most sanguine anticipations, and that it was approaching an agreement on most questions. It would be a misfortune, he added, if the peace conference deliberations were discussed in any parliament before they were concluded.

Voice of Labor.

William Adamson, leader of the Labor party, speaking on the industrial situation, said that it was almost as menacing and dangerous as war itself. He said that the principal Labor amendment to the reply to the address from the throne would relate to the causes of industrial unrest.

"I hope," he continued, "that no attempts will be made to disappoint the legitimate expectations of the working people. All sections of the people should understand that we have reached the stage when we have laid the cards on the table and when the working classes will refuse longer to be treated as cogs in a machine for mere profit-making purposes."

Mr. Adamson said he regretted that no mention had been made in the King's speech concerning pensions or of the disposal of government shipyards, factories and other properties on which millions had been spent, or of Russia.

Mr. Adamson said he spoke for the party of Constitutional Laborites. In referring to a statement that the present unrest had been caused by a revolutionary group, he said his group never would encourage revolution or unconstitutional action.

No Revolutionary Upheaval.

The revolutionary elements, the Labor leader said, would exercise little influence unless there were genuine grievances which they could exploit. Unfortunately, he said, there were many grievances concerning wages and hours of employment, and fear of more unemployment as well as a fear that the government was encouraging monopolies which would make the cost of living prohibitive.

Mr. Adamson further asked for statements regarding conscription and for the submission to parliament of the final peace terms before they are ratified. Answering the claim that the Labor party was the principal opposition in the house, Mr. Adamson said the Laborites were ready to support the government in any acceptable proposal, but that they would do their utmost to prevent vested interests from "pressing down upon the brow of labor a crown of thorns and crucifying the worker upon a cross of gold."

Sir Donald MacLean, leader of the non-Coalition Liberals, asked for more publicity concerning the peace conference proceedings, and for information about the progress of the plan for a society of nations. While an army must be maintained in the field, he said, there was distrust concerning the continuance of conscription.

JELLICOE'S BOOK MAKES REVELATIONS

Gives Instances of British Unpreparedness at Beginning of the War.

London, Feb. 11.—A book written by Admiral Viscount Jellicoe, the former commander of the British grand fleet, which will appear tomorrow, gives the cause of the sinking of the British cruiser Hampshire, on which Lord Kitchener lost his life. Admiral Jellicoe explains that the Hampshire struck a German-moored mine, which had been laid by a submarine.

The book contains revelations of British unpreparedness at the beginning of the war. The grand fleet had to run out of harbor several times because submarines were reported inside.

Admiral Jellicoe says he avoided night action with his big ships off Jutland because the British searchlights and fire controls were defective. He recommends a greater superiority of all classes of vessels than in 1914.

OPPOSED TO SURVEY OF ST. LAWRENCE

New York, Feb. 11.—The rider to the rivers and harbors bill now before congress, which would provide for a survey of the St. Lawrence river between Montreal and Lake Ontario to ascertain the amount of work necessary to make the river navigable for ocean-going vessels, is opposed in a statement issued tonight by the Merchants' Association of New York.

Asserting that the investigation could serve only to bring about improvement of a waterway which would result in the turning over to Canada traffic belonging to N. Y. State, the statement adds that the state's present canal system is capable of caring for all needs. Should development of traffic overtax terminal facilities, the statement continues, domestic routes thru Oswego and Albany could be utilized by improving Oswego harbor and deepening the Hudson river between Hudson and Troy.

REEVE WEBER OF NEUSTADT FACES TWO NEW CHARGES

Owen Sound, Feb. 11.—Another two charges against Joseph Weber, reeve of Neustadt, were heard before the police magistrate here today, and the accused was sent up for trial, as in the two former charges. These charges were based on a letter to Maxwells, Limited, in which the aid of this company was asked to secure the exemption of Weber's son and a verbal request to a traveler named Bayne.

