The Value of Honorary Degrees.

In a timely article in the July Century, on Academical Degrees, especially Honorary Degrees in the United States, Ex-President Theodore D. Woolsey of Yale thus comments on the present system of conferring titles: "We have also a right to say that this distribution of honorary degrees is to a great extent unmeaning. It fails of selecting the most worthy; it disappoints many, as is possible, and gratifies a few, and those few not, of course, the best fitted to fill the place; it by no means selects the most learned and useful scholars, but rather those who have an artificial or undeserved prominence. The desire to obtain the honor is a desire which no man should indulge, and yet the uncertainty and unreasonableness of the rules of selection provoke such a desire especially in persons who have no good claims by which it can be justified. If the honor of a doctorate in theology is given to ministers of one denomination, it will in the end be given to those of another—not in order to encourage a learned ministry but owing in part to the sway of the spirit of equality and because, in part, it gives a title which is as good as if the largest university had conferred it as well as a standing in the upper section of one's fellow-ministers. Perhaps, too, it may help him in getting a good parish. The social distinction conferred on a man by an academical honor, whether deserved is not an inconsiderable motive for desiring and even for seeking it; and the value of titles is perhaps nowhere more highly estimated than in a democratic country like ours. Thus the official title which attaches itself to a person in a civil, military, judicial, or political sphere is commonly given rather than the christian name not merely because it is shorter to say Colonel or Major or Mr. Smith, but also because it is supposed to afford pleasure to the person so addressed. It is owing to these causes that addresses by word of mouth or on the covers of letters have gradually fallen down from their original honorary meaning, so as to be open to almost all men,—such titles, we mean, as Esquire, Master or Mr., and Honorable. In this widening of the use of titles, they come to mean at length little or nothing, and instead of distinctions are bestowed on all men. Who that adds the title of Esquire to a name on a letter ever thinks of the aristocratic employment which it once denoted? It is getting to be very much the same in regard to doctorates in theology. They carry with them no evidence of learning, but only a certain indefinite superiority above others in the same sacred calling."

The Cattle Trade.

The importance and vast proportions which this branch of trade has assumed in this country are not generally understood in fact but a few are aware of its extent. The Montreal Herald, in its issue of June 6th says:—

"Last year lumber was at the top of the list of exports in point of value, and the next on the list was cattle, the most striking feature of which was that all were the produce of Canada.

Through the courtesy of Mr. C. H. Chandler, who has been actively connected with the trade and takes a deep interest in its developement, we are enabled to lay before our readers the subjoined tables, from which it appears that 66,301 cattle, 385,340 sheep and 6,374 horses, valued at $9,388,385, were exported from Canada last year. We are indebted to the same gentleman for a statement for the month of May of the present year, and also for a statement showing the number of cattle and sheep exported from Canada from 1876 to 1883. This shows in a compact form the rise and progress of this important trade, from 6,940 cattle and 9,506 sheep in the first named year to 56,641 cattle and 120,350 sheep last year. These compilations will prove highly interesting to those interested in the development and progress of cattle-raising and dealing in this Canada of ours.

It will be noticed in this connection that while the grain export trade, which receives so much attention, is of grain which is chiefly from the Western States and is largely of American growth, that the cattle exported from this port are exclusively the product of this country.

The following are Mr. Chandler's figures:—

Exports of live stock from Canada to Great Britain and the United States for the year 1883:—

	Cattle	Sheep	Horses.
Montreal to Great Britain	50,655	100,113	6
Canada to Great Britain via U. S. ports	5,986	20,237	.....
Canada to the United States markets	9,560	265,000	.....
Montreal to United States	.....	.....	2,868
Estimate from other ports of Province of Quebec and other Provinces	.....	.....	2,500
Total	66,201	385,350	6,375

Export value of cattle	$5,808,400
Export sheep and lambs	2,052,900
Export Horses	1,525,885
Total	$9,387,385

Of the horses 427 went from Montreal to the United States for breeding purposes, valued at $74,000.

Exports live stock from Montreal to great Britain for the month of May this season:—

Cattle	9,235
Sheep	610
Export value	$928,580

Exports of cattle and sheep from the port of Montreal from 1876 to 1883, inclusive:—

	Cattle.	Sheep.
1876	6,940	9,506
1877	13,400	23,200
1878	18,655	41,225
1879	35,009	80,332
1880	50,905	81,843
1881	45,535	62,400
1882	42,392	76,653
1883	56,641	120,350

The above were sent from the St. Lawrence to Great Britain.

