DEAD BROKE AND FAR FROM DETROIT

City Assists a Detroiter and Family to Get Back to Their Home.

Relief Officer McCallum had a visit this morning from a middle-aged man who was anxious to get back to Detroit with his wife, mother and two children. The man explained that until quite recently he had lived in Detroit, but decided to move to Toronto, where he had a brother and where he expected to do as well if not better than where he was located. But when he reached the Queen City he found that his brother had moved to parts unknown, and all efforts to locate him were fruitless.

The result was that the man with the family resolved to hie back to Detroit. With the aid of the authorities of Toronto and a number of intermediate places he managed to reach London last night. There was not as much as a ten-cent piece in the man's pocket, and the family were compelled to spend the night at the Grand Trunk depot.

Inspector McCallum came to the conclusion that to refuse them passes would mean a still greater expense to the city, and they were sent along a part of the way.

The inspector has received a number of odd requests for assistance of late, but possibly the most peculiar was that of a man who called on him today. The fellow was not in quest of aid for himself, but he was acting in behalf of a woman and three children who were stranded in the city. He explained that the husband of the woman was in a hospital in the United States, having recently lost both his arms and also the sight of both eyes. It happened in this way, he said: The injured man was quite an enthusiastic fisherman, and not being content with using a line and hook he decided to use dynamite to kill the members of the finny tribe. According to the story a small stick of dynamite was to be used, and the match was applied. The intention was to throw the dynamite into the water, but the explosion occurred before it left the man's hands, the result being that he was maimed for life.

The wife and children had then come on to London. Mr. McCallum decided to give them any aid whatever, as he was of the opinion that should he do so the husband would soon be brought along and also be a charge on the municipality. His advice was to have the woman and her children sent back to the town where they belonged.

ALLEGED BIGAMY CASE

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Give Their Side of the Story.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Curtis, of West London, were callers on The Advertiser today in reference to the article published on Saturday under the heading, "It Looks Like a Bigamy Case."

The article was written on the strength of information given at the city hall by a clergyman who had called to examine the marrigae register, and said he had reason to believe that Mrs. Curtis already had a husband living when she was married to Mr. Curtis a few days ago. Mrs. Curtis states that her first husband was William Hamlin, to whom she was married in this city on June 15, 1896. The couple lived together for three years, when owing to some differences, they parted. That was on May 13, 1899.

Mrs. Curtis says that she has not heard from her husband since, and does not know whether he is dead or alive. But she adds that after the separation she learned that Hamlin had another wife and three children, and she considers that this fact released her from the marriage tie and left her free to marry again. This she did on the advice of a solicitor.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have also consulted the crown attorney's office in the matter. Curtis was until quite recently a resident of Mount Forest, and says that he was acquainted with his wife for two or three years before the marriage, and did not meet her for the first time on July 12 last.

THE GROCERS' OUTING

Everything Points to Big Crowd and Good Time in Detroit Trip.

Every grocery in London will be locked up real tight tomorrow because of the annual outing to Detroit. There is not the slightest doubt that there will be a big crowd, as the grocers have been booming the outing for some time past and have got many citizens interested. There has already been a brisk demand for tickets, according to Mr. E. R. Ruse, the G. T. R. agent of the company, the uptown office also sharing in the sale.

As the grocers have decided to close for the day, the bakers will follow suit. Hence the wise citizens will make sure to get in a double supply of the staff of life, as none will be available in the city tomorrow.

WILL PROVE MORE COSTLY

Inspector McCallum Has a Scheme to Make Certain Citizens Clean Up.

Inspector McCallum is out with a sharp stick for a number of householders of London.

The reports of the house to house inspection recently made, showed that many premises were in a very unsanitary state, and orders were delivered in every case that some cleaning up must be done. Many outhouses were the cause of complaint. It seems that a number of persons have balked on the inspector's instructions, and the result is that the city solicitor is being consulted to ascertain if it is legal for the city to have the work done and then charge the cost with the taxes on the property.

If this is found to be a proper course, it will prove more expensive than if the householders obeyed the first orders of the inspector.

