MILLIONS OF PEOPLE

AGONY

Physicians Corner!

I SUPPOSE there is not in the whole of a physician's experience, anything in human suffering, which calls forth like sympathy, and pity, to such an extent, as to witness the excruciating pains of a poor mortal, suffering from that fearful disease.

RHEUMATISM!

Heretofore there has been a considerable diversity of opinion among medical men as to the true character of this disease, some locating it in the fibrous or muscular tissues of the system, and others viewing it as an acute nervous disease: But it is now generally admitted to be a disease arising from a poison circulating in the blood, and further it is admitted that rheumatism can never be thoroughly cured without exterminating such deleterious matter from the blood, by a constitutional internal remedy. We feel confident that none will feel better disposed, and rejoice more, than the compositors of the medical man, who has found out that a cure for this long disease has been discovered. The following testimony from a gentleman of standing, and high respectability, and well known to the Canadian public, cannot fail to satisfy all that the

is a wonderful medical discovery.

MR. ISAACSON'S ENDORSATION.

MONTREAL, 21st March, 1874.

Messrs. Devins & Bolton:

Dear Sirs,—I will pleasure, concede to the agent's wish that I give my endorsation to the immediate relief I experienced from a few doses of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure, having been a sufferer from the effects of Rheumatism, I am now, after taking two bottles of this medicine, entirely free from pain. You are at liberty to use this letter, if you deem it advisable to do so.

I am, sirs, yours respectfully,

JOHN HELBER ISAACSON, N. P.

FURTHER PROOF.

I AM ANOTHER MAN!

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 29, 1874.

A. CHIPMAN SMITH,

Dear Sir,—I have suffered for fifteen months with Chronic Rheumatism, and could not find any relief, after try ng every medicine that I saw advertised to cure it, until I was told about the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. I have used three bottles of this valuable remedy, and now can say that I am another man to what I was. I would advise any body suffering with this terrible disease to try it, and see if it does not do the same for them that it did for me.

Yours, JAMES L. ELLIS, Dorchester.

BARNES' HOTEL,

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 3, 1874.

A. CHIPMAN SMITH,

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in stating that I put every confidence in your Diamond Rheumatic Cure. I have suffered for the past two years with Rheumatic Pains, during which time I have had the advice of some of the most prominent medical men in the Province, and experienced no relief, until I tried the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. I have now taken three bottles, and I feel greatly improved, and now am confident of a permanent cure.

Yours truly, JAMES O'BRIEN.

There is no medicine which so promptly relieves the depressed vital action, restores the general and local circulation, allays the pain, dissipates the congestion, prevents inflammation, and restores the healthy action as the

DIAMOND RHEUMATIC CURE!!

This medicine is for sale at all the druggists through Canada. If it happens that your druggist has not got it in stock ask him to send for it to

PYGMALION.

Oh, sister love! My soul is torn
With wild desire and fierce despair!
In vain I weep from night till morn,
And kneel from night till morn in prayer.
The gods are deaf, they will not hear—
The gods are blind, they will not see—
The gods are great, but none are now
And none will heed or pity me.

I watch her beauty day by day,
And day by day her beauty grows;
I watch to see her cast away
That death-like, pitiless repose.
O matchless form—white rounded limbs!
O marvellous, most perfect face!
My brain is wild, delirious seems
My whole soul pants for one embrace!
In vain, in vain! The gods behold
With jealous wrath my mad divine!
Their pride Olympus doth not behold
So fair a form, my love, as thine.
Though gods are great, though gods create,
They could not bid such beauty live,
I covered thee with that rich estate—
Life, life alone I could not give!
The days go by—I dream and weep,
And kneel before thee night and day;
I cannot rest, I cannot sleep,
But I can watch, and hope, and pray.
My cheeks have channels worn with tears,
Mine eyes are dim, my hair grows white,
My face is lifeless as if with years,
My heart is barred to all delight.
Ah me! Thy beauty burns and glows—
A serpent at my being's core!
It gnaws, and sucks away repose,
And makes a hell for evermore.
O marble heart! O marble face!
O marble limbs, so fair, so fair!
Move, live, be human for a space,
And I will die, and will not care.
Dear girl! Then perish thus the dream!
I raise the gleaming death on high!
Here at thy feet my blood shall stream,
And, gazing at thee, I will die.
But thou shalt be for evermore
Wed to my poor lame has passed away,
A thing to worship and adore
Throughout all time—while thou lives—
O gracious gods, a miracle!
She moves! One faint, short gasp she gives!
The blood (hath) warm and palpable—
She stirs—she wakes—she breathes—she lives!
Pygmalion?" Oh, that voice, that word!
Kind gods, she is no longer stone!
Thus do I clasp my soul's adored—
Rest on my heart, my bride, my own!