Weber was charged with uttering seditious language to a traveler, Arthur Mutton of St. Mary's, in which he was alleged to have stated that "the British were licked and they knew it, and before either of his sons would go they would die in the hardware store." The prosecution based its case on Mutton's evidence, and the defence for the first time in five cases presented evidence. This case was not concluded and will be heard again tomorrow morning.

The police have discovered the headquarters of a gang in Vichy, France, which has been robbing Americans.

BELFAST STRIKERS POSTPONE BALLOT

Conference to Be Held Regarding Acceptance of Terms by Employers.

Belfast, Feb. 11.—The proposed ballot by the Belfast strikers regarding a settlement was postponed tonight, pending a conference to ascertain if the engineering firms would accept the agreement reached with the shipyards.

The gas and electricity supplies were again stopped, and the tramways suspended service after a few hours. The strike committee has issued a warning circular that an attempt has been made to stampede the strike.

At a conference of the shipbuilders and the strikers the employers proposed that the men resume work on a fifty-four-hour week basis. The employers engaged themselves to endeavor to secure by a national conference a settlement on a basis of forty-seven hours, and, failing, promised that they would make a settlement with their own employes within three weeks after the national conference.

Ordered to Return to Work.

London, Feb. 11.—All the strikers in the Clyde district have been instructed by their leaders to return to work tomorrow. The instructions were issued today by the joint committee of the strikers.

MEDICAL UNITS TO BE DEMOBILIZED

Arrangements Announced for Sending Hospital Corps Home.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—The policy to be carried out in the demobilization of the medical service of the C. E. F., overseas, is outlined in a cable transmitted today by the department of militia, to the director of public information here.

The cable states that medical units will accompany the divisions of the C. E. F., to which they are attached, in conformity with the general policy of demobilization. In addition to the regular divisional medical unit, each division will be accompanied by one general hospital, one stationary hospital, and one casualty clearing station.

The general policy to be adopted towards these latter units is that they shall be evacuated from France in order of seniority, therefore, with the third division, which will be the first to leave the corps, will be No. 1 General Hospital and No. 1 casualty Clearing Station. The question as to which stationary hospital will be the first returned is, however, still under discussion.

No. 8 general hospital in Paris is now being brought to England and No. 6 general hospital, also in Paris, will follow at the end of April.

In view of the fact that the troops from France will be returned to Canada via England, practically all the hospitals in England will be run at full strength to cope with any possible emergencies.

George W. Collins, age 69 years, of 126 Province street, died today following an attack of paralysis. He had resided in Hamilton for 50 years.

The Rotarians concluded their conference today, deciding to hold the next in Buffalo in April. The members were addressed today by Col. David Carnegie, who urged more harmony between employers and employes.

The police commissioners' board passed estimates today totaling $186,587.

Peter Carling, 85 years of age, died today at 83 Melrose avenue.

Hon. Dr. Cody, minister of education, will address the farmers' section of the board of trade on Saturday at noon in the Royal Connaught.

ANOTHER'S WIFE CAUSES FOREIGNER FREE FIGHT

A fight, which started at the corner of Queen and Yonge streets last evening, led to the arrest of three foreigners. John Polock and Joseph Hobosky started to quarrel over Frances Raspeski and when it came to blows the police walked all three to headquarters.

On questioning Frances Raspeski, the police learned that she had deserted her husband and three children in Winnipeg and came to Toronto with John Polock. After living with Polock for some time, Polock left her and she was living with Hobosky. Mrs. Raspeski had one of her children, Lucy, aged seven years, living with her and when the police learned this they held the mother and Hobosky on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a child. Polock is charged with being disorderly.

CLAIM AN ATTEMPT TO BLOCK HYDRO

See in Sir John Gibson's Visit to Toronto Danger to Radial Entrance.

Hamilton, Feb. 11.—What is thought to have been an attempt to block any plans that the Hydro-Electric Power Company of Ontario might have in the way of securing a radial entrance into Dundas, occurred in Toronto when Sir John M. Gibson, representing the McKittrick syndicate, applied to the Hon. Howard Ferguson to have the government define the boundaries of the property owned by the syndicate adjoining the Dundas marsh.

