28 GOLD CLAIMS OWNED BY ONE MINE COMPANY

Porcupine Exploration Co. Has Extensive Holdings in Whitney and Tisdale Townships.

PORCUPINE CITY, Jan. 30.—(From Our Man Up North.)—With holdings scatterd over three townships, Tisdale, Whitney and Deloro, 28 claims in all, the Porcupine Exploration Company of Montreal and New York, Hugh H. Sutherlond, mine man, in charge of the Porapine work, are perhaps today next to the Timmins Syndicate in the amount of prospecting work being done in the district.

The syndicate is backed by men of unlimited wealth and whatever holdings in Canada taken over come under the scope of work to be done by those in charge. Under Mr. Sutherland are two very capable mine representatives, one working on the Tisdale properties and the other on the Whitney holdings.

To date the syndicate have taken over the following Porcupine properties, the named bunch of claims being secured this week: McPortland and Morris claims, in Tisdale; seven McRae claims, in Whitney, near Bobs Lake; James Ryan claims, in Deloro, and three Lindbery claims, in concession 5, lot 9, Tisdale.

The biggest cash payment yet made in the district, wherein the whole sum agreed upon was paid at once, $50,000, was made by this syndicate when the McPortland and Morris claims were transferred finally.

J. D. McLeod, a western mining man, was placed in charge of the work on the claims by Mr. Sutherland, the syndicate's representative, and soon an 11-foot vein of blue quartz of the fine quality, running $12 to the ton, was opened. This vein is being stripped and worked.

The Ryan claims in Deloro will be worked as soon as camps and men can be secured.

Yesterday two new leads were opened in the Lindberg and one new one, five feet wide, on the McPortland and Morris. These claims are in about the centre of Tisdale.

The Bobs Lake claims have not been worked, aside from assessment work, but several leads have been opened.

In all the Porcupine Syndicate holdings are so admirably situated that it is not surprising wide leads, carrying free gold and sulphide showings, have been found.

District Manager Sutherland said to The World to-day: "We intend to push the work on all the syndicate's holdings, and from the showings already being made, there is every assurance that by spring, when machinery will be installed and sinking started, we will be able to show to the public some of the best paying dykes in the district."

Mr. Sutherland was one of the first engineers to visit Porcupine and has handled more mine properties perhaps during that time than any other one man. He dealt on the basis of buying the claims outright when showings warranted it. Chas. Fox.

SHAREHOLDERS ENTHUSE AT ANNUAL MEETING

Report of Great Northern Silver Mines Is Well Received by Shareholders.

The annual meeting of the Great Northern Silver Mine, Limited, was held yesterday afternoon at the King Edward Hotel.

It was an exceedingly harmonious gathering and why? Not when President A. D. Crooks presented the financial statement, but when Managing Director F. L. Cody's (Mayor of Cobalt) report showed such marvellous success for the past year. The managing director announced that the company had holdings of 1200 selected acres scattered in Coleman, South Lorrain and in Porcupine. In Porcupine the company owns thirteen claims.

The Great Northern Mining Company has liquid assets of over $100,000 and its future is the brightest possible.

The Great Northern Company own the Hughes claim in South Lorraine. This claim adjoins the famous Bellellen and is on the silver belt running north from the Wettlaufer. For this property the company has been offered a big figure, but they think it best to operate the property themselves.

Among the Porcupine properties owned by the Great Northern is a group of particularly valuable claims on the southwest part of Whitney Township. On these properties a vein has been traced for 1300 feet. A shaft has been sunk and the whole face of the workings shows good gold values.

The policy of the old board was so unanimously and heartily approved that the directors were re-elected for the ensuing year. The prospects are that a distribution of profits will be made by the company within the next year.

The directors of the Great Northern Silver Mines, Limited, are: A. D. Crooks, president; W. R. Smyth, M.P., vice-president; John H. Hyland, Frank Plummer, S. H. Bradford, W. J. Green, F. L. Cody.

Conferred With Trainmen.

Judge Barron, who has been hearing the cases of the G.T.R. strikers at London, Stratford and Niagara Falls, held a conference with Vice-Presidents S. N. Berry and James Murdock of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in his room at the King Edward Hotel yesterday. There are 21 men seeking reinstatement in the Toronto terminal.

PORCUPINE MEN WANT REVISED MINING LAWS

Thirty Days' Assessment Work in Winter is Lost Time—Closed Season of Work Desired.

