Strange Scene at a Meeting in Aid of Famine Relief Fund.

The English Plan for Dealing With Turkey Delayed.

The Benin Monarch May Be Bounced by Britain.

MAY BOUNCE THE KING.

London, Jan. 18.—A morning paper publishes the announcement that it has been determined to annex the Benin Kingdom and depose the king, on account of the massacre of the British expedition. A dispatch from Benin reports that an Englishman, believed to be Mr. Powis, was captured and taken to Benin city. His fate is unknown.

A SPANISH DENIAL.

Madrid, Jan. 18.—An emphatic denial has been issued at Madrid to the report that the town of Santa Clara, capital of the Cuban province of that name, has been captured by the insurgents. It is further stated that the only recent insurgent attack in that province has been at Buena Vista, where, it is said, the insurgents were repulsed.

BIG FAMINE FUND.

London, Jan. 18.—The Mansion House fund is approaching £450,000, and it is hoped that the total of the fund will reach at least £700,000 ($3,500,000), which was the amount subscribed for the relief of the sufferers of the last famine. The newspapers, however, urge that some more drastic measure be adopted, and one of the weekly papers suggests that Parliament vote a big grant or lend India $50,000,000.

ILLNESS OF THE CZARINA.

London, Jan. 18.—The Sunday Times confirms reports of the illness of the Czarina. It says that her condition, which is very serious, has ended for the present the hopes of the birth of an heir. Her physicians say that it is necessary for her to take long rest at Livadia, one of the Czar's estates in Southern Russia, where the Czar Alexander III. died in 1894. Here she can have perfect quiet, which is a prerequisite to her recovery.

THE TURKISH QUESTION.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—The report is entirely credited in diplomatic and official circles here that Sir Philip Currie placed before the ambassadors a fully matured project of naval and military operations, designed to cover the occupation of Constantinople, the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, and also to overawe the Moslem population in the probable event of a rising and attempted massacre. To any consideration of coercion, the German ambassador took a decided stand in opposition. The Kaiser continues to hold that the Sultan may be trusted to carry out the reforms, and that his sovereign rights should not be interfered with. M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador, professed no unwillingness to agree to the principle of coercion, but opposed the English proposals on the ground that they were premature, and that the Sultan must have time in which to act. On this point of time communications are proceeding between the powers.

THE RIGHT THING.

London, Jan. 18.—Right Hon. John Morley, M.P., in a speech at Forfar, Scotland, praised the proposed Anglo-American arbitration treaty, which, he said, withdrew even territorial claims from the tyrannical, capricious and baneful arbitrament of the sword. In strong terms he urged that it should be the fervent prayer of every well-wisher of mankind that no mist should arise in the Senate or elsewhere to overcloud this new light on the horizon of the world of civilized men, or to hinder the consummation of the hopes and ardent wishes of two great nations. "I agree with those," he continued, "who hope and believe that in the fruition of time, the force of a treaty like this, though only a temporary treaty, may be felt as an example, and looked back upon by posterity as a realization of what we now call it—the great event of the nineteenth century."

"I have always regarded as the most splendid act of Gladstone's splendid career his connection with the Alabama negotiation. The farther we get away from that great transaction the more we see what a beneficent landmark it was in the history of civilization."

A STRANGE SCENE.

London, Jan. 18.—The lord mayor presided Saturday at a large meeting at the Mansion House called to promote the work of aiding the famine sufferers in India. The Secretary of State for India, Lord George Hamilton, the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of Cambridge were among those present. The Duke of Connaught moved a resolution recognizing it to be a public duty to assist in the work of extending the relief measures. Lord George Hamilton seconded the motion, and an exciting scene followed. Hyndman, the Socialist leader, tried to move an amendment that "in view of the distress at home," but the lord mayor interrupted him, saying that it was neither the time nor the place to move an amendment. Hyndman, however, persisted in attempting to move his amendment, and he was finally ejected from the hall amid cheers and a few hisses. The Duke of Connaught's resolution was then adopted. Mr. Henry Hobhouse, M. P. for East Somerset, then moved, and Mr. Geo. N. Curzon, Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, seconded a motion inviting the county officials and clergy to co-operate in the relief work. Another attempt to move an amendment similar to Hyndman's followed, but it was ruled out of order. The motion of Mr. Hobhouse was adopted, and the meeting then closed.

CABLE NOTES.

The Cabinet Council just held at Madrid agreed to recognize the newly-formed Central American Republic.

The German steamer Albano (Capt. Koch), from Hamburg, for New York, with sugar, is aground in the Elbe, and is full of water.

The Paris Government has issued a decree forbidding the importation of linen rags from the districts in India in which the bubonic plague is prevalent.

Hon. George A. Kirkpatrick, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, who underwent an operation in the South Street Hospital on Wednesday last, is said to be progressing favorably toward recovery.