City Solicitor F. R. Waddell, K.C., was also in attendance, but he represented the city of Hamilton for the purpose of securing a title to the water lots in Cootes Paradise, which the city secured thru taking over part of the McKittrick interests in that vicinity.

No decision was made by Hon. Mr. Ferguson, who stated that he would refrain from going into the question until he had received written arguments from Dundas, East Flamboro, West Flamboro, Ancaster, Darton and Saltfleet. These municipalities are indignant over the fact that they were not notified that an application for titles was to be made by the syndicate or the city.

Gordon Wilson, M.P., for Wentworth, who protested against any decision being made until written arguments had been presented and all the municipalities had a chance to send their representatives, told The World today that Dundas intended to protect her rights and would not permit any "hog killing."

"If the McKittrick interests got hold of that property they would be able to prevent the radial coming into Dundas from that direction and that is the only way it can come," said Mr. Wilson. "It looked to me as if the McKittrick people were trying to slip something over without the people being aware of it. They have a habit of doing things on the quiet."

During the appeal, Mr. Wilson stated that he brought out this point, but that Sir John Gibson, who is president of the Dominion Power and Transmission Co., which controls the Hamilton Electric Radial Company, protested against such a thought being entertained by the member for Wentworth.

Gordon Wilson, M.P., will take up the matter in Toronto tomorrow. He is determined that Dundas will not be the victim and that the way will be kept open for the radial when they are ready to enter the valley town.

LAND AND LOANS FOR RETURNED MEN

Federal House to Aid Up to Total of Eight Thousand Dollars.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—The government has taken action toward the immediate procuring of land for soldier settlement. The very great desirability of placing the board in a position to provide soldiers with land sufficiently soon for this season's operations has convinced the government that no time should be lost and that appropriate legislation should, under the war measures act, be put into effect at once to take care of immediate demands. It is understood that very early in the session, parliament will be asked to ratify the action taken by the government by the passage of a bill practically along the same lines as the order-in-council just enacted.

The provisions of the law just put into effect are briefly, as follows: The soldiers' settlement board is vested with authority and provided with funds for the purchase of lands suited for immediate settlement by soldiers. They are also empowered to purchase stock, equipment and building material for sale to settlers. Sales are to be at cost price to the board.

The soldier will be asked to pay ten per cent. of the purchase price in cash. Not more than $4500 must be left owing board at the time of sale. Provision is, however, made to cover cases of men who may not be able to pay the ten per cent., but who have already had successful farming experience in Canada and who are otherwise so qualified or equipped as to specially fit them as farmers. In these cases the whole or part of the ten per cent. may be dispensed with, and consequently a balance may be left owing by them up to $5000. The interest on the balance owing is to be five per cent., and all is to be repayable on the amortization plan by twenty-five annual instalments.

The board is also given authority to provide the soldier with implements and stock up to a maximum value of $2000.

A further assistance may also be given the settler by way of an advance up to $1000 for permanent improvements, including the value of building material supplied.

"INDEFINITE" SENTENCES CONDEMNED BY THE JURY

Fatality at Good Shepherd Refuge May Result in Changes.

After being out nearly an hour, the jury which investigated the circumstances surrounding the death of Alice Holloran, who came to her death as a result of a fall from a window of the Home of the Good Shepherd, while attempting to escape from the institution, last night brought in the following verdict:

"We find that Alice Holloran came to her death in St. Michael's Hospital on Jan. 19, 1919, caused by a fractured skull, received by falling from a third storey window at the Home of the Good Shepherd on West Lodge avenue, while attempting to escape from that institution, to which she had been committed for an indefinite period by a police court magistrate in the city of Toronto."