LEE CHANG REMANDED

Must Answer to a Charge of Stealing a Watch.

While Mr. Finn, a plasterer, was engaged in making some repairs at the Clyde Hotel yesterday morning, he left his coat and vest, with a watch in one of the pockets, hanging in one of the upper rooms. When he was about to go for dinner he found that the watch was gone, and immediately notified the police.

Detectives Nickle and Egelton got to work on the case and soon ran across the watch in a pawnshop. A Chinaman had pawned it. Upon inquiries at the hotel it was found that a Celestial by the name of Lee Chong had been there that morning, trying to secure a position as cook. Mr. Chong was soon located in Quong Wing's laundry, and arrested.

Lee Chong appeared in the dock at the police station this morning, and was remanded for a week. When questioned by the police after his arrest, Chong denied that he had taken the watch, but there is strong evidence against him, the pawn check having been found in his possession.

Although Chong, so far as is known, has had no police court record, he has come dangerously near to it. Up till last Thursday he was employed as a cook at the Queen's Hotel. On several occasions, it is said, Chong caused trouble while there. He would continually quarrel with the other help, and on several occasions he fought with the girls employed there. At last Chong got himself so much disliked that when one day he caught hold of one of the girls in a very rough manner, and she rewarded his impudence by striking him in the face with a tin pan, which cut a great gash in his cheek, he was quietly shooed away. At first he was going to lay a charge of assault against the girl, but he was talked out of it.

TOO MUCH POP

Several in Trouble Through an Over-Indulgence in Liquors.

William Bently appeared at the police court today on a double charge of stealing and getting drunk on the proceeds of the booty. It is alleged that Bently touched a room-mate at an Egerton street boarding house to the extent of $4.

William Brennen is still in the hospital from the effects of an overindulgance in alcoholic beverages.

Joseph McCaffery appeared on a charge of assaulting E. R. Thomas immediately after drinking too much pop.

NEW RENDERING WORKS

Mr. McMechan Secures Permit for a Plant in London Township.

The board of health of London Township, at a recent meeting, granted a license to Mr. J. H. McMechan, of this city, for his new abattoir and fertilizing works, recently completed on the bank of the river near the Meadow Lily mills.

The board is said to be very well satisfied with the plant, which is equipped with the most modern appliances, and is located on a seventeen-acre piece of land and distant fully half a mile from the nearest farm-house.

WILL RAISE THE MIKASA

Peculiar Methods Adopted by Japs to Recover Sunken Flagship.

San Francisco, July 24.—The steamer Stanley Dollar, formerly the Arab, which was confiscated by the Japanese for blockade running, and afterwards sold back to her former owners, has just returned here. She brings a story of the original and essentially Oriental methods being pursued by the Japanese in their efforts to resurrect the battleship Mikasa, the old flagship of Vice-Admiral Togo, mysteriously sunk at her anchorage in the naval port of Sasebo, after the conclusion of the war with Russia. Divers have been working on the sunken derelict for months. They first made a detailed survey, a record of which they have in a form that probably only the Oriental mind would conceive.

On one of the bargest above the submerged wreck is a model of the explosion-rent hull. It is an exact duplicate, holes and all. As the submarine workers complete a patch over one of the numerous rents in the Mikasa's plates the corresponding hole in the model is plastered over. A glance at the model shows in an instant how the work below is progressing.

When every rent in the model has been covered, powerful pumps will rid the submerged sealed shell of water and up will come the Mikasa. She will be drydocked and in due course of time will be once more in commission as a serviceable fighting machine.

BALLPLAYERS START A RIOT

Providence Team Resents Taunts and Precipitated Free Fight in Buffalo.

Buffalo, July 24.—Captain Dick Harley, of the Providence Eastern League team, was today convicted on a charge of disorderly conduct but was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Following the game with Buffalo last evening, in which the decisions of a new umpire worked up the feelings of both teams to a high pitch, a free fight occurred on Ferry street, just outside the ball grounds. Stung by the taunts of the crowd, a number of the Providence players jumped from their automobile and struck right and left. For a time Ferry street was the scene of a small riot. The police rushed in and arrested several of the belligerents, including Captain Harley. One man in the crowd was hit on the head by a spiked shoe. His injury is not serious.

