TOM LUNGBOAT AND ACCOUSE TO RACE

Date Fixed for March 11 and Distance Will be Fifteen Miles—Sol Mizitz's Bluff Called

TORONTO, March 8.—The wrangling for a race between Tom Lungboat and Sol Mizitz was renewed yesterday with the result that Managers Staples and Sol Mizitz have at last arranged a race. The distance will be fifteen miles, and as Sol Mizitz wouldn't race without a side bet, a Gentile accommodated him and even called his $500 bluff with a certified check, which he placed in the hands of Tom Flanagan. Accused said that he was almost afraid to go back to his tribunes without a running Longboat and would have stayed down here six months if necessary to get a race with the "Big Chief". The date is fixed on the 11th, at Riverside Rink.

COBBALT DEFEATED BY THE WANDERERS

MONTREAL, Que. March 8.—On the night of the season, the Wanderers to-night defeated Cobalt by a score of 2 to 0. The game was a better one than the score would indicate. This leaves the way clear for the meeting of Ottawa and Wanderers on Saturday night. The Ottawa game with Kennewick to-night was postponed on account of a heavy snowfall, and unless the weather turns colder, the Wanderers game on Saturday will also have to be postponed.

THEY ACTUALLY CURE RHEUMATISM

Gin Pills Prove It

It is one thing to claim to cure Rheumatism. It is quite another to do it. Gin Pills bear out every claim we make for them; they are not a "favorite prescription" or a "marvelous discovery" or a "wonderful secret preparation." They are simply a common-sense, scientific combination of medicines that have proved their value in Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, and Disorders of the Liver.

Ogden, N. S., July 1st, 1909.
"I have been troubled with Rheumatism, it was so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and advised me to go to the hospital, but all of no good until a friend told me to try Gin Pills. I did so, and after using a few boxes I am perfectly cured. I am recommending Gin Pills."

There is no reason why Mr. LAWLER's case should be any different from yours. He took Gin Pills and cured himself of Rheumatism. Why don't you take them and cure yourself? We will let you see them free. A sample of Gin Pills will be sent you, absolutely free. If you write the National Drug & Chem. Co., Limited, Dept. R. S. Toronto.

WESTERN IMMIGRATION TO BREAK ALL RECORDS

Arrivals from the United States This Year
Will Exceed the One Hundred Thousand Mark

OTTAWA, March 8.—The influx of settlers in the Canadian West this year promises to greatly surpass all previous records. Reports received by the Immigration department indicate that the arrivals from the American States, particularly from the Northwest, will exceed the one hundred thousand mark. During the first month of the year there has been an increase of over 100 per cent. in the number of entries taken up. The total number of entries for January and February of last year, an increase of 1,300. Americans led with 835 homestead entries, and there were in addition 42 returning Canadians from the United States. Entries by Canadians totaled 602. English immigrants took 221 homesteads, Scotch 97 and Irish 29. The remaining 413 homesteads were taken up during the month by people from other European countries.

Tries to Stop Wedding of Divorced Man; Kicked Out

EASTON, Md., March 2.—Tony Saunders, of Harlock, Dorchester county, and Miss Margaret Ford, of the same place, were married last Tuesday. Nothing very remarkable about that.

But word has just reached here that the wedding was attended by some rather unusual circumstances, and therefore this yarn.

Now, Tony had been married before, and had been divorced. This, of course, was known to everybody, and particularly to the bride, and nothing was thought of it. The Little Unity Methodist Protestant Church was crowded when the bride party entered and took its place before the altar. The Rev. George E. Hooker started the ceremony and had just pronounced the words, "If any one can show just cause why these two should not be joined together, let him now speak, or forever hereafter hold his peace," when there came an interruption.

As the tale is told, John Harper, a gentleman of the holiness profession, who had entered the church just behind the bride party, rushed up the aisle, Bible in hand, crying: "Stop it! stop it! He is a divorced man! He is against the laws of God! You have no right to marry him! You are violating God's law! You will all go to—"

The bride almost collapsed and the church was filled with excitement. Efforts to quiet Harper were unavailing and the pastor ordered him ejected. The disturber resisted and three husky young men grabbed him and carefully deposited him into the street. Then the ceremony was concluded.

But Mr. Harper was not to be disposed of so easily. Learning when the bride party were to start on their honeymoon trip, he took the same train, and all the way to Preston he stood before them, preaching to them that they had violated God's law, and dire punishment would be their fate. Fortunately for Harper, Mr. Saunders is of a forbearing disposition.

