MR. HATHEWAY M.P.P. ADDRESSES MEETING OF MONCTON LABOR MEN

(Special To Times)

Moncton, Feb. 16—W. Frank Hatheway, M. P. P., of St. John, adressed labor union men and others last evening in the W. C. T. U. Hall, dealing with topics of special interest to wage-earners, describing conditions in Australia and other countries affecting labor, and suggesting greater activity on the part of wage-earners and farmers in this country in sending to the legislative halls men of their own class to represent them.

J. C. Merrill, vice-president of the Moncton Trades and Labor Council, and editor of the Eastern Labor News, presided.

"The Australians," Mr. Hatheway said, "are a splendid, generous people. They do not believe in working too hard. They are ruled by themselves—not governed by the few, but by the many. No special class holds the reins of power."

He said that this country had a great deal to learn in that respect from Australians, as well as from European countries. Adverting to conditions in England, he remarked that they were away ahead of us. They knew what they wanted and they united to carry it out. He spoke approvingly of the policy of Lloyd-George in putting the taxes upon those who were well able to bear them. The old-age pension scheme was one of the best things ever brought forward in any country. Denmark had the old-age pension system; and it would be a good thing if such a system were introduced in this country.

After speaking of the Australian banking act, the shop act and the wages board act, the latter receiving considerable attention from the speaker, Mr. Hatheway dealt with the manner in which charters have been given to companies in this province to harness water powers, referring especially to the Aroostook Falls and the Grand Falls. He argued that these privileges were given without adequate returns to the province. He closed with an eloquent peroration, recalling a visit to Germany. In one of the buildings in that country, he was much impressed with a picture, portraying a strong man with great muscles holding up the merchant, professional and other classes. This represented labor holding up the ruling classes. Mr. Hatheway's address was followed with close attention and many of the points he made were heartily applauded. In acknowledging a vote of thanks, he said he had looked forward to the time when the laboring men of Moncton, St. John, Newcastle and other places would annually or biennially meet to discuss matters affecting workingmen.

ST. PATRICK'S SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of St. Patrick's Society was held last night in Keith's assembly rooms, Hon. R. J. Ritchie, the president, in the chair. The making of arrangements for a dinner on St. Patrick's night was left in the hands of the committee, consisting of the officers and several members. Dr. Boyle Travers was elected honorary president, and last year's officers were re-elected with the addition of Edward J. McCourt, as financial secretary. Joseph H. Ritchie was elected to the board of management, and 27 new members were elected.

Plays and Players

CHATTY NEWS OF THE GREEN ROOM

Kirk Brown, with a St. John favorite as leading woman—Marguerite Fields, or Hook, as she is now known, is playing in Pennsylvania in a repertoire which includes some pieces which he played here, namely, "Classmates," "The Sign of the Cross," and "Brown of Harvard."

Repaying a kindness extended to him many years ago, Frank Keenan, the actor, is daily rehearsing Julie Herne, daughter of the late James A. Herne, who is about to enter the vaudeville fold.

The late Mr. Herne, author of "Shore Acres" and "Sag Harbor," was Mr. Keenan's mentor when the now distinguished character actor was a boy at the bottom of the dramatic ladder. Mr. Herne took Keenan in hand and laid the foundation for his success. It was a schooling that could not be purchased with money.

Quite by accident, Mr. Keenan, who is about to make his second vaudeville production, "Man to Man," learned that Miss Herne was likewise about to make her debut in a new comedy drama sketch.

Hearing that she had encountered some difficulty at rehearsals, Mr. Keenan hastily communicated with her and offered his services gratuitously.

Mary K. Taylor, here with the Valentine Stock, is now playing in Mrs. Jim, with Mary Irwin in New York.

A week's performances of "The Belle of New York" for charity, were begun this week at the Savoy Theatre, by a company of amateurs, principally connected with the stock exchange. Among them is Mrs. Jesse Lewisohn, formerly Edna May.

Edith Warren, with her company, is appearing in the towns of New Hampshire playing "The Crimson Stain," "The Girl of the Emerald Isle," "Cinderella," and other pieces.

Miss Alice Brady, the daughter of William A. Brady and his first wife, Rose Marie Rome, is playing an important role in "The Balkan Princess," at the Herald Square Theatre, New York. Miss Brady, whose mother died several years ago, is a graduate of the Boston Conservatory of Music and has for some time been quietly preparing herself for a stage career. When the American production of "The Balkan Princess" was first put into rehearsal Miss Brady was cast for the role of Olga and played that role with the company out of town under the name of Marie Rose, as it was her wish to make her appeal to the public strictly on her own merits and without the influence which might attach to her father's name.

