Gossip From Chicago.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to R. Cochran: It was again illustrated to-day how foreign markets respond to weakness on this side. Although our market closed Saturday higher it did Friday, the fact that it had sold off 1½c from top turned foreign markets weak. This made our markets weak at opening. Cables came stronger at close, reporting damage to French and Russian crops. There was a rally of 1c, on which Partridge turned seller, causing reaction. Then another cable came stating Russia was importing wheat from Germany, and immediately there was another spurt. If confirmed these rumors will be likely to put market higher, but foreign markets do not indicate that much reliance is placed in them. There is doubtless strong bull clique in corn, and although they milk the market by selling on rallies and buying back on breaks they don't let go and promise to put corn higher. Provisions were quiet. Numbers of traders have announced themselves bulls on provisions and buying been good. Looks as if might work higher.

Counselman & Day to John J. Dixon & Co.: Wheat opened half a cent lower without encouragement to holders from cables, weather or shipping movement. For two hours local crowd generally were steady sellers and low prices were made when the visible supply showing a small increase was announced. The important news of the day was Freeman's cable, said to be from the same party who first announced extent of French shortage last year, predicting now that at least 40 per cent. of the winter wheat area of France must be resown. Early private cables had quoted Paris lower, but closing public cables showed advances on the Continent, and it was said to be importing wheat across the German frontier. A general rush to cover caused a strong advance. Market looks to us like seeking a permanently higher level. Corn again asserted its independence strength and closed ½ to ¾ higher, with best gains in near deliveries in spite of a large increase in visible. Provisions ruled quiet, but holders were firmer in their views. Demand for ribs was especially good and led the market, which closed firm.

Gaff From Gotham.

Henry Allen to John J. Dixon & Co.: The coal stocks have continued buoyant to-day, quotations for every one of them rising largely. Reading touched 55 for the first time in a couple of years. Delaware and Lackawanna crossed 150. All other anthracite stocks kept in close company. Much wild talk is being heard to account for the boom. Some theories attribute the whole thing to Vanderbilt manipulation. As a matter of fact it is largely a reflection of an important deal in the coal trade whereby the anthracite companies go into what is practically a trust. Middle men's expenses are to be abolished. Meanwhile a big short interest in all the coal stocks has been wiped out to-night. Everybody is long Delaware and Reading. A scoop would not be unnatural. The rest of the market has been rather dull, though many conspicuous stocks have scored comparatively small advances to-day. All of Vanderbilt's stocks are strong, but trading in them is light. New pools have been formed to bull half a dozen lending low-priced shares, including Erie, K.T. and Richmond Terminal.