PORCUPINE CITY, Jan. 31.—(From Our Man Up North.)—Will some one please rise in the Ontario Legislature and propose very much needed changes in the provincial mining laws? is the question prospectors, the developers of a country's resources, are now asking.

According to the present code, a prospector, should he find a place to stake in the late fall, must during the next three months do thirty days' assessment work. This brings the time into the dead of winter when the work performed is merely a waste.

From interviews with a half hundred or more prospectors in Porcupine, The World learns that fully 60 per cent. of the assessment work done here this winter has been nothing more nor less than shoveling snow, purely a waste of labor at a time when the cost of work is 15 per cent. more than in the summer time.

And another factor enters. The law thru forcing men to do assessment work at an inopportune time to get the most out of them in developing the district, teaches little dishonesties, and it is not presumed for a moment that dishonest practices should arise in connection with mining work.

Many a man, driven to desperation while enduring hardships in the bush, with no chance for making gains in his work as a roll of snow falls back into the trench to replace the one just removed, grows careless in maintaining a colorless conscience, and little discrepancies often creep into his manner of doing things which would never be thought of under good conditions.

And the province is the loser in the work done.

It is estimated that there are now 1000 men living in this district in tents, with boughs for a bed and a pile of fire brands as their only warmth, while frozen foods, extremely unhygienic, later propagate and scatter disease, and make them victims of inadequate mining laws that harm the province as well as the developer.

All these points, fully and fairly discussed, are raised by the men of the camp as sufficient grounds for the present legislature to act on.

"A closed season" on assessment work is urged. Eight months of summer and fall, they say, should be set apart for the work when 100 cenes on the dollar in value can be returned. Working out the miners' penalty in snow, that later evaporates and leaves no value to the worker or his country, is tabooed as silly and most imbecilic.

No favors are asked. The prospectors of the north have always worked against odds. Pity has been sometimes extended, but not material help.

Charity and sympathy are not asked for. Justice only to themselves and the country only are demanded.

Will their representatives at Toronto grant this justice? is their polite but plain request.

RICH HUGHES CLAIM SELLS FOR $300,000

Flynn Bros. and Porcupine Mining Co. Secure Valuable Property Near Scottish Ontario Group.

PORCUPINE CITY, Jan. 30.—(From Our Man Up North.)—The biggest boost in the way of confidence in what the district of the north of Porcupine City will yield came yesterday afternoon, when it was announced that the Flynn brothers of the Vipond and the Porcupine Gold Mining Company had taken over the Hughes claim, one-half mile to the north of the lake, for $300,000 on terms.

After the enormous finds of last week, several buyers inspected the property and lively bidding was the result. A. L. Smith of Buffalo offered a quarter of a million when the Flynns raised him the next day to $300,000.

The vein was opened after snow fell this fall, but little work was really done till after Christmas. On Jan. 17 the flakes of gold were found in the blue quartz on a 10-foot vein.

Interest stiffened in that section and the next day claims that had been offered for $300 were turned over at $5000, provided engineers were convinced that when the surface was opened up the same vein would be picked up to the east.

The Flynns are active operators and go about their work very quietly. One would hardly know they were in the district unless you met them on the trails, east, west, north and south. "Johnny on the spot." This is their fourth big buy since last June.

One of the properties taken over by them, it is announced, the so-called Feldon claims, have been sold to a London syndicate. Manager Kuehn is here now testing out the veins.

Work started on the Hughes claims this morning and stripping and uncovering will be continued under the direction of Thomas J. Flynn until an opening sufficient to enable him to judge where a shaft should be sunk is made, when the work of going down on the vein will be taken up.

From every indication the vein opened on the Hughes is the vein which crosses the Scottish-Ontario and the Mullholland to the east.

A pure milk bill to carry into effect the report of the milk commission, is being prepared. The bill will provide that in cities of 50,000 and over milk must be sold exclusively in bottles or sealed packages.

Porcupine Notes

PORCUPINE CITY, Feb. 2.—(From Our Man Up North.)—The young woman who cannot handle a pair of snowshoes here would have to curtail her visiting days.

The blizzard of Monday was one of the worst this season, and for hours after the storm had passed the usual crop of "lost on the lake" stories came floating in.

The road is cut thru the woods from the Kelso line to Frederickhouse River and the teamster who persists in traveling across the lake certainly enjoys the rough weather route.

Letters from the south this week told of warm weather and rain. But comparisons are odius, indeed.

A cabin in the Porcupine woods beats a castle on Ontario's bluffs any day.

Cripple Creek prospectors are a determined bunch. All winter they have worked, to throw out one shovelful of snow for two to blow in. Assessment work is merely shoveling snow, but the present mining law makes it so.

