made to send Graudal to his home when he is able to travel.

EIGHT BOYS ARE IN POLICE COURT TODAY

One Lad, 13, Has Quite a Record as a Traveler—Five for Theft.

Several cases against juveniles were disposed of in the police court this morning by Magistrate Henderson. It was brought out that one of the boys, aged 13 years, who had been reported for throwing snowballs and acting disorderly in West St. John, had quite a record as a traveler. He ran away from home on a number of occasions, once going to Cobalt with a construction crew to act as a water carrier, and on another occasion going away with a sideshow connected with a circus. He also visited a number of cities in Upper Canada.

In this case Mr. and Mrs. Byron Ross appeared and testified that the boy, aged 13 years, who had been reported for throwing snowballs and acting disorderly in West St. John, had quite a record as a traveler. He ran away from home on a number of occasions, once going to Cobalt with a construction crew to act as a water carrier, and on another occasion going away with a sideshow connected with a circus. He also visited a number of cities in Upper Canada.

Five Face Theft Charge. Five boys appeared to answer a charge of stealing wood from Stetson, Cutler & Company's millyard off Bridge street. They pleaded guilty and were severely censured. Fred Jordan appeared for his company, and explained that it was not only boys who were stealing wood in large quantities, but also adults. He told of other occasions which had been committed about the mill during the winter months. Sergeant Detective Power asked that this case be set aside for a few days and his request was granted.

Two boys were reported for throwing snowballs in Main street. Plainclothesman Mc'Brien testified that he saw them pick up snowballs and throw them at a teamster. Magistrate Henderson said that they could also be charged with assault, and pointed out that the fine for that would be $20 in addition to $8 for throwing the snowballs. He said he would allow a fine of $8 to stand against them pending their future conduct.

ST. JOHN IS FINE TRAINING GROUND

Examples of Talent Developed Here are Shown in Papers.

There were two items in last night's Times that held special interest for St. John people. One told of the rapid advance made in the osteopathic profession and, referred to a Boston psychological society. The other item was a notice of a St. John boy, who left home 15 years ago, is president. When home Mr. Stanton, formerly manager of the Star Theatre, North End, and now a clerk in the big firm's garment department. Miss Blanch is one of Canada's leading publicity women, though it is doubtful if her name has ever appeared in print in this connection before.

It was furthermore quite interesting to know that the art drawings of the mediaeval galleons and other ornamental bits used in the large M. R. A. "Voyage of Discovery" advertisement was the work of Miss Theresa Boudreau, member of the art and decorative staff of the concern over which David E. Lynch has superintendence and whose pupil, Miss Boudreau is. This young Nova Scotia maiden gives promise of much success in her work, which frequently turns to special drawings of gowns and other items of apparel illustrated in M. R. A. advertisements.

So, it is only fair and appreciative to make this little comment, not done in honor to the bright young people mentioned but to let other young citizens realize that St. John is still capable of being a fine training ground for people of talent and industry and that the green hills afar off are not greener than here at home—if we'll only think so.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram" said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "if you love me, give me some news."

"Well," said Hiram, "young Hen. Holt hit the school teacher with a hard snowball right on the ear. The teacher he grabbed Hen. an' boxed his ears—'n' then Mrs. Holt she went to the trustees—'n' they held a meetin'—'n' the bull Settlement took sides as 'I shouldn't be criticised if the attendance at prayer meetin' fell off some. You might say, too, that Birdie McWhat has been sufferin' some from a pimple on her chin, but is doin' as well as kin be expected. Ike Tracey come home from the lumber woods last week—'n' the maple sugar industry is flourishin'." Sam Parkines moolie cow hed a calf this week. The mother an' child is doin' well. I guess that's about all. You better send out a few extra papers. Folks likes to read the news—Yes, sir."