It is officially announced at Rome that the Governments of England, France, Germany, Austria, Russia and Turkey have agreed to hold an international conference, to sit in that city, for the purpose of considering precautionary measures against the spread into Europe of the bubonic plague which is raging in India.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH

Will Probably Be Brief — Some of the Subjects Touched Upon.

London, Jan. 18.—It is understood that the Queen's speech at the opening of Parliament tomorrow will be very brief. It is expected to congratulate Parliament upon the signing of the arbitration treaty with the United States, and upon the more satisfactory working of the alliance of the powers of Europe for promoting reforms in Turkey, and will express regret at the Benin disaster, and at the necessity for a punitive expedition. The legislative proposals are believed to be few and the important measures promised will be confined to the relief of voluntary schools, and an employers' liability bill, supplemented by minor measures relating to the improvement of agriculture in Ireland and enabling the military maneuvers to be more conveniently carried out. A hint is also expected of the increased sums to be demanded for military services.

BRITISH LIBERAL PEERS

Elect the Earl of Kimberley as Their Leader.

London, Jan. 18.—The Liberal peers at a meeting held today at Spencer House, this city, the residence of Earl Spencer, unanimously elected the Earl of Kimberley, the late Minister for Foreign Affairs, to be leader of the Liberal party in the House of Lords in place of Lord Rosebery, who resigned that position.

AGAINST BLOOD-LETTING.

A Revival of the Popular Movement Against Militarism.

London, Jan. 18.—A Vienna dispatch to the Times says: "The Anglo-American treaty seems likely to revive the old popular movement against militarism. Never were the newspapers more unanimous in judging of a great international event. The opinions they express are an echo of a widespread feeling against the bloated armaments of Europe and a hope of a dawn of a better era."

The correspondent of the Times at Berlin remarks upon the Anglophobia displayed by the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, which seizes upon the occasion of the signing of the treaty to point out that it serves the interests of the Anglo-Saxon race, claiming a predominance and spreading itself to all quarters of the globe.

According to the same correspondent, the Clerical Kolnische Volkszeitung rejoices in the event and says of it: "This success is calculated to lead to others. If the aims of the Pan-American Congress in 1889 should be realized, guarantees will be secured for permanent peace of 120,000,000 inhabitants of North and South America and of millions of other English-speaking peoples." The Volkszeitung mentions the efforts of three Catholic cardinals, namely, the Archbishops of Baltimore, of Armagh, and of Westminster, in favor of Anglo-American arbitration.

Growing Worse!

Latest Dispatches From Plague-Stricken Bombay.

Mortality on the Increase — Hurried Exodus of the People—Harrowing Scenes.

Bombay, Jan. 18.—The situation is growing rapidly worse, and the exodus from the city on account of the bubonic plague continues. The official returns issued today show that there have been 3,636 cases of the plague recorded and 2,592 deaths from the pestilence.

The Times of India, complains that the sanitary conditions of Bombay have been allowed to deteriorate for ten years past. It adds that the whole future trade of the city is involved, and that no expense upon the part of the Government to stamp out the plague should be spared.

The Daily Mail's Bombay correspondent says: "In the Banda district the famine conditions are harrowing. The whole population is without food, and the people are dying in the road rather than accept the Government relief. Establishments in which hundreds of working men were employed have now only a few people left. One mill manager said the other day that he had no fewer than 315 men short that day. Streets that a few days ago were crowded and busy are now deserted. The announcement that the authorities were seriously contemplating compulsory segregation has added to the panic. The people will not submit to it, and if it be enforced it is absolutely certain that serious trouble will ensue.

"All the railway trains are crowded with passengers night and day, eager to get away from Bombay. When the last steamer sailed, the people were huddled together like so many sheep, all clamoring for tickets. The officials were at their wits ends, and when the steamer started it left behind crowds of disappointed ones, some of whom in the confusion got separated from their families and loved ones, and were weeping piteously. Rather than return to their homes these crowds remained at the bunders waiting for the next steamer.

"Your correspondent paid another visit to the Hindoo burning grounds, and saw 30 bodies being burned on the various spots set apart for cremation, while ten others were awaiting their turn, three of them outside the gate on the public road. The bodies of two Hindoos who had died from the plague were washed and dressed on the public roadway in one of the most crowded thoroughfares.

The Newbury Case

Hinks Moore and His Father Before Judge Elliot.

The Former on Trial for Assault and the Latter for Stabbing.

The hearings of the Newbury stabbing cases were begun before Judge Wm. Elliot at the court house this morning.