Work on the Digby vet is being pushed with vigor and a 10-foot quartz lead has been opened.

Someone has been mean enough to ask "why houses built along some ports of the lake shore were not put on rafts?"

It seems to be settled from the course that the railway survey now takes that when extended the line will keep well along the concession line south of Miller Lake.

Engineer B. N. Leyson of Toronto is again taking a look over the camp.

The Rea mines did not cause surface exploration work when the snow fell. Some of the most spectacular showings in the camp may be seen here on the surface, turned up with each day's work. There is little probability that the South African Company will release their hold here. A second payment is said to be due.

James Ryan, ex-chief of police of Cobal, is in the camp. He enjoys the great distinction of being able to sell mining claims to many men whom he knows purely on the grounds of a well-established honesty.

Mr. Ryan had finished describing what would be found on one of his claims. The buyer listened attentively, and when Ryan had finished threw the house folks into a brown study by exclaiming:

"Ryan, I will take your claims and here is your money. I think you are honest." and the deal was closed at once.

Mr. Ryan has been operating in the Cobalt and Porcupine camps for four years and has all that time steadily built up a large and honorable acquaintance, with results.

E. C. Wakefield, U. S. consul at North Bay, arrived in the camp yesterday, and at once proceeded to the south end of the lake, where he has holdings with Thomas Warner of Chicago, an engineer who has worked in the Cobalt, South Lorraine and Porcupine camps.

Mr. Wakefield has often been appealed to by men in the States who wanted to know something of the Porcupine fields. By making frequent trips here during the summer and fall, when traveling was almost impossible, he was able to get posted on the work being done and to view personally the showings.

In this way the representative of the United States Government was in a position to give quick, valuable information to investors from the States, many of whom are coming into the district.

That every facility for carrying freight and passengers may be had at the time when needed, docks at both ends of the lake will be built this winter.

Representatives of the Golden City townsite will prepare at once for the placing of an adequate wharf to the north end of the lake, while the south end owners will also build suitable docks there.

Boats will ply on the lake during the summer, and in this way a drive of two and a half miles over bad roads will be avoided. At least a dozen large sized motor boats will be in service.

BRUCE HOTEL SOLD

Mullin of Gowganda Purchases Porcupine Hostelry for $25,000.

PORCUPINE CITY, Feb. 2.—(Special to The World.)—The big Bruce Hotel, which was opened up at South Porcupine last week, has been sold for $25,000 to Mr. Mullin, the Gowganda hotelkeeper, who will take charge immediately.

Charles Fox.

The Bruce Hotel, which was the first hostelry in South Porcupine, has been open for business only a little more than a week, and has enjoyed a decidedly good patronage right from the start. South Porcupine is the nearest townsite to the big mines and the hotel occupied a good vantage point on this account.

Mr. Mullin, it will be remembered, bought the well-known King Edward Hotel at Gowganda from William W. Baxter of Baxter & Co., who formerly had a cigar store at the corner of Adelaide and Yonge-streets. Mr. Mullin is well known to the mining fraternity.

M'KINLEY THE FEATURE OF THE MINING MARKETS

Responsible Buying Puts Stock Up 16 Points—General Firm Undertone to Whole Market.

World Office,
Thursday Evening, Feb. 2.

Responsible buying of McKinley-Darragh stock, which put the shares up 16 points to $1.75, was the only feature of any prominence on the local mining market to-day. This issue has been prominent in the dealings for some weeks now, but to-day's movement overshadowed the slow progress which has been made in recent sessions, the stock selling up rapidly today to the top figures under heavy buying orders.

Considerable of the purchases of McKinley-Darragh are coming from New York, which has been bullish on the security for some weeks. It is rumored that a dividend of 15 per cent. will be declared payable on April 1, and that this will be made a straight quarterly disbursement, which would put the stock on a 60 per cent. dividend basis. The last distribution to the shareholders was made on Jan. 1, when 15 per cent. (3 per cent. dividend and 12 per cent. bonus) was declared.

The other higher priced Cobalts displayed a marked firmness in to-day's markets. Nipissing advanced 5 points to $10.85, and La Rose was also above its recent levels, the shares selling as high as $4.85, under steady buying.

There was active trading in the cheaper issues, but price changes in this section of the list were small, values holding steady in the majority of instances. Little Nipissing dropped another fraction at 6⅞, and Beaver and Hargraves made small advances, but these were not sufficient to indicate any pronounced trend.