— Even the sacred precincts of the Vatican at Rome, the home of the head of the powerful church whose doctrines, the a large body of the apostles of dynamite profess to obey (?), has been invaded by threats of the use of the terrible explosive. The life of the Pope is aimed at. The Romish clergy boldly assert that the threats proceed from the German Free Masons, who they say are furious on account of the recent opposition by the Vatican to their lodge.

It would appear that dynamite is becoming the recognized means, to endeavor to obtain concessions; to wage a warfare; or to avenge a slight. Who would want to be a crowned head, or any other head, of the nations of the old world now a days? Evidently the excitement occasioned by the murderous explosion in London, Eng., is not widespread and of a more serious character than is generally understood, as will be seen by the following special cable news to the New York press:—

"The Irish leaders are anxiously awaiting some expected developments of an extraordinary character. The fact that the Parnellites seem to be in a state of constant apprehension, would indicate that they have good reason to know that "O" Force Party" are on the eve of attempting to carry out some well planned scheme of terrorism. The police are nervously active. London was never so thoroughly patroled. Strangers arriving at any of the metropolitan stations are closely scrutinized and in many cases "shadowed" until proved beyond suspicion. All the Ministers are guarded by detectives to and from Parliament, and the public offices are closely watched. The entire detective force has been put on double duty, alternately. When Parliament is in session, visitors are discouraged from attendance, and strangers are not allowed in the building at all. Before each sitting of Parliament, the buildings are searched by police from cellar to roof, and immediately after each rising all people are ejected from the palace yard, and the gates locked and placed under guard. Nearly all the well known Invincibles who recently were conspicuous in London have either disappeared or have suddenly become ominously quiet. It is generally feared that the leaders of the Invincibles are in secret session in Paris, for the purpose of directing from there, the expected developments. A sensational Paris despatch published in Saturday's Times, purporting to contain a revelation of the intentions of the new Fenian leaders, has intensified the London dynamite scare."

— Rev. Father Chiniquy was stoned recently by a mob in Quebec, As most of our readers are aware, Father Chiniquy was once a priest of the Roman Catholic church, but believing its doctrines erroneous apostated, and long since joined the ministry of the Protestant church, and entered the lecture field in a crusade against the Romish religion. The Quebec French press, with one single exception, endorsed the action of the mob. Le Courrier says:—

"The Abbe Chiniquy was a power formerly. A distinguished orator, he with Mr. Mailloux and Mr. Quartier, founded the work of the Cross of Temperance, which has such marvellous effects in our Province. Then he was venerated he was sought for. Our town, herself, welcomed him. To-day what happens? An assassin, a robber, a man condemned to death, is executed less. Disgust and hatred pursue him wherever he goes. That is what his apostacy has reduced him to. The punishment he deserved."

Another paper says:

"The stones fell thick as hail upon the vehicle, and the crowd pursued the apostate till he was out of sight. Will he come back? We do not think it . . . The old malefactor thought it more prudent to leave by the North Shore Railway. "To sum up, Mr. Chiniquy knew what he must do to be saved.

Rather tall language for the latter part of the nineteenth century in a portion of a land under the dominion of England's Protestant Queen. If Queen Mary happened to be on the throne, and the time the sixteenth century, this kind of thunder might be something else beside being ridiculous. The Roman Catholic church, should be able to defend its doctrines by more dignified argument than stony logic. Such comments as we have quoted above, nor the action of the mob, cannot, unless we are much mistaken, be acceptable to the best members among the priest-hood and laymen of this influential church.

— During the session of the Presbyterian General Assembly held in Toronto this month, a delegation from the Church of England Synod, Diocese of Toronto, waited upon the Assembly, and greetings of the most kindly nature and feeling were exchanged. Hon. Mr. Blake, who is the Chancellor of the Diocese, addressed the Assembly on the value of religious education in our schools, and other matters. The Assembly appointed a deputation of their foremost men to wait upon the Synod with reciprocal expressions of good-will and co-operation. Such exchanges of courtesies between religious bodies are indeed gratifying.

— A butter factory is about being started in Sussex, N. B. Why is it that a similar factory is not started in this county? We would then have better butter; farmers wives less toil, and employment would be given to a number of people. Butter factories pay elsewhere and why not here? Labor is cheap, milk plenty, and markets good.