NOTES AND NEWS.

Eighteen illegal bass nets were seized by Overseer Hogan and Warden Copp on the day before the New Year, on the Northwest river, and five of them were sold at auction at $1.11 each.

"Confound my carelessness," said a ten-year old Detroit lad. "What's the matter?" asked his friend. "Why, I wrote to my girl this morning, and dated the letter 1874, and she'll think it is a year old."

A petrified fragment of what was once a redwood tree was lately found in Napa county, Cal. It is eleven feet in diameter and sixty-seven feet long, and is supposed to have been originally 200 feet in length.

The theory has been started that since the usefulness of whales has largely diminished through the discovery of mineral oils for illuminating purposes, the animals might be domesticated and employed for towing ships.

Dr. William E. Bossetter, of Bridgeport, Conn., has just died from the effects of inhaling ether, which he was administering to a patient four weeks ago. It produced symptoms similar to those of typhoid fever and diphtheria.

The English revisors of the Old Testament completed their 27th session Dec. 18. The revision of the books of Samuel was completed, and the company took up Isaiah, reaching verse 20 of chap. 1.

Father Hyacinthe is now holding Sunday services in the hall of St. Peter's Casino, Geneva. Over 300 persons were present at the opening, Dec. 6. For the last three months he has preached in his own house.

A case of sickening cruelty on the part of the Sheriff of San Antonio, Texas, toward a prisoner confined in jail, is reported. The prisoner was held for murder, and when a circus came to town the other day the Sheriff refused to allow the man to attend. Public indignation at San Antonio is naturally aroused by this barbarous and heartless innovation.

Strangled to Death—A Negro Murderer Hanged in Virginia.

RICHMOND, Jan. 8.

Lewis Adams, colored, was hanged today at Pittsylvania Court House for the murder of another negro named Rice Wilson on the 27th of June last. The crime was committed at a house near Cascade, a village in Pittsylvania County, in which a party of negroes, including Adams and Wilson, had been playing cards all night. Toward morning the mysterious disappearance of some money for which these two had been playing, caused a dispute, and Adams accused Wilson of stealing it. Wilson denied the charge, and then a search of the whole party was proposed. All agreed but Wilson, who declared he was innocent and refused to be searched. Adams then became violent, but the others interfering a personal rencontre was prevented, and he went off threatening vengeance. He went to his home about half a mile distant, procured a gun and returned.

The party with whom he had spent the night were still at the house, and seeing Adams's belligerent attitude, endeavored to stop him from shooting Wilson. They failed, however, and Adams fired, the charge entering Wilson's body and he died in an hour. Adams was arrested and committed to jail, where he remained until October, at which time he was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Previous to his sentence he endeavored to palliate his crime by asserting that he did the deed in self defence, but there was no evidence to that effect. His counsel endeavored at a later term of the court to procure him a new trial but without success. No effort was made to influence the Executive in his favor, as the crime was evidently too glaring to justify the hope of clemency.

Since his conviction Adams has exhibited a stolid indifference to his fate. He lost no rest, but slept a great deal, and even fattened considerably on his prison diet. A portion of his time was spent in company with his spiritual adviser, and yesterday he was baptized according to the rites of the Episcopal Church.

The execution took place at one o'clock to-day, and it was witnessed by a large crowd of negroes of both sexes, also by many white men and a few white women. Previous to the execution the Rev. Mr. Nelson of the Episcopal Church preached the funeral sermon. Adams then made a rambling and incoherent address to the crowd, in which he declared that his conviction had been unjust. He had, however, found consolation in his Saviour, and he express d a wish that he might meet all present in heaven. He failed to exhibit in his harangue the tone of a spirit of repentance, being especially bitter in denouncing all who had testified against him.

When he had concluded the rope was put around his neck by the Sheriff, and at the signal of that officer the drop was sprung, and the body of the murderer fell, tightening the rope with a dull thud. His struggles were fearful for a few moments, but the body soon became quiet, and after hanging nearly twenty minutes it was examined by the doctors in attendance, and life pronounced extinct. His neck was not broken, he having died by strangulation. The body was taken down, and was soon after buried near the foot of the gallows. Most of the crowd lingered, evidently bent upon seeing the end of the sickening spectacle.