The following rider was appended: "Firstly, we think that the term 'indefinite' added to her sentence, was an incentive to her wanting to escape from the institution; secondly, that had the windows been protected the fatality would not have occurred; thirdly, we are of the opinion that some form of academic education should be incorporated in the systems of this and other institutions of a like nature."

The feature witness of the evening was Mrs. Mary James, 431 Palmerston boulevard, with whom Louisa Franklin had been employed before her incarceration in the refuge. Miss Franklin, or Mrs. Telling, she has since married, at the last sitting of the inquest, told of having been taken to the institution by Mrs. Judge, a sister of Mrs. James, but that she was not told where she was being taken, but was told she was going to Eaton's.

Mrs. James' evidence consisted of a series of sweeping denials of the evidence given by Mrs. Telling, and stated that she had thought the girl should be committed to a refuge because her mother could not control her. Further that she had been staying out late at night.

Pressed by Mr. Greer as to what time she meant by late, Mrs. James said, that two or three times a week she had come home between 11 and 11.45 p.m., and the committal had been made with the full consent of the girl's mother.

Another factor in placing the girl in the home, was a letter that had come back to the house, opened, and written by the girl to a young man in which she had said, according to Mrs. James, "things that no girl of 16 should write." Asked by Mr. Greer, as to who had given her the right to read the girl's letter, Mrs. James said she had received the right from the girl's mother. This letter was not handed back to Miss Franklin. Mrs. James stated she had dismissed the girl, but the mother refused to have her back, and she thought the best place for her was an institution, not specifically the Good Shepherd. She had also suggested the Salvation Army, but the mother refused to hear of it.

The girl knew where she was going, and further when she came out she had visited Mrs. James and praised the good treatment she had received.

Mrs. James denied the imputation that she was in any way interested in the Refuge of the Good Shepherd.

Mrs. Franklin, according to Mrs. James, made all the arrangements concerning the girl's admission to the home, and altho she (Mrs. James) had been there at the time the arrangements were being made, yet she did not hear any of the conversation which had passed.

Asked by Mr. Greer whether she had thought of religious instruction for the girl, Mrs. James admitted that she had not. In fact she never gave a thought to her after her admittance.

The mother of the girl, said Mrs. James, had told her she was going to the Refuge some few days before she was taken there.

Recalled to the box, Mrs. Telling denied that she had ever been out till 11.45 p.m. Further, her mother had never mentioned that she was going to the Good Shepherd, and when she came out, altho she had visited Mrs. James, she never said anything about good treatment.

Dr. A. MacKay, inspector of these institutions, was recalled to the stand, and in answer to Mr. Greer admitted that, altho it was a general practice, yet these institutions had no right to hold feeble-minded prisoners who had been sent there.

There were now four methods of committal, and all but two of these were illegal, while one instance was doubtful. The first was committal by the Children's Aid Society, with a court order, which was perfectly in order; the second was committal by parents, which was doubtful; the third, committal by relatives, which was illegal, and the last, incarceration for an indefinite term, which was also contrary to law.

"All the points," said Dr. Mackay, "which had been brought out here have been under discussion before, but nothing can be done till the legislature sits."

TODMORDEN

WANT FIRE PROTECTION.

Fire protection for the township was the principal topic of discussion at a well-attended meeting of the Todmorden Ratepayers' Association in Torrens Avenue School last night. Philip Pedlar, president, occupied the chair.

The feeling of the meeting was that some arrangement should be made with the city of Toronto regarding the use of their fire department in the case of fires within a reasonable distance from the city limits.

It was decided to send a deputation to the city council from the association to support the reeve and members of York Township council at today's conference with the mayor and board of control regarding the matter of fire protection.

Nelson A. Boylan, president of the Amalgamated Ratepayers' Central Association, and a deputation from that body, visited the meeting and urged the members to appoint delegates to the Central Association. Mr. Boylan pointed out that the York Township council had already adopted some of the planks of their platform. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the executive committee.

Appointment of C. W. Cavers As a Director of Information

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—Mr. C. W. Cavers has been appointed director of information to the soldier settlement board, department of the interior.