Local and Other Matter.

— Last Friday was the seventh anniversary of the great St. John fire.

— C. J. Townsend resigned his seat in the Local Legislature on the 16th inst.

— Services in Presbyterian Church next Sabbath, 29th June, at 11 a. m. and 3½ p. m., Mr. McDonald from Cornwallis to preach.

— The Dominion of Canada 3½ per cent. loan of £4,000,000 sterling was all taken up in London last Wednesday.

— The first cheese was made in the new cheese factory, Paradise, on the 19th inst., being just a month from the time the building was burned down.

— An excursion from Eastport, Me., to Annapolis, by the New England and Acadia S. S. Line brought over about one hundred visitors last Friday.

ACCIDENT.— Mr. Joseph Fellows of Granville, had his collar bone fractured in two places on the 18th inst. He was riding on horseback, when his animal stumbled and fell, with Mr. Fellows underneath.

— The present is Encenia week at Kings College, Windsor. As the ceremonies in connection with laying the corner stone of the new Post Office building also take place, an unusually interesting time may be expected.

— The following new post offices were established in the Maritime Provinces on the 1st of June:—Alexandria, Queens, P. E. I.; Codle's Harbor, Guysboro, N. S.; Greenhill, Cumberland, N. S.; Jeddor, Oyster Ponds, Halifax Co., N. S.; Mineral Hill, Albert, N. B.; Shemcook, Township 27, P. E. I.

N. S. S. Co.— The following changes have been made in the running of this line:—

The fine fast side-wheel steamer Secret will leave Boston every Friday at 8 a. m. for Digby and Annapolis. Returning will leave Annapolis for Boston via Digby, every Saturday, at 1.30 p. m., making connections to and from all points on W. C. R. & W. A. R. to Halifax, and stages to Liverpool, &c.

Concerning the Yarmouth line:—

The Secret leaves Boston, every Tuesday at 8 a. m. for Yarmouth direct. Returning, leaves Yarmouth for Boston, every Wednesday evening; passengers making connections to and from all points on W. C. R. & W. A. R. to Halifax.

— F. H. Baker, formerly a well-known Halifax lobster packer, and editor of the Mayflower, is employed on the Boston Globe.

OUR FISHERIES.—On Tuesday of last week, Yarmouth shipped over $11,000 worth of merchandise to Boston, the principal portion of which was fish.

— Independent Order of Forester's meeting to-morrow evening, 26th inst. A large meeting of the members is requested.

— By a mere lapsus calami we stated in our report of the Supreme Court last week, that Judge James was the presiding judge, instead of Judge Smith.

— The New England and Acadia S. S. Co., have fixed the price of first class fare from Digby to Boston at five and one half dollars.

— Bright Medina, 342 tons of Annapolis has been purchased by Capt James Ryan and A. W. Moren of Liverpool N. S.

— On and after June 23rd the steamer Frances of the Mount Desert line, via Annapolis, Digby and Eastport, connects with the Maine Central Railway, at Bar Harbor, new pier. There will be three daily trains for Boston.

— A man named John Gibson, who made himself quite notorious for various, but by no means enviable reasons, in this town last winter, is now in jail in Yarmouth awaiting his trial for stabbing, with intent to kill, a man named Fred Major. He will be tried at the Supreme Court which commences next Tuesday.

— Our thanks are due Howard Troop, Esq., of Granville, who has presented us with a basket of Bishop Pippins, which have been kept in an extraordinary state of preservation, by simply wrapping them in paper, and keeping in a cool place in cellar.

CUMBERLAND.—The writ for the Local election in Cumberland caused by Mr. Townshend's resignation has been issued. Nomination day will be Tuesday July 2nd. The nomination for the Commons seat is appointed for June 26th, the same day as the Cape Breton nomination.

POST LOBBY.— The "Roach Bridge" at this place, has been taken up, to be replaced by a new one, and parties will be unable to pass until further notice. Mr. John Piggott, of Bridgetown, has the contract for building the new bridge.

—Nova Scotians are to read several papers before the British association in Montreal. Major-General Laurie will read a paper on the agricultural resources of Nova Scotia. E. Gilpin will describe our gold fields. Deputy Minister of Marine Smith will tell about our lighthouse system, and N. Z. Jones about our fisheries.