GOOD BALL PLAYERS NOT ON MARKET

Pal Moore Wins Another Fight in Philadelphia—May Arrange Bout With Jimmie Walsh

The New York National League club has not spent big money for experienced players this year for two seasons. Good men are not on the market at any price. Then again the club has been a bit unfortunate in former seasons. For the release of Seymour, Marquard, Meyers, Spike Shannon and Bull Durham President Brush actually paid a total of $40,000, with Seymour about the only one to show the worth of the money paid for him. It is said that McGraw has practically given up hope of Fred Tenney's return to form and that he is convinced that Tenney will not come back. Therefore Merkle will be the regular first baseman, while Shaw will play left field permanently. At least this is the information gleaned in the neighborhood of the Giants' headquarters in the St. James Building.

Pal Moore won another fight when he thrumped Tommy O'Toole in Philadelphia Saturday night. Moore is fighting on an average of once a week and is gathering plenty of soft money. The boy seems to have remarkable stamina and says he does not need a rest. Jimmy Walsh, of Boston, has refused several offers to play for the Giants and would weigh the little quaker in this city but says he will not leave him in the Hub if the weight is 115 pounds at the ring-side and the bout is slated to go in Philadelphia. As some of the recent decisions rendered in Boston have been severely scored Moore is a little wary. Walsh and Moore will meet together in a long fight in California as Colburn regards such a bout as a desirable card.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUGGEST

It is a glad and proper thing to be the originator of a proved success. The article that has caught on to the fingers may be bigger than your whole body. It doesn't count—nothing has ever worked your way to the discovery of a commodity that supplies a great widespread public need, and that is why you are now producing and making it.

It has been exactly like that with H. P. Sauce, The Michigan Vinegar Company of England, the largest firm of malt vinegars in the world, has been an original brewer in this line since the first day of its distribution in 1874.

H. P. Sauce is a thick, rich sauce, compounded solely of most delicious Oriental fruits and spices and pure malt vinegar. Its makers claim for it that there isn't another sauce to compare with it for its fruit flavour, and, judging from the almost wide popularity, the general public have been quick to endorse the good opinion of the manufacturer.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. John's

Episcopal Church, will hold a tea and sale in the Sunday school room of the church tomorrow evening. No efforts are being spared to make the evening enjoyable and successful.

Louis Landry, a native of St. Peter, Cape Breton, now a resident in Boston, formerly of St. John, has had his quota of affliction within the last three weeks. At the beginning of that period his wife committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid, and two days later when he succumbed to the fever brought on by viewing his mother's dying agonies while she was in his arms. The eldest and only child in the family, Landry was at the time a young man of 21, and he was the only person in the household that was able to tell where he worked.

Mrs. Grant McDonald of this city is a sister of Mrs. Landry. His wife was a native of Ireland. She has three brothers on the Boston police force.

Men Had No Equals in Their Time—Conclude

Mack Is Big Today—A Review of Conditions

NEW YORK, March 8.—Baseball managers in league big and little are about to experience the usual trials and tribulations thousands of fans all over the United States are ready to praise or condemn them, as the case may be.

While in many instances managers are not to blame for the poor work of their players on the diamond, it is customary to score them in the hour of defeat or land them to the side when a championship has been won. Players often make the manager a success or vice versa, yet it is generally the manager who is the man who wins or loses games rarely receive credit or censure which belongs to them. Really first-class managers are scarce. It is hard to find a team leader directing the play either in uniform or on the bench who is consistently successful year in and year out.

When the Giants won the pennant in 1907 and 1908 John McGraw was hailed as the best manager in the business. He was clearly entitled to the praise, because of the skill displayed in whipping the New York team into winning form.

But it is a fact that McGraw had the good fortune to get the assistance of such famous ball players as Matthewson, Bresnahan, Devlin, Donlin and others who outclassed men on rival teams.

McGraw is still a first-class manager, but he hasn't been able to win a pennant for five years, so that meanwhile the managerial crowd has been worn in turn by Frank Chance, of the Chicago Cubs, Fred Clarke, of the Champion Pirates, with Hugh Jennings, of the Detroit Tigers, sharing the honors.

It is freely admitted that these managers possess sterling qualities, but they have not been able to handle ball players, but they have not been able to handle team leaders in days gone by.

WRIGHT A STAR MANAGER.