WIRE BROKE TWICE.

The street railway company had an exceptionally bad streak of luck with the overhead work on Dundas street yesterday afternoon. About 3 o'clock a break occurred which tied up the Dundas street line for the best part of an hour, and the cars were further delayed between 6 and 7 o'clock by a break between Waterloo and Wellington streets. The latter mishap inconvenienced even a larger number of persons than did the first, as the cars were loaded with passengers who were on their way home from work.

Things we would like to be thankful for so seldom give us an opportunity.

FRESH MASSACRE OF THE JEWS

none of the Constitutional Democrats will brave the charge of open treason in giving co-operation to any Government measure after the step to which they committed themselves at Viborg. The plan, therefore, which is foredoomed to failure, seems to be a deliberate plot of the court camarilla to induce the Emperor to intrust the direction of affairs to an advisory council, and while nominally the council would retain the authority, the camarilla would gradually absorb its power and exercise a virtual dictatorship, as did Count Loris-Melikoff's committee of public safety during the terrorism preceding the assassination of Alexander II. M. Shipoff's opinion of the dissolution can be judged by the fact that last night he sent a note to a Constitutional Democrat member of the Council of the Empire asking for an invitation in the event that the Constitutional Democratic group of the council held a caucus.

THE TERROR AT SOSNOWICE

Bombs Wreck Plants of the Singer Machine Company.

Sosnowice, Russian Poland, July 24.—Simultaneously at noon yesterday bombs were thrown into four stores of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, located here, at Bendzin, at Zawierze, and at Czenstochau, wrecking each of the shops and wounding many persons. The bomb throwers were agents of the Polish Socialistic party, which had made the Singer Company an example of what may happen to others for refusing to contribute to the revolutionary cause. In each instance a man entered the stores and ordered the women and clerks to leave. Details are still wanting, but it appears that in some instances the employes refused to leave, and the bombs were thrown without any further utterances. In the Sosnowice branch eight persons were injured.

Orloff, the "pacificator" of the Baltic Provinces and others, have been scattered over parts of Peterhof. The terrorists are said to have succeeded in nailing copies of the sentence on the doors of Gen. Orloff's and Gen. Trepoff's quarters.

Odessa, July 24.—Serious disturbances took place in the remote quarters of Odessa late last night. The Jews sought refuge in the center of the city, many of them leaving Odessa altogether.

GREAT RUSH TO NEW GOLD FIELD

Wonderful Discoveries Made North of Cobalt.

HUNDREDS OUT PROSPECTING

If Stories of Discoveries Prove True a Great Stampede from All Over Continent is Probable.

Cobalt, Ont., July 24.—Everyone in this district is talking of the wonderful gold finds reported from Lake Opasatica, almost 80 miles due north. Dozens of prospectors have gone up during the last few days from Cobalt and hundreds are rushing in from all points of the compass.

It is early yet to pass judgment on these new finds. It need not be questioned that gold has been discovered, for it is found in appreciable quantities throughout this entire mineral district. That there is any considerable gold deposits in the Opasatica is still open to serious doubt.

The Quebec laws with reference to prospecting and staking mining claims vary materially from those of Ontario. In Quebec dozens and even hundreds of square miles can be blanketed for three months on the payment of $5 a square mile by the man who first reaches the ground or makes application.

One prominent mine owner of Cobalt is said to have blanketed 200 miles in the new gold country and another has filed application for 110 miles. It the stories of new discoveries pan out there will be a rush from all over the continent. It would seem much wiser, however, to let the first men on the ground thresh out the proposition somewhat more fully before hitting the trail. If gold actually exists in any considerable quantity or over a large area there will be plenty of it left for later arrivals.

Only One Portage.

The trip from Cobalt to Lake Opasatica is a very delightful one at this season of the year. Going by train to Haileybury and thence by boat to North Temiskaming, one has a delightful three-day canoe trip, with only one portage, along the beautiful Quinze River. Here is some of the most charming natural scenery to be found in Canada, and if one has supplied himself liberally with outfit and provisions, as well as a guide, he will be charmed with the outing.

