THE FIGHT IN CENTRE TORONTO.

There is to be a fight in Centre Toronto, and as far as the supporters of Mr. O. A. Howland are concerned it will be a hot one. It will not take twenty-four hours to summon every Conservative in Toronto to arms and make himself ready for the fray. There is no dissension in the Conservative ranks to-day as there was on the occasion of the election last year. The party in Toronto at least is united just as strong as it ever was. The call to arms will bring together the old-time brigade, as enthusiastic and as confident of victory as ever. It was not Ontario that gave Sir Wilfrid Laurier his victory last year. True, he carried a few constituencies which formerly returned Conservative members, but it was Quebec that turned the tide in favor of the Liberal party. The Liberal victory in Centre Toronto is easily explained. The Conservatives lost the seat by reason of the division in the party over the Manitoba school question. In East Toronto the Conservative candidate stood for remedial legislation. In Centre Toronto he opposed the Government and favored the Manitoba contention. But his attitude on the question in the House of Commons had been such that the electorate didn't seem to place much faith in his opposition to remedial legislation. The last election in Toronto was a mix-up. The party was at sixes and sevens. The wonder is that Centre Toronto was not lost by a much larger majority. Considering the extent of the dissension in the Conservative ranks it is surprising that Mr. Lount's majority was only 244 above that of Mr. Cockburn.

The situation to-day is entirely different from what it was in June of last year. The question which divided the party then has been completely eliminated from party politics. The Manitoba school question is a dead issue, and not even its ghost will put in an appearance in this contest. The most hopeful feature in this campaign is undoubtedly the harmony that prevails in the Conservative ranks. Mr. Howland has given offence to no clique or section of the party. He can confidently count on the support of every one who takes pride in calling himself a Conservative. This is the strong feature in regard to his candidature. Conservative Toronto from the Don to the Humber will co-operate in the fight, and we are very much mistaken if Mr. Howland will not head the polls on election day. Toronto has been strictly Conservative ever since 1878, until last year, when Centre Toronto, by a fluke, returned a Liberal. Toronto is not only a Conservative stronghold, but the people of Toronto do not believe in the Laurier policy. They repudiate his duplicity on the tariff question. They have no confidence in a statesman who talks free trade to the farmers, but gives protection to the manufacturers. They cannot understand an Imperial federationist opposing a project which will do more to unify the Empire than any other proposal that has been mooted. They do not believe in a party that has always been ready to sacrifice the honor and interests of Canada in favor of the United States. The people of Toronto, in short, are loyal to the platform laid down by Sir John Macdonald and maintained by his successors.

THE DEADLY STOVE DAMPER.

A grave mistake has been made by the authorities in neglecting to hold an inquest into the cause of the death of the two young girls who were asphyxiated by coal gas the other night. If this unfortunate occurrence were traced to its source it would be found that some one is directly responsible for the death of the two victims. The catastrophe was not the result of supernatural causes. It was not a visitation from God. It resulted from common every-day negligence, and a jury should have been empanelled to bring the responsibility home to the proper party. As the authorities did not deem it expedient to hold an inquest, The World undertakes to return a verdict in its own behalf. After investigating the case fully our verdict is that the responsibility for the death of the two Cross girls rests with the individual who placed the damper in the pipe leading from the stove to the chimney. We do not know who the tinsmith in question is, but he, together with the person who engaged him to do it, are responsible for this lamentable tragedy. There should be a law prohibiting the placing of pipe dampers in connection with coal stoves. If the deaths that occur from this cause were tabulated the number would surprise us. But the fatalities arising from pipe dampers do not form half the evil. We do not hear in the papers of the many narrow escapes from asphyxiation and the debility caused by people inhaling coal gas night after night. Our houses in winter are made as airtight as possible, especially in such houses as use coal stoves, and the escape of coal gas in these places must have a very baneful effect on the health of their inhabitants. It is hard to estimate the injury that is done to the public health by reason of defective appliances in connection with coal stoves. We have inspectors to see that the plumbing in houses is done on approved and scientific principles. We insist on insulating live electric wires. We compel the street car people to put fenders on the trolleys. Why should we not insist on the abolition of the deadly stove damper? Coal gas is a dangerous poison, and it is little short of criminal to choke up a stove pipe, thereby disseminating the poison through the house, instead of allowing it to escape through the chimney. If sewer gas escapes in a dwelling house the owner is compelled to call in the plumber and summarily remedy the defects. Coal gas is fully as destructive of life and health as sewer gas, and as stringent laws should be made to protect the public from its injurious effects as exist in regard to sewer gas.