When professional baseball first began to be a business, Harry Wright was the star manager. He had charge of the old Bostonians, who won the national championship in 1873, 1874, 1876, 1877 and 1878. Wright played himself when the first three pennants were won, covering a period of five years and swinging a mighty bat.

Under his management in the Hub were such famous players as A. G. Spalding, Cal McVey, Ioss Barnes and others, and the team played invincible ball up to the organization of the National League in 1876. When the Chicago team came over from the Boston team, Wright, McVey, Barnes and Barnes were dumped for the Wrights, Morris, Burdock and Sutphen, who filled the vacant places to the queen's taste. But that was Wright's last year as manager. He was succeeded by Arthur IRWIN, the Highlander's scout, who won the Providence championship in 1885, 1886, 1887 and 1888. He was also the manager of the Boston team that won the Providence pennant in 1891, and the American Association championship in 1892 and 1894. When the Boston team was moved to Philadelphia, Wright was the man at the wheel when Boston won the American League pennant in 1895 and 1896. He was also manager of the Boston team that won the American League championship in 1898 and 1899 and last year he had another great ball team in the Yankees, who won the American League championship in 1907 and 1908. He has produced many stars, and enjoys the distinction of being the only manager who ever kept the regular Babe Waddell in check.

Dairymple, Tom Burns, Jimmy Ryan, Harry Jackson, Jim McCormick and Billy Sunday were all that any manager could ask for.

Boston got him the fans shook their heads in doubt, but it did not take Sales long to show that he was made of the right stuff. He took Kid Nichols, the noted pitcher, and Horner and Lott, the sensational shortstop, to Boston when he left Omaha, and with the addition of Bennett, Gault, Markzo, Tucker, Quinn, Nash, Lowe, Brodie, Stivetts, Duffy, McCarthy and others he won pennants in 1891, 1892 and 1893.

Then he got hold of Lewis, Bergen, Collins, Tenney, Chick Stahl, Klobbans, Hamilton and others and proceeded to capture two more pennants in 1897 and 1898.

When his contract with the Boston club expired several years later Seale took hold of the Cubs and actually lost the groundwork for the team that soon made Chance famous, for Seale was the discoverer of the developer of Kling, Chance, Tinker, Evers, Reuterbach and other Chicago players who have won seven times in winning of three championships.

Seale died last year, but he will not soon be forgotten. As a judge of green material he was an expert. He dug up many famous players, knew how to get the best work out of them, and it is said that he never had a quarrel with a man on the bench.

Seale's rival for managerial honors when in his prime was Ned Hanlon, of the Baltimore club. After leaving the Detroit club Hanlon managed the Pittsburgh team with only fair success. He finally took hold of the Baltimore team but before he had received a guarantee in writing from the late H. R. Vander Horst that he would not be interfered with.

His first move started, both Von der Horst and the fans, because of his radical nature. He traded George Van Haltren, the star of the team, then Harry Sawyer, who had a coming player in a youngster named McGraw, now the Giants' manager, and he cut Seale's salary.

He made a famous trade with the Brooklyn club, by which he gave up Shubert and Treadway for Dan Evers, and Willie Keeler, and with the veteran battery, McMahon and Johnson, to depend upon, he gradually built up a team that won the pennant in 1894, 1895 and 1896.

Hanlon became the manager of the Brooklyn club in 1898 and won two more pennants in succession, aided by Seale and Willie Keeler, and with the veteran battery, McMahon and Johnson, to depend upon, he gradually built up a team that won the pennant in 1894, 1895 and 1896.

But the Chicago team was wrecked this year by the loss of some of its great team two years later, and Hanlon could not develop an able substitute. He was succeeded by Jim Manning, who failed to produce a winner, and then got out of major league ball.

MINING INSTITUTE

ANGERED BY SIFTON

TORONTO, March 2.—What was practically a vote of censure upon Hon. Clifford Sifton, chairman of the commission on conservation of the natural resources of Canada, was passed this morning at the opening of the Canadian Mining Institute, President W. G. Miller had no sooner finished his address than H. W. Brigstock of Cobalt moved the following resolution, seconded by J. E. Hardman of Montreal, and carried: "Resolved, that the Canadian Mining Institute regrets that the chairman of the commission on conservation should publicly have made statements reflecting on the mining and metallurgical practices of Canadian companies without being fully acquainted with the facts."

The trouble was the speech of Sifton referring to the frequent loss of life in Cobalt mines.

A gift of $7,000 from Lord Strathcona to Chief Inspector Jas. L. Hughes to be used to provide funds for public school cadets was received today in the form of a cheque.