Hollinger continued in good demand and recorded another advance at $4.30, four points above yesterday's levels.

STOCK WAS OVER-ISSUED

Meeting of Little Nip Shareholders to Go Over Affairs.

A special meeting of the Little Nipissing Mining Company's shareholders has been called for Feb. 17. At the instance of the new directors an investigation has been made of the company's registration books, and it has been definitely found out that an over issue of authorized stock has been made. This was so stated yesterday by W. S. Milne, secretary of the company.

This issue has not exceeded the company's capitalization of 2,000,000 shares, but so far as can be learned about 200,000 shares have been issued, the returns for which should have been made to the company's treasury, and this amount, according to the books, has not been received.

Rumors in this connection have been current for several weeks. The weakness in Little Nipissing is attributed to street gossip.

RICH STRIKE ON SWASTIKA

Ore That Will Likely Run Over One Hundred Dollars Per Ton.

A strike of a sensational nature was made at the Swastika property, close to Swastika station on the T. and N. O. Railway last Saturday.

A winze is being sunk on a vein from the 100-foot level to the 200-foot level, and at 115 feet from the surface the winze opened up a body of ore which it is believed will run over $100 per ton. The gold is not so coarse as that seen in Porcupine, but it is very plentiful, even as seen with the naked eye. The management are greatly elated over the find as it goes to prove what they have all along contended that they have a property equal to the best.

The vein on which the sinking is going on is at present depth ten feet wide and still increasing. It has shown much free gold and is opened up on the 100-foot level for over 80 feet in length, all showing the same good values.

A five-stamp mill will be in operation within a few days.

WILL PUSH OPERATIONS ON DELORO PROPERTIES

Mancha-Newman Syndicate Has 13 Claims, With Several Veins Already Uncovered.

PORCUPINE CITY, Jan. 30.—(From Our Man Up North.)—The Mancha-Newman syndicate, holding thirteen claims in southeast Deloro, and one claim near the middle of the same township, have opened work on their group and twenty men leave to-day to uncover and strip the several veins which were opened last fall.

Free gold in a reasonably large dyke was found on two of the claims before the syndicate was formed to operate on the properties. Southeast Deloro has some most excellent showings, and if the sleigh road were cut now along the west Shaw line, more development work would be on in that quarter to-day, for small holders cannot afford to pay the enormous sum of $50 a ton to get in provisions and material.

More transportation facilities is the key to further development in the outlying district of Deloro and Shaw.

The Mancha-Newman syndicate is composed of Raymond Mancha of Detroit and S. B. Newman of Huntsville, Ala. They also have holdings in South Lorrain.

"We are very much pleased with our showings," said Mr. Mancha, after spending the day in the camp, "and as our buildings are about up we expect to get down to hard work at once."

Mr. Newman is a coal operator in the south and has spent some time in the Northern Ontario mining fields. Each summer he comes north.

Leaving Huntsville in balmy spring weather, he did not seem to bother about four feet of snow and 20 below zero in Porcupine. Men who hustle and do things do not mind conditions.

CHURCH SERVICES HELD IN PORCUPINE CAMP

Denominations Hold Divine Meetings Each Sunday—Sacred Edifices Will Be Erected Soon.

PORCUPINE CITY, Jan. 31.—(From Our Man Up North.)—Not only in temporal, but also in spiritual, matters is Porcupine advancing. Every Sunday there are church services in all three towns, and for the present three denominations are represented.

Catholic church services are held in Golden City and in South Porcupine.

Sundy high mass was sung at the Porcupine Hotel in the north end, while mass was said in the new Bruce and McCarty Hotel in the south end. High mass is not often conducted in a district so new. Services were also held at the Dome and Timmins mines by Rev. Father Bourassa of Haileybury, while Rev. Father Gascon of Cochrane had charge of the town services.

A lot has been secured by the Catholic Church Society in Golden City, where a building will be put up. It is also said that a Catholic church will be built in South Porcupine.

In Porcupine City the Presbyterians already have a very suitable church building, in which Rev. C. E. McInnes conducts regular Sunday services. Forenoon and evening meetings are held.

The Baptist Society have secured a lot in this townsite and will build a church within a short time.

Rev. W. L. Lawrence looks after members of the Methodist denominations, and at first held meetings in the differen hotels in the three townsites. Quarters have been arranged for and the Methodists will soon occupy a church on a site in Porcupine City; also Methodist services will be held in Golden City.

It is doubtful if a community in Northern Ontario so new as the Porcupine district was ever so well looked after by different church organizations.