Mr. Cavers is a returned soldier. While serving with the 25th New Brunswick Battalion in France, he was gassed, and then served as quartermaster with the 2nd Canadian Base Depot in France. Previous to enlisting, he was editor of The Toronto Sunday World.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

EARLSCOURT

LAND CONTINUES TO FETCH HIGH PRICES

There is no let-up in the high prices for land on West St. Clair avenue. The latest "buy" of land on this avenue has just been closed, and is the highest price yet paid for building land in this section. The site is at the corner of Boon avenue and St. Clair, three blocks west of Lansdowne avenue, and was purchased by a down town concern at $500 per foot. Boon avenue leads direct to the Earlscourt Central Methodist Church, and on this avenue also stands the Boon Avenue Baptist Church. The purchaser will erect an up-to-date cut-rate drug store. One block east of Lansdowne avenue, on the south side of the avenue, is a large tract of building land, which is also being looked over with the object of building a large apartment house large enough to accommodate 200 families.

The suggestion that Fairbank should have fire equipment is being freely talked of since the fire on Seneca street last Saturday, when three houses were destroyed. To The World Reeve F. H. Miller said: "There is some difficulty in providing a fire apparatus to the township. In the first place Fairbank has only just been installed with water mains and the work is not yet finished, and until the engineers make a final report on the work nothing definite can be done. Fire Chief Smith acted quickly when told of the fire in Fairbank, and instructed the reels of Earlscourt and Wychwood to rush to the scene without delay. The township council has been invited to attend a meeting of the board of control tomorrow morning at city hall to discuss the matter," added Mr. Miller.

At the last regular meeting of the Earlscourt branch of the G.W.V.A. the announcement was made of over 60 new members who had joined the association during the past week. Comrade Joseph Wines has been working in this district to secure new members. T. H. Barclay is president and C. T. Lacey secretary.

The West Toronto Homing Pigeon Association have arranged to meet at the headquarters on 236 Harvie avenue, Earlscourt, on Monday, when important business will be under discussion. The allotment of special prizes and rings will be presented to the members. A large number of returned men have recently joined the association.

The Epworth League of the St. Clair Methodist Church, Oakwood avenue, gave an entertainment in the basement of the church last evening, when Miss Queenie and other ladies of the league rendered a program of music. The league is making preparation to extend their membership. Rev. E. E. Scott is the pastor.

So many complaints have reached the general postoffice of lost letters that an investigation has been started by the officials and a postman detailed off to make a list of the houses in the Wychwood district where no letter boxes are affixed to the doors. It seems that the postmen, or the newly appointed men, when no letter boxes are found on the doors, have placed the letters under the doors, and in a large number of cases these letters have been lost. On some of the streets in the Wychwood district as many as 70 out of 100 houses have been found without letter boxes.

WESTON

COUNCIL PASSES NEW SCHOOL BYLAW

Weston town hall was crowded last night, owing to the interest taken in the proposed new school, which is to be erected at the cost of $60,000. The project was defeated by three votes at the election on Jan. 1, but the issue was raised again by the school board, and the council met that body and discussed the matter fully. At that meeting it was decided that three votes should not kill the scheme, especially in view of the small percentage of the ratepayers voting. The board of education asked the council to pass a bylaw authorizing the issue of $60,000 debentures to build a school.

The bylaw was exhaustively discussed, clause by clause, at the meeting last night, and two formal protests were made by ratepayers. T. Galbraith presented a written protest and G. Lyons a verbal one. The opposition threaten to lay an injunction against the council because the matter was not laid before the public a second time. The bylaw passed the third reading, six voting for the school and two against. The new building is badly needed, as the increased population has made the present quarters inadequate, and two rooms in the high school are being used for the overflow.

A building permit issued to G. Best, Mount Dennis, also had considerable opposition, as the building did not conform to the district ruling. An inspection found no fault in the house.

