MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE

Mrs. Daniel McCarthy of Pitt street, left Saturday for Boston in consequence of news lately received of the mysterious disappearance of her son, Edwin. The young man, who is twenty-two years of age, left St. John a few months ago to find employment in Boston. He secured a good situation with a firm of furniture dealers at Wakefield. On the 12th or 13th of July he left his boarding house and has not shown up either there or at his place of employment since. At the time of his departure he had on him about forty-five dollars in cash and carried a suit of clothes done up in a parcel. A balance of nearly fifty dollars was given him by his employers, with whom he bore a very high reputation for steadiness and sobriety, as a letter from them to Mrs. McCarthy testifies. It is feared that he has met with foul play, as no trace can be discovered for his disappearance. The missing man was quite well known in St. John. For several years he was an inmate of the Westport Asylum and was teaching there he was apprenticed to the Messrs. Lordy, on German street.

THE MINERAL INDUSTRY.

With infinite labor and care, and much expense, the Scientific Publishing Co. of New York, have collected the complete statistics of the mineral and metal production of the United States in 1888. These statistics have been collected for the seventh annual volume of The Mineral Industry, Its Statistics, Technology and Trade, which will shortly appear, and they are the most comprehensive and accurate statistics of the U. S. mineral production ever yet published. The mineral and metal production of the United States in 1888 was the largest in the history of that or any other country. The United States was, in 1888, by far the largest producer of iron and steel in the world; was second only to Great Britain—and then by a very small quantity—in the production of coal; and furnished more than half the total copper supply of the world. The total value of the mineral production in 1888 was $708,216,750, against $643,894,899 in 1887. Of the production in 1888, $214,256,620 was the value of metals against $272,778,229 in the previous year, and $483,859,141 ores and minerals, against $497,913,212 in 1887. The values given for ores and minerals include $38,098,011 in 1888 and $31,257,405 in 1887 for bauxite, manganese and iron ores, which were used for making aluminum, for iron, gunpowder and pig iron.

The very complete and compact table of statistics comparing the mineral production of 1888 with that of 1887, was compiled for the volume of The Mineral Industry by Richard F. Rothwell, editor of the Engineering and Mining Journal, and is a very valuable compilation.
