REMAKING THE WORLD'S MAP

A German Predicts That Asia and Africa Will Make Great Strides.

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—Prof. Theodore Schiemann, in his monthly review of foreign affairs, makes some interesting speculations in regard to the changes which will probably have taken place in the world by the time the Kaiser's grandson, who was born on July 4, ascends the throne as William IV. The professor thinks it is clear that the peoples of Asia and Africa will increase in power and strength. The victory of the yellow Japanese has stirred them and European civilization, which is imparting new knowledge to the younger classes, will inevitably produce far reaching effects. It will be far more difficult, the professor says, for Great Britain, France and Russia to maintain supremacy over the Asiatic and African races than now.

The Hindu Banerji was recently crowned King of Bengal. The English laughed at the fact, but none can deny that there will be real rule by a native king in Bengal after two generations. The influence of Japan's victory will also extend to Persia and Afghanistan. In fact all Asiatic peoples are looking forward to a determination of European rule.

In the same way in North Africa, throughout the area from the Mediterranean west to Timbuctoo, a great pan-Islamic movement is gaining headway, while at the same time an Egyptian movement among the negroes in South Africa is steadily gaining strength, and the only white race with a future in South Africa is the Dutch.

Prof. Schiemann proceeds to argue that surprising changes will take place in North America. Both the United States and Canada are in danger of losing their Anglo-Saxonism and becoming a tower of Babel for Germans, Irish, Italians, Spaniards, Slavs, negroes and Jews. The Panama Canal will revolutionize commercial communication with the countries of the Far East and disturb the balance of power in the Pacific.

Prof. Schiemann prophesies that wars and revolutions in Europe will lead to important changes in the Balkan peninsula. Far reaching changes are also probable in Austro-Hungary and Russia, but in general Europe will present the same appearance when William IV. ascends the throne that it does today.

WOMAN FOOLS

GERMAN TROOPS

She Was Honored as the Princess Charlotte Until Recognized as a Lunatic.

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—Koenigsberg has succeeded Koenigsberg in the production of an extraordinary story, but this time it is a woman, and a widow at that, who is the leading character.

On Wednesday an elderly woman plainly dressed appeared before the guard house in front of the castle at Koenigsberg. Two sentries were posted inside the gate and the guard house there were a score of soldiers on watch.

She informed the sentries that she was the Princess Charlotte of Mecklenburg, aunt of Prince Frederick Wilhelm of Prussia, who at present occupies the Schloss. The sentries at once presented arms and the full guard of twenty men turned out and stood at attention. Drums rattled and trumpets blared.

The woman then explained to the non-commissioned officers in charge of the watch that she had business with her "nephew," but as the Prince was not at home, she was to wait. She was escorted into the castle gate. Meantime a crowd had been gathering and it finally grew to such dimensions that an officer had to send for the police to keep it from pressing on the watch house.

Before the police arrived a group of cuirassiers rattled along the street and turned into the Schloss, not forgetting to salute the Princess of Mecklenburg as they passed. Then the police hurried to the scene. At their head was an officer who at once recognized the woman as a harmless lunatic. The crowds were pushed back, a dronkey was brought, and she was removed to a lunatic asylum.

THE TIME TO WORK IS 1 A.M.

Eat Hearty and Sleep Long and Then Your Brain Will Get Busy.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—In a discussion of the general topic of feeding at the meeting of the food congress in Paris Prof. Landouzy quoted various statistics on this subject. These show that among the working classes of Paris the men spend on the average 1 franc and 14 centimes a day for solid nourishment and one franc and 14 centimes a day for drink.

The women are almost always underfed, the cost of their food averaging only from 1 franc to 1 franc and 16 centimes a day, as compared with 2 francs and 38 centimes for the men, and in consequence they age early. The professor asserted that nearly all laborers eat too much meat, the proportion in expense being 60 per cent. while in nutritive value it is only 50 per cent.

Prof. Hallopeau, dealing with brain workers, advised them to take a nap after lunch and a long sleep after dinner. He suggested that a good plan would be to prolong the latter rest to about 1 o'clock in the morning, when a man could wake up fresh and be in the best disposition for furnishing three good hours of intellectual work.

Vegetarianism was opposed by several physiologists, the principle being laid down that "digestion of meat is most easy when the meat eaten is of the same species as the individual eating it. The further the two species, the eating and the eaten are apart, the more difficult is the digestion."

One speaker bluntly observed that the principle led to "a justification of cannibalism, at least chemically."

ANOTHER OPEN WINTER

Says Ezekiel Bonzy, the Aged Weather Prophet of the Penobscot.

YEAZIE, Me., Oct. 29.—"We are going to have another open winter in 1907," said Ezekiel Bonzy, the aged weather prophet of Penobscot Valley. "I can smell it in the air."

"The birds are staying later than usual this fall, which is always taken as a sure sign that winter will not come until after Christmas. Last year I saw swallows and humming birds and thrushes, all of which are in the habit of getting away late in August."

"The hens have hardly begun to shed their feathers yet, and most years they have moulted and started in to lay by October 1. The partridges are very thickly clad with feathers."

"The corn husks are very scant and gnawed. Burs on beechnuts and hazelnuts are so thin and soft that a child can bite through the toughest of them. Cattle and horses that at pasture are looking as sleek as they did in June, indicating that they have not begun to think of putting on winter coats. Woodchucks, which should have retired for the winter in September are out loafing at the entrances to their burrows."

"Chipmunks have laid by very small stores of nuts and grain, though the chestnut crop has been the biggest for ten years. Look anywhere you will and the evidence stands out and meaty and tells you that the winter will be brief and warm."