Secretary Joseph Nason presented the financial report of the public library, as follows: Secretary (salary), $450; caretaker, $215; fuel, $175, and electric light, $50. During the year 100 periodicals and 400 books were purchased. There are 4800 volumes in the library and 313 new members.

A motion was carried to establish an employment bureau in Weston, and Mr. J. H. Taylor appointed to take charge of the work.

There will be a special meeting of the council on Saturday.

BEDFORD PARK

According to the statement of Robins, Ltd., sales manager to The World yesterday, 38 lots have been sold on the Melrose property since being placed on the market recently. The sales have been made chiefly to builders, who intend to build good-class houses in this select residential district.

EAST TORONTO

At the regular meeting of St. Saviour's Church Men's Club a lively game of carpetball was played between Cambridge Lodge, Sons of England, and a team of the Men's Club, which resulted in a score of 77 to 55 in favor of the Cambridge Lodge. This score was considered excellent for St. Saviour's, as their team was a comparatively green one, whereas Cambridge Lodge team is a crack one, standing second in the league.

Cambridge Lodge was represented by Harold Boyle (captain), Albert Francis, Jesse Day, Samuel Webb, Percy Attenborough, and Alfred Herrington, and St. Saviour's Lodge was representer by Frank C. Dawe, Harry Hare, Thos. Browning, Ernie Waite, Thos. Taylor, and Fred Stevens.

A return match was arranged to take place on Feb. 20.

STOUFFVILLE

Stouffville township council met in the council chamber last night, and all members attended. Only routine business was discussed.

DANFORTH

EAST END RATEPAYERS CALL FOR PAPE CARS

Slight interest was evinced by the residents of the east end in the meeting of the Danforth Ratepayers' Association, held in Frankland School, Logan avenue, last night, which was called to discuss the unsanitary condition of Kitchener School, Pape avenue, and other live questions. About a dozen people were present, and T. W. Brown, occupied the chair. The following resolutions were adopted. Moved by E. Taylor and carried unanimously: "That the Danforth Park Ratepayers' Association request the city council to put in sanitary conveniences at Kitchener School, Pape avenue, as the present arrangements are most deplorable."

The double class system at Kitchener School was also strongly condemned, and a protest will be made to the board of education by the association.

A suggestion by A. Hanna that the city council and Canadian National Exhibition board request the Dominion government and provincial government to promote the fat stock show at their joint expense rather than at that of the ratepayers of the city of Toronto, was laid over to a future meeting, owing to the apathy of the audience.

Regarding the Pape avenue car line, a communication from R. C. Harris, works commissioner, to Ald. R. Honeyford, was read as follows: "I cannot say at the present time what the prospects are for proceeding this year with the construction of a car line on Pape avenue. As soon as the Toronto Street Railway company are in a position to lay the steel, we shall be able to proceed with our portion of the work."

The chairman pointed out that Alderman Honeyford is now trying to get a report from the Toronto Street Railway regarding the condition of the steel market and the residents will not cease their demand until the work is under way.

E. Taylor, Eaton avenue, complained of the unsanitary conditions prevailing at Kitchener School. He said the lavatory accommodation was simply a building on the grounds with an open sewer. "We are compelled to put conveniences into our homes whether we have the money or not, but why is Kitchener School exempt," queried Mr. Taylor.

J. Cooper strongly condemned the board of education for the filthy condition of the school. "They paid $12,000 an acre for the ground in the township and Dr. Hastings allows 500 city children to use the school," he said.

George R. Ellis criticized the city council for their slipshod methods in dealing with the city's business. "All revenue departments should be placed upon a paying basis and the heads of departments should not be allowed to hold other public offices," he said.

Under the auspices of the Woodbine Heights' Ratepayers' Association, an open meeting was held at J. Solomon's residence, Lumsden avenue, last night, when the live question of greater food production was discussed and it was decided to organize the Woobine Heights' Production Association.

The following officers were elected: W. Millar, president; R. J. Wood, vice-president; J. Raven, secretary; A. Campbell, treasurer.