The search for gold, however, is an entirely different proposition. Many a man has gone up to the new country this week who does not know the differences between gold indications and the books of Confucius.

Nearer home, along the Montreal River and at Portage Bay, several new strikes of cobalt have been made. Two or three of these are of a very promising nature, and there is little question that they will be passed by the inspector. It is surprising, however, to note the credulity of some thoroughly experienced miners and prospectors in camp. Not a few of these men hit the trail an hour after the first rumor of discovery comes in, only to return a week later with nothing but an added stock of experience.

New Strikes Made.

So far as the going camps of Cobalt important strikes have been made within the past two or three weeks. One of the most promising of these is at the Nipissing mines. Only two weeks ago a new and rich vein of smaltite, the outcropping of which was avery rich lump weighing 250 pounds, was discovered in a swamp adjoining ledge 26. This latter working is a mine in itself. When it was opened last fall is showed a comparatively narrow vein of ore—hardly more than a stringer. This has steadily widened in depth, and the bottom, now some 60 feet from the surface, shows a rich vein varying from 7 to 10 inches in width. The ledge is being cut in a northerly direction, and it was near the north extension that the new vein in the swamp was uncovered.

Later a third vein was found on the hillside beyond the swamp, less than five feet from the surface. Although the latter vein is 15 to 18 feet off the line of ledge 26, there is undoubtedly a point of junction for the three veins. Near the junction Superintendent Linney has already started to sink a shaft. He expects to drift into the three veins at about the 80-foot level. From the first ledge of his trio—No. 26—over $250,000 has been taken since it was opened last fall.

In the Kerr Lake district, three miles from Cobalt station, activity is general at the going mines, although shipments of ore are not numerous, since owners prefer to wait completion of smelting plants now being built within a radius of 100 miles.

At present the town itself is quiet. Almost every prospector is in the bush, striving hard to make a strike before the frost comes. It is very probable, however, that September will see a material increase in population, attracted not only by opportunities for prospecting, but also by the general increase in the working forces ofthe leading mines. From every viewpoint it was fortunate that Cobalt escaped a boom this spring, for the growth of the town would have been much less substantial.

WOULD BE EXECUTIONER

Bethnal Green Publican Desirous of Chopping Off Heads.

London, July 24.—Fred Smith, a publican of Bethnal Green, has been hunting for seven years to secure the position of public executioner. He offered his services to the authorities six times, but has always been refused. He will now apply to Denmark, which recently advertised for a "reliable, sturdy, executioner," being attracted, not only by the fee, which is $364 for each execution, together with an allowance for expenses, but by the occasional sea trip the position would necessitate if he secures it. He also thinks the excitement of chopping off a head now and then would relieve the monotony of serving beer. He does not think he would have any trouble in handling the heavy axe used by the headsman in Denmark, as he has been long accustomed to chopping wood.

People may applaud a kicker at the start, but they feel like kicking him before they finish.

DIED SAVING OTHERS

Six-Year-Old Boy Rescues Two Chums from Instant Death.

New York, July 24.—To save a little boy and girl, each a year older than himself, Willie Murphy, 6 years old, of Neptune avenue, Coney Island, bravely met his death last evening on the trestle work of the Culver line, across Coney Island Creek, says the Herald. He was killed by a train, which he could have avoided in the seconds he used in pushing the other children off the trestle to the mud banks and shallow water below.

Wyatt's medal, for penmanship and neat class work, has been awarded to Miss Lillian Gray. Miss Hazel Tanner won the Boyle memorial medal with 579 marks—two marks below the winner of the Robb medal.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, stockbroker, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, July 24—Noon.—The market this morning has been somewhat nervous, and at times displayed considerable irregularity, initial prices showing unimportant chages from last night's closing. London bought moderately, and the room traders were inclined to be bullish on the Harriman stocks especially Southern Pacific. There is believed to be quite a fair-sized short interest in it. Commission houses still report lack of public interest in the market, but their advices rather favor conservative purchases of the standard railroads, in view of the resistance recently displayed in this group on all drives made by the bears.
