

Let Man amid each varied good,
Be heard above the notes of spring;
In summers glow his song intrude;
At harvest-moon his anthems sing;
Mid winters chill in gayest mood
From happy home on tireless wing,
His praise should o'er creations peer,
To Him, whose goodness crowns the year.

Pedantry and Taste are as inconsistent, as gaiety and melancholy.

Recipes.—The Charleston Courier says, a medical gentleman of high standing in this city, has suggested to us the propriety of recommending persons who may be bitten by a mad dog, or any other rabid animal, to repair immediately to the nearest pump, and cause the wound to be freely pumped on, before applying to a physician, as this operation cleanses the wound of the poison and prevents absorption.

Liquid ammonia is said to be a most effectual cure for the stings of wasps, or other insects, removing the pain almost instantly. In the cure of bites from venomous serpents it has also been used in America with great success.

Lambs.—Whoever will apply an ointment made of gunpowder, minkstone, and common grease behind the necks of their lambs, will be sure of having them preserved from all kinds of vermin. The quantity necessary to be made use of is so small, that a sixpenny worth is sufficient for 100.