It is for these reasons that we think a coroner's inquest should have been held in this case. The cause of the disaster should have been definitely located, and some one should have been held responsible for it. It is only by making a strict enquiry into each case as it arises that we can ever hope to stamp out a custom which seriously affects the public health.

It is only right to add that in this case the stove itself had nothing to do with the disaster. The stove was one of the best that is made. Even a blast furnace cannot discharge its fumes through a chimney if the latter is choked up, as was the case in the recent accident.

GET A BETTER NAME.

We do not think much of the name Intercolonial for the Government railway. We beg to propose that Parliament and the press change the name to the Canadian National Railway.

One of the greatest moves on the continent in the way of railway regulation by the state will be accomplished when Parliament declares that it intends to maintain, extend and officially run its railways so as both to give the public cheaper freight and travel and be a check on the roads not owned by the state.

And with the creation of a strong Railway Commission the work will be fairly begun.

MR. HOWLAND ON SOCIALISM.

Address to the Henry George Club Last Evening—Hearty Reception of the Selected Candidate.

The fact that Mr. Oliver A. Howland, M.L.A., the selected candidate for Centre Toronto, was to contribute a leading feature to the deliberations of the Henry George Club of Toronto added no small amount of interest to their meeting in St. George's Hall last night. The club's secretary, Mr. George J. Bryan, presided, and when Mr. Howland was announced to give a paper on "Applied Socialism" the enthusiasm was not concealed. In a few prefatory remarks the speaker explained that he had accepted the invitation to address the club and had prepared his paper before he had been called upon by his political friends to contest Centre Toronto. He took up his subject more from an historical point of view, dealing with the development of the socialistic idea from the time when it was popularly looked upon as "horrible" until to-day, when socialism is not only tolerated but admired.

There were two great principles which had divided the approval of mankind from the beginning. They were the socialistic, which involved the istrualic idea of loving one's neighbor as oneself, and the individualistic, which went so far as to sanctify personal selfishness. The former principle he subdivided into two forms, socialism proper, which accorded to every man according to his deeds, and communism, which accorded to every man according to his needs. The greatest indictment against the individualistic principle was the uncertainty of a just treatment in the matter of wages and continuous employment to the classes. The problem of the age was to reconcile and bring together the two great tendencies. The tendency of the age was towards federation in all lines, to investigate and get to the bottom of socialistic ideas. But the progress of socialism was indissolubly linked to that of Christianity, to the Master who said to the rich young nobleman, "Sell all that thou hast and give to the poor." The communism on socialism which would succeed was that of Christ, that species which was destined to failure was the communism or socialism of Barabbas. Like Christianity, socialism had had its martyrs, and the speaker made especial mention of the cases of Prince Krapotkin, who had given up his substance, and of Henry George, who had actually given up his life for the cause.

Mr. Howland, in conclusion, made reference to the gradual and unconscious adoption of socialistic principles in state governments, in commerce, in municipal government and in chartered corporations.

THE JEW AND CIVILIZATION.

Eloquent Address by Rabbi Lazarus in Holy Blossom Synagogue Last Evening—Comprehensive Review.