— Howorth's Hibernica performed to a good house on the 18th inst. The scenery is the best ever exhibited in this town, and was much admired by the audience. The several characters in the play which proceeds as the scenery is being exhibited, were well sustained. Mr. James Hearne, Mr. Harry Hall and Mr. Frank Duffey, Irish, Yankee and Dutch impersonators respectively, being particularly good. Two duetts by Miss Sadie McGill and Mr. Hearne received deserved encores. Four fine tableaux completed the performance.

— The congregation of Providence Wesleyan Church presented their organist, Mrs. James A. Foster, with an agreeable surprise in the shape of a purse containing quite a sum of money on Saturday last. Mrs. F. has freely given her service for a number of years, and on several occasions the congregation have shown their appreciation of the same in a similar unexpected manner. These gifts have been received with much pleasure, not so much from their intrinsic value, as for the kindly feeling they displayed, and Mrs. F. wishes us to convey to the congregation her sincere thanks, and to say that her best services are ever at the disposal of the church.

— The following cases have been tried since our last issue.

Armstrong et al., vs. Benson. Action for trespass. Judgment for pltff. Jury awarding $5 and costs. Parker atty., with McCoy, Q. C., counsel for pltff. E. Ruggles, atty., with Ruggles, Q. C., and Harrington, Q. C., counsel for deftt.

Daniels vs. Abbott. Action for assault. E. Ruggles, atty., with Ruggles, Q. C., Harrington, Q. C., and Ervin, counsel for pltff. Parker, atty., with McCoy counsel for deftt. Judgment for pltff., for $60 damages, and costs.

In the criminal cases, Perry Bent, Israel Bowlsby and John Mack, were found guilty of larceny. The others were acquitted.

Bear River Items.

The Western Baptist Association began its thirty-fourth annual session at Bear River last week. The Rev. J. C. Morse preached on Friday evening, the 20th inst., to a large congregation. About 200 strangers are in the place, and a very pleasant session is being had.

On Saturday morning the Association was organized, by appointing the Rev. J. W. Parker to the chair, and the Revs. Jas. I. DeWolf and Geo. H. Goudey as secretaries. The forenoon and part of the afternoon, was taken up in reading letters from the Churches. We noticed that the Bridgetown Church asked for the association to meet with them next year, and it is probable the invitation will be accepted. In the P. M. of Saturday, the committee on obituaries, reported through its chairman, Rev. W. H. Warren. The report referred especially to the deaths of the Rev. J. A. Durkee, and A. Longley, Esq. Very touching tributes were paid to the memory of those brothers, by the different speakers who addressed the Association on the report.

The most of the afternoon was given to the report of the committee on Sabbath Schools, and great emphasis was given to this department of christian work. Dr. Rand, in his address, remarked that the discussion was the most intelligent that he had ever listened to on the subject.

In the evening, a grand temperance meeting was held. The Bear River Brass Band aided the choir, and gave the congregation a musical treat. For a child so young the band did itself great credit.

Rev. J. A. Gordon followed the report of the committee on temperance with a very able address, on "The Christian Church the grandest Temperance agency."

Rev. P. R. Foster spoke on the necessity of church members being total abstainers and temperance workers. Last but by no means least, the Rev. C. Good-speed spoke on the necessity of union among christians in procuring and enforcing a prohibitory law.

Prayer meetings are held each morning, at 8.30, and preaching on Sabbath in the different places of worship.

The Sabbath School met at 2.30 p. m. on Sabbath, when Dr. Rand taught the lesson for the day (Rom. 13: 1 to 10) to the whole school as one class. The lesson was followed by addresses from Revs. J. Clark, and W. H. Richan.

So far the proceedings have been of a deeply interesting character. A further report will be reserved for next week.

— A few days since George Adams, of Bridgetown, N. S., while working on the bridge at Weymouth, pulled down an old wall and unearthed a pocket book containing gold coins of the value of $400. —Woodstock Reporter.

Our contemporary must mean Bridgewater. We heard that quite a large find of money had been made by a stranger laborer on the bridge at Weymouth; but understood he picked it up in the woods, we feel quite sure that he does not belong in this vicinity.

— Nothing reliable has been heard from General Gordon for over two months.

— The New York Nation says that the Tribune is the only New York paper that supports Blaine squarely. It is questionable if any presidential candidate ever entered the field with such a formidable opposition from the press to contend against.

— The Montreal Star thinks that "trade in nearly all its branches is exceedingly dull, by common consent the season is the dullest that has ever been known."