The Myrkle-Harder Company will start a two weeks' engagement at the Opera House here on Feb. 27. They have a number of new pieces and specialties.

The Shuberts have signed a contract with William Courtenay to become a star under their management for three years. His first play under this new contract will me "Homeward Bound," a new play by Eugene Walter, founded on a theme by Walter Hackett.

"Alma, Where do You Live?" this week celebrated the 150th performance at Joe Weber's Theatre, New York. The musical comedy will remain at Weber's until hot weather.

Helen Kratt, the young woman who plays the part of the Hen Turkey in "Chantecler," had a four act farce comedy accepted in New York by Witmark's this week for production either in the spring or the early fall. It is her first play and she completed it within a month. It is a satire of the woman suffrage movement.

In the case of Augustus Thomas' new play, "As Man Thinketh," John Mason, who will have the star part, will be supported by Miss Chrystal Herne, Miss Amelia Gardner, Messrs. Walter Hale, William Sampson and John Flood.

Barney Bernard and Lee Harrison have been engaged for comedy roles in the first entertainment in the new Winter Garden, which the Messrs. Shubert wil soon open at Broadway and Fiftieth street, New York.

Donald Meek, favorably remembered here, has resigned from the stock company at the Castle Square, Boston, and is organizing a stock company, to be headed by himself and to bear his name, opening in Lowell this week.

Gollen Campbell, who will be remembered here as having played with McDowell, is now appearing in a new play, "Our World," which opened last week at the Garrick Theatre, New York.

"This time of the year in theatricals may well be termed the 'doldrums,'" says Henry B. Harris, the theatrical producer. "Theatrical managers have produced play after play since the beginning of the season. Many of these were in the nature of experiments, to learn just what the tastes of the public were; what sort of entertainment was desired, and what character of plays appealed most. Having satisfied themselves on this score, they prepared to follow their first onslaught with such productions as they felt were sure to catch the public, based on their previous efforts to learn what was satisfactory, and what had the best chances of winning public approval.

"From now on," says Mr. Harris, "until the end of the season, managers will exercise a little more prudence and forethought in selections of the plays which they will present, and I am of the opinion that the balance of the season will see registered the biggest hits of the current season. These are the productions which will go on tour next year, and by their box-office takings, supply the sinews for the strenuous campaign that always marks the beginning of a new season."

Helen Gordon, for several years a member of Florenz Ziegfeld's companies, died suddenly on Feb. 1, at Long Beach, Cal. She was a sister of Lenore Maud and Julian Gordon and of Billy Norton (Mrs. Joseph Herbert.)

Edmund Breese will return to his original role in The Spendthrift, in Boston, on Feb. 20.

Martin Beck, the vaudeville manager, has been elected successor of the late C. E. Kohl as president of the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association. Mr. Beck is also a member of the Kohl and Castle Company, being vice-president of that firm, which operates the principal theatres of the Middle West. He has left for Europe, where he will visit the London and Continental music halls in serch of material.

Frederick Thompson will produce his own play, A Child of the Desert, in the spring. The cast will include Vivian Martin, Robert Drouet, Robert Haines, Frank McGinn, Doris Mitchell and T. Daniel Frawley. Mr. Thompson has been in Reno to get "atmosphere" for his play.

Klaw and Erlanger produced this week, in Atlantic City, for the first time "The Pink Lady," a musical comedy by Ivan Caryll and C. M. S. McLellan. It is based on the French farce, "The Satyre," which had a long run in Paris and is still playing in Berlin and St. Petersburg. The play was well received. It will be brought to New York later on.

Henry Miller's remarkable play, "The Havoc," which has scored the most emphatic hit of the season in Broadway, is to be produced in London by Sir Charles Wyndham during coronation week. The famous English actor saw Mr. Miller's play the night he arrived in New York and opened negotiations for the English rights. He will produce the play at his own theatre, in London, and will appear himself as Richard Craig, the role which Mr. Miller created and in which he has achieved the greatest success of his brilliant career.

The National Alliance for the Protection of Stage Children has just formulated plans for a performance to enlist public attention in the interests of the young actors and actresses in the United States against whom the laws in certain states, framed for the care of factory children, have been administered with the result that they are prohibited from acquiring a training in the dramatic profession.