The synagogue on Bond-street, despite the unpropitious weather, was well attended last evening, when the second of the Friday evening services took place. The service is different from the ordinary Jewish ritual, many of the prayers being in English, also the anthems and hymns. The choir is strongly augmented by the presence of the cantor, Rev. Solomon, whose grand voice, blended with the tones of Mrs. Strauss Youngheart and the choir, fills the synagogue with harmonious and reverential music.

Last evening Rabbi Lazarus preached on "What the Jew Has Done for Civilization," and in presenting their claims made out an unanswerable case as to what the world owes to God's own people. He said it would be impossible to point out other but the greatest of the Jewish achievements, seeing that we could not follow the course of every rivulet and stream into the mighty ocean. The Jewish effect upon every act of progress and civilization was now so deeply woven into the mighty fabric of the thought and life of mankind that to separate them from the main body would be impossible.

Epoch-Making Events.

In many great events which have been epoch-making and have been proved turning points in the world's career, the Jew has been in a large degree instrumental in bringing about the occurrence. Prudent fear for his safety on account of insane jealousy and bigotry has forced him to hide his light under a bushel, and it is only by some fortunate chance that we get a revelation as to his ability and power.

Look to the roll of fame in literature, art and music. Do not names like Borne, Heine, and, in our own time, Fargeon, Sacher, Mascch, Tangwill and Grace Aguilar; musicians like Mendelssohn, Meyerbeer, Halevy and Rubinstein shine like brilliant stars in the firmament of literature and music? Who rank so high as Karl Marx, Lasalle and Ricardo in political and social science?

Other nations, it is true, have also laid their offerings upon the altar of humanity; lovely and acceptable as they have been, adding to the material and intellectual wealth of the world, they have not been indispensable. Thus the Greek presented the gift of beauty, the Roman of government. To the Jew, however, the privilege was reserved to confer upon mankind the sublime gift of moral and religious truth which freed it from the degrading fetters of superstition and ignorance. Into his hands have been committed the oracles of the divine lips. Salvation, it is admitted, is of the Jew: In us have all the nations of the earth been blessed in conformity with God's promise to Abraham.

Book of Books.

To the Jew, again, the world owes the Bible. Rightly it is called the Book of Books. How many thousands of thousands of men and women have found consolation in its pages? If the Jew had given nothing else to the world but the Bible, he would have done enough to entitle him to everlasting love and gratitude, and it should be remembered by those ready to heap insults on our heads that the New Testament, although we do not accept its teachings, is mainly the work of Jewish brains and Jewish pens. Having done so much for the world in the past, we must do all in our power still further to enlighten it by bearing witness in our actions to the teachings we hold dear.

The beautiful prayer for the repose of the dead was recited by the rabbi with organ accompaniment, and the service concluded with a benediction.

CRAIG GETS THE PLUM.

He Will Succeed the Defaulting S. J. Sanford as County Treasurer of Simcoe at $1500 Salary.

Barrie, Ont., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—To-day has been a full day with the County Council in preparation for to-night, when Arthur Craig of Craighurst was appointed to the important position of county treasurer, to succeed the defaulter, S. J. Sanford. Craig has stayed right with the council since the opening session on Monday night, and has been fighting hard against the feeling that had risen against him, because he had not noticed, while auditor, that Sanford was openly stealing the county funds. A. Miscampbell, M.L.A., and W. H. Bennett, M.P., worked hard all day for Craig, and it is said E. A. Little, M.L.A., worked hard for Major Stewart of Alliston. At any rate, when the Council met to-night the room was crowded with spectators, notable among them being the score of applicants for the position.

W. H. Hamilton of Nottawasaga, the comedian of the Council, began proceedings with a bogus finance report, recommending that, in view of the county's heavy losses of late and the multitude of applicants, the treasurer's salary be $400 without fees.

Lost and laughter brought the comic to his feet with a real report, which was adopted, the recommendation being a salary of $1500 for treasurer without fees, and also without an assistant. Hereafter all payments and receipts will be made through the bank.

