Terminal Examination at Carleton's Corner.

A very interesting examination was held at the school in the above place, of which Miss May Young is teacher, on the 24th. A few of those immediately interested were present and must have been highly gratified at the result, the examination in the different subjects reflecting a great deal of credit upon both teacher and scholars. Miss Young shows herself to be a painstaking teacher, and so far as she is concerned, we see no reason why this school should not be one of the best. She has quite a number of bright and naturally clever scholars, and all that seems to be needed is the hearty co-operation of the parents, who will see that their children are regular in attendance, and this school will be all that could be desired. During the examination, it is said, a few boys who ought to have been in the school, created a disturbance around the school-room, which reflected anything but credit upon themselves. Such things, we think, should be guarded against by the trustees. Among those present was Rev. F. M. Young, who, at the close of the examination, made a few congratulatory remarks to teacher and scholars. We are pleased to learn that the services of Miss Young have been secured for another term.

The rooms visited were: Primary, taught by Mrs. Chute, Intermediate by Miss Parker, Preparatory by Miss Fisher and High school under Principal Robinson. The pupils acquitted themselves admirably reflecting great credit upon themselves as well as upon their teachers. A noticeable feature was the display of crayon drawing done by pupils in the Primary and Intermediate rooms. The mapping in Miss Parker's department was particularly fine. A large number of visitors was present, including several clergymen, and addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. Saunders, Rev. A. S. Tuttle, and others. Berwick is to be congratulated upon its efficient staff of teachers. Mr. Robinson's reputation as a teacher is well established, as the large attendance of pupils from outside sections, including representatives from Digby, Lawrencetown, Middleton, Canning, etc., testifies.

It is stated that if the jury fails to convict Larocque, an attempt will be made to lynch him.

Book Notices.

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.—Even that annual bugaboo, house-cleaning, loses its terrors before The Ladies' Home Journal's happy faculty for turning things bright side out. It must be a dull housewife indeed who cannot find encouragement and substantial help in the cheery words of Maria Parloa, Christine T. Herrick, Helen Jay, and Isabel A. Mallon in the May number, every corner of which is pervaded with the breeze and sunshine of spring. A new story by a new writer, Jessie F. O'Donnell, is begun, and promises to be worthy of such company as Mrs. Whitney's "Golden Gossip," which is continued. Under the series "Womens' Chances as Bread-Winners," "Women as Doctors," are discussed from both a woman's and a man's point of view, by Phœbe J. B. Wait, M. D. and G. F. Shrady, M. D. John Stephenson tells how he built the first horse-car; and hints to amateur artists, photographers and dressmakers, and talks with mothers and daughters, and many other interesting things make up a number which every woman must find useful, instructive and entertaining. Curtis Pub. Co., Philadelphia.

"Brooke's Daughter," by Adeline Sargeant, is published by John Lovell & Sons, Montreal. The heroine is introduced to us at the time when, her school-days ended, she is joyfully anticipating a reunion with her mother, for whom she has a deep affection, but to her amazement and dismay she then first learns that her father, whom she has believed dead, is living though separated from her mother, and that there is an agreement that the father shall have his daughter with him for the first year after she leaves school. The daughter's disappointment and dismay upon learning this, her subsequent trials and her attempts at forming a reconciliation between her parents are described in a manner to enlist the sympathies and interest of the reader, but Brooke himself is the character in whom the chief interest centres.

The Census.

Late accounts from Ottawa say that the census work is progressing in the most satisfactory manner all over the Dominion, and that there is every reason to believe that it will be finished within a month, says an exchange. After that the books will be sent to Ottawa by the commissioners where a large staff of clerks will get the many volumes in good shape. It is said that it will take a year to get them all in shape. This time the department will make a new and commendable departure. Instead of giving to the public at the end of the year a big volume full of figures, they will issue from time to time, as soon as the information is ready, a series of bulletins. The first will be that of the population. Then will follow information on mining, farming, etc. The statistics in each case will be accompanied by comparisons. The volume when completed will be presented to parliament, after which the redistribution of seats will take place at next winter's session.

—Referring to the New Orleans lynching many London papers discuss the question why the Italian murder returns exceed every other nation on earth. The St. James' Gazette, quoting Bosco's statistics on homicide, shows that the Italians are eight times more murderous than other Europeans. In Italy ten persons are tried every day for murder and eight are convicted. A host of homicides are never recorded. Italians at home, it says, are worse than Italians abroad. The conclusion is the Italian murder is in his blood and his rascally excitability is heightened by the warm climate and the national habit of the use of the knife.

He made his last trip around the globe in 59 days.

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BEGOLE, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Insist upon having