Blossom Seeley, the girl who plays the role of Henella Peck with Lew Fields in "The Hen-Pecks" at the Broadway Theatre, New York, will go down to history as one of the very few players who have ever conquered New York in a single performance. Miss Seeley is a native of Los Angeles.

Miss Mabel Barrison ,actress, in private life Mrs. Joseph Howard, is dangerously ill in her apartments at the Virginia Hotel, Chicago, suffering from acute bronchitis. She is being constantly attended by a nurse. It is said little hope is held out for her recovery.

The Messrs. Shubert announce that the name of a new comic opera in which Fritzi Scheff and a specially organized company are soon to be seen under their management, has zeen changed from "Rosita" to "The Rose Shop." The music of the piece is by Victor Hebert and the production is now in rehearsal.

A bill, which, while primarily designed to prevent the production of Sarah Bernhardt's La Samaritaine, will stop the performance of any show which may be classed as indecent or corruptive of good morals, made its appearance in the legislature of Pennsylvania last week.

Following the act of a fancy musician in a maroon suit, who played the piano folded and with his head and feet. Dr. Frederick A Cook, once hailed uproariously by many as the discoverer of the north pole, walked on to the stage at Hammerstein's Manhattan Opera House in New York on Monday afternoon to the strains of the heroic music of the orchestra.

The advertisements had announced "McIntyre and Heath,. Dr. Cook and 10 others," and the house was packed from top to bottom with a holiday crowd in the best of spirits.

If the doctor expected to get a verdict out of that audience he was disappointed. The jury disagreed.

It was to a storm of handclapping, whistling, cat calls and boos that he walked on to the stage, and it was to another storm of similar tributes that he walked off wreathed in smiles and waving the typewritten notes of his lectures in a gracious adieu.

Not that there was silence in between, for the story of the speaker's troubles and the intimate revelation of the devilitry of the "Artic trust" the newspapers and of Commander Perry was liberally punctuated with various uproarious interruptions, and before he had finished the gallery's part in the show divided with the stage the interest of the audience, and blue-coated officials were kept busy running up and down the aisles shaking warning fists at some and harshly ejecting others.

Dr. Cook's actual appearance was preceded by a drama in moving pictures entitled "The Truth About the Pole," The doctor's remarks following the picture show, in which frequent references were made to the "cowardly slurs of the yellow press," the "dogs of the editorial chairs" and much more of the same character.

"I have no money to hire a hall," he said "that's why I am here, but Mr. Hammerstein is not paying me a cent. (Applause and incredulous laughter). My future is safe, as I see it and feel it, and our children's children will give a fair verdict."

Dr. Cook read his lecture and it was rather long.

"I ask for fair play," was Dr Cook's favorite remark when the applause and jeers so drowned his voice that it could not be heard.

Proprietors of the Cafe de Beaux Art, New York, were surprised this week when their baritone, Vincent Serra, proved to them that during the eight years in their employ he had sung 22,200 songs.

"You see, it is this way," he explained. "I sing ten songs a day, five at dinner and five at supper. I give an average of five minutes to each. I have really sung more than thirty thousand times, as I have taken no account of encores. To sing so many songs without stopping for intermissions would take twelve hours a day for a period of eight months. That, to use American slang, would be 'going some.'"

He is very proud of the feat and said that he felt equal to singing one hundred thousand more songs. He came from Turin, Italy.

MRS. PETER GREEN, Jr.,
DESORONTO, ONT.
Says:—"Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the Best Cough Syrup She Ever Used."

She writes:—"Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the best cough syrup I ever used. My baby had a very bad cold. I was using Dr.'s medicine but that didn't seem to help the awful cough she had until I got a bottle of this great syrup. I have it in the house at the present time for the children and I think I couldn't get along if I didn't have it. I wish to thank you for all the good it has been to my family."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree when combined with Wild Cherry bark and other pectoral remedies makes it one of the greatest known preparations for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I KNOW of no better thing to do today than to cease my own chatterings for once and give over my space to the great man, the anniversary of whose birth this day is.

A FEW SAYINGS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

"The way for a young man to rise is to improve himself in every way he can, never suspecting that anybody is hindering him."

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right; let us strive on to finish the work we are in."

"You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

"Let us have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

"Get them to ploughing and gathering in their own little crops, and eating popcorn at their own firesides, and you can't get them to shoulder a musket again for half a century (discussing terms of peace.)

"I do not think much of a man who is not wiser today than he was yesterday."