The new organization were promised the use of five acres of land in the district. Applications for membership have been received from over 50 residents. It is expected that George Baldwin will deliver a lecture on agriculture at the next meeting.

There was a good attendance.

NORTH TORONTO

There were forty-two entries of American standard breeds at the regular meeting of the North Toronto Poultry Show held at Orange Hall, upper Yonge street, last Friday night. This was the first of a series of shows to be held by the above association. The class comprised Wyandotts, all varieties, rocks and reds. There were birds shown that had captured first prizes at the Guelph winter show, East York, Danforth and Greater Toronto.

James Cherry, the well known leghorn expert, presented to the association one hundred prize ribbons to be spread over the empire spring shows, a donation which was very acceptable.

A resolution of condolence was passed and forwarded to Albert J. Graham on the loss of his wife.

LEASIDE

FIRST 'PLANE FLIES TO LEASIDE DROME

The first flight in connection with the Leaside aerodrome, since its purchase by F. G. Ericson for commercial enterprise fashion. The Dominion government, took place yesterday. J. L. Vipond, the pilot, left Deseronto in a Curtiss aeroplane at 1.05 p.m. and arrived at Leaside at 3.20 flying the distance of 130 miles in one hour and a half. On arrival the pilot was suffering slightly from the severe cold and his gasoline tank was empty. He stated that he encountered a steady head wind all the way.

F. G. Ericson informed The World that there are still 120 aeroplanes in Deseronto to be brought over to Leaside, and 150 from other camps.

RIVERDALE

Alderman Honeyford is still working on the Pape avenue car line proposition and has received a letter from R. J. Fleming of the Toronto Railway Co., who states that as soon as the city returns the rails which were borrowed to complete the Bloor viaduct the railway company will be glad to complete their end of the work. Alderman Honeyford communicated this message to Commissioner Harris and he has replied stating that he will instruct the board of control to obtain tenders for the purchase of these rails. Alderman Honeyford believes that the Pape avenue car line will be established before July.

Arc lamps are urgently needed at the junction of Broadview and Danforth avenues, and at the terminus of the Danforth avenue civic cars. The present lighting arrangements are totally insufficient for that important point, according to the statement of a prominent resident.

ETOBICOKE

OFFICER SANCTIONED.

Etobicoke council met in the council chamber yesterday and had a busy day hearing deputations. Long Branch School complained of many truants in the district and asked for the appointment of a permanent truant officer. The appointment was sanctioned.

A letter from J. T. Locke, Mimico, was read, asking that a footpath be laid on East Algoma street, and $450 was authorized for gravel.

Long Branch ratepayers asked that that part of the township be incorporated as a village.

A deputation from the Westmount district waited on the council regarding the footbridge at the Humber, which is used as an exit south of the Fair Grounds.

Interesting addresses were delivered by H. C. Swift, chief librarian of the Institute for the Blind, and Mrs. Hodgins, vice-president of the Canadian Women's Association for the Blind. Both speakers told of the splendid work performed for the blind at Pearson Hall.

There were over 100 persons present.

BROTHER'S PLEA PREVAILED.

James McCarroll and James Warren appeared before Major Brunton in the county court yesterday, charged with holding up Leonard Rolston at the point of an unloaded revolver. Evidently Rolston did not argue about the matter, but handed over all he had, even to milk tickets. Another charge of stealing a $50 Victory bond was preferred against Warren, but that will be dealt with at the city hall. A brother of Warren's, a returned artillery sergeant, pleaded that the youngster had acquired bad friends during his absence on active service. The boy is 16 years old and confessed that he had borrowed the revolver to stage a hold-up in moving picture fashion. The soldier brother's appeal prevailed and both lads were remanded until the 15th. A Hebrew called Cohen admitted that he had bought the Victory bond and was censured by the court for his lack of discrimination. The owner of the gun has been ordered to turn the weapon over to the police.