"Last year at this time the muskrats had built their mud houses all along the upper reaches of the Penobscot River, and now one can go by canoe from Old Town to Medway and never see the sign of a muskrat house. Unless there has been a great strike among the carpenter and builders who put up muskrat houses, some of the homes will not be fit for occupancy until next year."

"Hunters who have shot deer say that the antlers are still growing, or in the velvet stage, though the moulting season with deer is only two weeks away. Though there have been several cold nights, and though I have rubbed the back of several fat cats to get electric sparks out of the fur, I have not heard so much as a croak as yet. This is because the coating of fur on the cats has not become thick enough, proving that the cats are not shaking any haste about putting on winter garments."

"Night here in the village the old maids and grass widows are still coming out in white and peckaboo shirts, and the fathers of marriageable daughters have not set up the parlor stoves or bought the coal for the winter's cooking. It seems as if they expected that most of the courtship would be done on the piazza or over the garden gate, as in summer."

"Unless the signs fall, ice will be high and pneumonia will be plentiful and graves will be opened out between now and next March."

A LADIES' BATHROBE.

6402—A bathrobe is an article of luxury which one cannot do without after realizing its convenience and usefulness. Elderdown and Japanese cloth are the choice of materials and the only adornment offered is the facing of a contrasting color which finishes the edges. The sketch shows the best style of bathrobe developed in blue and white elderdown and with plain blue facings. A wool cord confines it at the waist and is the only fastening aside from the one at the neck. It is an ideal garment to be hurriedly slipped on and covers one completely. The labor involved in its manufacture is very little and no experience is necessary. For the medium size 7 yards of 36-inch material are needed.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., Oct. 29.—At a meeting of the parishioners of St. Mary's Episcopal church this morning, Rev. M. C. Shewen, of Greenwich, Kings county, was elected rector in succession to Rev. It is said that Rev. Mr. Dibblee was willing to accept the appointment only on condition that a portion of the parish of Marguerville was added to his field, and this proposition did not meet with favor.

ROD AND GUN FOR NOVEMBER.

A wide range of subjects, all dealing with outdoor life in Canada, find place in the November number of "Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada" published by W. J. Taylor, at Woodstock, Ont. The opening paper describes a trip to Abitibi, the fine northern lake, one of the shores of which is to be traversed by the Grand Canadian Pacific. A study of the American Golden-Eye, by Mr. Bonnycastle, follows. Franklin B. Huntington in the October number created great interest amongst hunters on both sides of the line, follows it up with another one on "Some Common Mistakes of the Deer Hunter"—a paper which will serve to maintain the interest the first one created. How very wide is the interest felt in the subject of game protection is shown by a paper summarizing the legislative attempts and achievements throughout Canada and the States during the sessions of 1906. The stir in the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick on this subject is also dealt with in two well informed papers. The illustrations in this number are particularly fine, and include a series of western views of great interest to Alpine Club members. There are many other papers, and the whole number sustains in every page the high character which distinguishes the magazine.

HEADLESS BODY OF MAN FOUND FLOATING IN LUNenburg HARBOR.

HALIFAX, Oct. 29.—The headless body of a man, with hands also missing, was discovered at noon today by the fisher & Co's wharf. Landed by a young son of Mrs. Charles Johnson. The young fellow was gathering up the body when he stumbled across the body, and his horrified cries brought the workmen on the wharf to the spot. The body was found in the harbor, and the body removed to the undertakers rooms of Mr. Hoppes, where he began an investigation.

The body was clothed in oil skins and long boots, and as a young man named Wilford is supposed to have been drowned in the harbor a few weeks ago, it is thought that this is his body. The coroner's inquest was adjourned until 2 o'clock tomorrow.

NEWFOUNDLAND WAS CONSULTED, SAYS CHURCHILL.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Answering a question in the house of commons today, Winston Spencer Churchill, under secretary for the colonial office, gave precise details of the steps taken to fully inform the government of Newfoundland of the course of the negotiations of the modus vivendi on the fisheries question. He said:

"The decision of His Majesty's government that a modus vivendi was needed and their intention to make proposals to the United States government for such arrangement was communicated to the colonial government telegraphically some days before the same telegram Newfoundland was asked to give her views of what form the modus vivendi should take, and no proposals were actually made to the United States government until the reply of Newfoundland was received. Throughout Newfoundland was kept fully and promptly advised by telegraph."

"His Majesty's government answered a full review of the entire situation without first consulting Newfoundland and endeavoring to obtain her concurrence. The note from the United States ambassador ratifying the arrangement was telegraphed verbatim to the colonial government the same day as it was written and received."

WOODSTOCK MUST PAY MILLMORE $25 DAMAGES

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Oct. 29.—More v. the Town of Woodstock, after a trial lasting five days, was concluded today. This morning A. B. Connell, K. C., addressed the jury, followed by Daniel Mullin, K. C., for the plaintiff. The charge of His Honor Judge Gregory was a clear review of the evidence and somewhat in favor of the plaintiff's contention. At half-past five the jurors retired. It took them an hour and a half to agree. Through Marshall A. Smith, foreman, they announced a verdict for the plaintiff and assessed damages at $25. Costs, and very heavy ones at that, go with the verdict. Mr. Connell was granted a stay of costs.

His honor adjourned court until Thursday afternoon, as he has to be in Fredericton tomorrow to hold an adjourned session of the divorce court. Mr. Mullin, who received many hearty congratulations on his able conduct of the case, leaves for home tomorrow morning.