"When I am dead I want my friends to remember that I always plucked a thistle and planted a rose when in my power."

"Broken eggs cannot be mended."

(To a woman who came to him to ask a pardon for her brother): "My poor girl, you have come here with no governor, senator or member of congress to speak in your cause; you seem honest and truthful, and you don't wear hoops, and I'll be whipped if I don't pardon him."

"I have one vote and I shall always cast that against wrong as long as I live."

"No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up from poverty."

"I do not wish to die until the world is better for my having lived."

"No man is good enough to govern another man without that other man's consent."

"When you can't remove an obstacle plough around it."

"A living dog is better than a dead lion."

"If we do right God will be with us, and if God is with us we cannot fail."

"Suspicion and jealousy never did help any man in any situation."

"Better give your path to the dog—even killing the dog would not cure the bite."

"This country with its institutions belongs to the people who inhabit it."

"All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother."

ROUSING LIBERAL CONVENTION IN KINGS PROVINCIAL CONTEST

King's county council for the last four years. A prominent temperance worker, he is head of the I. O. G. T. in the county. He is well known and popular, and a fluent speaker. It is felt that his presence on the ticket had added materially to its strength.

Samuel H. Flewwelling is a member of the firm of G. & G. Flewwelling Manufacturing Company. This firm has been for the last fifty years in business at Hampton Village and Perry's Point, doing a large lumber business as well as conducting general stores. Mr. Flewwelling has been for the last eighteen years a member of the Kings County Council, four of which he was warden of the county. Fourteen years ago he was nominated to run as the prohibition candidate, but owing to the fact that parliament did not dissolve for two years he withdrew from the contest. He is well known through the county, and is looked upon as a business man of high standing.

Henry Gilbert is one of the very best known; and most popular men in the county. He is a native of Rothesay, where up to last year he conducted a general store. He has been a member of the Kings County Council for the last thirteen or fourteen years, and has been county warden for the last two years. He has always taken a keen interest in politics, and has served as chairman and secretary of the Liveral committee of Rothesay. He is a keen hunter and fisherman, and is well acquainted with the different parts of the province.

IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa, Feb. 15—"Canada is young, vigorous, progressive. She is strong in the enthusiasm of achievement. She cannot afford to listen to the counsel of the timid, the faint-hearted, the pessimist. She must be up and doing, ever going ahead. She cannot sit down and fold her hands, close her eyes and murmur: 'Let well enough alone.' She can retire from business altogether, but she is not doing that. She knows that if she is not moving forward she must be moving backward. There is no standing still. And the policy of the government since it took office in 1896, year by year, has been forward, forward, forward."

Such was the key note of the splendid speech of Hugh Guthrie in the commons today, which roused the Liberals to repeated enthusiasm. The member for South Wellington made a masterly contribution to the reciprocity debate. With thoroughness and detail he analyzed the terms of the agreement, demonstrating the advantages which must accrue from it, and dissipating the sophistries with which Mr. Foster had sought to shroud it.

Ottawa, Feb. 15—In the senate today the question of a better distribution of work between the commons and the upper house was discussed and a resolution, moved by Senator David, was adopted inviting the lower chamber to join in the formation of a joint committee to report on a plan.

An unusual statement was made by Senator Macdonald of British Columbia, who declared that the trouble with the senate was that "there are too many old men in it, like myself, who are growing hard of hearing, and losing interest in public affairs."

Senator Macdonald said there should be more young and active men in the senate, and the membership of both that branch of the legislature and the commons itself should be cut in half.

Fredericton's "Boom" Dinner

Fredericton, N. B, Feb. 15.—The business men's dinner, organized by the board of trade for the purpose of booming Fredericton and arousing interest in the board of trade, was held tonight in the Y. M. C. A. hall and proved an unqualified success. It is probable that similar dinners will be held in future. Its success is largely due to the committee in charge, composed of F. B. Edgecombe, George Y. Dibblee and G. W. Hodge. The attendance was upwards of 125.

HOME RULE AFTER VETO

London, Feb. 15—During the preliminary home rule debate in the house of commons today, Premier Asquith reiterated his declaration that the government's first task after the "veto bill" had been disposed of, would be to carry out a policy of full self-government for Ireland.

The famous epitaph which a Maine woman had placed on the monument over her husband's grave, "Rest in peace until I join you," has almost an equal in the sign which a physician in Cleveland has hanging over his office door. The sign reads: "Do not absolutely abandon hope until you have seen me."