Applicants' names were now written on the blackboard, and read as follows: Ex-Warden Boddy, Bradford; Reeve Mackie, Creemore; Arthur Craig, Craighurst; E. W. Churchill, Collingwood; Mayor Stewart, Alliston; John Rogerson, Barrie; Fred Smith, Barrie; G. S. Morgan, Penetang; T. T. Young, Dalston; H. J. Tudhope, clerk of Oro; Dr. Palling, Barrie; Dr. West, Angus; Warden Sneath, Elmvale; George Moberley, Collingwood; William McDermott, treasurer of Tecumseth; T. W. Lennox, Thornton; G. P. McKay, ex-M. L. A., Alliston; Dr. Armstong, Alliston; P. H. Stewart, assistant county treasurer, Barrie.

The vote was taken by ballot. Craig, Stewart, Young and Sneath were all that stood beyond the 10th ballot, the vote then being 7, 7, 2, 2 respectively. Twelfth ballot, 7, 8, 1, 2; 13th, Craig 9, Stewart 8, Sneath 1; 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th, Craig and Stewart were ties, with 9 votes each. On the 18th Stewart lost one to Craig.

"Election, gentlemen," shouted the clerk. "Craig is elected." This was followed by loud applause and general hand shaking with Craig. The Council then adopted the report making Craig treasurer.

The Young Women's Christian Guild.

Reports we have lately published about the excellent results obtained by the Citizens' Gas Control Co., Limited, 71 Bay-street, have attracted a good deal of enquiry. The Board of Directors are all well known business men and the company has been established here over three years. The new ladies' committee of the Young Women's Christian Guild, where the governor has been in use two years, wished to ascertain exactly what difference it made and ordered a test. In one week, without the governor, they burnt 1600 feet, and in one week, with the governor on, they burnt only 800 feet. The test was concluded on Wednesday and is signed by Mrs. A. McLennen, the superintendent.

Thirty Days for Beating His Mother.

When Charles Welch, 387 Queen-street east, is sober he's a good boy, but when he's drunk he's awful. That is what his mother told the Police Magistrate yesterday when Charles was in the dock for beating her. The old lady gave her evidence reluctantly, but the Magistrate concluded that the beatings were a rather frequent occurrence, and the prisoner was sent to jail for 30 days.

Stolen Kisses. Young men do not try to steal kisses from girls who are sallow and sickly. There is a book containing over a thousand pages and over three hundred illustrations, that every young woman and every mother of young daughters should read. It tells in plain, every day language that anyone can understand, many vital truths that every maid, wife and mother should know. It tells the untold suffering and agony that women endure who enter upon the important duties of wifehood and motherhood without seeing to it that they are strong and well in a womanly way.

It tells about a wonderful medicine for women. A medicine that fits for wifehood and motherhood. A marvelous medicine that gives strength, vigor, vitality and elasticity to the delicate and important feminine organs that bear the brunt of maternity. It contains the names, addresses and photographs of many hundreds of women who were weak, sickly, nervous, fretful, childless wives, but who are now healthy, happy, amiable wives and mothers, through the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. That book is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It used to cost $1.50, now it is free. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, for a paper-covered copy. Fine French cloth binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"During the fall and winter of 1894 I was engaged in teaching at Public School No. 31, in Smith Co., near Tyler, Texas," writes Mr. J. F. Sneed, of Omen, Texas. "During this time my wife was badly afflicted with female weakness. We tried three of the best physicians in the county without benefit to my wife's health, but at great expense. My wife grew worse and we gave up in despair. She could not get in and out of doors without help. She was not able to stand on her feet long at a time, and complained of dragging down pains in the abdomen. Nothing but an untimely death seemed awaiting her. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for his advice. My wife took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in six months was completly cured, at a cost of less than one month's treatment by the last physician we employed before consulting Dr. Pierce."
