Deceased was born in Hawick, Scotland, in 1821, and at the age of 5 years came to Canada and settled with her parents in the Township of Dumfries, Waterloo County. Here she met and married her husband.

At the time of marriage Mr. and Mrs. Moscrip moved to St. Marys, residing 50 years in that place. It was not until twelve years ago that she moved to Stratford with her family, and since that time she had been one of the foremost workers on vital questions, such as temperance reform and foreign missions.

She was mother of the late Col. Moscrip, who was well known in Stratford, being both head of the Twenty-eighth Regiment and also county court registrar for the county of Perth.

Only two of her children survive her, both daughters, namely, Eva and Mary.

MR. NEELY TRIED TO GOBBLE THE SEAT

Is Ready To Be Member For East Middlesex Under Any Conditions.

Mr. George W. Neely, ex-M. P. P., is still making frantic efforts to secure the nomination of the Conservatives of East Middlesex for the coming by-election. His first attempt was to have the courts decide that he was entitled to the seat, owing to his charges that Mr. Robert Sutherland, the late member, was guilty of bribery and corruption. Being advised that the death of Mr. Sutherland put an end to the protest, Mr. Neely resumed his efforts to secure the party's approval as candidate.

When the seat was first vacated by Mr. Sutherland's death, Mr. Neely, according to information supplied by well-known Conservatives, commenced his canvass for votes for the nomination. His friends in Dorchester remained loyal to him, but in the other townships, his candidature was not at all acceptable, and he was told as much. The forces that operated against him in the previous election were more determined than ever that he should not be selected.

The Easier Way.

He then endeavored to have the courts decide that he was the lawful member on account of the charges he had made regarding Mr. Sutherland's character. However, it is understood that Mr. Neely was informed that the demise of the sitting member put an end to the election petition, and the case was ended so far as the courts were concerned.

Disappointed, Mr. Neely again started to line up his supporters for the nomination. Conservatives state that he has no chance whatever.

CANNED GOODS GO UP

More Sad News For the Housekeepers of London.

The price of canned goods is now being raised is the latest sad news which the housekeeper must hear. Canned peas formerly could be purchased at 10 cents a can, and at some seasons for 3 cans for 25 cents. The price of this vegetable now soars to two cans for a quarter, and possibly 15 cents straight will be demanded in the near future.

The cause is said to be the great demand and the supply is not half great enough. At present some of the wholesale houses can only fill about 40 per cent of their orders. hTe crop of peas this year is not the average crop, it is said.

The corn crop will not be harvested for some weeks yet, but it would not be surprising to see prices here also take a boost.

A few weeks ago canned salmon prices took a skyward flight, and the best is now valued at 30 cents a tin. A year ago this quality could be purchased at 15 cents.