The evidence in the case against Hinks Moore, who is charged with assaulting George Robinson by striking him over the head with a loaded whip-stock, went to show that the two men had been friendly on the night of Dec. 30 last, and that after some conversation between the parties Robinson asked Moore as to a report which he had circulated about him. Both parties are painters, and Robinson accused Moore of saying that Robinson had undertaken a job which he could not finish, and had to send away to Chicago for his "old man." Robinson resented this by calling Moore a liar, and when Moore said his statement was correct, Robinson attempted to strike him. Moore then plied the whip-stock and smashed it over Robinson's head, inflicting an ugly wound over the left temple. He went to the doctor's, and while waiting there to have his wound dressed, his brother James came in, having, it is alleged, been stabbed by Wm. Moore, the father of Hinks, the latter two men having had an altercation over the assault case. Several witness were examined on both sides.

A MAINE MAN'S LUCK.

Buys a $45,000 Wreck for $70 and a Gale Releases Her.

Portland, Me., Jan. 18.—The strangest event in the history of this place has just occurred. Some days ago the schooner Robert I. Carter grounded on Alden's Rock, and it was supposed that she must be a complete wreck. Her sails were taken off, she was crippled of everything moveable, and then abandoned as far as her cargo was concerned. The schooner was sold for $70 to Charles Bartlett, jun.

On the night of Jan. 4, when a brisk wind sprang up, Mr. Bartlett would possibly have taken a very much smaller sum for the apparent wreck, but to his astonishment she was reported the following morning off Bang's Island, and drifting into Portland harbor. The wind had taken her off Alden's Rock, and she is now docked, a sorry-looking wreck, but is believed not beyond repair. She was valued the day she struck at $45,000. Her masts are alongside, and it is thought that 400 tons of her cargo of 1,200 tons of coal will be saved.

Not a man thought she could ever come off. Experts from Boston pronounced her a complete loss, and Mr. Bartlett was the only man who would make a bid for her. To add to his luck, she was so close to port that the towing company will be able to claim no more than ordinary fees for taking her up.

Moore's Maliciousness

Stabbed James Robinson and Gets 18 Months in the Central.

Hinks Moore Goes to Jail for Two Months — The Plea of Provocation and Self-Defense of No Avail.

The Newbury stabbing case was disposed of this morning by Judge Wm. Elliot. On Saturday afternoon, a number of witnesses were called both for and against Wm. Moore, who stabbed James Robinson in the abdomen with a pocket knife on the night of Dec. 30. Both men had been drinking, and the affair grew out of Hinks Moore's assault upon George Robinson.

Judge Elliot, in addressing Wm. Moore, the older prisoner, a man of about 50 years, said there was no doubt that he had stabbed Robinson. His ground of defense rested upon provocation, but the judge could not accept that. Moore had sworn that had he not used the knife, his life would have been in danger. That he could not accept, as he did not think there was sufficient provocation for the act of stabbing a man with a weapon like a pocket knife, and that such actions must be discouraged.

In reply to the judge's question as to what he had to say, Moore said: "I had provocation, and if I had not used the knife, I probably would have lost my life."

"The sentence," continued the judge, "is that you be imprisoned in the Central Prison for eighteen months."

Hinks Moore's crime, in the judge's opinion, was of much less magnitude, although the assault was a serious one, and the outcome of a brawl, such as seemed, he said, "to occur with regularity at Newbury." He could not accept the plea that there was sufficient provocation in this case either, but sentenced Hinks to two months in the common jail.

Mr. McEvoy, counsel for the prisoner, Hinks Moore, drew attention to the fact that the young man was physically unfit to perform hard labor.

ON THE WAR PATH.

Muncey Indians Give the Indian Constables a Warm Reception.

Constable Flexen, of Muncey reserve, in company with Constables Doxtator and ex-Constable Dave Williams, drove in from Muncey Saturday night, and went to High Constable Schram's house at 12 o'clock, with a story of how they had entered the house of the Ninham family in order to arrest one of the sons, for whom a warrant was issued some months ago, for beating his wife. Ninham has, since that time, kept out of the way.

As soon as the posse of police entered the homestead young Ninham and his better half seized a chair each and threatened dire vengeance upon the officers. When they began to execute their threats the constables came in for advice to the high constable, while young Ninham made his way again to his hiding place. Warrants have been issued for Ninham and his wife for obstructing constables in the discharge of their duty.

The Big Whale.

This mine, which with the Finance and Echo, forms the Finance Group, is situated only about seven miles from the smelter at Trail. There is a good road all the way except one and a half miles, which can be built for about $500. This will give a good road all the way down hill, and it is expected that the ore can be shipped and smelted at about $7 per ton, so that even low-grade ore can be utilized. The London Gold Mining and Development Company hold a controlling interest in this group. The ledge on the Big Whale is some 28 feet wide. Development work on it is meeting with the highest encouragement. See the company's advertisement in this issue, page 5. 19c
